DYSPEPSIA CAN BE CURED!—Let the Martyrs read. One word to Dyspeptics: You endure a living martyrdom, and no cbut h se who have k own what dyspepsia is, can underst and what you suff r. But there is a rem dy; an immediate, absolute, never-failing remedy, within your reach, at your very door, as it were. It is Bristol's Sarsaparilla. You have heard of it. Wh has not? Use it, and laugh at indigestion and all its concomitants and c nsequences. In a week it will "relieve the stuffed bosom of all that perilous stuff," that renders your life miserable. The flatulency, the constriction of the stomach, the incapacity for activity, either of body or mind, the midnight restlessness and daily pangs the headache, the nausea, the ind scribable feelings wh ch belong to dysp psia, and to no other complaint, will pass away like shadows. Make the experiment. In many cases of dyspepsia the use of Bristol's Sugar-coated Pills will greatly enhance such cure. cj..n14

The Chimborazo's Mails.

EIGHT DAYS LATER.

Yesterday morning the Montevidean steamer brought up the much looked for Chimborazo's mails. The English papers are to 15th Oct., but the Lisbon papers are to the 22nd Oct.

Lisbon 22nd Oct. 1873.

The state of affairs in Europe is considered most critical; the prolonged struggle in Spain, the proposed change of Government in France, the impending money crisis in England and Germany, and the disturbance of European trade relations with the United States consequent on the decline in the price of gold, and the resumption of specie payments all tend to warn the merchant, capitalist and politician of a troubled future.

European public opinion is monopolized with the news from Spain and the raising of the Cartagena blockade by Lobo.

The press of Madrid speaks in the most unmeasured terms of Lobo's treachery, and the executive has taken the most energetic measures to put down the Cartagena insurrection, which is causing so much ruin to the Spanish cause.

On the other hand the Carlists are pushing ahead strong.

The finances of Spain are in the most hopeless confusion, and the country is so disturbed that its products can no longer come to market; money is not to be had anywhere, and if the Government fails to raise the loan of 400 millions, then it is all up with poor doomed Spain and her Republicans.

In France the report of the legislative committee on the monarchy question has turned the country inside out; the telegraph flashed the news in every direction, and the whole nation is divided on the crown of the Count Chambord, whose extreme liberalism offends the Conservatives.

Everone anticipates disturbances in the provinces and another French civil war.

In Germany religion holds the nation by the ears. The Berlin Government will not give way one inch, and the whole city press condemns the conduct of the Archbishop of Posen, who refuses to recognize State interference in purely religious matters. The whole of Germany is disturbed by this religious question, and the clergy make powerful appeals to the people. The Emperor William is strong and hearty, and a truly wonderful man; his reception at Vienna was simply magnificent. In England the Government is resolved to push ahead the Ashantee war with the greatest vigour, spite of a strong home opposition by the press. The Ashantees must get the same lesson as Abyssinia. A complete railway has been shipped to the Gold Coast, and there is an immense activity in shipping circles, due to this insignificant, yet costly, war.

The Carlist General Elio informed the Times correspondent that the reason why the Carlist army is so slow in its movements is that they are short of ammunition. The Carlists have burnt down the Calilla station at Barcelona; also the station Venta Encina.

The Canton Murciano paper, belonging to the Carthagena insurgents, proposes to nail the ears and hands of the members of Government to the doors of the house of sessions.

The French squadron on the Spanish coast has been strengthened.

The telegraphic message with the accusation of Bazaine sent to the N. York Herald cost 5,200 francs.

London, Wednesday, Oct. 15.

The Prince of Wales is now on a visit to Lord and Lady Londesborough at Londesborough Park. The Princess, accompanied by the Royal children, arrived at Marlborough House yesterday morning from Albergeldie Castle.

The Duke of Cambridge yesterday held a review of the troops at Woolwich, and this was followed by an inspection of the gentlemen cadets at the Royal Military Academy, and by an award of commissions in the scientific corps. The Empress of the French was present.

Mr. Forsyth, the defeated candidate for Bath, has issued an address of thanks to his supporters, in which he bids them a respectful farewell.

The writ for Birmingham was received yesterday morning, and the nomination has been fixed for Saturday. There is not likely to be any opposition to Mr. Bright's re-election.

In the course of a charge delivered by the Bishop of Rochester yesterday in the Cathedral Church of his diocese, his lordship discountenanced Confession, except in the manner provided by the law of the Church, wherein it was made the exception, and not the rule.

In the Tichborne trial yesterday evidence was given at great length by Jean Luie, a Dane, who was steward of the Osprey. He gave a circumstantial account of the Osprey picking up a boat containing six men, about 400 or 500 miles from the Brazilian coast, in the spring of 1854. Most of them were in a delirious condition. One, who was not evidently a sailor, was understood to give his name as Rogers. He wore a Rosary round his neck, and had marks upon his person which the witness described. He was ill throughout the whole of the voyage to Melbourne, which lasted three months. Witness went on to speak of this man's peculiarities, such as raising his forehead and twitching his eyebrows. He gave his evidence in good English, and his testimony attracted considerable attention from a crowded court.

