

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

FLESH DEVOURING MALADIES.—Of these there is one of the most horrible. As soon as there is the slightest reason to suspect its presence, resort to Bristol's Sarsaparilla. Whether the external appearance that excites suspicion be cancer or not, assuredly before the presence of cancer has set in to the blood, and the unequalled depurative will eradicate it, and by eradicating their causes in the circulation. Every tumour, cancrum, and ulcerous mass, and every scrofulous, erysipellous, eczematous, and leprosy eruption, can be controlled by this wonderful detergent. It may also be called a certain remedy, which is more than can be said of any other medicinal agent. By using Bristol's Sarsaparilla a cure will be much hastened. No. 22—c/ j y 24

LATEST FROM ENGLAND.

His Excellency the Duc de la Rochefoucauld-Bisaccia, the French Ambassador, will present the prizes and "souvenir" medals won by the English Volunteers in the late international rifle competition at Havre, at the Embassy, Albert-gate-house, Hyde-park, on Monday next, at 3 o'clock.

The St. Petersburg Gazette says that orders have been given to prepare the railway carriages of the Imperial family for the journey of Queen Victoria to the Russian capital. The Queen is expected at St. Petersburg on the 14th of September.

The new Governor of Tangier, Sidi Mohamed Enkishet, made his public entry into the city on the 11th inst. His Excellency was accompanied by a large gathering of Rifl horsemen armed with long guns, with which they kept up a random fire all round the town, and on the beach during the day. Sidi Mohamed was received at the gates of the town by the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Sidi Mohamed Bargash, who accompanied him to the mosque. The rejoicings were kept up by the Moors on the following day.

The recently-appointed Spanish Minister to the Court of Morocco, Don Adolfo Patxot, arrived at Tangier on the 7th inst., in the paddlewheel sloop Ciudad de Cadiz, and a little before sunset his Excellency landed with the usual honours, and was well received by the Moorish authorities. He was subsequently duly installed in the residence of the Embassy, and the sloop Ciudad de Cadiz returned to Cadiz.

A great review will be held by Marshal MacMahon on Sunday in the Bois de Boulogne. There will be present 21 batteries of artillery, 54 squadrons of cavalry, and 100 battalions of infantry—in all about 50,000 men.

The march past is to begin at 2 p.m. and is expected to be over at 4 p.m. Some persons affect anxiety about this review, suggesting a fear that the Army might utter some significant cry. This is altogether unfounded. According to the custom observed since the fall of the Empire, and conformably with the traditions of the Army, the soldiers will preserve "silence under arms."

M. de Goutard remains very ill, and several members of his family were summoned to his side to-day, there being scarcely any hope of this recovery. M. de Goutard is so far convalescent that he presided to-day at a meeting of the Commission for fixing the salaries of school teachers. A paper of this evening states that M. de Goutard is, preferring to retain the Bishopric of Orleans, has declined the Archbishopric of Rheims.

At the International Congress to be held at Brussels, for settling the usages of warring British representatives will be instructed to press the following points:—1. No bombardment of London to take place while Parliament is sitting. 2. No battles to be fought on the Derby-day, the Oaks-day, or during Ascot, Goodwood, or Newmarket Races. 3. In case of invasion, Brighton, Weymouth, and Scarborough to be considered neutral territory. 4. Prisoners of war (being commissioned officers) to pay an entrance fee to the regimental messes of which they may be elected honorary members. 5. Regimental bands captured on the field of battle to be available at festivals held at the Royal Albert Hall or at the Crystal Palace, Sydenham. 6. Portrait models of captured generals to be permitted at Madame Tassaud's Exhibition of Wax-works, on the understanding that (a) no site other than that of the Chamber of Horrors be selected for the display; and (b) that a ticket of admission for the season be presented to each captured general in elligly so exhibited. 7. Invading armies travelling by railway to play at the rate of not less than £5 a mile per person. Return tickets (in Great Britain and Ireland) not to be guaranteed.—Punch.

THE REIGN OF TERROR.

Although the police have arrested 19 Spaniards, 7 Italians, and 1 Brazilian on suspicion of complicity in the attack on Mr. Lant's house the number of daily crimes does not diminish. The papers of yesterday mention further atrocities by the band of assassins at present enjoying such impunity in our city.

