We have to note a distressing sign of the times. Returns just published show a decrease of 50 per cent. in the imports of oysters from the States during the year 1871. This is probably owing to the apprehensions of the Americans that the oyster beds at Maldonado are being developed by Mr. Watson. The lobster and crab trades show a gratifying increase, We don't like the falling off in the oyster business, however; a nation that does not eat oysters is never worth much.
