NEWS FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE GALILEO.

The 'Tribuna' published a supplement on Saturday morning, with the following news:

The Galileo arrived in Montevideo on Friday, from Liverpool, with dates, London 25th, Paris 27th Nov. and Lisbon Dec. 2nd.

Severe storms, accompanied with many shipping disasters have visited the coast of England: 17 vessels were lost near Plymouth, alone. Two of the channel steamers from Falmouth and Jersey were also lost. The Duke and Duchess of Montpensier, on board the 'Gerona,' were preparing to leave Plymouth for Cadiz. Public opinion was still agitated about the Spanish-Chilian question, and the Government resolved to urge upon Spain the convenience of raising the Chilian blockade and leaving the matter for arbitration by some neutral power. The committee of merchants of the 'indignation meeting' received a favorable reply from Lord Clarendon: a cabinet-council was held on Nov. 25th, and a Queen's messenger despatched same evening to Madrid. The revolution of the Jamaica negroes was also discussed, and some of the papers complain that it was unjust severity to hang so many as two thousand negroes. Yellow fever has broken out at Liverpool, the deaths numbering 28 per day. The American Consul in that port having received the 'Shenandoah' from the British authorities, she was despatched on Nov. 21st for New York. The Marquis of Clanrickard is likely to succeed Baron Wodehouse as vice roy of Ireland, and Mr. Chichester Fortescue will be Chief Secretary in lieu of Sir R. Peel. A reform-meeting was held at Bradford, and a series of resolutions drawn up, to be submitted to Earl Russell. Mr. Goschen, M. P. for London, is named Secretary to the Treasury.

The escape of Stephens, the Fenian ring-leader, from prison in Dublin, took the Government by surprise, and shewed connivance on the part of the turnkeys: eight gates of the prison wards had been opened, and one locked again to check pursuit, besides a high wall which the fugitive could not have crossed without assistance both from within and without. Government at once offered £1,000 for his recapture and £300 for the discovery of those who aided his escape. Police were stationed at the various railways, and some vessels of war sent in pursuit, in case he might escape in a fishing-smack.

The French press applauds the action of the British Government in the affairs of Chile and hopes the Emperor will adopt a similar policy. It is rumored at Paris that Earl Cowley will be succeeded by Lord Granville, and that Sir R. Peel is to be appointed to another high diplomatic post. The Minister of Marine reports a reduction of 8 millions (£320,000) in his department, and the Minister of Commerce is about to dismiss 1,000 of his employés. The 'Patrie' of the 27th asserts that Spain will resist any attempt of foreign powers to interfere in the question with Chile.

Advices from Brussels report King Leopold improving in health.

Great agitation prevails in Italy both in the new Parliament and in the press. King Louis and the Queen of Portugal left Florence on the 28th for Paris, via Dresden.

From Poland we hear of 60 more patriots sent off in chains to Siberia.

The effects of the recent storm in Portugal have been terrific, and subscriptions are being collected for the sufferers. D. Eduardo Pintos has been sent to Constantiupole to negotiate a treaty of commerce with the Sultan, for the free introduction of Lisbon wines into Turkey. A grand national fête was held at Lisbon on Dec. 1st, anniversary of the establishment of a free press.

News from China is unfavorable, the Tartar faction being uppermost, and it was feared the Emperor would dismiss Prince Kong to make room for some of the anti-European party, in which case the new Minister would probably annul the treaties with G. Britain and France, and this must lead to another war in China by the allies.

From the west coast of Africa we hear that H. M. S. Ranger overtook a Portuguese slaver, called the 'Maria', in the Gulf of Loanda.

The fears of a Fenian invasion of Canada are dispelled, but guards are still kept on the American frontier, and new corps of volunteers in organization.

IMPORTANT FROM THE U. STATES.

LATEST VIA RIO JANEIRO.

The new American mail-steamers, South America, arrived in Rio Janeiro from New York, on the 27th ult., with dates to Nov. 30th.