The Libertad publishes the following:—"On Wednesday night some ruffians broke into the Confeiteria in Calle del Parque, between Cerrito and Libertad and murdered both the proprietor and his shopman."

If this had taken place in any other city in the world it would have caused a sensation of horror and indignation throughout the whole country, but here we are unfortunately so used to tragedies of this kind that it passes almost unnoticed.

On Tuesday evening the City of "B. Ayres" tramway car which left Plaza Victoria at 10 minutes past 8 was attacked at the foot of Calle "Defensa" by two brigands, one of whom stabbed the Mayor with a "dagger." The blow only cut the Mayor's clothes, and he was able to "throw the assassin from the car."

It is unsafe even to travel by tramway after dark, and people are now obliged to lock themselves up in their houses, well-armed and ready to stand an attack from any number of brigands. When our friends in Europe read these things of B. Ayres they will pity us as much as if some dreadful plague were committing ravages among our population. Unfortunately we cannot see any speedy relief from so terrible a state of things. The authorities appear to be powerless before the well-organized banditti of various nationalities that have fixed their headquarters in B. Ayres.

The Provincial Legislature has at last taken some action in the matter. The Senate in its session of Thursday took up a project from the Government for re-organizing the Law Courts; after which Senator Esteves Sagui called attention to the daring crimes that have caused such consternation in our city. He said it was the duty of the Legislature to watch over public order, and therefore moved that the Governor be requested to order the execution of two notorious assassins that have been condemned to death. This motion was seconded by several Senators, but Dr. Navarro Viola proposed as an amendment to send for the Minister of Government.

Minister Alcorta, having entered the Chamber, explained that the Governor had not put his signature to the sentence of death, passed by the Judges, because His Grace Archbishop Azevedo had requested His Excellency to commute the sentence.

Senator Esteves Sagui merits the warmest approval from all classes, native and foreign. As a distinguished Argentine lawyer has observed "the persons who try to shield assassins from the penalty of death have not seen their families murdered in cold blood before their eyes."

EXCESSES IN RIO GRANDE.

THE MUCKER FANATICS.

The German paper Der Bote of San Leopoldo gives latest particulars of the horrible excesses committed by Maurer, Klein and the followers of the pretended prophet. It seems Jacobina Mentz Maurer has been causing trouble for the last ten years. In 1864 she lost her reason reading the Apocalypse, and was joined by a clergyman named Klein, of the Evangelical persuasion, who led her to start a sect called Pantagamia, similar to Mormonism. The licentious practices of her followers soon attracted numerous proselytes, and she gave herself out as a prophetess. Klein is a man of fair education, and has made explosive balls, with which they set fire to the houses of such as refuse to join them.

At first they committed no atrocities of this kind, but congregated in numbers at the estancia Campo Bon, where they defied the neighboring authorities.

The President of Port Alegre seems to have regarded the matter as unworthy serious notice, and for some months back the rumors were every day more menacing. At last on June 25th at Campo Bon the fanatics commenced their massacres by burning the houses and families of Jacobina Maurer's uncle, goldsmith and brother, who had refused to join the sect. They next murdered a widow named Hoffmeier, the wife and child of a neighbor of hers, and many others; burning the remains of the victims in the burning houses.

Proceeding to the colony of Padre Elemo they burnt the houses and families of Balz, J Brenner, O Brenner, J Thomas, H Muller, F Kley, J Schmitt, Kreissel, &c. Old Balz was over 70, and his daughter, a girl of 13, was consumed along with him. Brenner's wife saw her three daughters put into the flames.

They next went to Bom Jardim, sacked and burned the large store of Herr Robinson, and murdered several neighbors. John Sohn, one of the Prophetess's chief followers, murdered his own brother and all the family, including an old woman of 80 and several children, burning all together.

An insufficient force, with five cannons, was sent from Port Alegre, and the fanatics being strongly posted in the woods routed the troops with some loss. The number of the fanatics is said at first not to have exceeded 60, but is now probably much greater.

Colonel Geminio called out the National Guard to repress the fanatics, and by latest accounts the force assembled at San Leopoldo numbered 370 cavalry and 50 artillery. An old German officer named Schneider offered his services to Government, and numbers of volunteers were flocking in to join him.