A clerical organ, the Vaterland of Vienna, announces that the negotiations for the re-establishment of the Monarchy in France have come to a standstill, owing to the refusal of the Comte de Chambord to accept the tricolour flag, and to declare himself favorable in principle to certain constitutional forms. From Berlin we learn by special telegram that, according to the Spenersche Zeitung, Cardinal Antonelli is using all his influence to induce the Count to give way with regard to the flag, which he pronounces a childish question.

M. Thiers intends to give a political dinner on Saturday next, at which M. de Remusat will be present.

On the 27th there will be a meeting of the members of the Left, and on the following day a committee, which has been appointed by the three sections of that party, will assemble. According to the Rappel, the necessary measures for securing the success of the Republican cause will be taken before the opening of the Assembly.

Marshal Bazaine's trial was resumed yesterday at Versailles. The accused was again examined respecting his communications with the Emperor, with Marshal MacMahon and the Minister of War, and the court then adjourned.

It is announced from Berlin that the Pope recently wrote a letter to the Emperor William, and that it will be published shortly, together with his Majesty's reply.

Advices from Carthagena received in Madrid state that the former city has provisions for only three or four days more, but that the inhabitants are unaware of the scarcity of food. From the North General Moriones announces that the recent engagements have led to good results; that the soldiers are full of enthusiasm for the Republic, and that operations about which he is hopeful are shortly to be carried out.

We learn from Lisbon that the sanitary authorities there have declared the port of Liverpool free from Cholera.

Consols closed yesterday at 92 5-16 to 7-16 for money, and 92½ to ⅝ for the account. An improvement was quoted for many English railways, while in the foreign department the changes were almost uniformly adverse.

The American financial crisis continues to affect the English money market very seriously. Yesterday another advance of the Bank rate took place—from 5 to 6 per cent.—making the third movement upwards within less than three weeks. Within that short period the standard rate for the hire of money in the discount market has risen 100 per cent., for that is what the change from 3 to 6 per cent. really means; and this sudden movement we owe principally to the outbreak of the crisis in America. We do not owe it exclusively to that cause, the rate of 3 per cent., as is now universally admitted, having been artificially low. Still the American crisis is the cause of the real advance which would in any case have been necessary, while the anticipation of monetary stringency in America was all along a principal reason why the rate should not have been reduced so low as 3 per cent., last August. The practical question now is, how much farther in the same direction the American crisis will operate. For the present the effect seems very serious. Although the 'panic' is over in America, the distrust is still so great that the ordinary transactions of business are interrupted. Sales which would otherwise have been made on credit are made for cash only, and even in the actual payment cheques on banks are less employed than they were, and 'lawful money' of the United States in the shape of specie or greenbacks has to pass. The natural result is, that to obtain 'lawful money' to pay their debts with, holders of goods and securities are selling at a great reduction; and one effect of this selling, which is indicated by the fall of the exchange, is to attract money from abroad. Hence comes the depatch of gold to America from the London monetary centre, because England is practically the only foreign country to which America can make sudden large sales. The demand it a very imperative one, and so long as the distrust in America continues, we may expect the despatch thither of shipment after shipment of bullion, until the price of money is raised to a point here which will counteract the external attraction. To this end, however, a 6 per cent. rate should contribute very powerfully. Distrust must also be diminishing daily in America with the increase of money in the hands of the public, and the consequent increase of the inconveniences of hoarding. For these reasons it must not be assumed as certain that the drain of gold to America will continue unchecked until the experiment of a much higher rate is tried. It is quite possible that such an experiment may become necessary according to the usual practice, because the Bank reserve, owing to the absurd division required by the Bank Act, is so low that a withdrawal of a quarter of a million causes alarm; but every rise is so far a security against a further rise, and this fact should always be remembered when the Bank seems to be making no progress in strengthening its reserve by successive advances in the rate of discount. We trust the German Government will not complicate the situation by a new withdrawal of gold for the purposes of its coinage. It has hitherto exercised forbearance in such emergencies, and the English money market is at the present moment more than ever dependent on that forbearance.

THE BAZAINE TRIAL.

The Times of the 15th October publishes the following graphic account of the previous day's proceedings at this celebrated trial:—

"Before beginning the Interrogatory, the Duc d'Aumale in a very clear and firm voice announces the division he proposes to make in the trial, either as to grouping the witnesses or for questioning the accused. He makes nine chapters of the questions to be answered, the taking possession of the chief command, the operations etc., down to the capitulation. The Duke speaks and expresses himself with the ease and firmness of a man who has an accurate notion of the obligations incumbent on him, who knows that he has no orders to receive from any one, and that he has not to ask counsel of any but of his conscience, and who draws from all these considerations the strength which forms part of his authority. I will not attempt the dry reproduction of the Interrogatory, which the telegraph has already transmitted to you; but a curious study is presented by these two men, whom the caprice of events has brought face to face in such a solemn circumstance of their existence that the being and the honor of a whole nation seem at stake in this terrible controversy. The Duc d'Aumale has studied this trial with more than usual ardor; he sat up over it the half of last night; he has prepared his questions with the most particular care; he is master of it. He knows all the army has done, all it might have done, all it should have done.

