IMPORTATION OF ALPACAS FROM BOLIVIA.

We had the pleasure, yesterday, of a visit from a Bolivian gentleman who has succeeded in importing a small flock of Alpacas from Bolivia into the province of Salta.

markets 10 per lb., and is valued in England as high as 7 shillings: it has a long, silky staple, and when first introduced into England a new class of machinery was adopted for its special manufacture.

mened at 7:30 and terminated about 10 o'clock, the greatest obscurity being about 9:15. The sun's disc was by no means so covered as anticipated.

was about leaving, he got up on a cane-bottomed chair and addressed the crowd, explaining to them how, when in perfect peace, Paraguay invaded Corrientes, seized our steamers, and murdered their crews.

lend his arm in the struggle of Peru for the triumph of the eternal principles of Republicanism. I feel that you are inspired with the genius of Belgrano, that renowned lieutenant, who abandoned his parchment covenants to gain his country, the glorious anniversaries of Tucuman and Salta.

coming from Rosario. Orientals are greatly displeased at these youngsters having gone to Rosario previous to coming here. It is out of the regular order of things, still we want to see them, and they will draw crowded houses.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Argentine steamer 'Hercules' steamed into the harbor from Paraná, towing an English brig which has been taking in cargo at Lafort's saladero.

There is a great demand for newspapers owing to the Paraguayan war: we printed yesterday 1900 copies of our double edition, and enrolled last week no fewer than 47 new-subscribers.

Colonel Arenas has left for Lobos; he goes to organize a regiment of National Guards in that partido. General Hornos makes a call for volunteers; he says in his notice that all who wish to serve under him must hurry up as he purposes to march next week.

All praise and honor to the valiant scholars who give to the world such sublime lessons. I could wish to be endowed with the giant arms of our glorious ancestors who embraced the whole of the new world under the banner of the crusade of Independence.

I see that you want people, to take cows on halves; down here the great speculation is Paraguayans on halves. I have it for a fact that some of our volunteers talk of a 'rodeo' of tame Paraguayans in Corrientes for cotton-planting and mandioca growing; if Flores will only be explicit on this head, he will have any number of volunteers.

MORE NEWS FROM MONTEVIDEO.

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING, STRONG DANCING FEELING.

THINGS BRIGHTENING.

They say that one of the great law lords of England, I forget his name, wrote a book in the spare minutes which he invariably saved while waiting for his breakfast and dinner.

PRESIDENT MITRE'S ADDRESS TO THE STUDENTS.

The students of the University having petitioned the Government for leave to join the army in the present campaign against Paraguay, a grand demonstration took place at the University on Sunday evening.

Holy Week in Rome is nothing to what it was this year at Cordova. The streets were crowded, the churches crammed full, and we read that some of the ceremonies lasted until three o'clock in the morning.

The editor of the 'Pueblo,' Dr. Lopez Torres, Dr. Joaquin Suarez, and several young men, have volunteered for the war. It is satisfactory to know that the elections are at last finished.

It seems an Italian brought down 50 alpacas which were disposed of in Montevideo for 25,000 hard dollars, and Mr. B. has another flock of 200 ewes, of which he does not yet know whether they have been able to elude the Bolivian outposts or survive the rigors of the Cordillera.