The farms of the Muckers at Hortense-chalet and Linha Nova have been burnt. The Muckers are fortifying a church at Fierabraz, and have sharpshooters in the surrounding thickets. Six of their scouts were captured and brought into San Leopoldo, where the townfolk wanted to tear them to pieces for the cruelties they had committed; they were conveyed with a strong escort to the gunboat Martins, abreast of San Leopoldo in the Rio Jacuhy.

A rumor was current that Maurer, Klein and followers had set fire to their church and taken to the woods, but this was untrue. Troops are being collected for a final attack on the woods of Fierabraz.

MONTEVIDEAN LETTER.

July 23th. We did not know whether to be happy or sad to-day; the day commenced again with a drizzle, and with the forcible recollections of the pleasant evening we passed at the Reverend Mr. Hoskins's where beauty, intellectuality, magnetism and electrical Oldham were all combined, we felt more inclined to be magnetised by some other business than that of going into the dull, dreary and unprofitable work of the present day. Mr. Oldham electrified us last night by commencing his lecture from six hundred years before the Christian Era, and brought the whole subject of electricity down to the present day in a very lucid, pleasant and interesting speech; at 9 p.m. the first telegram was sent to Buenos Ayres; some say it was by O'Gorman, but I could swear that it was more likely sent by some one interested in the money market, as the answer was a Brokers, 'riddle' in which the absence of a dollar was the most remarkable feature. All who were at last evening's entertainment left highly pleased, and I for my part would be glad to hear a repetition of such a scientific lecture.

In spite, however, of the dull weather the Bolsa was rather brisk and brokers appeared to be very anxious to do business; the sales were rather heavy and amounted to the following:—

Deuda Interna, 2nd Series. 20,000 a 8 1/2 for end of month. 70,000 a 4 do with option of 70,000 more. 20,000 a 6 1/2 for cash. 10,000 a 6 1/2 for end of August with option of 10,000 more. 20,000 a 5 1/2 for end of August. 20,000 a 6 1/2 do. Empréstito Pacificación, 1st Series. 17,000 a 9 1/2 for end of month. Empréstito Pacificación, 2nd Series. 8,000 a 9 1/2 for cash. 373.21. Fomento Montevideo. 25 shares a 1 1/2 each. 20 do a 1 1/2 do. Hoguera Oriental. 100 shares a 33 each.

In exchange I have not heard of any transaction and it may be considered as flat at 50 1/2 per National dollar.

Produce is dull and the only transaction I have heard of is that of 270 tons bones and bone ash at 17 1/2 50 per ton put on board.

The steamer Villa del Salto, Captain John O. Morse, arrived this morning from your port and brought down 65 passengers besides the following specie:—

Ungo & Co. 800.00. Bato Hermanos 484.00. Barate & Amargos 373.21. Juan Arlos 614.61. $2,771.72

The steamer Saturno of the Fluviales line also arrived this morning and returns to your port this evening; she brought down 84 passengers and $3,500 in specie to Mana & Co.

The Royal Mail steamer Tiber arrived this morning from Southampton and brought telegraphic dates to the 18th; the news she has brought is of little importance, excepting that of the attempted assassination of Prince Bismarck on the 17th inst. A priest of the name of Hauthaler has been put in prison on suspicion of being implicated in the matter.

A confeteria in the Calle 25 de Mayo was attacked yesterday by three ruffians, one of whom presented a revolver at the breast of the owner threatening him with a life in unknown regions, whilst the other two ransacked the house, getting away with about $300 in cash.

An immense amount of power was shown yesterday by two of our able body guard, who are here called policemen, by their taking three big men to the white house, the eldest of whom only counted five years of this miserable life.

To-day a robbery of a most remarkable kind occurred in the house of one of our principal furniture shops; from what I learn, it appears that a man went into the place, picked up two chairs that were close to the door and made tracks for the owner of the business to whom he offered them for sale; unhappily the man did not recognise his own chairs and refused to buy less than half a dozen. The happy man however, went to get the other four, but took good care to take the two with him.

LONDON LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

June 23d, 1874.

The persistent bearing by certain parties of Uruguay securities has induced the Consul-General of that Republic in London, Don Carlos Soto, to prepare a manifesto explaining the whole financial condition of his Government. The statistics will embrace the operations of several years, and will contain comparative tables and other data left here by Dr Perez Gomar. The document has been for some time in the hands of the translator, and ought by this time to be published.