It was believed President Johnson would restore the law of 'habeas corpus. The War-Office ordered the liberation of all Confederate volunteers arrested on charges of rebellion. General Grant made a famous speech against the Emperor of Mexico. After the manner of Connecticut and Colorado, the States of Wisconsin and Minnesota refused to allow negroes the right to vote. The elections in those States resulted in favor of the Republican party. South Carolina voted almost unanimously the amendment of the Constitution, for abolishing slavery; of the 33 States in the Union, 28 have already ratified this amendment. Much anxiety is felt to hear the President's new Message, and great guessing is going on as to the intended line of policy. The State Conventions of Florida and South Carolina have abolished slavery and repudiated the debt of the Confederate Government, and enacted the admission of black people as witnesses in law-suits. The Confederate privateer Stonewall arrived at New York from Havana, having been delivered over by the Spanish authorities. The American papers protest strongly against Spain, in the Chilian question, and some open-air meetings were held in favor of the sister-Republic.

Mr. Preston King, Collector of Customs at New York, committed suicide by jumping overboard from a ferry-boat: his body was not found, as he had put shot in his pockets. The motive is supposed to be a derangement of accounts.

We have extraordinary news from Mexico. Ex-President Juarez has not fled to the United States, but re-established the Republican seat of Government in a village called Chilmanhua. The imperialists evacuated Cordoba. The republicans, under Escobedo, besieged Matamoras, in which Gen. Mejia shut himself up: telegrams from New Orleans announced that Mejia received a reinforcement of 2,000 Franco-Austrians on board 3 steamers. The rebels had bribed Capt. Shiolson with 50,000$ to assassinate Gen. Mejia, but he was discovered and shot. Some Federal batteries had fired on a Mexican war-steamers on the Rio Grande, but Gen. Mejia did not respond to the fire, sending reclamations to Gen. Weitzel.

COUP D'ETAT IN CORDOBA.

LATEST FROM ROSARIO.

ACCIDENT ON THE CENTRAL A. RAILWAY. The Iron King arrived yesterday with the 'Eco de Cordova' to Dec. 31st and the 'Cosmopolita' 6th inst.

The Governor of Cordoba made a coup d'etat on the 28th, which the porter of the Legislative Chamber thus describes:

"This evening at half-past-seven, Colonel Condarcos stopped me when I was opening the entrance of the Chambers, saying he had orders from Government to that effect. I went immediately to see the Governor, and told him the President of the Chamber had ordered me to open the doors. His Excellency asked me 'what was up?', and I replied, that the Deputies were to meet to-night, whereupon he said he could not treat with me, and that the President must pass him a note. Just then Col. Condarcos came up, and said he had closed the doors and given the keys to the officer of the guard with orders not to deliver them unless by order of the Governor.

"As I am porter of the Sala, and in order that the Deputies who were to meet to-night may not blame me for finding the doors shut, I make this declaration."

On the previous day a decree of Government had appeared, postponing sine die the election of 15 Deputies to the Legislature, which was to take place on 31st ult. The President of the Chamber, D. Benigno O'Campo sent a vigorous protest on the suppression of the Legislature, repudiating any laws that may be made by the Executive.

Colonel Isaac writes, on Dec. 14th, from Mercedes, that he overtook a body of 200 Indians near Laguna Tala, killing 17, and recovering most of the booty which comprised 100 horses, 40 saddles, 1,500 mares, 20 lances, 50 cows and a flock of sheep. Two Indians taken alive, state that a formidable invasion is to take place, next moon, by the tribes of Mariano and Baigorrita and a part of Calacuera's people.

The 'Constitucional' of Mendoza, Dec. 16th states that a branch Bank of Mauá and Co. is to be shortly started in that city.

The 'Zonda' of San Juan, Dec. 17th, mentions the arrival of 11 boxes of fire-arms, 40 bundles of lances, and 31 bales of uniforms.

Passengers from Bolivia bring very recent dates [Dec. 16th]: two divisions of the rebel army had marched southwards, the first, under Gen. San Jines, having seized Cochabamba on October 30th, and the second, under Gen. Perez, established itself at Oruro. Gen. Melgarejo continues shut up in Potosi, his army being estimated at 2,800 men, with whom he intended to sally forth and engage the 3 rival Presidents. Gen. Avila and Col. Ballivián got up an army on their own account at Tarija, but the other pretenders have a better chance.