"The questions which the Duke puts are correct, precise, and mark well the end at which they aim; the voice is cold, sonorous, somewhat monotonous, but intelligible. The Marshal, seated in front of him, answers in an unimpressive, rather low tone of voice. Now and then the voice suddenly changes, so much so that people at the lower end of the hall think it is someone else who is speaking. This happens when the Marshal reads any report or any document which may help to justify him. As the Marshal then puts on his double eye-glass, and tries to read in a louder tone than he speaks in, the change in the voice is complete, and everyone rises on tiptoe to see who is the new comer that is reading. The illusion is complete. But between these two men, between that Prince, now become a judge, and that Marshal, now on trial for his life, the conversation breathes a stiff, cold, but irreproachable politeness. The Duke never says anything but 'Monsieur le Maréchal.' The Marshal never begins his answer otherwise than 'Monsieur le Président;' but behind that formal politeness inflexible determination is constantly concealed. At every moment the Marshal, in the interest of his defence, tries to introduce some incidental narrative, some unknown particular; but at every moment the Duke stops him with "I think, Marshal, that incident will come in more appropriately at such and such a time," and he brings him back within the narrow limits of the interrogatory he means to put him through. At a given moment the Marshal stops and says, 'Will you allow me, Monsier le President, to read you an order emanating from me?' 'Is it of interest, Marshal?' 'Of great interest.' 'Yes, but is it of interest for the question now before us?' 'Yes, Monsieur le President.' 'Then read it, please,' and the Marshal puts on his double eye-glass, the Duke his most attentive look, and the Marshal reads, so that any one coming in just then would think that it was a Council of War, not to judge him, but to deliberate with him in common. On another occasion this scene occurs again, but in a more dramatic form. The Duke has got to the battle of Borny, to the bloody affairs of Rezonville, St. Privat and Gravelotte. He strikes the Marshal home, he presses him, he harasses him. 'But, then, you did not want to break through in the direction of Verdun, you did not comply with the orders, the desires of the Emperor, who wanted you to cross the Moselle.' 'Will you allow me, Monsieur le President, to read you one of Napoleon I.'s commentaries?' 'Is it opportune, Marshal?' 'Perfectly so, M. le Duc.' Thereupon the Marshal begins to read a passage—'A Commander-in-Chief should never take into account the orders of a General or a Prince who is at a distance from the field of battle.' Meanwhile, the Interrogatory narrows its circle, it becomes more pressing. 'Did you reflect that the road by Gravelotte was a dangerous defile 11 miles long? Did you destroy the bridges so as to prevent the enemy from passing, and secure your own retreat? Had you not on the heights where you were supplies for 2 days? Why, instead of taking advantage of them to march forward, did you allow them to return? Why did you keep your reserves on your left which was protected, and why expose your right when your retreat might be cut off?" And the questions follow close upon each other. It is like fencing. The Marshal parries, covers himself, makes a return thrust by advancing some military principle, but at length the Duke draws from the Marshal's answers this conclusion, which is like a thrust right home:—"It is then true, as was maintained, that you never had the intention of going to Verdun, and that your only object was to camp before Metz?" The Marshal feels the blow. He hesitates and then replies sharply, "I have not said so. I stuck fast to Metz, which was my supreme resource, but with the firm resolution of reorganizing the 'cadres' which had been destroyed and of cutting my way through."

"With that answer the sitting came to an end. The two fencers are worthy of each other and both very clever; but one has the 'beau role' of avenging the country; the heavy, crushing task of the other is to save from this wreck his honour and his life, both alike threatened.

"While that was going on at Trianon another Council of War next door was sentencing M. Rauc to death—'by contumacy', it is true."

NAVAL BATTLE OFF CARTHAGENA.

The Times special correspondent gives the following account of this engagement:

Four Intransigente ships found Admiral Lobo off Porman at noon (11th inst.), and after an engagement of about two hours, were driven back into Carthagena. The Intransigentes failed utterly to support each other. At the beginning of the engagement the Numancia, being the fastest vessel, went ahead of her companions and exchanged broadsides with the Vittoria. She then passed down the line, firing at everything she encountered, until at the extreme right she nearly cut off a paddle vessel, which had to make full speed to escape from her, and which she failed to ram. She was then, in turn, pursued by the Vittoria, and made for Carthagena, keeping up a desultory fire. The Mendez Nuñez, in the meantime, kept afar off, firing at too long a range to produce any effect, and not in the least supporting the Numancia. The Tetuan behaved better, engaging the Carmen. The Fernando el Catolico remained altogether out of gunshot range. The Numancia was soon followed in her retreat by her consorts, and as the Tetuan in her efforts to capture a gunboat had remained far behind, she would have been cut off by the Vittoria and other frigates if they had been properly handled, they in their pursuit of the Numancia having got in between the Tetuan and Carthagena. However, she fought them off, exchanging simultaneous broadsides with the Vittoria at 100 yards distance. This was by far the best performance of the day and elicited loud applause from the sailors who crowded the rigging of the Lord Warden. The Tetuan's broadside seemed to take effect, but the Vittoria's was rather wild and high.

