OF THE American Mares

"BONNE" AND "BELLE"

On the 12th inst., at NOON

We will sell at the Tattersall of Wilkos and Douglas, Calle Tuzo, behind Santo Domingo the two American Mares, "BONNE" and "BELLE"

These Mares belong to the celebrated Black-hawk, Moran, of the State of Vermont; United States, which have produced so many famous world-wide fame.

They are first-cousins to the stallion "Ethan Allen," who trotted his mile against "Dexter," in 2m. 15s., when fifteen years of age, black color, one year difference of age, has no vice and are exceptionally strong for either slow or fast work.

They were bought in Vermont from their breeder by Edward A. Hopkins, and imported to this country three years ago and they have been since on the Estancia of Mr. Oldendorf, at D-near, where they have produced several useful colts.

They are sure getters and good milkers, and belong to the toughest and most docile, and at the same time fastest and smallest feeding breed known in the United States.

These Mares will be furnished to the purchaser, also certificates of Mr. Wilkes and Oldendorf, as to perfect soundness.

Also will be sold with them an American Trotting Sully, weight bar-bit; Baldwin of United States, which has been in the possession of New York, maker. Both entirely new.

LISBON LETTER.

No. XIII.

Lisbon, 11th Dec. 1870.

My last to you was per the Aracunia on the 6th inst., I then sent you letter No. 12, and telegram No. 14, by this conveyance the La Plata I send you letter No. 13 and telegram No. 15, with the following news:—There has been some more fighting before Paris, the French lost three thousand prisoners and seven guns, the Germans had also very heavy losses in killed and wounded, General Mantuffel has been sent to Paris; Prince F. Charles defeated the French near Chevilly and Chilleus and drove them into the forest of Orleans, taking from them several prisoners and two guns. The French have officially announced that the army of the Loire has been obliged to retreat to occupy again their old positions before Orleans. Belfort has been bombarded. Granville's answer to Prince Gortschakoff is friendly but firm on the resolution taken by England to accept a conference for a pacific termination to this Russian question.

ON THE EVENING OF THE 6TH WE RECEIVED GREAT NEWS THAT GENERAL DUCROT HAD BEEN OBLIGED TO RETREAT INSIDE PARIS, DESTROYING ALL THE BRIDGES OF BOATS HE HAD MADE TO CROSS OVER THE MARNE. THIS NEWS CREATED A GREAT SENSATION, AS IT PROVED THAT THE ARMY OF THE LOIRE MUST HAVE BEEN DEFEATED, AND THAT DUCROT COULD NOT BREAK THE PRUSSIAN LINES. THE FRENCH PARTY HAVE GOT VERY DISHEARTENED; IT WAS A GREAT DISAPPOINTMENT AFTER HAVING PUT UP ILLUMINATIONS WHEN THE NEWS ARRIVED HERE, THAT A GRAND SORTIE HAD BEEN MADE BY DUCROT, THAT HE HAD BROKEN THROUGH THE PRUSSIAN LINES, THAT KING WILLIAM HAD BEEN OBLIGED TO LEAVE HIS QUARTERS AT VERSAILLES, ALL THESE FALSE REPORTS WHICH CAUSED THE FRENCH PARTY WHEN THEY ARRIVED GREAT GLEE, DISHEARTENED THEM VERY MUCH.

to evacuate Orleans, and to retreat to the Prussian lines.

The French have some forces at Chambray, which they have fortified with barricades.

It is officially confirmed that the Government of Tours have left for Bordeaux.

To-day, 11th, the news is that the Duke of Mecklenburg had severe victorious engagements during three days with General Chanzy's army, heavily reinforced from Tours. The Germans on Friday captured and occupied Beaugency, and took six guns and 150 prisoners. Prince Frederick Charles' troops occupied Vierzon, after a successful engagement at Salbris. A German corps, advancing on Bourges, had a successful engagement with the rear guard of Bourbaki's army at Genoy.

The Germans have occupied Dieppe, and the French have occupied Ham and St. Quentin. The Germans are victoriously attacking Belfort. No news from Paris.

12th.—German news says that the French attacked the German position on the Loire on Saturday. The attack was maintained with artillery until night. The French were repulsed, and lost several hundred prisoners. The Germans have occupied Havre. A journal from Brussels says that if Germany decides to annex Luxemburg they will not oppose the measure.

13th.—The very latest I have sent you. The La Plata was late in coming in the evening of the 4th Aureles telegraphed to Tours, saying that he had changed his opinion, and that he had resolved to organize a resistance in Orleans; and Gambetta immediately, at half past eleven at night, left Tours for Orleans; but the train he went in was detained at the village of La Chapelle by the firing of the Prussian cavalry, and Gambetta, having had a narrow escape, arrived back at Tours early in the morning, when he received a telegram from General Pallieres, dated the 5th, midnight, announcing that the Prussians had demanded the evacuation of Orleans; if not they would bombard it. Pallieres evacuated in the name of Aureles; the guns were all spiked, and the powder and other materials destroyed.

