

Yesterday was a fearfully unpleasant day. There was no necessity for reminding the residents of town and suburbs that they are Dust and to Dust they must return.

The harp is now becoming a very favourite accomplishment with our fashionable belles. The difficulty is to obtain a good master, but we believe there is an admirable one amongst the Colon orchestra.

There was scarcely a soul in the Opera House on Wednesday evening at the performance by the Italian Dramatic company in aid of the Poor. Mas Buenos Ayres no sins to cover up with the mantle of charity!

Letters from Rosario and Cordoba announce that the intelligence of the death of Mr. William Wheelwright caused the deepest feeling of regret in both towns.

We have the following "House that Jack built" story from Rio. We cannot help laughing at it, though it is tragic enough to extract a quart of scalding tears from less experienced eyes.

We have been requested by Mr. Daws to inform his subscribers who have as yet not answered his circulars that it would be convenient to advise him at their earliest opportunity.

The City Corporation got up a meeting on Thursday after half-a-dozen previous attempts to form a quorum. The sitting was chiefly occupied with kicking out a Health Inspector of some parish.

An appalling accident occurred in port yesterday. As a whaleboat drew near the Mole with 20 emigrants, brought in from the Outer Roads by a small steamer, the gale upset it, and three women, a man and child were drowned.

The Anales de Agricultura of this morning is an excellent number. "Coral," Mr. Leonard Peryera's Durham cow, forms the frontispiece, while the reading matter bears on any and every subject useful to the farmer and estanciero.

A wealthy estanciero in the South lately cheated Death and the doctors in a remarkable way. He was on the very brink of Eternity from a grave disease, and three followers of Galen had been working their sweet will and their bitter potions on him for weeks without any good effect.

The great Chapeaurouge auction in Calle Santa Fe will come off to-morrow. There is no finer property at that side of town.

Sr. de Giosa, the talented 'chef d'orchestre' at the Colon Theatre will take his benefit on Tuesday night. It will be a bumper, as Giosa is very popular with all classes, and justly so.

It is with extreme regret we have to announce the sudden death of Mr. Robert Sharp, one of the oldest and most respected merchants of this city.

The Province of Rio de Janeiro has contracted with Colonel John Frederick Russell the construction of a railway between the town of the D. Pedro II railway and the town of Paju de Alferes.

The Minister of War, under yesterday's date, granted the following permits—To Don Felix Mansua to despatch two vessels, the Industria and 18 de Julio, to load lime at Victoria, also to Messrs. Arcevala and Huergo, also to load lime in Victoria, the vessels Juvenicia and Guillermo.

Since our last arrivals in most descriptions of produce have, with the exception of wool, been in very limited quantities, and notwithstanding that the markets continue to be well attended by buyers, the demand for all kinds is but fairly active.

Arrivals, during the week have been heavy, and although transactions have been on a large scale, they were generally done at a reduction of from 2 to 4 on last week's closing prices.

The supply have been small, especially in camp qualities, and notwithstanding that the demand is limited to a very few buyers, last week's quotations continue to be well supported.

Remaining without any alteration on previous quotations. Arrivals have greatly fallen off, and the parcels still coming forward are composed of inferior mixtures, which command but an indifferent enquiry.

Rates as follows—South, fair to good, 165 to 170 To inferior to middling, 155 to 163 North, fair to good, 165 to 168 To inferior to middling, 145 to 150