A very interesting paper has just been published in a Blue-book—"The annual value of property assessed to income tax under Schedule O for all profits arising from annuities and dividends on British, colonial and foreign stocks." The foreign dividends and annuities represent a principal of £150,000,000. The whole amount of annual dividends, British, colonial and foreign, represents a capital of £1,000,000,000. China is the only country of importance in the world which is not indebted to England. The United States pays us between two and three hundred thousand pounds annually.

Talking of money matters, would you like to pay £5000 per annum for your London Letter? That is the sum which the Times pays for its Paris Letter, which is now transmitted nightly by telegraph, and by a special wire laid apparently for the Times. I see we have the announcement to-day of the completion of the cable communication between Lisbon and Pernambuco. The loss of the Gomos gives you three months to consider what the enterprising STANDARD will pay for the earliest news of the latest swindle.

Mr Armstrong's excellent letter, which appeared in your paper, and which so honorably exonerates the Argentine Government, is copied into the Times City article to-day. It gives great satisfaction; for the credit of the Argentine Government is deservedly high in regard to punctuality of payments. A little more energy in its social administration would close the mouths of petty detractors who in small Conservative papers endeavor to raise the credit of monarchical institutions by disparaging what they are pleased to call the South American Republics, amongst which they include ('vide Globe last night') Nicaragua and Guatemala! However, they mean Spanish-speaking Republics; and I must say, if I wanted to borrow money on our Stock Exchange, the last language in which I should convey my sentiments would be that of Cervantes and the coupons of Madrid.

Sir Patrick O'Brien called attention in the House of Commons to the rumour that the British Government, at the invitation of Italy, intended to offer its intervention in the threatened rupture between Brazil and the Argentine Confederation. The government replied that in case those countries asked for friendly intercession it would be granted.

The Mordant divorce case is likely to come again before the public. Lords Chelmsford and Hatherley have decided definitively that Sir Charles Mordant is not barred from applying for a divorce through the insanity of his wife. The law lords decided on purely technical principles, and on the very just basis that if in the divorce act there was no special clause to meet the case, they were bound to consider the intention of the act, which was generally to increase rather than to restrain facilities of divorce.

It is very discouraging to read the timid opinions of the papers of to-day on that subject. The public, as far as it is represented by newspapers, had evidently made up its mind that the case was settled against Sir Charles, and sooner than run the risk of fresh compromises in high places it hoped that the Judges would rather strain the law in favor of Lady Mordant.

Nothing can better illustrate the danger of following British popular opinion when vulgar virtues are in question. People say, if the woman is mad she ought not to be proceeded against. But her madness is of itself a rational cause of divorce, and the other causes arose before she was afflicted with insanity, and we have only the word of fashionable doctors even for that fact. The case of Sir Charles Mordant is excessively hard. He is the last male representative of an ancient family, and for so, much as that is worth he is entitled to further sympathy. But were he a cobbler, it would be a hard case to tie him childless to a woman who by her own confession is false.

There is always a probability that, as the facts of the case have already been heard, that means will be taken to avoid publicity by withdrawing the defence. For the Mordant family to continue the opposition would be a scandal.

Dr. Kenaly's enemies have re-printed from the Morning Advertiser a report of his prosecution from cruelty to a child three or four years ago. The child was his own, but not born under the usual formalities. It appears he did smack the child very severely; and it was a poor little thing only six years old. I have no doubt Dr. Kenaly is not an amiable person in private life, and we know he is a staunch Conservative, which is rather against him; but it is fair to say that people who have read the newly printed pamphlet, and who are certainly no friends of Dr. Kenaly, much less of the now forgotten claimant, say that the whole case rather redounds to the man's credit. I hope it does. Not that I admire the man or his politics, but his avowed enemies are the scum of flunkies. The Englishman still circulates, but as it is at present edited it cannot last long; its adversary True Briton is defunct, at all events I see it no longer in the streets.

Another persecuted man is Mr. Albert Grant, M.P., the public donor of Leicester Square. His rivals or victims on the Stock Exchange have published huge placards showing item by item the magnificent schemes promoted by the Baron, what they cost, and what they leave in the way of assets to the public—a mere trifle—and to him—a magnificent fortune. Well, they say, can he afford to give us Leicester Square. His choice of gift was an error of judgment. If he wanted to whitewash himself he should have built a church—and no questions would have been asked.