This morning (Oct. 12) the Intransigentes are apparently not much disheartened by their defeat, and the ships were received with cheers as they came back into the harbour. They attribute their defeat solely to the cowardice of Admiral Contreras, whom they will not allow to command again. He took the Numancia very gallantly into action far ahead of the others, but brought her out again immediately on being pursued by the Vittoria, leaving his consorts unsupported. A shell from the Vittoria had killed seven men, among them Moya, the Vice-President of the Junta, and wounded 17. Thereupon Contreras retreated, against the wishes, it is asserted, of his own and the other crews. These seem to have behaved gallantly, and insist upon another engagement, declaring that if the Numancia is properly commanded they will conquer. Another engagement is therefore expected to-morrow. The Intransigente ships have all suffered, but are in no way disabled. The Tetuan had five killed and 22 wounded; the Mendez Nuñez one killed and nine wounded. Admiral Lobo is generally considered to have displayed great gallantry, but not to have handled his ships well, or he would have captured the Tetuan. The Mendez Nuñez was probably saved by a French man-of-war, the machinery of which broke down so that she could not get away from between the Mendez Nuñez and the Vittoria. The expected attack by land has not yet been made. Notice of the blockade will expire at eight to-night. There is a very bitter feeling in Carthagena against the English.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Royal Mail Steamer Douro sails to-day. The auxiliary steamer Belgrano leaves the Mole at three o'clock p.m with mails and passengers.

The mails by the Pacific steamer Chimborazo were delivered here yesterday morning, having come up by the River steamer Rio de la Plata. We publish the general news in another column, but the Financial situation all over the world is the great question of the day. After a careful perusal of all our latest exchanges we have come to the conclusion that things do look monstrously piscatorial in every quarter. In the States gold is going to par, and strange to say, the Government is doing everything it can to keep it at a premium, but is unable. A return to specie currency in the States will, it is feared, knock everything on this side of Creation into palpable fits. In France the rate of discount has been raised; in England it must go higher, and in Germany monetary things are looking anything but satisfactory. Add to this, that here, in Chile, Peru, and goodness knows how many more comparatively small markets, financial matters are stretched to their utmost capacity, and it is impossible to shirk the conclusion that the day of Universal Smash may be nearer than most people imagine. A row in France is not unlikely before Henry the Fifth be well seated on the throne of St. Louis, and if so, even Dr Cumming will be put to the pin of his clerical collar to tell us what next. The only satisfactory news is that R. Plate produce in general maintains a fair price in Europe, notwithstanding the financial and political throes of nations.

We remind our musical readers that the Glee Club concert comes off this vening. Beautifully embossed invitation cards were sent round yesterday, and we have to thank the Secretary for remembering that the STANDARD is 'passionately fond of music.'

The Telegrafo Maritimo of Wednesday evening contains particulars of an appalling tragedy—a triple murder and suicide—committed in the sister city, in Calle Mayo, on the previous evening. The assassin, a young man named Juan Covian, had come to town to take employment as a 'mayoral' on a diligence. He stopped at the house of his brother-in-law, Sr. Rafael Laiseca, a highly respected teacher, where his (Covian's) wife was also staying. On Tuesday afternoon about four o'clock one of the scholars named Gregorio Durant, and a servant, rushed into the street shouting for help, Durant being slightly wounded, and the assassin in full chase. Before any one could well ascertain what was the matter Covian, who was armed with a knife, dashed out, and then and there drove the blade into his own breast, subsequently giving his throat such a fearful gash that he fell dead on the spot. The horrified spectators then entered the house to witness still more awful horrors. A stream of blood was flowing through the patio; in the sala lay the bloody corpse of Mrs. Laiseca, in the next room that of her husband, and in the second patio Covian's wife, all barbarously stabbed to death. The sight was a shocking one. Dr. Perez, who was passing, was called in, and tried to do something for the assasin's wife, but she breathed her last in two or three minutes. The official enquiries into this dreadful business go to prove that the murderer was subject to fits of insanity, and while in a paroxysm committed the fearful deeds. No other reason is assigned for this frightful deed, unequalled in horror by any that have occurred in Montevideo for many years past.

"Sir William B——, being at a parish meeting, made some proposals which were objected to by a farmer. Highly enraged, "Sir," said he to the farmer, "do you know, sir, that I have been at two universities, and at two colleges in each university?" "Well, sir," said the farmer, "what o' that? I had a calf that sucked twa kye, and the observation I made was, the mair he sucked the greater calf he grew."

On Wednesday afternoon, about five o'clock, a boy named Santiago Anselmo, fifteen years of age, in the employ of Messrs. Stephens and Von Willer, the celebrated mechanical engineers, being occupied in cleaning a steam lathe, had his attention distracted for a moment, and before he could ejaculate Jack Robinson had two fingers of his right hand some feet from where they ought to have been. Banagher beaten again! accidents are trumps! and of course he was taken to our friend Professor Murray's, Calle Reconquista, who, seeing that the affair was a case of amputation called in Drs. Conyngham and Pineda and in the meantime dressed the wound. The boy behaved like a Trojan, and we suppose by this time he has had the upper joints of the fingers disarticulated and doing well.