The Prussians occupied Orleans on Sunday, at midnight. Nothing more has been heard of Aureles.

The above is the telegram the Government here received, and which they published in a special bulletin. All this news, so unfavorable to the French, which has come in every day since the last mail left, has disheartened them very much. Just two days before the Aracunia left we had, as we thought, rather favorable news for the French; but it seems now there was only a small division of the Prussians engaged in those French victories; and since Prince Frederick Charles' army has come up the Prussians have again carried everything before them.

On the evening of the 8th the cable gave us the news that the Germans were advancing rapidly on Havre, and that they were following up the Army of the Loire; that it is thought General Paladine has retreated on Vizion, Bourges, and Nevers.

The Duke of Mecklenburg announced that the French lost at Orleans two thousand killed and wounded, and fifteen thousand prisoners. The Germans are advancing also on Tours.

News from inside Paris up to the 1st December. Great tranquility prevails. The next day (9th) the Germans say they had a serious encounter near Meung-sur-Loire, where they defeated the French, taking from them one gun, one mitrailleuse, and 150 prisoners. The French accounts of this affair say that they kept their positions.

It is reported that Gambetta has asked for an armistice, and leave for Jules Favre to quit Paris. It is said they want to elect a National Assembly, to authorize the French Government to treat for peace. It is also reported that Prussia has notified Luxemburg that she does not consider herself obliged any longer to respect her neutrality, as regards Luxemburg.

10th.—Another battle took place between Meung and Beaugency, against three French corps. The Germans gained the victory, taking from the French six guns and one thousand prisoners.

The Government of Tours intend leaving that place and taking up their abode at Bordeaux. General Paladine has been dismissed from the command of the Army of the Loire. Gen. Bourbaki has been appointed to the chief command of the Army of the Loire, and General Chanzy has been named second in command. General Mantuffel's army is marching on Havre, and intends marching on Orléans.

The Government received here a telegram from Tours that the Government intended leaving Tours for Bordeaux. It is also reported that Trochu and Ducrot have again left Paris, and that they are encamped at a village called Avron, and that a great battle will be fought soon; more troops are expected to leave Paris, and a great struggle is about to be made. The army of the Loire for the present is not expected to do anything.

This evening also news was received that King Amadeo will arrive on the 23rd December at Madrid; another telegram per cable to-day says that there has been a council of war at Berlin, where it was decided that Paris should be bombarded, and that it ought to be bombarded at once; also that news from headquarters at Versailles says that the Prussians had demanded the evacuation of Orleans; if not they would bombard it. Pallieres evacuated in the name of Aureles; the guns were all spiked, and the powder and other materials destroyed.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS BRASSEY.

The La Plata mails have brought news of the death of this world-renowned contractor, whose name has for some years been connected with the River Plate and the great enterprise of the Cordoba Railway. He died at London on the 8th December at 4.30 p.m., in the 66th year of his age. He was son of the late Mr. John Brassey, of Buerston, where he was born in 1805. He was educated at Chester. Among his various engineering works are: the Grand Junction, Severn Valley, Lancaster and Carlisle, Caledonian, North Stafford, Buckinghamshire, South Western, Eastern Union, Western of France, and Mediterranean Railways, besides several lines in Spain. He was, moreover, partner with Messrs. Peto and Betts in the contract for the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada. We forget how many millions sterling the contracts of Messrs. Brassey and Co. averaged per annum, but we have heard on good authority that this princely firm had usually 300,000 men in its employment.

The greatness of the English nation depends in great measure on the genius, enterprise and integrity of men of the stamp of Mr. Brassey. He was a worthy compeer of Stevenson, Brunel, etc., and has left a glorious record of his name in every country of Europe, as well as in North and South America.

Mr. Wheelwright, who was his partner in the Central Argentine contract, writes truly: "he is a sad loss to the world;" but adds that his death will not in the least affect the affairs of the Company.

MOVING OF THE PROVINCIAL BANK.

On Sunday last the long-talked-of removal of the Provincial Bank was begun. On Saturday it was arranged on, and on the following morning long before day all the clerks, officials and employees of the Bank were on the ground. Precisely at 15 minutes past past four a.m. Dr. Gorostiaga, the President of the Bank, accompanied by Mr. Sassenberg, Dr. Roque Perez, Sr. Casares, Sr. Balbu, Don Mariano Saavedra and several others of the Board, entered the Board-room, and gave orders to begin the heira. Legions of "chaguadores" were called in, police were stationed outside, the hall door at Calle San Martin was closed, and the work in right good earnest commenced. The unsophisticated public as they wended their way to church at an early hour were surprised at the shouts inside the bank, and the noise in the patio; and but for the presence of Mr. Charles Casares at the hall door, and Messrs. Marengo and Sala peering through the windows, the probabilities are that people would have supposed the robbers were at work inside; but these well-known faces inspired confidence, and although it was conjectured there was something extraordinary going on inside the bank, there was no crowd whatever in the street.