In general politics there is nothing of interest. The Paris letters of the London papers are wearying to read to an old hand. They are more repetitions. The time for France has not yet arrived, but it cannot be long delayed.

In Spain Marshal Concha is wearing a web round the Carlists, who are discouraged and giving way. The Spanish General appears to be working systematically, and leaving nothing to chance. It beaten at Estella, the Carlist cause is lost. It had never much chance, and has already done a thousand times more evil than was committed by all the poor wretches that were massacred at Satory.

The Licensing Bill of the Conservative Government has passed, as Mr. Goschen said, with contempt. It varies little from its predecessor, except in giving to 'the trade' a slight advantage over its rivals, the low beer sellers.

The "Friendly Society" bill is shelved, and the government remain with the factory bill, to be discussed to-night, and that is all, we shall get out of the strong majority which was inaugurated an era of social and sanitary reforms. The Liberal press have treated the Conservative party and their flunkies with success with marked politeness, with just such insolent politeness as the born gentleman is apt to bestow on spurious gentility. But the rather poor figure the government is making begins to excite sarcasm. The stupid mass which Macaulay reminds us swings from side to side will soon catch the vein, and open the eyes of the Conservative majority to their true position, which is anything but safe, even for one more session.

Mr. Joseph Arch, who was once almost a Christian and Conservative working man, has scandalized good people by his recent speech and demonstration at Manchester. He talked the old talk of 'serfs' and 'feudal tyranny,' which may be great nonsense in his uncultivated mouth; but it nevertheless has a foundation of truth which others are silently winking at, whilst he as an agriculturist can enlist the sympathies of his fellow-labourers by the narrative of facts which came under his own experience. The ordinary parliamentary strife of political parties is as nothing in this country compared with the importance of the agricultural movement, for it strikes at the root of our grievances; and, honestly to confess, we have not many. They are, however, well known by a few scientific politicians. To make them plain to the stock-broking masses may require a foreign war. The difficulty of filling up our regiments with well-grown healthy men will disclose the ruin we are slowly preparing by the maintenance of what the wretched little Conservative organs of this very morning call "our old established rural system with all its network of local traditions and association.... that compact hierarchy composed of the gentleman, the farmer and the peasant.... that admirable adaptation of the feudal ideas to modern wants." "All this," says the London Standard, "is in danger of being flattened like a pancake!"

There is no improving that climax, not if you were to sit on it. You can safely leave it to the contemplation of gentlemen of Conservative instincts in your city.

THE COLON THEATRE.

"LA FORZA DEL DESTINO."

"La Forza del Destino" deserves, and will, no doubt, obtain a favourable verdict from all the frequenters of the Colon Theatre.

Nothing is left to be desired in the manner, the piece is put upon the stage, the last scene, a waterfall, eliciting a genuine burst of applause.

The cast is unusually strong, the whole strength of the company (less Mme. Durand and Sr. Piccoli) being present.

Mme. Mariani achieved a triumph by her careful rendering of part of the luckless Leonora's claimant was very good, beautiful solo and chorus at conclusion of the second act, when enters the monastery, was given, the audience one and all singing in the applause.

Mme. Bignocini sang her part with great energy and gusto, and kettledrum chorus in the camp scene well meriting the 'encore' it obtained.

This lady possesses one of the most sympathetic voices that we have heard for some time, an extensive compass, her high notes sweet and pure, being of the mezzo-soprano order, while her lower keys possess all the qualities of first class contralto.

Sr. Junca's splendid bass voice was heard to great advantage in the important part allotted to him; and Sr. Colonnez, though not in his usual trim, acted and sang with his good taste.

Srs. Bulterini and Toledo were thoroughly up to the mark, the latter throwing great humour into the part of the Friar, his bye-play being excellent all through.

The choruses were all well given, and showed signs of careful and steady training, and the orchestra, though brass was at times unpleasantly prominent (Verdi's fault), was unusually steady, the overture being especially well given. Sr. Bessi deserves every praise for his labors in this respect, as an unsteady orchestra spoils the best of music.

The opera, though rather long, never for a moment was tedious, every department doing their best to avoid delay.

