The dearest railways are those of Brazil, Great Britain, New Granada, able to determine at the meeting of Algiers, and Russia, which are douspeedy reparation. Meantime while are those of the Argentine Republic, U. > If we had the same proportion of railways in the Argentine Republic as in the U. States, compared with the miles. At present we occupy the 7th much railway as Brazil in this ratio.

> If, however, our railways were proportioned to the area of the Republic we should have as many as British India (4,000 miles), or in the same ratio as the United States it would be over 20,000 miles.

But we will not tire the reader with too many fine-drawn calculations of this kind. Suffice it to say that the world at present boasts a mile of railway for every 12,000 inhabitants, that the aggregate cost of the railways following returns of all the railways comes to £1 12s 0d (or 8 patacons) per head of the total population, and that the various lines if put together would than 4 times.

The enthusiasm created by the undertaking in commercial circles in Chile has been so great that 300,000 hard dollars has been raised without the slightest diffis culty for the formation of a bank in San Juan. The bank has subscribed for a large number of shares in the Telegraph Company, as it relies upon the telegraph wires for a full and rapid development of its operations between Valparaiso and Sau Juan. The capital of the Telegraph Company is divided into 1000 shares of £100 each; of these 200 had been set apart for England and 200 for Buenos Ayres, but 10,000 the demand for them has become so 7,500 general among the leading houses in 12,500 Valparaiso that the allotment in England has been entirely suppressed, and that in Buenos Ayres reduced to 100 shares, which will be thrown on our market as soon as the agent of the Company here receives the statutes of her grief surpassed every effort of lanthe Company approved by the Chilian Government, which he expects by the next Pacific mail packet due in Montevideo to-morrow or next day.

Nothing of the kind; he clings to the hope that the day will come when the cloud will be at last dispelled, and the same bitter cup which the Paraguayan now drinks will fall to the allies to be finished, aye to the very dregs.

Tell the people in Buenos Ayres that the Paraguayans to a man still believe in Lopez, and they believe in him because they like to believe in him; and when he is dead and gone they will people simulate friendship for the dance over the grave of Lopez, whilst their husbands, brothers and sons known to man were given by the allies would the Paraguayan women forgive or forget the past; they curse Lopez, they hate and abominate the allies. I have witnessed hard by the railway at Luque, a poor, emaciated, shivered-up Paraguayan woman, returning to the spot which was once her happy home, guage, her cries still ring in my ears there was an eloquence in her sorrow which reminded me of the scene between the Indian chief and Erskine. She sat on the threshold, the roof gone walls tumbling, doors and windows cut away for camp firewood, her husband killed at Humaita, her sons butchered at the Lomas, her daughters paraiso, -after which the line will be starved to death in the mountains, continued independently of any other and she, poor sorrowing survivor, escaped from the camp of Lopez to find her once happy home sacked, destroyed, ruined; the curse that is on her race has I suppose kept reason on her throne, and yet the awful desolation of this poor woman is the case with every family in Paraguay. Why therefore wonder that in misery so vast, the poor country-people should fly to superstition for relief? The supernatural, deny it who may, has a charm for us all; the people of England hang up horseshoes in the farm houses, what wonder if the poor Paraguayns should steal the rocks from a cave, justice cheaper and more expeditious; and treasure them as the mystic symbol of an undefined power that will one day, as Curran said, redeem, regenerate and discuthral the nation. Messirs. GIBSON. BROTHERS, Of "Los Ingleeses," Port and Partido of Ajo. Beg to cell the attention of Sheepfarmers to their Cross-bred Rams now on Sale there.

The advantages of the Breed are to increase the length of the sinple and value of the wool, the size of the carreise, and the hardness of the size of the carreise, and the hardness of the size of the carreise, and the hardness of the best english long-woolled sheep, having imported during this time Romney Marsh (a Kentish Sheep), Cotawold, Lincoln, Leicester, and Cheviot. Cross, pure Cheviot and Shropshire Down Rams.

From these they now offer for Sale Cross Rams from superior Mestiza and Rambouillet Cross Ewes.

In addition to the advantages of the Breed above rumerated, they yould draw attention to the fattening properties of the 'cross' an object of great importance at present, when, owing to the low price of all wool, it is necessary to breed for fat as well as wool. As a proof of the value of the breed in producing fat, they have known instances of capones yielding upwards of 50 hs. of raw grase and tailow.

From the long time that Messars. Gibson have been engaged in crossing their flocks with English blocd, as those they now offer for Sale.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!

Caution: As some unprincipled Druggists are solling a spurious preparation, representing it to be the genuine "Dr. Radway's Ready Relief," the Public are cautioned against purchasing same, a it is only calculated to increase, instead of maitigating, the discuse. The deception is easily detected, the figures on the wrapper of the falsified being badly brought out (apparently from a wood engraving), whilst those of the genuine are beautifully distinct. The signature of Radway and Co. is also badly imitated, and the bottles are somewhat larger than those received from Dr. Radway and Co.