The Rioja contingent, 389 strong, under Governor Campos, arrived at Rosario on Thursday evening, by the Central Argentine Railway, from Tortugas [20 leagues]. Col. Campos at once embarked in the Ibcuy for Buenos Ayres, to visit his family.

We regret to announce a fatal accident which occurred on the Central Argentine Railway on Saturday 6th inst. The train, when about midway between Carearañá and Rosario drove over a bullock asleep on the line: the engine, tender and first wagon passed over without injury, but the second wagon made a perfect somersault: two men were picked out from the debris of the wagon, one being killed, and the other injured in the arm.

LATEST FROM MONTEVIDEO.

TRUENAS NOT DEAD.

NEWS FROM EUROPE PER GALILEO.

LEANDRO GÓMEZ'S FUNERAL.

THE CUNAPIRU QUESTION.

The Liverpool steamer Galileo has just arrived; as her dates are only two days later than the packet her news is unimportant. Wools, hides and tallow have taken a turn down, and great talk of a war with the States. Caleb Cushing (Capt. Wilkes's great friend) has been sent to England by the President about the claims for damages by the Alabama: all the Americans here say that England must pay or fight, but I doubt if things will come to that pass; the good sense of both peoples is a sufficient guarantee. The future of the United States hangs on the policy of the American Cabinet at this moment. If American statesmen can be persuaded to have nothing to do with Europe for the next quarter of a century, then, indeed, no limit can be put to the soaring greatness of the United States, but if, on the contrary, through political blundering, and ministerial indiscretions, the country is plunged into a war with England, then it will no longer be a war between two countries, but two continents, for it is but reasonable to suppose England's allies will join her. Private letters from the States say that the disarmament of gunboats, ironclads, etc., in the States, has been stopped by order of the Government, and Fortresses Monroe and other forts are now in the hands of military engineers, to be strengthened; whilst from England I hear that at all the ports there is a run on the sailors by the Government. The Fenian business is kept alive in the States, but has completely died out in Ireland—the clergy and all respectable catholics set their faces against it. Train, a bankrupt Yankee speculator, who tried the tramways in England and failed, is now the head of the Fenians: the bonds have sold well, and now this revolutionary Barnum is a millionaire.

The Galileo has brought a number of intending sheepfarmers and a very large and valuable cargo.

It is with the greatest pleasure I inform you that Sr. Truenas is not dead: he has been suffering for some weeks, and some malicious person circulated the rumor which has got into all the papers.

The funeral ceremonies of Leandro Gomez did not, after all, pass off without a contretemps—some ruffians threw fire-crackers and gunpowder under the window-blinds of the house of Señor F. Gomez, mistaking it for the widow's. The place would have been burnt down but for the timely aid rendered by the neighbors. Such conduct requires no comment. At the funeral in the church the Finance Minister, Don Juan B. Gomez, attended, and in fact, all the principal people of Montevideo, without political distinction.

A new subject of discussion has been brought before the public in the shape of an alarm about Brazilian aggression. Very few in town as yet understand the matter, which takes its rise from some stories circulated by estancieros at Santa Ana del Libramiento, who stated that the Oriental Government, under Pereira, had granted to the Brazilian Government two leagues of land at Cunapiru. The value of the two leagues of land is a mere trifle but the dignity of the country is at stake; after the fall of Uruguay a Brazilian engineer entered the question, and took an exact statement of the population, etc. The Oriental Chambers annulled the act of Pereira, and now the question is: Who owns Cunapiru? The Government of Montevideo ignores the whole matter, so I suppose the two leagues in question are Oriental territory.

The works of the new Bolsa progress rapidly; the second floor, or up-stairs, is now in hands. The building will probably be finished before the time specified in the contract. It will be more than three times the size of the Bolsa in Buenos Ayres.

The attention of the police has been called to an immoral photographer who exhibits at his place, in the Plaza Independencia, the most obscene views. The police agent called, but, as a matter of course, the pictures were not to be found; still, it is a notorious fact that they exist.

The Comisario at the Tablada appears to be the most active man in the Republic; stolen cattle are each day brought to town, but are at once embargoed; yesterday the returns of the Comisario were 205 animals embargoed. The estancieros have good reason to thank this efficient public officer.

