VICE-PRESIDENT'S RESIGNATION.

On Tuesday the formal resignation of Dr. Don Marcos Paz was presented to Congress. We cannot say that it took the town much by surprise, since it has been mooted some time.

The reasons which induced His Excellency to this step are not expressed in his note to Congress, but it is the general opinion that the Vice-President views the continuance of the war with a gloomy foreboding.

When my conscience tells me that I cannot faithfully perform the sacred duties which the country has entrusted me with, I believe it is my duty as a patriot to lay down the seals of office, and return to private life, so as to leave the office open to whatever other citizen the country shall name.

Governed by this opinion I come before Congress begging that you will accept my resignation of the high post of Vice-President of the Republic.

God protect you many years, MARCOS PAZ.

DEPARTURE OF THE AMERICAN MINISTER.

If Mr. Edward Thornton will long be remembered by Englishmen as the most distinguished British Minister they ever had in the Plata, so also will Americans point with pride to their Minister, Mr. Kirk, who shortly leaves for his native country.

Never before was there an American Minister in Buenos Ayres whose diplomatic career was more deserving of praise, whose private worth was more estimable, than the gentleman who takes his leave of us on the present occasion.

Without intending in the least to throw discredit on, or disparage any of Mr. Kirk's predecessors, we apprehend we are fully justified in saying that previous to his arrival the American Legation occupied a rather secondary position, and this notwithstanding that in former years the American trade with Buenos Ayres was double what it is at present.

Some antiquated claims of American citizens, long since gone to their last home, lay mouldering in the dusty archives of the Legation; the heirs of these victimized American citizens have, in the course of the most protracted prosecution, long abandoned them as valueless and repudiated.

ON CHANGE.

May 18th, 1866. Paper price of ounces, 41 1/2. Do. Sovereigns, 12 1/2. First price of patoons, 28 1/2. Last, 25 1/2.

This was a very dull day on 'Change. The average commission for each broker does not amount to ten pence per dollar. The market has no order. More specie is bought and sold outside than inside the Bolea now.

The half-yearly meeting of the Argentine Bank, which was held on Tuesday and Wednesday last, was a most successful one.

Business on 'Change could not be duller; the average brokerage to-day is seven pence per dollar per broker. Money is not so tight, nor is there a panic feeling in the market, but there is nothing doing in the Bolea.

There was much said on 'Change to-day about the defeat of the Bank in the Correo lawsuit; the general impression is that as the occasion for the suit passed, further proceedings are unnecessary.

The meeting to-day at the Government House was attended by the Government as a very excellent one. The meeting was largely attended, as all take a lively interest in the matter and admission is gratis.

Mr. Green, of the River Plate Bank, has arranged everything with the Santa Fe Government to his own satisfaction.

There is a great lull in the export business. The wool placers are empty, and in the Barracas there is a great lull in the export business.

The time sales to-day were over a quarter of a million of patoons. The rates, as a general rule, are one cent lower.
