

POLAND.

Narrow correspondence of the Dziennik regarding the present state of the Kingdom of Poland, and comments on the attitude of the various governments towards the Polish cause, are given in the following article. It is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the Polish cause, and is well worth a perusal by all who are interested in the subject.

The Polish cause is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the Polish cause, and is well worth a perusal by all who are interested in the subject.

ONCE A SLAVE, BUT NOW A FREE MAN.

Frederick Douglas, who in Baltimore one Sunday evening, in announcing his purpose to do so, in Zion Church, Rochester, on the previous Sunday night, said: "What a wonderful change a few short years have made in the life of a slave!"

Frederick Douglas, who in Baltimore one Sunday evening, in announcing his purpose to do so, in Zion Church, Rochester, on the previous Sunday night, said: "What a wonderful change a few short years have made in the life of a slave!"

CAPTURE OF COINERS.

Two sergeants, named Toulon and Bradock, of the Manchester police force, were successful in capturing at work two base coin manufacturers in a cellar in Malborough-street, in the neighbourhood of St. Paul's Church, London, on the 24th inst.

Two sergeants, named Toulon and Bradock, of the Manchester police force, were successful in capturing at work two base coin manufacturers in a cellar in Malborough-street, in the neighbourhood of St. Paul's Church, London, on the 24th inst.

TWO FARMERS LOST.

On Saturday night Mr. Henry Kirby, of Underbarrow, and Mr. Robert Adams, of Lyth, left Kendal to return home, after attending the market. Both resided at a distance of four or five miles from Kendal, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway.

On Saturday night Mr. Henry Kirby, of Underbarrow, and Mr. Robert Adams, of Lyth, left Kendal to return home, after attending the market. Both resided at a distance of four or five miles from Kendal, on the Lancashire and Yorkshire railway.

A DISPUTED DOG QUESTION.

William McCabe was summoned before the magistrate at the Clerkenwell Police-court, at the instance of James Clift, a canine doctor, for unlawfully detaining a valuable bull terrier, the property of Mr. Thomas Clift, a licentiate, of St. James's-street, London.

William McCabe was summoned before the magistrate at the Clerkenwell Police-court, at the instance of James Clift, a canine doctor, for unlawfully detaining a valuable bull terrier, the property of Mr. Thomas Clift, a licentiate, of St. James's-street, London.

EXECUTION OF A POLISH CONSPIRATOR.

The Out-Door Zeitung publishes the following letter from Kowno, dated 17th November—

The Out-Door Zeitung publishes the following letter from Kowno, dated 17th November—

CRIBLE OUTRAGE ON A CHILD.

One of the most terrible crimes that has been committed in the history of the world, is the murder of a child. The following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London, is a most shocking and disgusting story.

One of the most terrible crimes that has been committed in the history of the world, is the murder of a child. The following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London, is a most shocking and disgusting story.

GENTLEMAN FINED FOR ASSAULTING HIS MAID SERVANT.

Mr. Victor Privelli was summoned before Mr. D'Eyncourt, at the Clerkenwell Police-court, for unlawfully assaulting Eliza Surrey, seventeen, his maid servant.

Mr. Victor Privelli was summoned before Mr. D'Eyncourt, at the Clerkenwell Police-court, for unlawfully assaulting Eliza Surrey, seventeen, his maid servant.

FOUNDERING OF A LARGE SHIP WITH ALL HANDS.

A fearful loss there is every reason to believe, has occurred in the neighbourhood of the fendering of the ship Floating Light, bound from Bombay to Liverpool, with a cargo valued at upwards of £200,000.

A fearful loss there is every reason to believe, has occurred in the neighbourhood of the fendering of the ship Floating Light, bound from Bombay to Liverpool, with a cargo valued at upwards of £200,000.

A RAILWAY CARRIAGE ON FIRE.

A correspondent of the Times, who has recently been travelling in France, thus writes concerning railway travelling on the Continent—

A correspondent of the Times, who has recently been travelling in France, thus writes concerning railway travelling on the Continent—

GALLANT RESCUE FROM A BURNING HOUSE.

