THE GREAT SOUTHERN RAILROAD

The realization of this important enterprise is now a mere question of a few days: the works are everywhere approaching completion with the most rapid strides—whatever men and mon- ring the year is 19,421 bales, viz.: ey can accomplish is being done to bring matters to a speedy conclusion. The station buildings are all ready, or so nearly as to require but a few finishing touches, to release them from the hands of the workmen employed upon them; the bridges and other works of art are in a similarly advanced state; large numbers of engines, carriages, and goods-waggons are standing on the rails, ready to do their duty, and now crowd together at all the stations awaiting the tat which shall send them circulating along the line; the rails are now laid as far as the station ground of the terminus at Chascomus. and the intention was to have had the line ready, to open for public traffic throughout upon the 1st of November, but it is feared that some little delay must now occur before this most de sirable event takes place.

It appears that the cause of the delay arises from the fact that the Company, in compliance with the wishes of the Government of the Province, made arrangements some time since to extend the Railway for three quarters of mile beyond the point originally selected for the terminus at Chascomus so as to bring the station into a more central part of the town, but the vessel with the rails for this extension on board, although now over-due has not yet reached our harbor. When these materials do arrive, some days must necessarily elapse before they can be got ashore and transported to their destination.

In the meantime every exertion is being made to overcome the difficulty. and so far with success, as appears from the fact that the rails now extend

The company has acted liberally and wisely in thus meeting the wishes of the inhabitants of Chascomus, who will, no doubt, reciprocate this gracions act of the company, by inducing all their friends from the far south to avail themselves, to the fullest extent, of the advantages afforded by the railway.

It is extremely gratifying to hear rived by the running of one train a day each way, over a portion of this railway, as indicating what a brilliant futare is in store for the undertaking when fully developed. It is not simply the shareholders of the company who are interested in the matter, but the public generally, as it would be idle to dispute that upon the results obtained launched. by the Great Southern Railway, depends in a great measure the question whether or not foreign capital will in public works and similar enterprises.

The export increase of sheepskins over the previous year is 6,932 bales, which is a very flattering figure.

As will be seen by the following ta ble, we have within the last five years doubled our wool exports, which, when it is rembered what bad seasons and epidemics we experienced during that period, speaks volumes for the progressive industry of this country.

What a gigantic increase! We challenge all the trade returns of the United States or of the most prosperous British colonies to show any equal to this. The history of the wool trade of this country does indeed disclose the most startling facts, and if we are to be permitted to judge the future by the past, we have reason to suppose that the exports of wool from the Argentine Republic in 1875 will fall little short of ONE MILLION of bales.

In my last I was led into an unin entional error through false information. The capture of the individual who, as clerk at Señor Alcorte's, left this with moneys obtained on forged conformes,' now turns out to be an unfounded report, and I hasten to cor rect the mistake into which your readers will undoubtedly have been led by your correspondent. I am told, however, by the Manager of the Montevidean Bank, that there is every probability of the party, who, by the way, is a Spaniard - Catalan - being secured, and the loss consequently being but a small one.

To-day we have had a copious fall of rain, whish has cleared the atmosphere, and we are now likely to have fine weather for the shearing in the camp. From what I can learn from different quarters the clip this season promises to be a good one, and I have just been favored with the perusal of a letter from one of our principal foreign estancieros, who remarks that the general state of the camps is remarkably good. The shearing is now going on in different parts, and already there has arrived in town a small parcel of wool. I believe from Mr. Fair's estancia. Prices at present are nominal, but very shortly sales of wool of this clip will begin to be made. I have heard it remarked in more than one quarter that there is in many estancias a noticeable improvement in the quality of the wool been sent into Government, signed by this year.

MORE FROM MONTEVIDEO.

October 25th 1865, Hotel Oriental.

Dear 'Standard.'

Your correspondent invariably winds up, or begins, his interesting letters by stating that this place is dull, and nothing doing; I request you will correct this, as I am in a position to prove Montevideo is twice as gay as your city, and as for news, politics, &c., if I only had time I could fill your columns up with Oriental topics. Having a few spare moments. I send you the following items.

The 'Carmel' is undergoing repairs; that last flash of lightning having done much more damage than was at first supposed, but boiler-makers are very scarce here and the captain had to send to Buenos Ayres for some. They say at the Rooms that she will be all right and ready to sail by the 12th, but the opinion here is she ought to be sent home and another steamer sent to replace ber.