There were unpleasant rumours afloat yesterday about Lopez Jordan's having invaded Santa Fe, of a local revolution there, troops and National Guards called out &c. Santa Fe revolutions are generally very contemptible affairs, but if Don Ricardo shows himself there it will be 'tout autre chose,' and there will be a certain person to pay. It would be a truly shocking wind up to the Rio Cuarto blow-out if the Entre Rios rebels were to pounce on the whole party. We shudder audibly when thinking of it.

The Tichborne case has taken another astounding turn. The steward of the Osprey has been fished up by pious Mr Whalley, or somebody, and swears that Tichborne is the man picked up at sea by that vessel. He also volunteers the interesting statement that, during the three months voyage to Melbourne, the sole daily occupations of the Claimant were, getting blind drunk and reading a book entitled 'The Garden of the Soul.' Our fat friend must be the man. Who'll sell Tichborne Bonds?

The distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Greek college, conducted by Mrs Brennan and Miss Colclough, will take place on Monday evening next, at the Coliseum.

The Prensa continues it exhaustive articles on the crisis, the rebellion, and the general mess in which things are in this quarter of the globe. More power to you, colleague! You've got the right nail under your editorial hammer, and hit the thing hard and harder! You'll be getting a gold medal or an album from a grateful public some of these days.

Tremendous news. Sugar for the Billion! The Havre papers announce that an engineer of that place, named Jouglet, has discovered a chemical process by which sugar can be produced in enormous quantities from old boots, hats or other cheap materials, and sold at half a centesimo per lb. This beats Houdin or the Wizard of the North. There must be something in it, as Mr. Jouglet has sold his secret for 240,000 pats. Do you take sugar?

There was a tramway flare up at the Mount on Wednesday, on the occasion of opening the Calle Rincon line. Flags and musical band were the most prominent features of the display. No refreshments worth speaking of.

The latest official report of the health of the city states that measles are still very prevalent amongst the rising generation. Dysentery, cholerina, rheumatism and a host of complaints more numerous than agreeable are also tormenting the population. Much of the illness going is caused, we strongly suspect, by eating the first fruit of the season. We see cherries hawking about the streets that would give Hercules the colic to look at, much less eat. The market will soon be flooded with unripe peaches, and it behoves all not to touch them, or ——?

Mr. Albert Phillips will strut his hour upon the stage of the Victoria Theatre next Wednesday evening, and a very amusing hour we opine it will prove. The programme beats the first Variety Show hollow, and the talented artist has evidently been strongly stimulated by the success and public approbation that attended his first appearance. We expect a great treat on Wednesday, and advise those families who were too late to get seats for the last Show to take time by the forelock and be too soon to miss them on this occasion.

There was a terrific free fight between a lot of Neapolitans in Calle Uruguay on Wednesday evening. Knives were flashed and used in the moonlight, and the shouts of the combatants were terrible. On 'la autoridad' appearing they all made off like red-shanks, in different directions, leaving two of their number wounded on the field of battle.

There was a grand audience at the Colon Theatre on Tuesday to hear Traviata and bid the opera company good bye. Madame Pozzoni was splendid as Violetta, and we are sorry she did not let us see her oftener in the character during the season. During the evening she was presented with dozens of bouquets, a crown, &c. Colonnesse got a splendid sword and dagger from the 'empresa,' and a laurel crown from the Damas de Caridad; Sr. de Giosa, the conductor, was presented with an 'estuche,' ornamental match box and cigar case.

Mr. Daws, the well known librarian, delivered the European illustrated weeklies of 11th Oct. yesterday. The London News has a splendid portrait of the late Sir Edwin Landseer R. A. and a cut of his great picture "The Shepherd's Chief Mourner." Mr. Daws is opening an extra subscription list for 1874.

The roof of the Catamarca Government House fell in last week while the legislators had their heads together. The skedaddle was terrific and one honourable member had a narrow shave of extinction.

The Catamarca papers report that a ruffian gave a woman a fearful whipping up there lately. The brute tied his victim, and broke ten sticks on her back; he belongs to a respectable (?) family of the place.

The children of the English Church Sunday School had their annual treat on Tuesday, under the leadership of Mr. A. S. Gibson, the superintendent of the school. The happy party left the Central Station by an early train, and spent the day among the shady groves of San Isidro, where childrens' races, foot-ball, swings, and other games, with excursions in boats, and an abundant lunch, towards which a capital basket was kindly contributed by Mr. Duguid, afforded the utmost pleasure to the happy little folk who look upon the Sunday School pic-nic as the great event of the year. Everything went off in good order, and in the most satisfactory manner. Among the visitors present we noticed—Mr. A. Moore, Mr. Marcar, Mr. Woodhouse, Mrs. and the Misses Smith, Rev. Mr. Lett and Mrs. Lett, Captain Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. McClean, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, Miss MacGregor, &c.

Ex-Governor Yates is to address the old settlers of Adams and Brown counties, Illinois, at their reunion. Yates has swallowed an old settler before breakfast every morning for years.

GOUNOD IN NEWGATE.