The day was hot and the work was long. By good or bad luck the specie in the vaults never since the Bank was started amounted to so much as at present. Over six millions in gold in the safes, then the paper money—such colossal piles. What they wanted in weight was more than madon in bulk. Money enough to buy up nearly all the squares of Buenos Ayres. The poor peones, how their teeth watered as they took up armfuls of money, a tenth of what they carried being more than sufficient to buy a palace at Como. Towards breakfast time not only the "chaguadores" showed signs of debility, but the hungry appearance of the clerks and the directors suggested the propriety of beefsteaks and mutton chops at the Café de Paris. Breakfast over, the work was resumed, and "con amore" millions and millions were passed from the old to the new Treasury Office. Luckily the work was somewhat lightened by the removal of the books on Friday and Saturday.—One powerful Genoese, groaning under the weight of over 120 millions in "pagares," gave way, and down came the promissory notes, discount books, &c. The shock was terrific. The moving of the safes was another herculean job. Such safes! It would seem as if the floors of the patios would give way under such ponderous loads. The sun shone, and the rays scorched patriots and plebian in that roasting patio; the lever and the pedd finally won the day. The safes, the gold, the treasure, were all moved before sundown—but every one on the premises looked exhausted. Another such victory and the very Board itself would be undone. The sun went down, and four-fifths of the chattels of the Bank were removed—still there was work on hand. That greasy pyramid of paper money, old $5 and $1 bills—has yet to march—the desks, benches, &c., were still to be moved. Towards night the task was done.

On Monday morning the astonished public found a small notice on the hall-door of the bank, to the effect that the bank offices had been moved round the corner; and the whole day, whether impelled by necessity to renew a bill, or curiously to see how things

LA PLATA'S MAILS.

On Sunday the Royal Mail Steamer La Plata entered port; her mails having been forwarded by river steamer were ashore at daylight and delivered at the Post Office at one o'clock. Neither the Caldera nor the John Elder had arrived at Rio when she left; she passed the Garonne, French steamer, on the 4th. The Oneida left Bahia on the 28th December, all well. The Douro arrived at Lisbon on 11th December, all well. We are indebted to Mr. Moore, purser of La Plata, for our English files and the latest Lisbon paper in the Plate.

The following is the La Plata's passenger list:—

From Southampton—Messrs. Hebler, Giraud, Stant, wife and six children, S Salazar, G Boie, Cardona, F S H Goodrick, Deakin jr., Kelly, Cobham, Glynn, Nicolle, H Abrian, A Abrian, G Dausey, Lehfeld, McCool, A Oostendorp, W Jackson.

From Lisbon—Messrs. A E Rosal, Miguel Torjano Niño, Antonio Jose Rodriguez Val, Jose Macione, Román Collago, Mrs. Ramona Sidro.

From Rio de Janeiro—Dr. Carlos L Marengo, Messrs. Jose Luis de Almeida, Adriano da Costa Ramalho, Jose Silveiro Claudio, Joseph Damblaus, wife and two children.

THE ARMY OF THE LOIRE

ITS DEFEAT AND DISPERSION

(From the "Times" 7th Dec.)

Since his despatch dated last Sunday at noon, there had been no tidings from General D'Aureles de Paladine. That distinguished officer seemed in some unaccountable manner to have vanished. We hope we have not heard the last of one who has proved himself a brave soldier, and, considering the materials with which and upon which he had to work, an able one. Few incidents in any war have been more wonderful than the third fall of Orleans and the sudden collapse of the Army of the Loire; and among the most striking circumstances connected with it we must reckon the mysterious disappearance of the Commander-in-Chief. The rumor at Tours was that a court-martial awaited the conqueror of Comilières, and we require all our faith in the undoubted bravery of De Paladine to resist a suspicion that he is simply shrinking from the consequences of M. Gambetta's disappearance.

De Paladine's conduct, however, was, and it was really, the extraordinary one which he had taken place. The Treasury, paying Teller's office, is supposed into the end corner of the second patio, and approached by a long, narrow plank; the deposit office is on the right of the hall, and the "pagaré" in front, whilst in the corner of the patio is the "old grating young" revived, or the renovating office, where the old paper money is exchanged for new. Upstairs, in a two pair back, is the Board Room. Where Mr. Ohyar has gone to this deponent cannot say. Mr. Roca, whose beaming countenance welcomed the account-current customers in the first patio of the old building, is also missing; and we confess that we left the new building with rather melancholy feelings at finding so many well known faces gone to parts unknown.

The brokers deplore the change, such it necessitates so much more exertion on their part to get up and down stairs. But the change is only temporary. The old front of the bank is to be torn down, and a new and graceful one erected.

Our readers, and the public in general, will be pleased to learn that the new front of the bank in Calle San Martin will be of Martin Garcia granite. For the last three years we have toiled for this, and the adoption of our view is in every respect an editorial victory. We were the first to suggest it, and we return our thanks to the Board for adopting our suggestion.

