Worth their weight in Gold

ON 'CHANGE.

Wednesday, June 10th, 1891. There was a lull in affairs to-day on Change. The long spell of bad weather seemed to act like a wet blanket on business; gold ruled dull, shares were neglected, and Cedulas languished at slightly firmer prices than yesterday. The foggy atmosphere of the street filled the Bolsa, and in the hazy ambient the brokers' ring looked a pit of gloom. violent fluctuations, dullness ruled supreme, and the last echoes of the President's words to the Camara de Comercio were lost in the void. Even the debates in the Senate fell flat, and members in the hall, as they analysed the fiery expressions of Senators Pizarro, Civil and Del Valle, could not help protesting that so much time, precious time, should be squandered over political recriminations, when the Moratorium Bill in the Senate Committee hangs over the market like a Damocles sword. It would be better for all if the Senate rejected the Moratorium Until this Moratorium Bill is settled lobody can know how he stands. If assed, the doubtful debtor will be enefitted and the "bona-fide" debtor will be injured; many creditors will be ruined, as enormous difficulties must follow in the wake of this Gold Repudiation Bill. It would be far simpler after all, if Congress passed a law gran > gold borrowed from an English bank to carry on the works pending the payment by the Argentine Government of the 2nd quota of $465,000 gold; according to conditions of the contract this payment should have been effected as far back as March last year. The English Bank that advanced the $75,000 gold has notified the concessionaires that if it be not paid on the 13th July, the materials of the dock will be sold at public auction by order of the Judge: the dock in fact will be sold as old iron. The concessionaires claim damages from the Argentine Government at the rate of $5,000 gold per month, say $65,000 gold up to the present; this for delays alone. The concessionaires state that they have spent $10,000 gold in machinery and $40,000 gold in land pur-chases in Zarate. Should the Government fail to pay the 2nd cuota the im-would lose $465,000 gold already paid on account. The Government, further-more, would be responsible for damages. The concessionaires, Messrs. Mayer and Parfitt, think that there are three ways out of the difficulty.

1 ~ The Government to pay $465,000 gold to continue the work. 20-The Government to advance $200,000 gold on account wherewith the concessionaires could meet pressing engagements; ship the dock materials, deposit them in Zarate, and wait until the Government supply funds to complete