Ungrateful world! thou canst not see the tears
From which the genius of Gounod hath sprung;
Thou dost not understand thy music wrung
From hours of grief; perchance embittered years,
Or the deep tragedy of hopes and fears
Woven in that sweet song and bravely flung
To an enraptured people:—now, among
The basest sons of crime our idol wears
The semblance of a felon! or must we
—Well knowing that high gifts oft homage pay
Unto low deeds (and England's laws are wise
And just and free,) must we believe that he
Has fallen from greatness, in an evil day,
And justly bears this crown of penalties?

BURNING OF AN ENGLISH BARQUE.

DREADFUL SUFFERINGS OF THE CREW.

The P.S.N. Co.'s steamer Aconcagua (Commander Hewison), which arrived here on Monday, brought the captain and survivors of the crew, five in number, of the barque Herbert Graham, burnt at sea on the 23rd of last month.

The Herbert Graham sailed from Newport on the 1st of July for Valparaiso, with a cargo of coals, and a crew, including the captain (Mr. Evan Roberts) of ten men. The vessel had made a good passage up to the 23rd of September, when smoke was discovered issuing from the hold, and all the efforts of the crew to prevent the spread of the fire were unavailing. As night came on the devouring element had obtained such mastery over the unfortunate ship that the captain and crew were compelled to abandon her and take to the boats.

At the time of the outbreak the Herbert Graham was 35 miles west of Santa Cruz, and after leaving the ship Captain Roberts determined to shape his course for Sandy Point, a rather hazardous undertaking, possessing no charts of the locality, and a heavy sea running; but the courage of the captain was equal to the occasion, and after severe sufferings in the open boats for thirteen days and nights the coast of Patagonia was sighted. Unable, on account of bad weather and exhaustion of the men, to proceed further in the boats, they landed on the 6th October, having lost one of the crew (John Rowley) from starvation and exposure. Securing a few little articles saved from the burning ship, the unfortunate men started on the perilous journey, which, it is our painful duty to record, through the wild and inhospitable regions of Patagonia, subsisting on any roots and plants which could be procured; and five of their number, (Captain Evan Roberts; John Jones, 2nd mate; John Davis, George Blake and George Bloomberg, seamen) in a dying condition, reached Sandy Point on 12th October, having travelled 150 miles; the chief mate George Farrar) and three of the crew (William Roberts, William Jones and James Cox) being left behind, unable to withstand the terrible and trying strain they were for so long a time subjected to, and whose sad fate we have no doubt we shall never learn.

The Aconcagua, arriving at Sandy Point on the 14th instant, took on board the remaining number of the Herbert Graham's crew, and landed them here on Tuesday last. They all speak in the highest terms of the kindness shown them by the commander and officers of the Aconcagua, who very humanely and liberally headed a subscription list to assist the poor men while compelled to stay in Valparaiso. The following is the list:—Señor José Urmenete, £2; Mr. Richard Dansie (Purser) 10s.; Mr. John Maunsell (Surgeon) 10s.; Dr. Vanzena, 3s. 9d.; Luis Marchant Pereira, 2s. 9d.; Benjamin Valdes 3s. 9d.; Juan A. Rozas, 3s.; Señor Belloc, 3s. 9d.; Laflade, 2s. 6d.; Ricardo Perez 3s. 9d.; J. Caro, 3s. 9d.; P. M. Campbell, 2s. 6d.; Daniel Miln, 2s. 6d.; M. Oswald (Clerk), 3s. 9d.; J. Dacla, 5s.

As will be seen by the above, if shipwrecked sailors are unfortunately thrown on the generosity of native gentlemen, the chances are they will very soon come to grief. It is quite time, when we see subscriptions such as some of the above that the English mercantile community should establish a home in Valparaiso for the survivors of such calamities, and thereby place our seamen beyond the necessity of having to make appeals, as in the present instance, for elymosynary aid.

The Herbert Graham was owned by Mr. Graham of Newport, Monmouth, and ship and cargo were insured, so that the principal sufferers by this sad event are the captain and crew.

Since writing the above, we hear that the Chilian gun boat Covadonga proceeded in search of the four men left behind, and happily succeeded in discovering the poor fellows, who had almost succumbed to the inclemency of the weather and starvation. They will be brought on from Sandy Point by the P. S. N. Co.'s steamer Galicia, due here to-morrow. West Coast Mail.

ON 'CHANGE.

Nov. 13th, 1873.

Ounces	400
Sovs	122½
Pats	25
Nat. Bonds	77
Cedulas	82½

The decline of Cedulas is gradual, but continues. The news from Europe was to-day fully known, and is beginning to act powerfully on the market. Exchange, however, looks upward, and this is a good sign. Bills were passed on Antwerp to-day at 5.36, and on England at 49⅝ and 49¾. The movement in produce is very strong, and exporters were never busier. At the Plazas the wools are coming in so fast that it is difficult to keep the run of the sales; and in the Once soon there will be no more room for any more carts, but luckily everything sells very freely and goes forward.

The sales of stocks to day were as follows—

National Bonds,

4,000 cash		77
Cedulas—
For cash	2,000	82½

In the liquidation the market ruled very flat, and prices weaker.

