PRINCE ALBERT IN THE BOGS.

"Albert off again after nine o'clock to shoot. Soon after he left I walked out with the Duchess of Norfolk across the flighland Guard (they were stationed at almost every gate in the park) followed us, and it looked like olden times to see them with their swords drawn. We then walked to a lodge on the same road. A fat, good-humoured little woman, about forty years old, got some flowers for some money, saying, 'From Her Majesty.' I never saw any one more surcame up to me and said very warmly, that my people were delighted to see walked on. We saw a woman in the Fairy, where we took leave of them." river, with her dress tucked up almost to her knees washing potatoes. The rain ceased just as we came home, but it went on pouring frequently. Albert returned at twenty minutes to three; having had very hard work on the moors, wading up to his knees in bogs every now and then, and had killed nine brace of grouse. We lunched; then we went to the drawingroom, and saw from the window the Highlanders dancing reels; but unfortunately it rained the whole time. There were nine pipers at the castle sometimes one, and sometimes three played. They always played about breakfast time, again during the day, and at luncheon, and also whenever we went in and out; again before dinger, and during most of dinner time. We both have become quite fund of the bagpines."

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUA AND CO. 101--Cangallo--103. BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally feit and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montivideo and Buenos Ayres, that there 'are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maua & Co., in Montevideo has alrealy provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the impact graphling in latteries, and other the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other trivolities.

The Bank of Mana & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and has to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.
