This class of diseases, so common in all parts of the world, and specially prevalent in malations districts and vicinage of water courses are almost invariably accompanied by more or a descrive action of the liver, and frequently by a defective action of the liver, and frequently by a defective action of the digestive organs.

The mere breaking of the Chill is but a step towards completing a radical cure. The various organs of the body, especially the stomach and liver, must be brought to a healthy and vigorous iver, must be brought to a healthy and vigorous condition before a permanent cure can be established, and this fact has been specially kept in view by Dr. Jayne in his treatment of these complaints. REVIEW FOR EUROPE.

The mail leaves us this time under a painful impression caused by one of the most fearful shipping disasters on record, which occurred on Christmaseve to the steamer America, between this port and Montevideo, resulting in a great sacrifice of human life, the vic tims being variously estimated from 130 to 170. THE LOSS OF THE AMERICA.

Four days have elapsed since the loss of the America, and what steps has the Argentine Government taken in the matter? There is really nothing wanting toadd to the tragedy save the escape of the guilty and the unrequital of the deserving. And shall this be the sequel of this awful catastrophe? We answer for the River Plate public, most emphatically, No!

Already indivinals have stepped forward and done their part, as in the neeting of the passe the Villa del Salto to reward Captain Morse. But besides rewarding the brave we must punish the guilty—and with one shout the public of Buenos Ayres demands the TRIAL OF BOSSI. This man must be tried, and tried for his life, which, after all is too poor, too miserable for public revenge. We care nothing for his pleas or manifestoesguilty or innocent, he was the Captain of the disaster, and must be tried, and the conduct of the Argentine Government in allowing 96 hour sto elapse since the tragedy without demanding from the commander of the Italian On arriving at a point distant about gunboat his extradition is so censurable, that we almost begin to think he will escape in toto.,

Let no man plead the Italian flag hand Bossi over to the regularly constituted tribunals of the country for

The charge is so terrible, public feeling so incensed, that we may look upon his punishment as certain. F ol that he was to have survived his fate; he should have gone down in his doomed steamer-we could have well survived the loss, but we cannot stomach his impunity. Yet, piercing the lamentable cloud of human-agony, ineffectual devotion, piety, fear, hope, and even crime, that surrounds this awful tragedy, darts one solitary redeeming ray, bright as the sun at noonday, luminous as the Hope which teaches us to believe that the charred and suffocated victims are at eternal rest.

Nor King nor Kaisey could have such a requiem!

Nor in our admiration of the noble Viale, must we overlook the heroism of Captain O'Morse, who, with the zeal of a true-hearted man, and the judgment of an experienced mariner, durhing the precious moments whilst e was running down to the burning vessel, had all his boats got ready, ropes at every point thrown out, and everything at hand to achieve the purpose for which his mame will be for ever are thousands of our countrymen who, similarly situated as Morse, would have done precisely the same, detracts in nothing from the merit of this brave man's conduct. As regards the robbery of the Treasury, the matter is still in volved in mystery, the 'proceso' not being yet concluded. The sam of £10,000 paid to the Southern Railway definitively closes the question of guarantee. The amount paid to the Northern Railway was $189,000 [say £1500 sterling]; in future the Govern-