A police-constable on duty on Tuesday morning in Mark-lane, found one of the large establishments, let to the late Mr. John Smith, in a state of fire.

A police-constable on duty on Tuesday morning in Mark-lane, found one of the large establishments, let to the late Mr. John Smith, in a state of fire.

SINGULAR RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

An accident happened to one of the trains at the Mortlake station of the Richmond and Windsor branch of the London and South Western railway, on Monday morning, at 3.35 p.m., reached the Mortlake station at 3.55, where it stopped for the purpose of taking up and setting down passengers, and the train was then proceeding on its way to Richmond.

An accident happened to one of the trains at the Mortlake station of the Richmond and Windsor branch of the London and South Western railway, on Monday morning, at 3.35 p.m., reached the Mortlake station at 3.55, where it stopped for the purpose of taking up and setting down passengers, and the train was then proceeding on its way to Richmond.

MIGHTY DEATH FROM LEAD POISONING.

A lady has just been held by Mr. Richards, of the Bricklayer's Arms Tavern, Colchester, on the 24th inst., for the murder of her husband, who died of lead poisoning.

A lady has just been held by Mr. Richards, of the Bricklayer's Arms Tavern, Colchester, on the 24th inst., for the murder of her husband, who died of lead poisoning.

A MYSTERIOUS AFFAIR.

George French, a tall, respectable-looking young man, was brought before Mr. Ingham, at the Wandsworth Police-court, charged under the following mysterious circumstances—

George French, a tall, respectable-looking young man, was brought before Mr. Ingham, at the Wandsworth Police-court, charged under the following mysterious circumstances—

CHARGE OF OBTAINING JEWELLERY BY FALSE PRETEXTES.

Arthur Bootle Wilbraham, holding the commission of enquiry in the Goldstream Guards, was summoned to the Wandsworth Police-court, on the 24th inst., for the charge of obtaining jewellery by false pretences.

Arthur Bootle Wilbraham, holding the commission of enquiry in the Goldstream Guards, was summoned to the Wandsworth Police-court, on the 24th inst., for the charge of obtaining jewellery by false pretences.

THE WRECK OF THE DALLHOUSIE.

On Friday, the first day of the weather permitted, Mr. Crichton, agent for Lloyd's, and Mr. Robertson, one of the owners of the ship, went to the wreck of the Dallhousie, which was lost at the mouth of the Firth of Tay, on the voyage from Newcastle to Dundee, on the 24th inst.

On Friday, the first day of the weather permitted, Mr. Crichton, agent for Lloyd's, and Mr. Robertson, one of the owners of the ship, went to the wreck of the Dallhousie, which was lost at the mouth of the Firth of Tay, on the voyage from Newcastle to Dundee, on the 24th inst.

A REMARKABLE WOMAN.

Mrs. Peggy Fife died a few days ago in Wilson county, Tennessee, aged 83 years. From Mr. Thomas D. Fife, one of her grandsons, we learn that she was born on the 12th of April, 1781, and was consequently 103 years old on the 12th of April last.

Mrs. Peggy Fife died a few days ago in Wilson county, Tennessee, aged 83 years. From Mr. Thomas D. Fife, one of her grandsons, we learn that she was born on the 12th of April, 1781, and was consequently 103 years old on the 12th of April last.

A LADY OF LARGE PROPERTY CONVICTED OF KEEPING A DISORDERLY HOUSE.

At the Middlesex Sessions last week, Jane Gale and Sarah Evans were brought before the magistrate at the Old Bailey, for keeping a disorderly house at No. 15, Oxenden-street, Haymarket.

At the Middlesex Sessions last week, Jane Gale and Sarah Evans were brought before the magistrate at the Old Bailey, for keeping a disorderly house at No. 15, Oxenden-street, Haymarket.

WAITERS AND THEIR WAGES.

An action was brought in the Nisi Prius Court, at Westminster, by a waiter, named Esler, at the Strand Hotel, for the recovery of wages for services rendered as a waiter at the Strand Hotel, during the month of December last.