Exchange to-day was active and upwards. Bills passed at 49⅝, 49½, 49⅝, and in the afternoon at 49¾. We heard of an operation on Antwerp at 5.36. Some Chilian bank exchange for about £8000 to $10,000 stg. passed at 49¾, one of the private banks takers.

Mr. Hermann who arrived per Douro was duly welcomed on 'Change to-day.

It appears the Douro will not take any gold. She takes 400 bales for Antwerp, amongst her passengers are Mr. Windsor of Rio Cuarto, Mr. Tagliabue, General White U. S. Minister for Rio and Rev. Dr. Smith for Rio.

The Hamburg steamer will be up on Sunday, she will sail on Dec. 1st and has much of her cargo for Hamburg and Bremen engaged.

Antwerp 20th Oct. 1873.

Fine wools scarce, and rising, hides declining. Tallow flat, defective wools neglected, 513 bales sold on 21st Oct.

In the South Market to day the well known wool from Mr. Rich. Simon's estancia Magdalena was sold; it fetched 85-86 m/c being about the lowest price for this wool for the last 7 or 8 years; last year it sold for 101.

The Douro will take 300 ounces gold from Gualilan mines. We note in Times of Oct. 17th that the Anglo-Argentine Co. limited has been voted to be wound up.

Our London correspondent under date of 16th writes that any bonds shipped from the Plate to London will be unsaleable on the stock exchange.

Telegram from Montevideo.

Rio, Calderon.
Genoa, Ester, goes to Rosario.
10,000 ar wool at 34—35,
Home debt 61½.

It seems that Mr. Rafael Fragueiro, of Montevideo, was the broker who gained the commission on the Oriental loan negotiations with the German Bank.

The Belgrano (tender) leaves the mole to-morrow at 3 o'clock with mails and passengers for Douro.

The financial and commercial advices per Chimborazo are very important, we extract the following from the London papers—

"The Financier states that the Bank of England, with a view to replenish their reserve, are borrowing in the Stock Exchange upon their Government stock. This is a measure which is not very often resorted to by the Bank. Its effect is to render money tighter in the outside market.

Tuesday Evening.

"The Bank rate has been advanced to-day from 5 to 6 per cent., and little surprise has been occasioned, notwithstanding the previous ease in the open market. The reserve last week was at a low point, and the withdrawals for America have since been on a considerable scale, while further withdrawals are expected to take place to-morrow and subsequently. At the Bank there has also been a good demand, while the rate at call on English Government securities has advanced to 3 to 4 per cent. The Bank, it is believed, has been borrowing on Consols, for which course, as we explained yesterday, there are sufficient reasons, so that by taking some of the surplus money out of the open market the Bank may cause its own rate to be more effective for the intended purpose of attracting new money, and so strengthening its reserve.

"The stock markets have again been generally affected to-day by apprehensions as to the future of the money market, though the tone at close is firmer, owing in some cases to the scarcity of stock at the settlement which commenced to-day. There has been a better demand for money than at the last settlement, and the rates for loans in the foreign department for the account have ranged from 5 to 5½ per cent.

"An advance to 6 per cent. in the rate of discount was announced to-day by the Bank of France.

"According to Reuter's telegram to-day from Berlin, a meeting of the creditors of the Quistorp Bank was held there to-day, at which about 100 persons were present. It was decided that the bank should be allowed until next year to liquidate its affairs. The Bank of Prussia and the Discount Company will give their decision in writing. The liquidation committee, composed of eight members, was elected, of which the Bank of Prussia and the Discount Company will each elect one member. At present the bank's losses are estimated at 93,000 thalers.

"Messrs. Grant Brothers and Co., of Lombard-street, London, have been authorised to issue 4,550 shares of £20 each, in the River Plate and Brazil Telegraph Company, being the balance of 19,550 shares, forming at present the capital of the company. It appears that by the statutes of the company it is authorised to issue £400,000 in share capital, but that, owing to the favorable conditions on which the undertaking has so far been carried out, £100,000 will be amply sufficient in addition to £100,000 of debenture stock. This company is formed to supply the link in the chain of communication between the South Atlantic and the Pacific and Europe and the West, by connecting by a submarine cable the city of Rio de Janeiro, the capital of Brazil, with the cities of Montevideo and B. Ayres; and we learn from the prospectuses that for this purpose an exclusive privilege has been granted by the Imperial Government of Brazil for a period of 40 years. By the terms of the concession, power is reserved to the Government to purchase the cables at any period after the expiration of ten years, upon the advantageous terms of paying for same on the basis of the amount of the earnings of the five previous years, the cable reverting to the Government at the expiration of the term of the concession; and a reserve fund of ten per cent of the earnings will be created, with a view of providing for the repayment of that portion of the capital represented by the cables. Facilities will also be afforded to the important commercial districts of the River Plate, and (by the Transandine telegraph system) to Chile, for intercommunication by telegrams by a direct route to Europe. The submarine cables have been contracted for by Messrs Siemans Brothers who have engaged to ship the same by the 20th February next."