In like manner the Patentes, or licenses, gave 10½ millions for the city (an increase of a million) and 1½ millions for the camp districts. Thus we see 21 millions of direct city taxation which should belong to the municipal revenue improperly devoted to the general income and expenditure of the Pro-line nearly doubled. Yesterday at grey dawn poor Rossell and his sergeant Bourgeois, and the less pitied Ferré, were shot at Satory. A few members of the press were the only civilians present. Rossel died instantaneously shot through the heart. The two others were dispatched with the 'coup de grace.' Ferré was defiant to the last, and when shot leaped and whirled before he fell. Rossell was weak, but resigned, and his last words were that the judges had done their duty. He excited much sympathy, and many think his execution is a blunder on the part of the Government. The Times considers that it is useless asking 50 different people to identify the claimant, when on the one hand half a dozen decent people have done so, and on the other, none of his relatives. have identified him. The article is generally read as opposed to the claimant, and the remarks of the judge, who has lately taken to fighting with Ballantine instead or the Attorney-General, are not favourable to the witnesses for the plaintiff. The last witness Joseph Francis Baigent, is important. He, however, speaks so low as to be almost inaudible, and has the additional disadvantage of being deaf. They finally stuck him on a chair on the table between the judge and counsel. He fenced suspiciously with the cross-examiner Hawkins, who seemed bent on making him out a convert to the side of the claimant, and for some particular object. One great feature in the evidence was a letter of Baigent's in which he called Lady Tichborne, the mother, 'foolish' but the word had been corrected, and was originally something else which the counsel wanted him to swear was 'crazy,' as the mother was the only one of the claimant's near relatives who has recognized him, it is easy to see the importance of the point. For interesting evidence on the side of the claimant we must wait for the arrival of the Australians. It is supposed that the defendants are to prove, as you already know.that the claimant is an illegitimate son of the late Baronet by Mrs. Orton. In the Melbourne papers you will find the different views of the question discussed. Heavy bets are made in legal circles here on the result. Upon the whole, the opinion is rather against the claimant since the case reopened. To my mind the only intelligence displayed in the affair from Judge to claimant is by the jurors. Their questions are always pertinent, and give us hope that they will correct any lopsidedness of the bench.

Such a rainy Christmas is not re membered in the Piate for many years. The fall on Thursday night and yesterday morning was steady and very hea vy, but ceased at noon. The rain will do great good and effectually keep off any epidemic, but it brings its inconveniences. #### IMMIGRATION.

To the Editors of the STANDARD. Gentlemen:

The following remarks on two subects of of the greatest importance to the inhabitants the River Plate, viz: immigration, and the utilisation among all classes in Buenos Ayres, and its well-known character in Engassuming, is always extended to such commercial enterprises as are calculated to prove beneficial to the new sources and attractions it is at all times ready to make known to others.

The necessity for immigration to all new and thinly populated countries is so self evident as hardly to call for the slightest allusion; for, let the natural resources of a country be what they may, those iches might remain for ever undeveloped but for the iron wills "We regret to have to announce the and sturdy muscles which have laid in death of Dr. Berthold Seemann, at the Levali Mines of Choatales, in Nica once unknown solitudes of North Ameragua, on the morning of the 10th of riea into thriving and flourishing por-

This law is a dead letter; I was forced to pay duty, and I don't know one who was able to pass his of fects free. The state of the weather is the topic. Some of our oldest morehants state that they have never before experienced a storm like the pre-sent in the middle of summer. It is feared that the rain will much interfere with the harvest, and that such constant rain will spoil the wheat crop, now ripe and being cut down. In the river to-day, of course, all business was brought to a complete stanf-still. Shipping bates in such weather was utterly out of the question, aid it appears that the bates engaged for the French packet cannot be shipped. The gale last night was a stiff south-easter, which as usual caused a flood in the river: but although the wind was very high we heard of no disasters in port. A sale to-day of 19 shares of the Popular Ar-

A sucto-cary of 19 shares of the Popular Ar-gentina was reported, at 250 pats per share, upon which the first two calls have been paid, amount-ing to 100 pats. The very large business which this company is doing attracts attention. The total number of tickets sold for the drawing which comes off to morrow (Saturday) is 16,000, which is full double the amount issued for the previous lrawing: As it is now known that in January here will be a good dividend declared on the heres, and the money market is som-wind easier, here is more enquiry for the shares; but all the arge holders refuse to sell. The business of this inpany in the Interior Provinces has increase much that new agencies have to be established n most of the provinces.

Bolsa shares are to be had at 85 premium. The dividend this year will be only 9 per cent., owing to the very large outlay for repairs etc. incurred in enlarging the Bolsa.