An action was brought in the Nisi Prius Court, at Westminster, by a waiter, named Esler, at the Strand Hotel, for the recovery of wages for services rendered as a waiter at the Strand Hotel, during the month of December last.

A FRAUD PRIZE.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A FRAUD PRIZE.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A FRAUD PRIZE.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A FRAUD PRIZE.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A FRAUD PRIZE.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

A "stately piece of a paper," which is a most interesting and valuable contribution to the knowledge of the history of the world, is the following account of a recent case, which occurred in the city of London.

Frank Muller. The following are:

Briggs, was formerly in the Boston navy, dismissed the service in consequence of Death of General George Irving. — A venerable officer died on the 22nd inst. at near Kirkcubright aged about 80 years. He was a captain in the Royal Irish Artillery, and upon full pay. His death was caused by a commission's bore date as follows:—Second December 16, 1763; captain, July 25, 1769; January 1, 1805; lieutenant-colonel, January 1, 1805; colonel, July 23, 1807; major-general, December 1, 1807; lieutenant-general, November 1, 1814; and December 16, 1834.

Wanted a Sinecure. — Looking at the comments in the Times the other day, we read "want." A soldier has been quoted as saying for "a good income in the nature of a sinecure." His client does not care whether it is in his country. He is an officer's son of first-class family, aged thirty, and has a handsome and respectable poor father. What can he do? He is presumed to want a good income, and he is signs of his having this already, for he "possesses some capital," and he is willing to

to the berth in the nature of a sinecure. Peter Pan, the extraordinary Englishman, Douglas, the Australian, and the American, who had just completed the task of walking 1,000 miles in 24 hours at the American Opera House, Liverpool, successive miles has been witnessed by persons who have attested its fact. The performance of a woman has gone through the arduous and astonishing froshness and vigour. During the mile, which she walked in the presence of a hundred persons, she exerted the time of 24 hours, and at the close she declared she could have walked 200 miles more, and would be willing to do so.

Justice's Justice.—An old man named Earl 69, was charged before the magistrates for Alban's Liberty Session with stealing wool from the estate of the Earl of Verulam. The man before whom he was charged was G. W. S. Esq. T. Kinder, Esq. at Tooting, and W. S. Wade. The evidence showed that the man was employed by the earl's steward. The man had obtained leave to pick up the pieces of rotten wool which he might find about the estate, some pieces which were not rotten. The value at 2s. Testimony was given of the pieces him for twenty years. There was but inadequate evidence given for the prosecution. The verdict, however, was very definite; for the old man was sentenced to fourteen days' imprisonment in the House of Correction.

Loss of the Run Her Steamer.—Doubtless you have been received from the British consul at St. (Western Isles) of the total loss of the new steamer Run Her, outward-bound from London with a cargo for Bermuda, and thence to run the blockade of some of the Southern ports of Spain. The Run Her was a large ship of great strength, manned by a forty-nine hands. She put into Terceira for coals, and steamed up the harbor for some time, and having cleared the shipping that were lying brought up to anchor, when she struck on a adopted to get her adrift, but without success, upon divers being sent down to examine the bottom they reported that the man was dead, that she was a total wreck. Most of the crew saved. The vessel was heavily insured. "A Kind of Love Affair."—At the Wineseries, Edward John Clark was indicted for the Mary Dunsimon on watch on the 1st of Nov. The prosecutrix stated that she was a widow and the prisoner had kept company for three years. On the 1st of November he asked her to walk with him about two o'clock. They went to the field, and the prisoner watched her watch and ran away. She followed him to the watch. He declared he had not taken it, he was armed round him, and felt the watch in his coat pocket, and she took it out and put it in her bosom. He threw her down, and sat upon her, and took the watch out of her bosom, and he took her by the throat, and said he would her mother, and she was taken to the women's ward, after some hesitation, returned to the hospital, and recommended the prisoner to marry the Judge. On what ground, gentlemen?—A few words, we think it was a kind of love affair, and postponed.