I am glad to say that advices from Paysandú are of a most satisfactory nature. Mr. Mundell has triumphed over the clique that thought to put him out of the place, the town is greatly improved, the estancieros are all doing well, and, in one word, the place is going ahead. Mr. Mundell is greatly liked by all the English—he is the right man in the right place. On the 2nd January the whole town went into mourning to pay a tribute of respect to the memory of the bravest Oriental that ever breathed—Leandro Gomez; politics, times, and governments have changed since this hero fell, but his name will be remembered so long as patriotism is honored and courage revered. The greatest crime of Aguirre and his government was to allow that brave man to perish when assistance might have been so easily rendered.

The steamer Tevené is at last finished: Barbosa, the Captain, says that she has been all refitted, and will now compete with any other steamer in the river for accommodation and speed.

Mr. E. S. Gordon has arrived here from Concordia: I hear that he is about to start a newspaper: there is not the slightest chance of his succeeding—there are too many newspapers here, not one published gives a fair profit.

It may interest some of your readers to know that an Italian barque is expected here shortly, bound for Chile: she will have accommodation for passengers.

A meeting has been called of all those who take an interest in the Arca Zapacoja mines: the general belief here is that these mines will prove a good thing, and the meeting will be well attended.

There is at present great rivalry going on among the banks: money is far cheaper here than in Buenos Ayres—just bear in mind the River Plate Bank here charges 11 per cent., and the same bank in your city charges 24 per cent. Such an extraordinary difference speaks for the business of the two cities.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Iron-clad Brazil and three Brazilian gunboats will leave immediately for Corrientes. Tamandaré has promised President Mitre to dine with him on the 22nd at the Paso de la Patria, so our readers need not look for any very important military movements until after that date. Mr. Le Long at latest dates was fishing at the Pass. We see that last month the Montevideo Government paid Mr. Le Long on account of his claim $1500 fts.

The Italian residents of Buenos Ayres, we hear, have presented Captain Camilo Lampro, the Commander of the Station, with a splendid sword in token of their esteem and regard and in appreciation of his services in sending up the expedition to Goya, Bella Vista, and Corrientes to rescue the Italian residents. To the Captains of the Veloce and Principe O'Donne they have presented each a magnificent revolver.

A grand dinner was about to be given in Corrientes by the Army-officers, to the officers in the Navy; several hundred invitations were to be sent out; it promised to be one of the grandest affairs ever known in Corrientes, the great difficulty was about a house large enough to accommodate so many guests. Ice is in great demand in Corrientes and a shipment never steamer would pay well. The city never was gayer, all the ladies go down each evening to the river's side to chat with the Navy officers, who spend their money most liberally in the town. House rent in Corrientes is more than double that in Buenos Ayres or Montevideo. The Brazilians are at present paying ten ounces per month for a miserable tumble-down concern which they call an hospital, and as there is no lease, the avaricious landlord wants to even raise the rent.

The Argentine Admiral, Colonel Murature, has been at death's door: Dr. Claves, Doctor of one of the Brazilian gunboats has attended him; he is now a little better, no one knows what was the matter with him, but it is believed the intense heat and bad food.

A terrible duel took place the other day between two officers on board the Guardia Nacional, both parties got severely but not mortally wounded; the cause of the fight has not transpired and our squadron correspondent for the last two steamers has not written.

The Rio de la Plata, from Montevideo, brought us some fresh news from Europe and the States, per Galileo. An English steamer had arrived in Rio from England in 17 days; and the North American steamer had arrived at Rio true to time, but brought none of General Wood's emigrants, to the no small chagrin of numbers, who expected to see five hundred Alabama cotton-planters landing when she anchored.

In political circles the great novelty is the charge of fraud against the Justice of the Peace of Chascomus at the last elections. The accusation seems frivolous, for at elections as in war everything is fair: 63 people voted, and the judge returned 703 voters. This is the cause of all the noise and 'chascos' running and flying through the country; a mere mistake in figures, nothing more. In some of the river towns the numerical errors were even still more glaring, but as the mistake was on the right side, there is nothing said about it. We hear of a small river town returning 2,700 votes, total population of the place not half that number. Verily, electioneering in the Plate is a hollow farce.