Wool—

	Arrobes
Arrivals since last report	300,000
Do since commencement of clip	6/650,000
Stock in deposit	25.000

Although arrivals during the fortnight have been heavy, purchasers have relieved the market of same, and notwithstanding the extreme stringency of our money market, prices have not fallen off so much as was anticipated.

Wools in good condition, free from bellies and burr, are in demand, especially for Havre; but our market closes weak, and the tendency is decidedly downward.

Wools in general are in very fair condition—some parcels more particularly so. The present market rates for money having checked all local speculation, the future of prices depends on the facility for getting same.

Our quotations are:

United States, no sales.
Liverpool and Havre, good 1, $79 a 83.
Do do fair, 74 a 76.
Antwerp good 1, 68 a 72,
Do fair, 65.
One parcel at 102 and one at 62.

Sheepskins—

Mataderos, Our killing is completely over, and only small parcels are now coming forward. Good lots are very scarce and in demand. Campskins are now full-woolled; but 'seca' is extremely prevalent. Our quotations are;

Camp, full woolled good 24 a 25 do.
Fair 22 a 23 do.
Inferior 17 a 19 do,

Hair—

South, 165 a 175,
North 150 a 160.

Nutria Skins—

No sales, $4 a 5 per lb. Nominal.

Antwerp 15th Oct., 1873.

The market has been a little more active these last days, but prices are very irregular and show a decline on September rates of 2, 3 and 4 francs for saladero ox, 4 to 5 francs for secondary campo dry hides and 2 to 3 francs for dry matadero ox. Cows have become rather uncurrent now; quotations are weak and nominal and offers at 1 ar. 2 francs reduction, would probably buy.

Tanners seem moderately stocked and leather sells well in Germany, but the competition of cheap American hemlock sides tells seriously on demand for River Plate and Rio Grande hides at the sea ports, where they have accumulated now to a most excessive figure and probably will sell but very slowly through winter, causing prices meanwhile to gradually give way further.

Wools—

Imports: None. Sales: 1,500 bs. R. P. and 400 bs. miscellaneous. Stock: 17,600 bs. R. P. and 800 bs. miscellaneous.

The market continues active and strong. Prices compared with those ruling at last auctions are very firm for good B. Ayres, and fine stapled well conditioned merino and 1ª obtain even 5c. advance on same, while the other descriptions remain in general 5c. cheaper.

Combing Montevideo wools are 10 c dearer than in August; other classes show little or no change on last public sales.

Next November auction is expected to come off well, at about present quotations, and no great change in the actual good position of article appears probable for some time; still prices ruling now seem too high to be taken as a safe basis by exporters at the River Plate.

Sheepskins—

89 bales were disposed of at very full prices, and the demand continues active. Stock much reduced.

Tallow—

Dull and heavy. Mutton on spot is held at 23½ fl, and could be bought at 23⅜; for beef, 24 fl are asked, to sell at 23⅜.

Arrival—

British brig Emily, c Haine, from Rio Grande.

Just arrived—

British steamer Flamsteed, c Brown, from B. Ayres, &c.

SAVINGS BANK
BANK MAUA AND CO.
101--Calle Cangallo--103
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence.

The Bank of Maua & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. of this city, following the same facilities in this city, and has opened a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. every day, for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned, Sundays and holidays excepted.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interes will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Maua & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighborhood.

Buenos Ayres, 2nd January, 1867.

P. P. MAUA & Co.,

M. A. DE FREITAS AMORIM

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. %) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wish can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

ROWLAND'S MACASSAR OIL prevents the hair falling off or turning grey, strengthens weak hair, causes it to grow on bald places, and makes it beautifully soft, pliable, and glossy. Price 3s. 6d., 7s., 10s 6d, equal to four small, and 21s. per bottle.

IMPORTANT CAUTION—Ask for Rowland's Macassar Oil, and avoid all other cheap articles under the same or similar names as spurious imitations. Each bottle has a glass stopper instead of the cork as formerly. All with the cork are spurious imitations.

ROWLAND'S KALYDOR removes cutaneous disfigurements, freckles, and tan, and imparts a healthy and blooming appearance to the skin. During the heat and dust of summer especially, and in cases of sunburns and stings of insects, it is of the utmost use. Price 4s. 6d. and 8s 6d. per bottle. Ass for "Rowland's Kalydor."

ROWLAND'S ODONTO, or Pearl Dentrifice, preserves and imparts a pearl-like whiteness to the teeth, eradicates tartar and spots of incipient decay, strengthens the gums, and gives a pleasing fragrance to the breath. Price 2s. 9d. per box. Ask for "Rowland's Odonto."

ROWLAND'S ESSENCE of TYRE never fails to produce immediately a perfect change in red or grey hair, whiskers, eyebrows, &c., to a beautiful glossy and permanent brown or black, which colour remains so durable, that neither washing nor perspiration can remove it. Price 4s., 7s, 6d., and 10s. 6d, per bottle.

All these articles have been used and justly, appreciated by all the Sovereigns and Courts of Europe, the Pope of Rome, and the aristocracy of the world, during the last 70 years, being of inestimable value to those who have once used them. They are sold by all chemists, perfumers, and bazaars throughout India, Australia, the Colonies, and South America.