The light of these brief remarks let us now sum up late events. The rally, which was intended as a general and continuous movement, began on the 29th on the southern side, where the French reached Choisy-le-Roi, Chevilly, and L'Hay, three villages situated within the fire respectively of the Forts Irvy, Bicetre, and Mont-souge. The fighting at this point lasted throughout that day, and in the night General Ducrot, at the head of a force which has been computed at from 50,000 to 150,000 men, with 400 guns, took the positions of Mealy and Montmesley, between Oretail and Bouneuil and close upon Fort Charenton; but subsequently he abandoned those positions, crossed the Marne by eight bridges, effected a lodgment at Chambray and Brié, and held those places throughout the day. Chambray and Brié lie within short cannon range of the redoubts of La Gravelle and La Faisanderie, in advance of Vincennes, as well as of Fort Nogent. The Marne, from Vincennes, forms a great loop round the peninsula of St. Maur, and winds again towards Vincennes at Joinville-le-Pont, encircling a second peninsula up to Nogent, and passing both Chambray and Brié on its left bank, one on the South and the other on the North of the isthmus, or broad neck of this second peninsula. At Chambray and Brié, as well as at Choisy-le-Roi, Chevilly, and L'Hay, the French were still, as it were, on the glacis of their fortifications, and on the side of the Marne they had, besides the fire of the forts, that of their gunboats and of the iron-plated carriages of the Circular Railway to support them. No one can be surprised at any advantage obtained under such circumstances; but, however brilliant the affair may be on their side, it all reduces itself to the question—Did they break through the enemy's lines? We heard, indeed, from Tours that Ducrot was encamped fifteen miles out of Paris, without any particular mention of the spot, and that Admiral De la Roncière le Noury had advanced on Longjumeau, twelve miles to the South of Paris, on the road to Etampes and Orleans, and that he had carried the entrenched positions at Epinay, a little further to the South-East. It turns out, however, that the Epinay in question is not the one first mentioned, but Epinay, north of Paris, within a short distance of Fort la Briche, one of the main defences of St. Denis.

All the evidence tends to establish the fact that beyond the reach of the guns of their forts the sallying masses attempted little and accomplished nothing, for if, at the utmost, some small body of men, like that of Admiral de la Roncière, had really slipped through the posts of the German advanced lines, they would have found themselves confronted by stronger positions; for it is to be observed that in the same measure as the French venture beyond reach of their own guns they fall in with the intrenchments and batteries of their adversaries; the tables are completely turned, and all the advantage of position is on the German side. If De la Roncière had made his way to Longjumeau, he would have found that place occupied by a Pomeranian corps fresh from Metz, and accustomed to give a good account of their assailants. We well remember how at various stages during the siege of Metz Basaine also was reported to have broken bonds and to have reached non Briey, now Epinay, on some other spot at 10, and even 15 miles' distance from the fortress. Basaine, we were told, was free as air. He would leave Metz whenever he had a great desire from Paris of last Wednesday. If we wish to come to a correct estimate of the success attendant upon the effort made by the large force which General Ducrot led across the Marne, we ought to consider the peculiar conditions of the localities immediately surrounding Paris. The continued line of ramparts and the Detached Forts by which M. Thiers, as a Minister of King Louis Philippe, aimed at converting the French capital into a great stronghold were, upon the outbreak of the present war, and upon the unresisted advance of the German invaders, deemed insufficient protection against the formidable artillery which, by the adoption of modern improvements, the enemy might be expected to bring against the place. Attempts were made by General Trochu, at the time that he assumed the command, to occupy and strengthen all the important points in advance of the Detached Forts, intending them as additional outposts beyond the foremost line. Time fell short for the accomplishment of the undertaking, and the Germans, in the first impetus of their arrival, seized upon these unfinished works, and established themselves at various points within one or two miles of the cannon of the Forts. The cannon of the Forts, however, rendered a lodgment in too close proximity to them one of great discomfort; and the Germans were, in some instances, fairly driven off, while in others they had to seek or to make shelter as they best could, and to squat down in trenches and rifle-pits, so as to hold their positions without showing themselves in aid about them. So long as the huge Paris garrison was in a state of quiescence this game of hide and seek was perfectly successful, but in the event of a Sortie it became necessary that the lurking besiegers should stand up to repel the assailants, and thus expose themselves to the fire of the Forts, which in some cases are said to have more than a five miles' range.

because it was his own plan, and would soon be to maturity. The conclusion of it all was that Metz surrendered, and Bazaine was branded "a traitor."