The Governor of Rioja is in town, having arrived from Rosario, where he left his contingent. We are surprised that the National Government made no ovation on his arrival: no public dinner, no band of music on the Mole. Verily, the arrival of a Provincial Governor seems a sort of every-day business in the capital of the Argentine Republic.

The 'Mosquito' is rather good this week. The caricatures are well drawn. Lo Long and Gelly are very conspicuous.

On Sunday evening a little child narrowly escaped death at the Mole, almost in front of the Resguardo. There is another 'hole in the Mole' the child fell in, and but for the nurse would now be buried in the Recoleta. Can anything be more scandalous than the neglect of the authorities respecting the Mole? It is all going fast to pieces, the posts rotting, and the holes on the increase.

The Triton arrived yesterday from Montevideo; down on the beach the news is that she is bound up for the Paso de la Patria, but we very much question this, as the heat at present in Corrientes is beyond all description. Admiral Elliot has gone to the Falkland Islands in the Narcisus. It is with the greatest pleasure that we learn the proceedings against Mr. Robert Billinghurst of Corrientes have been suspended, the charge of treason against Mr. Billinghurst was so ridiculously absurd that it could not be entertained for one moment.

Mr. Lines Van Blarcom the well-known wool and hide broker in New York, for many years previously a resident in the Plate, has arrived by the new American and Brazilian steam-packet: he intends passing the summer in B. Ayres, and we wish him a pleasant stay.

On Sunday there was an ugly fight on the mole, some Brazilians were about to take a prisoner on board, the surrounding and gaping crowd cheered the prisoner as he attempted to escape, and called the Brazilians most insulting names, the Brazilians drew their cutlasses and a fight with the boatmen ensued, the Port Captain's guard was called out, the soldiers attempted to stop the row but got terribly handled and obliged to retire to the Capitania. The matter was very disgraceful.

The grand ball or 'fete champetre' at the Estancia de los Merinos, the magnificent estate of Henry Harratt Esq., was the talk of town yesterday. We hear that it was really a splendid affair.

The Espigador with dates from the seat of war is due to-day. Sinbad, we believe, is at the Paso de la Patria reporting for the 'Standard,' if the news is of any very crushing nature we publish an extra.

We understand it is intended to give some grand balls at the Coliseum, during Carnival; and foreigners are expected to patronize it in preference to the Colon theatre.

Nobody seems to know where the sick Brazilians came from, that were landed on Sunday.

We are favored with the emigration returns for the year 1865, which shew a total of 11,767, being an increase of $5 on the previous year: it is pleasing to find that notwithstanding the war, the number of immigrants does not diminish.

Miss McLean requests us to state that, owing to a slight illness, she is unable to reopen the English school for young ladies, at Tres Esquinas, until Feb. 1st.

"LE SPORT" IN ROSARIO.

Under date of January 3rd we have received the following from Rosario:

"Some few hours after the Chimes had ceased to 'ring the old year out and the new year in' or in less circumlocution of phraseology—on New Year's morning last—I started for an estancia about three leagues outside the town to which I had been bidden by invitation a few days before. I do not desire to name our host; but he is known to every one here, as an Englishman, who reflects honor on his native country. It was to a festival but he did not keep it up for more than 150 yards, when the pace proving too much for his strength, obliged him to give up, rounding the second corner.

Saladillo Athletic Club Open to all Comers.

2 p. m. First race—Foot hurdle race for 1,200 yards. Five entries. 2.30 p. m. Second race—Foot race for 150 yards—4 entries.

It may be truly designated a Sporting card; for we observe that there were to be no prizes; therefore all the winner had to gain was the honor and glory of success.

The road from Rosario to the race-course need scarcely be described. It may be needless to say that it did not remind one very much either of that to the Derby or Ascot—to the Curragh or Doncaster.

Mr. S. one of our Frayle Muerto English Colonists,—took up a strapping pace for a short time—but was soon left behind. Mr. P. a Scotchman, went on very vigorously for half the course and as the race terminated was observed to be seated on the grass,—very probably cogitating about entering for the consolation stakes.—of which however there happened to be none: the race home then lay between Mr. R. S. and Mr. C. S. both of whom jumped the hurdles in first-rate style,—M. R. S. came in the winner by about fifty yards—amidst cheers that if they did not 'make the welkin ring,' at all events let those sheep in the corrals to know what kind of a thing was a hurrah from British throats.