Let us have a few more revivals of this sort.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The European mails by the R. M. S. Tiber came up yesterday morning in the Saturno, and were delivered early. Our London Letter is of 23rd, and our latest paper the Times of 24th inst. There is not a great deal of news, and nothing fresh about the River Plate loans or concessions being launched.

The Revista Quirguica reports the health of the city as much the same for the last fortnight, pleurisy being the most prevalent complaint.

The Police still continue active in O'd residents remark that they have seen a state of siege established here often, yet never was the city in such a terrible state as at present.

The accounts given in the Rio papers of the atrocities by the infamous sect of 'Muckers' in Rio Grande make the blood run cold with horror.

The head of these miscreants is a woman named 'Jacovina Mentz Maurer,' who went mad through reading the Apocalypse, and has been leading an infamous life and giving trouble to the authorities for ten years, instigated by a fanatic clergyman named Klein.

The latest telegraphic project is for a line from this city to San Isidro, with cable to Martin Garcia. What business there can be for such a line it is extremely difficult to see.

Another most daring outrage!! On Thursday evening, at 5 o'clock (broad daylight) as the second son of Mr. O'Leary, the distinguished chief of the Agricultural department, was riding home, he was attacked, at the corner of Calles Cordoba and Larrea, by three men, who put pistols to his breast, threw him from his horse, and stripped him of his 'poncho,' coat, waistcoat, shirt, watch and $500 m/c.

Two young ladies belonging to respectable families in this city eloped a few days ago with a corresponding number of students. The police are supposed to be after the 'parti carré.' Messrs. Jacobson and Soderstedt, the well known newspaper men, sent us yesterday the London Times of 22nd and 23rd ult. The editors beat the librarians this time, as we have the 24th, but are equally obliged to our Calle Florida friends.

We lately had the pleasure of introducing Mr. Charles Stewart to those of our readers who may require a confidential legal adviser. Mr. S. is the only English attorney in town, and has a claim on his countrymen. We observe that our influential colleague La Pampa also warmly recommends our young friend, who is well up in his business and has already a good connection.

We have much pleasure in saluting Dr. Bond of Montevideo who has arrived here on a short visit, and leaves again this evening.

Respecting the despatches on the Montevideo question which we published a few days ago we learn Her Majesty's Government has not yet published them in a blue book.

The improvement in the weather yesterday was most enjoyable after the four previous days' mud, drizzle, dirt, and discomfort. Camp men look forward to a glorious Spring and consider that the back of winter is broken.

'La Grande Duchesse' will shortly be produced at the Alcazar. A colleague says that it is probable 22 leagues of the Cordoba and Tucuman Railway will be opened to public traffic next month.

brought the present horrible state of town and camp before his brother Senators, and warned them that impunity for crime would injure the country abroad to a serious extent.

Many other honorable Senators warmly supported Dr. Sagui's remarks. He is the first legislator, National or Provincial, that has raised his voice in conclave to warn the country that it can no longer tolerate with safety the existing Reign of Terror.

The Tibor's mail's were up true to time this morning, and delivered early. The market reports are doubly interesting when compared with the all the other advice p f cables telegram.

The Tibor has brought the Times of 24th. The London money market is still overflowing with money, yet, strange to say, we have not one word from our London Correspondent about the Rosario Railway.

The Times of 24th June publishes the following as the latest from the U.S.— "The summer has opened with extremely warm weather and the usual accompaniments of terrific thunderstorms. Yesterday, June 7th, there was a severe one at Utica, New York, and 20 persons are reported drowned in Onondaga Lake, and seven in Onondaga Lake near by. At Troy a heavy storm, either through wind or electricity, demolished a span of a new iron bridge across the Hudson, wrecking several boats beneath it. Much damage was also done at other points along the Hudson. A tornado did severe damage in Tampico, Illinois, destroying 23 buildings, and injuring more or less severely every other house in the town. A number of persons were seriously wounded."

There was much said on 'Change to-day about the very special consent of Dr. Estévez Sagui in standing up to the Archbishop yesterday and calling attention to the scandalous state of crime in the country. Every merchant in this market thanks Dr. Sagui for his motion, and the whole commercial community is astonished at the disclosure made by the Minister of Government to the effect that the reason why two condemned assassins now lying in prison have not been executed is that the Archbishop has interceded for them. We have no room to publish all that is said on the matter, but a leading native merchant publicly stated on 'Change to-day that the Senate is not satisfied with the excuse of the Governor, that of the intercession of the Archbishop for the worst assassins in the country cannot be allowed to interfere with justice, and the too long neglected law of the land must be carried out, as carried out vigorously.