On Thursday, when a fresh sortie was announced, so far as we know up to the moment of going to press, all was quiet near Paris, and the French had asked for a few hours' armistice to bury the dead. We have not forgotten that a similar request was made by Bazaine after Gravelotte. Indeed, the analogy between the vicissitudes of the two beleaguered places strikes us almost at every stage of the hostilities—an ominous analogy! We should be sorry to express any scepticism as to the portents which martial ardour, kindled by patriotism, may be able to achieve. Though Metz fell, Paris may yet triumph.—Times.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Royal Mail steamer La Plata arrived in port early on Sunday morning, and we had our exchanges early on that day, but the bulk of her letters was not delivered till yesterday morning. A careful perusal of the English papers up to the 9th ult., leads irresistibly to the conclusion that the cause of France is irrevocably lost, and that "the beginning of the end" is not far off. The Headquarter Staff of the Prussian army expected the capitulation of Paris towards the end of December, and orders for enormous quantities of provisions have been issued by the Emperor of Germany, with the view of supplying the inhabitants the moment the capitulation is signed. The prisoners taken by the Germans in the recent sorties declare, however, that there are supplies for two months in the besieged city, and that Trochu is determined to make sorties as long as a man or ounce of lead is left. The most astounding part of the news by the La Plata is the assumed dispersion of the Army of the Loire. Almost everything that has been said and written for the last month about this famous army turns out to be fiction "pur et simple," and it is most probable we have heard the last of it. Everyone in Buenos Ayres now asks how or where have the "bolos" about its "400,000 men wild with enthusiasm," its marches and countermarches, and final junction with Trochu originated? We fear the Tours Government is the chief offender. But the lesson of last week should not be thrown away on the papers of this city, as it is a cruel injustice to the numerous and respectable French community to raise their hopes by publishing and commenting on as facts the gossip of passengers, which in most cases has proved utterly unreliable. We publish to-day carefully culled selections from the English papers, which, we think, give a reliable version of the present military situation, also "Our Lisbon Letter," which fully corroborates the press accounts. The correspondents of the London papers describe the slaughter during the recent sorties as the most appalling since the war broke out. Thousands and thousands were frozen to death on the battle-field, though but slightly wounded, but it was impossible to help them.

Our advices by the mail just arrived state that the Rev. — Smith, M.D., some time resident in Java, and lately curate of a church in Saint John's Wood, London, has been appointed Chaplain to Buenos Ayres.

We have received three letters from our Special Correspondent in London, but are obliged to defer their publication till to-morrow and next day, owing to the pressure on our space in this issue.

The committee named by Government to take an inventory of Santa Catalina report as follows—The estancia house has 19 rooms, and a pigeon house with 5,000 "casillas," containing 1,500 pair of pigeons. The plantation counts 54,190 large trees, including 6,000 parades, acacia, &c. and three English oaks, 15 walnut-trees, 40 fig, 12 cherry, and 150 quince trees. The old mill has a pigeon-house of 3,000 "casillas," with 1,000 pair of pigeons.

D. Francisco Madero recently won in a raffle a Chilean horse valued at 30,000$.

Building is going on very actively in the neighbourhood of Calle Callao and Huaco de Cabezas: new houses are everywhere to rent out there, notwithstanding.

A few more Frenchmen were sent home by last steamer from M. Video to fight against the Germans.

The Espana publishes a shocking murder recently committed at Chivilcoy, the victims being a poor Spaniard and his wife.

The Tycho Brabe sailed for Liverpool yesterday. We published a Special Edition for this steamer.

The Tribuna of M. Video has a chimerical project of a railway from that city to Lake Mini, say 350 miles long, with the only apparent view of supplying the city with fresh-water fish.

A heavy shower of rain fell yesterday morning an hour or so after sunrise. While it lasted, which was for nearly an hour, the colloquial expression "cats and dogs" best describes the kind of deluge which came down. It is worthy of remark that at the Once and other places there was only a sprinkling, while at the Plaza Lorea and to the N. W. of the city the flood-gates of Heaven seemed to have been thrown wide open. Sunday was an oppressively hot day, so was yesterday in the afternoon, in spite of the welcome rain of the morning.

A fire broke out on Sunday about 2 o'clock p.m. in a house at the corner of Calles San Martin and Cuyo. The origin of the accident is not accurately known, but is most generally supposed to have been communicated from the chimney. Great alarm at first prevailed lest the "almacén" underneath, which is filled with spirits and other combustible matter, should take fire. Mr. O'Gorman, Chief of Police, and the Port Captain with several men were soon on the ground, and to their energy the extinguishing of the fire is mainly due. There was, as usual, great delay in getting water, and but that the windows of the room in which the fire originated were closed, the flames would have been fanned to a more destructive point before any attempt could be made to extinguish them. When water was procured the windows were burst open, and several heroic volunteers aided the police and port men to pitch the burning furniture into the street, and in a short time all danger was over. Amongst those volunteers who distinguished themselves most was a former employé of ours, Mr. Handbook Anderson, who was the first man to enter the burning room, the ceiling falling in a mass on his head the moment he stepped in; happily, he was not injured, but in the confusion some one "took a loan" of his coat, which he had left in a corner, and up to the hour of our going to press the "borrower" has not re-appeared. A middle-aged clergyman, whose name we have not been able to ascertain, scammed up the ladder, rushed into the room, and worked away like a boy of eighteen in his praiseworthy efforts to assist. While the flames were raging upstairs some individuals in the crowd below did a large business in the "borrowing" line in a boot and shoe shop underneath. The proprietor was assisting above stairs, meanwhile, almost his entire stock disappeared on the feet or in the pockets of the rabble portion of the crowd, who made believe they were saving the stock. The wholesale plunder of this store could not have occurred if the police had the faintest idea of how to deal with a crowd on such occasions.