The 'Tevere;' that boat of grief, since the day she refused to take up the 'Standard' supplement, I think last February, never had a day of luck and is I may say hopelessly laid up: no one knows what is the matter with her some say her keel is broken; othersthat the cylinders have collapsed, the agents have sent up to Buenos. Ayres for new ones. But she won't be able to run for the next three months.

Minelli the ex-Judge of Mar Chiquita has been made a Vice Consul by King Victor for the village of Minas: the nomination has given great satisfaction, as people feared here he was going to start another paper.

Affairs in Corrientes look so sunny at present, that the Government has disbanded all the National Guards in the camp. This is regarded as a good measure, as shearing being on, and hands scarce, the men were wanted badly on the estancias.

There is some terrible work going on in the Captain of the Port's. Three vessels were fined yesterday. The most stringent regulations to prevent the importation of cholera have been adopted.

The 'saladeristas' are preparing to commence operations, but hands are very scarce, and the 'barraqueros' also complain of this. A petition has most of the 'saladeristas' and 'barraqueros,' praying of the Minister to day that Schor Aguiar, the Chief of distribute the Paraguayan prisoners amongst these establishments, where they can earn from fifteen to twenty pered that General Caraballo has ten-reales per day. We have not only the criminal's own confession to the deed, but also evidence as to the motive, supplied by the two following witnesses:

The accomplice, Manuel Carrizo, ha confessed in presence of the Chief of Police, of the lawyer Ferreyra, and of several Englishmen [including myself] that when he and Alarcon were standing near the edge of the Laguna (where the murder was committed), Alarcon seeing Marshall coming up told him [Carrizo] that he would kill Marshall as soon as he came up. Moreover, one of the policemen who accompanied Commisary Gijena, in charge of the prisoners from Cordoba to Rosario, declared that he had heard Alarcon tell his comrades that he had killed Mar. shall for the sake of stealing his horse. So that it is clear this is not one of those cases you mention, wherein "a man may often kill another, without being either an assassin or a criminal."

Your article goes on to say :- " We know that some of the murderers actual ly in prison declared: if we get off well this time, we shall not leave a gringo (foreigner) alive."

In matters of trifling importance I should not think it necessary or expedient to pay any attention to cases before the tribunals of the country; but when I see a declaration of this kind, not only threatening the foreign residents, but also making light of the Buenos Ayres. authorities, I feel bound to demand, in the name of the British subjects and their properties in the Province, the speedy punishment of the criminal I demand it also of the Government for justice and common right: for, failing in this we should see turned to ridicule the declaration of Deputy [now Governor] Oroño, made two years ago in these words:

The firmness which we noticed yesterday in the specie market gave way to-day on the news from Europe being known. Nothing else was talked of on 'Change to-day but the news brought by the Hercules. The sudden rise in the scrip of the new Brazilian Loan was regarded as a favorable omen for the Argentine Loan, which it is thought would be launched imme diately by the house of Baring, Brothers. The ommercial advices are also regarded as favorable. The wool auctions in Europe came off well, and prices ruled firm with a slight upward tendency for the finest wools. Hides in the States also look well. Tallow rules about the same.

Patacons opened at 26.20, declined five cenessimos, but afterwards regained their opening figure, and closed at 26.20 sellers. For the end of two o'clock in the liquidation-room 100,000 more were sold at the same figure. In National Bonds the market looks firmer, 2,000 at 431. In Bolivianos, 1,500 at 201, and in Gas Shares, ten shares at 25 per cent. premium. Exchange on pounds sterling were passed at 49%. The total amount drawn for the packet is put down at £270,000 sterling.

In the wool markets this morning there was very little animation. In the South Plaza there 80; two carts, Lambert, Canuclas. 83, this woo last year bought by same buyer at 84. Mr quantity of wool, over twenty bullock carts, and

In the North Plaza there was very little done Three carts, 75; two do. at 78, and one cart, very tine, 82. Only about thirty earts are in this plaza, and very little at the railway station.

The wools from the south are coming in much faster this year than from the north. Ten bags, unples of Mr. Richard Newton's wools, were in the South Plaza to-day. We have not heard what offer was made. Besides the sides in the South Plaza above-mentioned, there was one eart of very fine wool sold at 85, and three do at 83. This was the wool business of the day. Owing to the advices received from Europe, we hope to see the market a little more active, but farmers should bear in mind that the very serious decline in gold has a great effect on prices, and we adiso our subscribers when they get what they onsider a fair price to take it rather than specu-