The Steeple chase was the next race. Seven horses were sharp to time, and I assure you, that it gave me a recollection of old times in the old country to see them come up in such regular order and to hear the manly English voices of the riders. One of the gentlemen had won several steeple-chases in the South of Ireland, but what could the best rider in the world do with the class of horses that we generally find on sheepfarms in this country? No false start; so they are off! Mr. J. C.'s horse being the only one that could not be persuaded either by command, entreaty, or 'rebenque' to move a single inch over the first hurdle they went in gallant style,—the lead having been taken by Mr. F. D. of Pavon.

Neither the foot race for 150 yards nor the sack race came off; but the flat race for horses—distance 600 yards which was the race of the day was competed for by fifteen. Mr. M. B. of Rosario was the winner. A few private races were likewise run for; and after all was over, we enjoyed an excellent dinner, garnished with plum-pudding as well as other agreeable contingencies.

CAUTION TO SHEEP-FARMERS. To the Editors of the 'Standard' Gentlemen,

I beg you will have the kindness to allow space in your valuable paper for the following few lines:— At an estancia, not far from Donsehar station, the sheepshearing is still going on, and will not be finished before the end of January or beginning of February.

ON CHANGE. January 8, 1866.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Paper price of ounces, Do. Sovereigns, First price of potatoes, Second, Third, Last do., Cash sales, 28,200.

There was very little done in specie to-day. The brokers were without orders, and speculation in specie has gone out of fashion. Respecting war news, there was a rumor to the effect that Flores with his cavalry had crossed the Parana, and was now in Paraguay at a point some twelve leagues from the Paraguayan camp.

Plymouth, of that date, which has been surreptitiously detained in Montevideo, probably the only feature of importance in the rather sudden decline in tallow: last quotation in London 47 shillings, salted hides heavy 61, light 57.

The absorbing topic on 'Change to-day was the tariff dilemma in the Custom-house. Business has been brought to a stand-still by the question, the new tariff is 'in nubibus,' and the old one defunct.

In Exchange there was a brisk business to-day in bills on England, at 50 1/2, at which rate the English Bank draws, and on France and Belgium at 5.50; and some bills done even at 5.35, but the rate is 5.30.

In maritime affairs there is little to note. The Hanoverian brig Emma has been chartered to load in port for Cuba, £600. No other charters.

The Galileo is now receiving cargo; some bales were sent off yesterday; she sails on the 14th inst. There is very little to say about wool.

Wool buyers complain greatly of the number of poisoned dogs in the plazas; it is to be hoped that Cazon will order their removal.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. SOUTH PLAZA. 16 Carts, mixed wool, 60 to 62. 3,000@ prime wool, English, reserved price, supposed to be 95. 2,000@ good wool, 76.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. NORTH PLAZA. 540@ good merino wool, 65. 700@ " do " 60. 300@ " do clean 74. 800@ " do 62. 1,500@ prime do 75. 11 Carts mixed wools, from 50 to 65.

Respecting the wool crop this year, a very experienced wool-buyer, intimately acquainted with Cape and Australian wools, states that in no part of the world is wool so carelessly got up for the market as in Buenos Ayres, and that it is only at the greatest risk buyers purchase even the very finest wools with care.

DIED.

Way the plowing season of Christians is hardly likely to stain our columns with the record of social crime, but that such exists to a terrible extent must be accounted a fact. The infanticide that occurs not only in the metropolis, but throughout the Kingdom, is frightful to contemplate...

AGAIN, the divorce courts have been crowded with cases where the conduct of persons in a respectable sphere of life has made us shudder for the morality of the age; indeed, it almost appears as if the power classes in this country were the most moral. Let us hope, however, that the cases which come so constantly before us are the great exceptions, and not the rule. In our impression, the newspaper much to blame in publishing the details of all its wretched details for the benefit of the corruption of their readers. Take a recent case, which has occupied the court some four or five days...

THE MURDER AT LISSON-GROVE. The adjourned inquiry touching the death of John Pearson, labourer, late of No. 17, Nottingham street, St. George's, London, was held at the coroner's court, Mary's Hospital, Paddington, London, on the 29th inst. The only additional evidence of importance was that of...