The Provincial Bank establishment was removed on Friday and the following days from its present locale in Calle San Martin to temporary offices in Calle Piedad, pending the completion of the new Bank. Moving is an undertaking which those who possess Laras and Penates know all the horrors of, but moving a Bank is neither an easy or every day feat, so we devote a few special words to the event in another column. The whole facade of the Bank will be of Martin Garcia stone, and we take considerable credit to ourselves for first starting this idea and insisting on its advantages whenever we had an opportunity. We are glad to see the Government has adopted our suggestion. The new Provincial Bank will be an ornament and credit to the capital of the Republic.

We extract the following opinion of Mr. Hopkin's mares Bonnie and Belle, which are about to be sold, from a letter to the owner. The writer is one of the best judges of horseflesh. "You wish for my opinion of Bonnie and Belle. I feel very glad to tell you that I consider your mares of a most useful breed, especially for these countries. Their trotting qualities are well known over all the world, but I found them out to be the most valuable ploughing horses I ever came across. Notwithstanding that they were worked every day they kept in splendid condition and were fat and spirited, while the other horses were thin. Bonnie and Belle are splendid breeders as can well be seen by the magnificent foals from them, and I feel very sorry to part with them, as there can be no doubt whatsoever they belong to some of the most precious stock ever bred."

The manner of building which has been in vogue here with small speculators for some time past, and which is highly culpable on the part of the Municipality to longer countenance, is producing the result we have so often predicted. The roof of a house in Calle Parque fell in on Sunday night suddenly without a moment's warning, burying in the "debris" and injuring severely a Frenchman, his wife and children, who lived in the upper storey. The house belongs to some Italians, who lately put up altos, using, as is their wont, the cheapest and worst materials. We call the serious attention of the Municipality to this accident, which, in my view, but the precursor of many such. The most pretentious looking houses in town are built in the same way. If the present system of building is allowed to continue all the modern looking houses we are so proud of as resembling European edifices will have to be rebuilt every fifteen or even ten years.

On last Friday night there was an alarming row on the quay at the Tigre. The affair began near the steamer Leopoldo; revolver shots were exchanged, knives used freely, and several of the brawlers badly wounded. Two English gentlemen carried a man from the fray who had received three wounds. The disturbance caused great excitement and no little alarm in the usually peaceable Tigre.

The death of Mr. Polvilain has caused much regret amongst the wide circle of friends which he possessed. Deceased was a Frenchman, and one of the oldest lithographers in B. Ayres. His funeral was very numerous attended. Mr. Polvilain's death arose from a fit brought on by the bad news received from Europe on Saturday.

Dr. Olaus Amodeo, President of the Medical Board, put an end to his existence on Friday by shooting himself, and, indeed, over his professional reputation stood very high.

The raffle of Old Warden came off yesterday at Watson's Casino. Mr. Carlos Casares was the lucky individual, and although not present, the person who threw for him made 42, which was the highest throw. This gentleman has acquired a really dangerous notoriety for his luck whenever a good horse is raffled. We sincerely congratulate him on this occasion, and feel certain that this noble animal could not have fallen into better hands.

The bond market ruled very weak to-day, and the bears were completely in the ascendant. Several well known speculators offered to sell, and to sell largely, but there were really no buyers.

For cash there was not much offered, but for the end of June and March the bears seemed to have no limit, and had there been any spirit amongst the bulls, immense transactions might have been effected; but the industrious circulation of every sort of rumour affecting the credit of the Government has so far succeeded that outsiders bold aloof, and the probabilities are that the bond market is about to suffer a sharp fall.

The sales to-day were as follows:

For cash.....	19,600 @ 64 1/2
For Jan. 31.....	6,000 @ 65
For March 31.....	40,000 @ 65 1/2

The Bien Hechora Company bought bonds to-day. It was said on 'Change that a company has been formed to purchase the steamer Uruguay to run between the Tigre and Rosario.

The E-trella Company has lost only a very small amount in the fire in Calle Peru. 30,000 National Bonds were sold to-day at 85, the interest and amortization on these bonds will be paid this month.

Exchange was done to-day at 49 1/2 and 50. The quotable rate is 49 1/2 and 50 1/2. France on Antwerp at 5.27 and 5.30.

Of the specie on board the Borneo and insured in the Probidad office, advices were received to-day announcing that 2300 have been saved.

Up to the closing hour of the Bolas there was no news of the John Elder.

The great iron girder was elevated to-day and placed in position over the hall of the Bolas, after great exertions on the part of the workmen and others.

The advices received per La Plata respecting the Antwerp wool market are more favorable, and in the expectation of peace the market is firm.