Mr. Frouard, U.C., of No. 631 Calle Defensa, has now in hand the plans for an Argentine Mint, and has received special recommendation from President Sarmiento for drawing same up. We believe H. E. could not have entrusted the matter to better hands. The building will be of medium size, but of sufficient dimensions for the mint requirements of the R-public.

The best news in the market to-day was from the Custom-house. 21 new looms have arrived for that most enterprising firm, Alfredo Jones & Co. These new looms are adapted to hand-power, and the first of the kind that have come to this country; they can make Bombas, Flannels, T. la Paraguaya, Pouchos, Jergas, Scotch Plaids, Felpa Doble, And eight other different kinds of cloth.

Mr. William H. Selton, the inventor of this new hand loom, has come out with his family to this country, and Messrs. Jones & Co. purpose establishing various factories up the Province. We are happy to learn that Messrs. Jones and Co's new shoe factory is now in such full blast that the American hands which the firm at so much expense brought out from the States to work the machines are no longer required, the hands hired here being well able to work them; there are no less than 80 hands at work at the shoe factory at present and making samples for the Government. Let us hope that this will prove the first end of the wedge to rid us of the High hotel boot crisis.

Mr. Stuart's Boca port project has fairly electrified all the property holders down in that district, everyone to-day was speaking of this Stant project and people wanted to know who Mr. Stant; we pointed to the Central Station as the best proof of who and what he is. Dry cowhides showed a marked rise to-day in the South market; about 7000 sold to-day at that market at prices as high as 182 per pesada.

The great estancia section at Bullrich's to-day was very largely attended, and continued till a very late hour. The sheep 17,000, sold for 33 m/c; cows 145 al corte, horses 20, m/c 75, oxen 400 m/c. The sale is the largest that has been held in this market for many years. The land is not offered for sale, but to rent.

Mr. Sewell, the well known produce broker, leaves for the country in the morning. He leaves with a view to permanently reside on his estancia. His very numerous friends regret his retirement from the Plaza Once, and wish him the best success in his new career.

The following important wool circular has come out in the Tibor: "London, June 20th, 1874. "The second series of London sales of Colonial wool commenced on the 23rd April, and terminated on the 16th instant. The quantity catalogued is given in the following figures—"

Table with 3 columns: Port, Surplus, Total. Rows include Port Phillip, Sydney, Adelaide, Van Diemen's Land, Swan River, New Zealand, Copo, and Total.

"The series is the largest hitherto held, having occurred seven weeks, with a daily average quantity of close on two million. Commencing with a decline on March 25th of 1/2 to 1d. on gross, and 1 1/2 to 2d. on washed Australian wool, the sales gradually improved, till at the close the fall was, with few exceptions, not only recovered, but an additional advance of 1/2 to 1d. established on many of the better combing descriptions. The advance of buyers was good throughout the series, and the decline at the outset may be said to have at once provided a basis on which the majority of the trade were disposed to operate with confidence. For though the doubts as to the cur-c of so long a series were not wholly overcome until the greater part of the wools were sold, they were not general or serious enough to hinder the tone and the prices from steadily gaining in firmness; and this the less as a part of the trade, and the foreign manufacturers especially, were from the beginning ready to recognize and give due weight to the fact that this sort offered the best and 1-gest selection of wools for the year.

Such circumstances, such as the resolve to postpone the next series for a month and give the trade breathing time between the sales, contributed to the steadiness of the market, and there can be little doubt that the more ample knowledge at present possessed by the trade in regard to the extent of colonial production has worked in the same direction. A couple of years ago 200,000 bales, with no data as to what was to follow, would hardly have been absorbed with similar regularity.

"The result, notwithstanding the comparatively low prices ruling during the first part of the series, with on most sides being considered as satisfactory, and on the whole as exceeding the expectations which could be formed from an indifferent condition of trade, and an accumulation of supplies of hitherto unexampled magnitude.

"Of the 281,190 bales offered, 169,000 bales are estimated to have been bought for export. The following gives details as to fluctuations in price and present position of the leading descriptions:— "Australian Grease.