BOYS GAMBLING IN A PUBLIC-HOUSE. George Bullock, the landlord of the Prince of Wales public-house in Union-road, Clapham, was summoned before the magistrate, at Wandsworth, for suffering gaming in his said house. The defendant did not appear, but he was represented by a friend, who said he was ill in bed. Inspector Abrook of the W division, said that on Sunday evening, the 26th ult., he was passing the defendant's house, when he heard the voices of a number of boys in the parlour, and on looking through the window he saw that they were gambling at a game called "shove-halpenny." He waited for nearly a quarter of an hour, and saw money and cards being dealt out, and he saw one of the boys take two or three shillings, and he saw the defendant's son, a youth, who was in charge of the bar, to the boys, and he saw he was not aware they were playing cards, and he saw several of them had been in custody. The boys were then ejected.

MR. BRIGGS AT BIRMINGHAM. A town meeting was held at Birmingham on Wednesday evening, for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the Birmingham Reform Association. The hall was crowded, and Mr. Briggs, the Mayor of Birmingham, presided. He said that Birmingham was a city of great power, and that it was the duty of the citizens to use their power for the benefit of the people. He called for a vote of thanks to the Birmingham Reform Association, and the motion was carried by a large majority.

CURIOUS RAILWAY DECISION. Mr. Alexander McGow, of Anngol-cook, Friday, appeared before Mr. Ingham, at Wandsworth, Tuesday, to answer the complaint of Mr. T. B. Smith, of the South Western Railway, who had been travelling on the 24th ult., in a second-class carriage from Southampton to Waterloo Station with a third-class ticket. The defendant, who appeared very much annoyed at being summoned, said he could prove by the company's books and time-tables that he was right. He said that he had travelled on the line for many years, and that he had never known of a third-class carriage being attached to a train. The witness also said there was a third-class carriage attached to the train, and marked one of the tickets to that effect.

As the period for the assembling of the new Parliament approaches we are introduced to changes in every direction, and Cabinet Councils are held twice or thrice a week to take into consideration the course Ministers should pursue in the ensuing Session.

Mr. Russell, who was laid up with a cold for some days, has again put in an appearance at these meetings. There is a belief that his lordship takes stronger progressive views than his colleagues, and that several of the Palmerstonian supporters will resign office to give place to men of the new Premier's selecting.

Several changes will take place in the House of Lords. Sir John Lubbock and Sir Francis Baring are to be raised to the peerage, and, inasmuch as, for the most part, the speakers in the Upper House are all old stagers, the admitting of a little more high consistency to the aristocratic assembly is rather applauded.

Before the Reform Bill is brought before Parliament the cattle plague will be discussed in all its bearings. Nothing at the present moment, engages the attention of Ministers so much as this.

My readers will, perhaps, like to know what Queen Anne's Bounty is. Now, up to the reign of Anne all the clergy holding livings over a certain value were expected to pay to the Crown the sum of five pounds of their income; but their successors have been exempted from this tax.

THE ALLEGED POISONING BY A SURGEON'S ASSISTANT.

William Storer, the surgeon's assistant, who was charged against Miss Emily Blake, has been committed to the gaol for the purpose of having a warm bath. The warmer returned in five minutes, and then found that the prisoner had drowned himself. He had tied his hands behind his back, and had thrown himself into the water.

The first witness called was Mr. Dowling, the governor of Fisherton Gaol, who deposed that the custody of Storer since his commitment on the 21st of September. He saw the dead body of the prisoner in the bath-room about half-past two o'clock on the previous morning. The officer was immediately arrested and previously attempted to destroy himself, but he had surreptitiously tried to get poison into the gaol through the aid of one of the officers, but did not succeed.

The following is a copy of the papers in question:—The following prescription of sixteen pills was prescribed for the use of Miss Emily Blake, for obtaining menstruation and chlorosis, which she suffered from.

My dear Auntie Charlotte and Mary,—Your kind letters received, and many thanks for the stamps which will come in handy to me when I am writing to you.