The steamer Palatina, of the Glasgow line, will sail on 20th for Antwerp, Liverpool and Glasgow. This magnificent steamer formerly belonged to the Capard line; the Captain was on 'Change to-day.

Letters received by the packet speak in the most complimentary manner of the conduct of the Wanklyn Bank to holders of drafts on Paris. All drafts and credits on Paris were at once paid in London, which is spoken of as highly honorable for the River Plate houses, and also a great convenience to the holders. Mr. Vignal's drafts were similarly honored.

It is said that the fine steamer Rosario belonging to Messrs. Molina & Co. has been offered to Government at a moderate figure, and will probably be taken up and fitted out as a war vessel.

The policy which the "Probidad" had on the Borneo, was on specie, which it is thought probable may be recovered by divers sent to the wreck. The steamer lies in the sand, broken amidships; some parties on the coast took a good deal out of her. The wreckers gave a case of sherry to the unfortunate survivors who passed two days on that lonely beach.

Respecting the health of Anuncion, latest advices are more favorable. The Brazilian garrison 1000 strong has only lost 4 men, the total number of the Brazilian force in Paraguay is four thousand. The census of the country just taken gives the total population of the country at 100,600 souls.

The La Plata entered port on Sunday, but the malle came up by river steamers, and were ashore at daybreak. Messrs. Franer, Best, M'Sherry, Wilson, Lloyd, and others who came up from Montevideo reported the John Elder entering Montevideo as they left. It proved however incorrect, for the telegraph at 9 a.m. on Sunday morning announced nothing in.

Mr. Rossi, the well known broker, has returned in the La Plata, also Sr. Boie, and Mr. Oosterdoorp, all of whom were welcomed on 'Change to-day.

Mr. Andrew P. Lucas left town on Sunday morning to inaugurate his new Banco Hipotecario in Cordoba, which institution promises to do well.

A new joint-stock bank has been opened in Tucuman. All these provincial banks should be compelled by law to have agencies in Buenos Ayres.

The almoxarango firm of Smith and Co. of Calle Buen Orden, of which Messrs. Antonio Rocha & Sons were partners, is dissolved, Messrs. Rocha & Sons retiring from the business, which will be henceforward carried on by Mr. Smith alone.

Latest advices from Rio give 50, 120, and exchange at 23 1/2.

Respecting the Government exchange passed last month, on which has been so much the subject of conversation, we have been requested to say that although the Minister did not draw the bills, were drawn by Sr. Riestra for Thomson, Bonar & Co., and the rate at which the Government passed them was 60d.

There seems some colour of authenticity in the report on 'Change that a company of Argentine capitalists, of which General Mitre is Chairman, has offered to purchase the Calle Callao branch of the City of Buenos Ayres Tramway Company, limited, in the round sum of three millions of dollars. Of course no such business can be considered by the local board of the Company here; however, it is a good sign to see that this young line has assumed such value, and that it runs out in the direction of a large matadero establishment. It will interest barragones and others to know that the large shipments of dry cow hides made to the States by Don Luis Martinez have left splendid profits, as also the shipments by J. Villanueva.

Government has granted permission to a Frenchman named Lasserre to put down 24 boats in the Outer Roads for vessels to anchor at. It is presumed this will prove a great convenience for our foreign shippers.

Much significance is attached to the fact that General Arredondo has dismissed no less than seven "incomodible" carts that followed the army, and were said to belong to parties in the army.

WHAT IS HEARTBURN?—A pungent and acid gas evolved in the stomach gives rise to this unpleasant sensation. The alkalies administered to relieve it are of no permanent use. They do not touch the cause, which is imperfect digestion. Tone the stomach with Bristol's Sugar-coated Pills, and the food will then be so completely dissolved, and so faithfully applied to nutritive purposes, that no irritating element will be generated in the process of digestion, and "heartburn" will therefore be impossible. It is merely one of the consequences of indigestion, and all that fearful source of pain and inconvenience inevitably yields to the tonic, aperient, and antilithic action of the pills: there is no reason why any human being should continue to endure any of its penalties. 20

Our colleague the Republica supplies some very interesting data respecting the trade of Ajó. The 'fabric' of Messrs. Arrese & Co. dispatched during 1870 no less than 65 vessels, with 3,899 pipes of mutton tallow, with 144,287 ar.; peso grapes 1888 ar.; do. salted 471; sheepskins 208,865; lamb do. 1298; bones 4400; sah 359 1/2.

Messrs. Daclin & Co.'s fabric—18 ships dispatched in the year 650 pipes mutton tallow, 13 pipes peso grapes, 644 pipes hides, 47,058 sheepskins, 65 bales wool, 80 tons bones ash.

Fabric of Messrs. Carvices, Uri & Co.—39 vessels dispatched 913 pipes mutton tallow, 6156 bags wool, 240 bags horse hair, 200 bales wool, 40 bales nutria skins, 31 bales sheepskins, 21,767 cow hides, 80,777 sheepskins, 5098 lambs do. 1429 calf.