The Inundations in Florence.—A lesson for the 20th instant, says: "In consequence of the continuance of bad weather, the municipality of the 'Madonna' is now exposed to public view a certain number of days, in the church of the nunziata, and special services are performed at the shrine, to avert the increase of the flood." The whole population of Florence is now flocking to the church endeavouring to get a glimpse of the revered image; and this afternoon, when there, the crowd was terrific, and the side inside, from the mass of dirty common people there, was anything but pleasant. Another of the great hurricanes is an order from Governor every householder to put three hinges on all

A Bon Killed by his Father.—At the Brighton Police Court, a man named Thomas Leach was charged with having caused the death of James, a young man twenty years of age. The work of Messrs. Edgell and Bon was to find the father, the son being an apprentice to his father. On Tuesday night, when Leigh told that some fault was being found with his work being caused, the son stating that he did not find fault. Leigh took up a bar of steel and a half foot long, and struck him on the head upon the left temple, driving in the skull about an inch. The youth fell to the ground instantly, by named Hankinson immediately informed Mr. Edgell, and the man Leigh followed him to his cell and laid him down.

Jerusalem, said, "I have struck my boy with a fist-stick, and killed him. Sinful and was obtained the unfortunate youth died at five o'clock the morning. The prisoner was committed for to the charge of manslaugher."

Election Wagers in New York.—The son having been decided now, beyond the point of doubt (says the New York Herald), the matter depends upon the result are beginning to be settled. An enormous amount of money has been lost and won, and a good many people have grown rich by their lucky wagers, while not a few prophets have given up their last greenback in payment of foolish bets. There is another style of bet, however, which does not involve pecuniary loss, but which nevertheless, very interesting to the interested parties concerned, and to the public. Allusion is made to those singular agreements to do or not to do a certain thing in case this or that party is elected.

to have a load or wheel sweep a street, or wheel a load of sand as speculated dancers. Some of these bids are now being fulfilled. Yesterday two such agreements were performed. On 1st in Harlem, a man who had contracted to cart a load of wood in case of St. Patrick's day, liberally fulfilling his word in public yesterday forenoon. Another gentleman, Tenth ward swept a block of Essex street in support of a similar wager. On the 23rd of the present month a man named Finley is to wheel a barrow full of dirt down Broadway from Fourth street to 10th Street street, between the hours of twelve o'clock and four in the afternoon, on account of Little's defeat. The sand is to have an American flag in it, and the performance will doubtless create a sensation. Some of the bets are got up for purpose of advertising.

Singular Action about a Parrot.—A singular case was brought before the Shorthall Circuit Court by Mr. Niall to recover $4 from Mr. O'Connell the value of a parrot which he had placed in the custody of the defendant through alleged neglectful treatment. Mr. Thomas Angel appeared for plaintiff.—It appeared that plaintiff, who is a well known very good talking parrot, which he was used to sell and buy for $4 each, had been kept

When defendant in the landlord's defense made some objection to his being left alone at night he was told to remain, having received instructions to do so from the canary feed and wot brood. Three inmates were neglected, and it was alleged that defendant gave the bird a quantity of lamp trimmings which he inside, caused it to go to town, took it to a bird-fancier where called, and there sold it for food would kill a parrot in three days' time. (Mr. Deane) asked how the hawk came to stay four years.—His Honor:—How long does a generally live?—Witness (who was about forty): Oh, I have known them to live thirty years (roars of laughter).—The witness said the parrot in our family for a long time; he was fifty years old when I was born, and he died last year. "Burdett for attack on the witnesses." Burdett riots.—Defendant not allowed to cross-examine as he had his own, and says he was bound only to be given one cross-examination. The jury of the deceased bird, which was a very rare specimen as reported by the press.

Scene of the plaintiff's witness, and they find that it was beautiful plumage and that the defendant.—His Honor:—I cannot say that had chosen to depart from tradition, but having been given to him, he must keep it.—Verdict for the plaintiff, with costs.