On the 10th ult. I received a letter enclosed with a design for a tablet, was this inscription:—'Sacred to the memory of Emily S. Blake, aged nineteen years and six months.'

Charles Newlands, the second warder of Fisherton Gaol, deposed that he saw Storer in the bath-room for a bath, and the witness cut his hair and took him to the bath-room. When he was cutting the prisoner's hair the latter said to him, 'Cut it very close; it will be a great deal better for me.'

William Hamilton, the chief officer of the gaol, deposed to finding the prisoner dead in the bath. He was sitting on the edge of the bath, and his hands were on the wall. He had had a hot bath from a cotton pocket handkerchief. He was quite dead, and every possible means were tried to restore animation under the direction of four medical men who were called in.

The new King of the Belgians, Leopold Louis Philippe Marie Victor, was born on the 9th of April, 1835, and is, consequently, in the 31st year of his age. He is more than eight years older than his brother, King Leopold I., the founder of the Belgian monarchy.

SUICIDE ON A RAILWAY.

On Saturday afternoon Dr. Lankester held an inquest at the Hornsey-road Tavern on the mutilated body of a man unknown, apparently about forty years of age, who was killed through his deliberately placing his head on the rail when a train was approaching the Seven Sisters-road Station of the Great Northern Railway.

BREACH OF PROMISE OF MARRIAGE AND SEDUCTION: HEAVY DAMAGES.

In the Court of Common Pleas, last week, the case of Berry v. Da Costa was brought before the Lord Chief Justice. The declaration stated that the defendant promised to marry the plaintiff, but failed to do so, and that she had seduced her. The damages were assessed at £2,500.

THE WOMAN WHO MURDERED HER OWN SON.

At the Liverpool Assizes, on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Mellor, Elizabeth Adkins, a coarse-looking woman, described in the calendar as forty-two years of age, was arraigned on the charge of the wilful murder of her only child, a boy named Henry, who was only six years of age at the time of his death.

A FLAUNT OFFENCE.

George Forster, about 35 years of age, and respectable in appearance, was charged, at Worship-street, with stealing the tools of workmen in the employ of Messrs. Warren, Brothers, he being at the time one of the foremen of the works of the extension railway, then in course of construction at the Otford-road station.

The Rev. William Briggs, a retired clergyman of the Church of England, residing in Acton-street, Dalston, was charged at the Worship-street Police-court a few days ago with assaulting and leading Mrs. Eliza Briggs, his wife, who said she had only been married to him one month on the preceding Saturday.

A LACE-MANUFACTURER HORSE-WHIPPED BY A LADY.

At the Police-court, Nottingham, on Monday, Mrs. Charlotte Burton and Mr. William Waitwright, her brother, were charged with assaulting Mr. George Bayly Yates, lace manufacturer, on Friday last, in the street in Nottingham.

STRANGE IF TRUE.

About five months ago, says the Dublin Express, a man named Colman, married a daughter of a comfortable farmer named John Whelan, holding a farm of 100 acres near the town of Mullingar in the county of Wick.

A DRUNKEN WOMAN WITH A DEAD CHILD.

Sarah Ann Taylor, fifty-four, of 4, Prince's Street, Whitechapel, London, was charged at the Police-court on Saturday last with the wilful murder of her only child, a boy named Henry, who was only six years of age at the time of his death.

LAMENES FOR AN ACCIDENT.

In the Court of Common Pleas a working gasfitter named Underman, sued Mr. Damer, a sugar refiner, of Whitechapel, for damages for a personal injury received by him through Mr. Damer's negligence. On Saturday, the 25th of June, 1861, the plaintiff went to the defendant's premises, and was engaged to work on the following morning, when he was struck by a piece of iron which fell from the ceiling of the boiler.

The 14th instant was the fourth anniversary of the Prince Consort's death, and the occasion was observed at Windsor with more than usual solemnity by the Royal family. In the morning Her Majesty and the rest of the members of the Royal family who were at the Castle repaired to the Mausoleum of the late Prince Consort, in the grounds of Frogmore, to view the interior of this magnificent place of sepulture had been previously prepared for the Queen's reception, a number of chairs, arranged in rows, were placed in the Mausoleum, and the Queen, accompanied by Her Majesty and the other members of the Royal family, were seated on the chairs.