Fabric of Messrs. Rubio and Co.—25 vessels dispatched in 1870, 640 pipes mutton tallow, 2312 bags wool, 121 bags horse hair, 136 bales wool, 4298 cow hides, 53,125 sheepskins, 141 calf, 119 bisacchos, 308 nutria, etc.

The foregoing returns show a rising trade in a district little known in this market, and it is gratifying to note, that these very important establishments have all been the growth of a few years; could the other districts in the country point to like returns, our exports would very soon rival our imports.

Advices have been received from Rosario announcing that the brig La Plata which ran aground in front of Sr. Alvar's estancia, has been got off at the last high tide in the river.

Wool brokers and barragones look forward to heavy arrivals of wool now that the holidays are past, the farmers however, would consent their own interest by not being in too great a hurry about sending in their wool as so long as the European market is not very great, it is rather a hopeful sign to remark that the French have entered the market as buyers. All wools which they buy of course are stored until peace is proclaimed. The 'pato fierro' wools as they are called, as they are free from cartille are this year in good request.

Our special reporter, of the North Plaza gives the following—

For the last four or five days hardly any new arrivals from outside.

At the Station some 7 parcels, amounting in all to about 4000 ar, sold of these about 1500 ar. from 42 to 48.

At the Plaza, in all about 30 carts of wool, from these have been sold this morning 8 to 10 carts from 44 to 48. The rest of the carts have not been opened at all.

The stock of wool in the market and station looks as if it was in the months of July or June.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUA AND CO.
101-Cangallo-103
Buenos Ayres.
 The immense advantages of Accounts Current now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.
 The Bank of Maua & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depositary for their savings.
 The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.
 These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of expending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.
 The Bank of Maua & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and has

CONDITIONS.
 First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.
 Second—The interest allowed is six per cent.
 p. a. per annum, which is liquidated every six months.
 Third—The depositors can at any time retire
 the whole or part of the money deposited.
 Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds Twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one hundred dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.
 Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

VILLA SARMIENTO
 A Suburb of Cordoba.
 Building Lots $5,100 each.
 This charming suburb occupies a fine view of the city of Cordoba in the low ground and the Sierras in the distance. It is proposed to establish here the new water-works of the Anisacoat Aqueduct as projected by the Engineer of the Province, Col. Thompson.
 The air is peculiarly salubrious and invigorating, (and the site is destined to be one of the favorite summer-residences of the city.) The Villa Sarmiento comprises 70 quadras (or 140 acres) half of which are already taken by English merchants and native families of Buenos Ayres.
 There are two plazas, called Colon and 26 do Mayo, and the streets are 20 varas wide. The blocks are 100x100 varas, and each lot for building is 20x60, price $5,100.
 With the growing importance of Cordoba this locality will rise greatly in value, and the site is well suited for country houses, coupled with the abundance of timber and timber, that families can have a delightful residence, within 2 days journey of Buenos Ayres, at a very nominal cost.

SAVINGS BANK FOR THE MILLION.
La Popular Argentina.
 (BY AUTHORITY OF GOVERNMENT.)
 Government Inspector,
D. HERIBERTO BERGRANO,
 General Manager,
D. PEDRO S. LAMAS.
CAPITAL—600,000 Ptas.
 Bonds or Shares..... 10 each, or $250 mg
 Do. in Fifth..... 25 " " 60 "
FIRST GRAND DRAWING,
DECEMBER 30th, 1870.
 Economy being the secret of its wealth, the POPULAR ARGENTINA addresses itself to people of every walk in life, and its advantages and securities are admitted on all hands. The first issue of Bonds will close shortly.
 The first Grand Drawing comes off December 30th, 1870.
 The Prizes to be drawn will constitute an independent fortune, and will be in proportion to the number of Bonds disposed of.
 The public subscriptions cannot be better guaranteed, since the amount has to be deposited in the Provincial Government Treasury, by the Inspector. At the expiration of the term expressed in each Bond or Share, the holder gets back the full amount, whether or not he may have drawn any of the annual prizes. For instance, a man who subscribes 100 mg. may come in for a splendid prize; but if at any event, his money is returned to him in the end.
 Every year there will be a Drawing on December 30th, when the holder of a 10 SHARE MAY DRAW $50,000
STERLING.
 Working men will thus be induced to save their earnings, since if they fail to draw a prize they will get all their money back in the end, and realize the wise arrangement in which public morality and the chance of gain are combined.
 Subscribers taking Shares to the amount of $100 Ptas. may at any time renounce their share of the annual prizes by converting their shares into Bonds, bearing 10 per cent interest per annum, with Coupons attached payable quarterly.
 Subscribers may also at any time sell their tickets, which are all payable to bearer.
 The Drawing of Prizes will take place in presence of the Government Inspector, the Board of Directors, Manager, and Public Notary.
 For Shares, &c. apply at the Head Office,
 213-CALLE PIEDRA-213
 Or at any of the Provincial Branches.