MURDER OF A GAY LIFE.

A Hampshire, the Middlesex coroner, has inquired at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, respecting the death of Jane Paine, a "fortune teller," who died in the morning of the 21st inst. The deceased was about forty years of age, and was a native of Dorset. She had been married to a man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with her at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. She was a very popular fortune teller, and had a large number of clients. She was found dead in her room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of her death.

PETROLEUM AS FUEL.

A series of experiments was conducted in the laboratory of the Admiralty, with a view of testing the capacity of petroleum as a fuel for steamships. The results of the experiments were very satisfactory, and it was found that petroleum is a very good fuel for steamships. It is cheaper than coal, and it burns more cleanly. It is also easier to handle than coal, and it does not require as much space. The Admiralty is now considering the possibility of using petroleum as a fuel for its fleet.

ADFUL CATASTROPHE AT GLASGOW.

Sixteen lives lost. A ferry-boat plying from Glasgow to the north side of the river, opposite the Glasgow Common, was wrecked on Saturday night. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

Further particulars. A fatal accident had been reported at Glasgow, and it was found that the ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

Accident on the London, Chatham and Dover Railway. The train which was wrecked on Saturday night was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

DISAPPOINTED LOVE.

Murder and attempted suicide. A most atrocious and cold-blooded murder was committed on Saturday night at the village of Shirley, in the county of Kent. The victim was a young man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. He was found dead in his room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

GALLANT RESCUE OF A SHIP-WRECKED CREW.

A storm of a very violent nature raged on the coast of Fife last week, in the midst of which a schooner was observed to be in danger. The schooner was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

MAYORS, MAGISTRATES, AND INTER-PEACE.

Suggested, probably, by the temperance meeting held recently in the Mansion-house, London, under the presidency of the Lord Mayor, a public meeting was lately held under the auspices of the Manchester Temperance Society, at the Town-hall, Manchester. The meeting was presided over by Mr. W. H. Wright, and it was attended by a large number of persons. The meeting was very successful, and it was decided to hold a similar meeting in London.

Further particulars. A fatal accident had been reported at Glasgow, and it was found that the ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

Accident on the London, Chatham and Dover Railway. The train which was wrecked on Saturday night was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

BIOT AT THE DUBLIN EXHIBITION.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin delivered a lecture on Irish manufactures at the Dublin Exhibition on Monday evening. The lecture was very successful, and it was attended by a large number of persons. The Lord Mayor spoke of the progress of Irish manufactures, and he spoke of the importance of the Dublin Exhibition. He also spoke of the importance of the Dublin Exhibition.

EXTRAORDINARY RAILWAY ADVENTURE.

It has often been said that there is a special providence which takes care of drunken men, and the incident which took place on the Liverpool and Manchester Railway on Monday night is a good example of this. A man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time, was found dead in his room. The coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

SUICIDE IN A COFFEE-HOUSE IN HOLBORN.

On Thursday night, a man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time, was found dead in his room. The coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death. The man was found in a coffee-house in Holborn, and he was carrying a large amount of goods.

Further particulars. A fatal accident had been reported at Glasgow, and it was found that the ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

Accident on the London, Chatham and Dover Railway. The train which was wrecked on Saturday night was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

DEATH FROM A BITE.

A short time ago Mr. Jameson, spirit dealer, was sitting in the house of Mr. Parker, spirit dealer, at Waterloo-street, Kilmarock, discussing a glass of whisky. The conversation was very lively, and the two men were drinking a large amount of whisky. Mr. Jameson was bitten on the hand by a dog, and he died of the bite.

A SERVANT AND HER MASTER.

Catherine Caffrey, a young woman, was summoned before the magistrates at Ballybally, on Monday, for having been hired as a servant. The complaint was that she had broken her engagement with her master. The magistrates found her guilty, and they sentenced her to a term of imprisonment.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

An inquest was recently held before Mr. Weyman, coroner for North Shropshire, on the body of an old man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. The man was found dead in his room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

THE BENEFITS ARISING FROM CHLOROFORM.

