There is one assas very few inhabitants indeed, and still sin the less in the country, and even for this small mercy we ought to feel grateful in such terrible times as the present.

We take the following tit-bit from an English paper. We had no idea that our Teutonic friends had such an excellent and sensible way of arranging their matrimonial matters:-

A Modest Suitor .- It is well known that the announcements of births and deaths are often given in German newspapers in a form which sounds strange in English ears. Every one knows, too, that engagements are published as well, and in much the same form as marriages. In the secould sheet, for instance, of every issue of the Cologne Gazette these an. nouncements of engagements may be both of the parties concerned. But it is very seldom that an announcement such as the following is found, which is quoted in the Cologne Gazette of the 17th of June from the Dresdener Journal. "With respect to the announce ment by which I, at the end of last November, gave notice of my being engaged to the Dowager Baroness Zoe von Kotzebue, I am now obliged to state that this relationship has, at her desire and to my great regret, been broken off, because she did not find in my deportment that gravity which she had a right to expect.—Count Luck-

Steam-boilers are more numerous in Buenos Ayres than is generally sup posed, and the number is steadily increasing. Already they have been honoured with the special notice of the Municipality in the shape of a 'Tax for Inspection'.

Having been made aware that boilers are dangerous neighbours, the Municipality have very properly prothe whole of the boilers within the boundaries, specify the maximum pressure at which they must be worked from materials, construction, or management. These new rules and regulations if properly carried out, cannot fail to produce good results, and although the charges for inspection may seem to bear hard on those who na turally from economical considerations endeavour to keep their boilers in the best possible order, they are none the less a necessity, for it cannot be denied that there are others who require looking after, who have very hazy notions of the ultimate s'rain that a boiler is capable of bearing with safety, and who are ignorant of the simplest laws that govern those magazines of power with which they are intrusted.

sarsaparilla Bristol's

Is prepared in the most scientific manner, by thoroughty educated chemists and Druggiats, who have had many years' experience. It is not a simple extract from an number of Roots, Herbs Barks, and Leaves, all of which are possessed of some particular virtue or power in curing the diseases that have their source in the blood and humors; these different vegetable extracts are combined in such a way as to retain, in sofull atrength, the special curative, virtue possessed by each. The root of the Sursaparilla plants found in Honduras, is that which we use in this preparation; it is the kind which all medical man esteem moss. About aftry por cent. of Bristol's Sareagarilla consists of the concontrated extract, the remainder, as above stated being composed of extracts from other powerful, cleansing and healing vehetable substances. It does not contain any thing that is dagerous or injurious to health, and in this, as in nearly every other respect, is entirely different from all other purparations sold under the name of Sarsaparith. preparations sold under the name of Sarsapa-

By having our own agents at he places where the various roots, drugs, herbs and plants, com-posing our medicines, are produced, we are on-abled to exercise that constant care in selection abled to evercise that constant ears in selection which listing uninformity of excellene, and we span, no money and no effort to produce the hest—and only the best—of overy article entering into their composition; and it is with the most abiding confidence we say, to he sick of all nations and all countries, that, in Birtol's Sarsaparilla you have a remedy more reliable than any before offered to you, and which will no diappoint syou in the curo of.

As a means of building up the consiitution that has been broken down by the excessive use of Mercury, Iron, or other Minerals, our Saraparilla will be found most excellent, and can be administered with safety to the weakest patents. As a purifier of the blood and humors, in the Spring and early Sunner, it will the found untalling. It can be taken freely at seasons, rainy or dry. For some of the above diseases, the use of the Marsaparilly must be continued a considerable time, especially for those that are hereditary or constitutional in their nature—such as Scrolula: but a mithful compliance with the directions will always relieve and mitigate, and scrouls: but a naithful compliance with the directions will always relieve and mirigate, and in a geent majority of cases will effect a complete cure. It was also be found, in all of the above diseases, that a cure will be greatly hasted by using our Bristol's Sugar-costed Pills, in moderate does, in connection with the Sarsaparilla; they carry off large quantities of morbific or dinased matter set tree in the system by the Sarsaparilla, and in this way facilitate the return to mal functional operations.—c— 46

Max Havelaar

BY MULTATULI.

It is difficult to say whether Max Havelsar is more interesting as a novel or powerful as a po-litical pamphlot. From either point of view it is of rare and first rate excellence, In its life-like actuality it constantly recalls Defee, while in its tendor and original humor it suggests Sterne in his best moods.—"Westminister Re-v ew," April, 1868, which comb ness more humor, knowledge of character, high thought, deep pathos, and vigorous political intelligence than any we have read for a long time.—"Evening Star," Feb. 14, 1868.

The story is remarkably clever, a rollicking, eccentric, gro.esque and satrical humor over-flowing on every page. It is unlike any other book that we have read * Some of the opisodes, that of Saidjah, for instance, are manifost creations of an imaginative genus of no ordinary kind.—"British Quarterly Review,"

It is a nov.l in form, but in reality a political pamphlet. The revelations contained in it startled the country, and have ever since formed the ground for contention in the logaliture. Although Max Havelbar may seem less stractive to many who seaf nothing but novels than the morbid and silty stories which are in demand a circulating libraries, yet by other and mere judicious readers it will be heartly welcomed.—

"Daily News," Feb. 19, 1868.

A more stinging satire of the lower propensities of the intch could hardly be conceived than that embedded in the Anxierdam coffee broker, Batavus Drystubble, (who) stands out as one of the most remarkable emb diments of money grabbing Pharise am which literature has yet produced, Thackeray himself could not have surpassed this scathing page ("God so directs all things that orthodoxy leads to wealth," etc.). It is immortal come what may to the book that contains it.—"Ontemporary Review," April, 1868.