"The bulk of these wools, of which the proportion is this year larger than usual, has been sold on a par with March rates. At the outset prices were 1/2 to 1d. lower, but the decline was quickly reversed, and during the last fortnight a new advance was made on the better sorts. Compared with opening rates, good and fine Port Phillip grease shows an advance of 1/2d., faulty of 1/2d. to 1d. per lb.

"Australian Washed Fleeces. "Among the large quantity of Port Phillip wool the proportion of fine, faultless parcels was but moderate. Extra super brands commanded good but not extreme prices. Good medium and inferior sorts declined alike 2d. at the outset, but regained their former level in the course of the series. The better wools from 2s. 2d. upwards commanded even an additional advance, selling at the close 2/3 to 3d. higher than at the beginning. New Zealand and Scotch fleeces were in an indifferent condition, and had, in consequence, to compete with an unusually ample assortment of Port Phillip wools. They were consequently neglected by buyers, and the original decline of fully 2d. per lb. was recovered only partially, and only quite at the close of the series.

"Australian Scoured. "Good clean scoured, both from Port Phillip and Sydney, sold well and regularly throughout the series; faulty sorts were cheap at the outset, but stand 1/4d. to 2d. higher at the close of the sales.

"Australian Cross-bred. "Suffered a fall of 2d. to 2 1/2d. for washed, and 1d. for greasy descriptions. At this reduction the bulk was sold, and only the end of the series witnessed a slight improvement.

"Lamb's Wool. "Was in smaller supply than might have been expected at this season and in so large a sale prices fluctuated more or less, but may in the average be said to have ruled slightly below March closing rates.

"Cape. "The bulk of Cape wool sold as high as in the preceding series, and fine sorts especially have scarcely shown any fluctuation.

Liverpool, June 19th, 1874. The principal sales of hides &c., (by private) during the past week comprised— 200 River Plate ox and cow hides. The business done in Salford River Plate hides consists of new parcels, placed from the quay, at an advance of 1/2d. per lb. but for old hides the demand continues. The rate of the Rio Grande cargo of ox hides to arrive per Colia is reported as 7 1/2, showing a similar improvement.

There has been more attention paid to these hides, and prices remain unchanged.

Has more readily at an advance of 1/2 per River Plate, and at our top quotation of 4 1/2 there are no longer sellers; there is also more demand for skins, but holders refuse to sell except at a considerable advance.

SAVINGS BANK BANK MAUA AND CO.

101-Calle Cangallo-103 BUENOS AYRES.

No immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the great metropolis of the River Plate, Montevideo, and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who do not keep one at the bank in which they place the most convenient.

The Bank of Maua & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sums deposited in that very important institution are daily increasing, and already reach very large amounts.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in unprofitable gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Maua & Co. of this city, following the example of their firm in Montevideo, offer the same facilities in this city, and has

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency or one Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p. c.) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time receive the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds fifty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wish can open an account current, according to the rules of the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.

Max Havelaar BY MULFATULLI.

It is difficult to say whether Max Havelaar is more interesting as a novel or powerful as a political pamphlet. From either point of view it is of rare and first-rate excellence.

The story is remarkably clever, a polking, eccentric, grotesque and satirical humor overflowing on every page. It is unlike any other book that we have read.

It is a novel in form, but in reality a political pamphlet. It has been translated into all the civilized countries, and has ever since formed the ground for contention in the Legislature.

Max Havelaar may seem less attractive to many who read nothing but novels than the world and silly stories which are in demand circulating libraries, yet by other and more judicious readers it will be heartily welcomed.

A more striking satire of the lower propensities of the Dutch could hardly be conceived than that embodied in the Amsterdam coffee broker, Batavus Drysdale, (who) stands out as one of the most remarkable and direct of money grubbing characters which our literature has yet produced.

"Havelaar himself could not have surpassed this scathing page: 'He had so directed all things that orthodoxy leads to wealth.' etc. It is important, come what may to the book that contains it." Contemporary Review, April, 1868.

Max Havelaar. BY MULFATULLI. MAX HAVELAAR has been called a Dutch 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' There is so far a resemblance in the author's aim and object in the selection of the vehicle for an appeal on behalf of oppressed humanity.

Though 'Max Havelaar' is cast in the form of a novel, it has very little in common with that class of literature. No book, when first published, created a greater stir in Holland.