Doctor Kidd, in a letter to the Observer, says:—In the papers of the week there are the particulars of a case of suicide of a poor lady, distracted and torn in mind by the excessive agony of those anxious and miserable hours of parturition that sometimes, in the weaker sex, try the endurance of the strongest and most enduring public benefactor (as there exists the utmost ignorance on the point) if you let it appear that we have now, at length, in this second half of the nineteenth century, a perfect antidote to all such risks of insidious and deadly medical profession, he got rid of his sufferings and agony could have been prevented by a little chloroform.

Further particulars. A fatal accident had been reported at Glasgow, and it was found that the ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

Accident on the London, Chatham and Dover Railway. The train which was wrecked on Saturday night was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship. The ferry-boat was carrying a large number of passengers, and it was carrying a large amount of goods. It was wrecked by a collision with a steamship.

A SERVANT AND HER MASTER.

Catherine Caffrey, a young woman, was summoned before the magistrates at Ballybally, on Monday, for having been hired as a servant. The complaint was that she had broken her engagement with her master. The magistrates found her guilty, and they sentenced her to a term of imprisonment.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

An inquest was recently held before Mr. Weyman, coroner for North Shropshire, on the body of an old man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. The man was found dead in his room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

THE BENEFITS ARISING FROM CHLOROFORM.

Doctor Kidd, in a letter to the Observer, says:—In the papers of the week there are the particulars of a case of suicide of a poor lady, distracted and torn in mind by the excessive agony of those anxious and miserable hours of parturition that sometimes, in the weaker sex, try the endurance of the strongest and most enduring public benefactor (as there exists the utmost ignorance on the point) if you let it appear that we have now, at length, in this second half of the nineteenth century, a perfect antidote to all such risks of insidious and deadly medical profession, he got rid of his sufferings and agony could have been prevented by a little chloroform.

SUICIDE IN A COFFEE-HOUSE IN HOLBORN.

On Thursday night, a man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time, was found dead in his room. The coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death. The man was found in a coffee-house in Holborn, and he was carrying a large amount of goods.

A SERVANT AND HER MASTER.

Catherine Caffrey, a young woman, was summoned before the magistrates at Ballybally, on Monday, for having been hired as a servant. The complaint was that she had broken her engagement with her master. The magistrates found her guilty, and they sentenced her to a term of imprisonment.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

An inquest was recently held before Mr. Weyman, coroner for North Shropshire, on the body of an old man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. The man was found dead in his room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

FRIGHTFUL POISONING CASE NEAR WREXHAM.

Five persons in one family dead. The village of Wrexham has been in a state of ferment for the last fortnight in consequence of a family living on the top of Sugar-loaf, on the other side of the valley, being suddenly seized with a most alarming sickness. The father of the family, a man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time, was found dead in his room. The coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

A SERVANT AND HER MASTER.

Catherine Caffrey, a young woman, was summoned before the magistrates at Ballybally, on Monday, for having been hired as a servant. The complaint was that she had broken her engagement with her master. The magistrates found her guilty, and they sentenced her to a term of imprisonment.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

An inquest was recently held before Mr. Weyman, coroner for North Shropshire, on the body of an old man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. The man was found dead in his room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.

SUICIDE IN A COFFEE-HOUSE IN HOLBORN.

On Thursday night, a man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time, was found dead in his room. The coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death. The man was found in a coffee-house in Holborn, and he was carrying a large amount of goods.

A SERVANT AND HER MASTER.

Catherine Caffrey, a young woman, was summoned before the magistrates at Ballybally, on Monday, for having been hired as a servant. The complaint was that she had broken her engagement with her master. The magistrates found her guilty, and they sentenced her to a term of imprisonment.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

An inquest was recently held before Mr. Weyman, coroner for North Shropshire, on the body of an old man named John Paine, who was a sailor, and had been living with his wife at the Black Horse Tavern, Dorset, for some time. The man was found dead in his room, and the coroner is inquiring into the circumstances of his death.