

BURNOS AYRES STANDARD.

The general aspect of affairs in the London Money-market has been favourable, though stocks and shares continue languid. The more settled aspect of the weather...

THEAT London is out of town is the cry of all London correspondents just now. The blinds are down in Belgrave; no carriages, to speak of, are to be seen in Regent-street...

It was in a place of this class that Esther Lack resided and murdered her three children. Sejmaret-place is one of about a dozen alleys, and lies immediately behind Park-street Chapel...

It is a natural feeling, of which the poets in all ages have largely availed themselves, that great crimes ought to suspend and shock, to some extent, the orderly operation of social and even material laws...

The case of Esther Lack excites more interest than any of those crimes which at present occupy and have recently occupied the public mind. In the case of Pritchard, Forward, Eli Sykes, Currie, &c., we can see the bad passions of the human heart...

Whether she is sane or insane is a question that is much discussed; there being a fair number of either opinion. Her neighbours believed her to be sane, while her husband and son naturally take the opposite view. I have not met a single lawyer who does not believe her insane.

The particulars of the murder at Bonn of Prince Alfred's cook have just reached us. It appears that a poor young man named Ott, a Frenchman, met a lot of students, amongst whom was Count Von Eulenberg, a soldier, and son of the Home Minister of Prussia.

Continued Kent's confusion giving the per-sonal question on the topic. Such a confusion is the only thing that would embarrass some persons of her gull.

It is one of the unhappy features of a chronicle of events to picture crime as it exists, and we by week this duty becomes more onerous. To particularise a few that have come before our notice during the past few days is painful.

A gigantic swindle has just been discovered in a London Joint-stock Company. It is stated that some defalcations being found in the affairs of a metropolitan cemetery company, the secretary, who was the responsible officer, was suddenly seized with indisposition, and allowed to retire.

A very sad affair is reported from Bailey, near Dewsbury. A rifle volunteer, named Eli Sykes, after returning from battalion drill, called upon his sweetheart. It is supposed they quarrelled, and in a fit of jealousy he killed her.

In space permitted us we should like to say something of New Zealand, for when the newspapers parade to the world that William Thompson, one of the chiefs of the Maori rebellion, has made his submission, the public are apt to think that this settles the question, but it is not so.

It is a natural feeling, of which the poets in all ages have largely availed themselves, that great crimes ought to suspend and shock, to some extent, the orderly operation of social and even material laws.

Whether she is sane or insane is a question that is much discussed; there being a fair number of either opinion. Her neighbours believed her to be sane, while her husband and son naturally take the opposite view.

The particulars of the murder at Bonn of Prince Alfred's cook have just reached us. It appears that a poor young man named Ott, a Frenchman, met a lot of students, amongst whom was Count Von Eulenberg, a soldier, and son of the Home Minister of Prussia.

THE BRIGANDS OF ITALY. The brigands in the neighbourhood of Salerno are excited to such anxiety on the part of his friends, and interest in the minds of the public, has been released. His ransom was purchased at the cost of 30,000 ducats, or about $6,750 in hard English cash.

THE ATLANTIC CABLE COMPANY have resolved not to abandon the great and glorious enterprise in which they first engaged; but a notice has been struck up at Lloyd's announcing the intention of the promoters to have another cable manufactured before May next, at which time they will make the double effort to carry the new one across the Atlantic and to raise that which is three parts laid and carry it to the originally intended terminus.

It really appears to us that foreign cattle are safer and sounder than English cattle. Last week there were at least nearly 500,000 foreign beasts to about 8,000 English, and a salmon on the spot, assures us that several of the native animals were infected, but not one of the foreigners.

There is a rumor current in the diplomatic world that before the present understanding between Austria and Prussia, and at the time when a conflict between the two Governments seemed probable, M. von Beust, the Saxon Minister, summoned M. von Montsford to the presence of the Emperor at Berlin.

According to our Vienna correspondent, M. von Bismarck knew of the diplomatic intrigues of M. von Beust, thanks to certain indirect and very clever indiscretions of some Austrian statesman. M. von Beust's father-in-law was a member of the Diet of Saxony, and was in communication with the Emperor of Austria.

The surrender of William Thompson is an example of what may be done by the employment of disinterested and reasonable agencies. Some weeks ago we announced, on the authority of private letters, that the Governor had yielded to the entreaties of Mr. Graham, and had sanctioned his projected mission to the disturbed districts.

In the individual, partial paralysis of the brain evidences itself by weakness at the extremities. In an extreme case, when the patient loses all his aggregations of individuals, where the central ruling power, the head, or by whatever name it may be called, is weak in conception and fulfillment of the duties devolving upon it.

THE CHOLERA PANIC IN SICILY. The ignorance of the Sicilians on the subject of the dreaded epidemic now prevalent in some parts of Italy, is a subject of some interest. The Florence correspondent of the Daily News says:—People are described as rushing madly about in all directions entirely absorbed in the subject of the preventive measures.

Loss of Life on the Thames.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

Loss of Life on the Thames.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE BRIGANDS OF ITALY. London is now the scene of the murder of three poor children by their own mother. The wife of a man employed on a construction-works at Bunking has been charged with the murder of three children.

THE CATTLE PLAGUE. It really appears to us that foreign cattle are safer and sounder than English cattle. Last week there were at least nearly 500,000 foreign beasts to about 8,000 English, and a salmon on the spot, assures us that several of the native animals were infected.

MEETING OF GERMAN SOVEREIGNS. There is a rumor current in the diplomatic world that before the present understanding between Austria and Prussia, and at the time when a conflict between the two Governments seemed probable, M. von Beust, the Saxon Minister, summoned M. von Montsford to the presence of the Emperor at Berlin.

CLOSE OF THE NEW ZEALAND WAR. The surrender of William Thompson is an example of what may be done by the employment of disinterested and reasonable agencies. Some weeks ago we announced, on the authority of private letters, that the Governor had yielded to the entreaties of Mr. Graham.

LOOKING THE DOORS OF RAILWAY CARRIAGES. In the individual, partial paralysis of the brain evidences itself by weakness at the extremities. In an extreme case, when the patient loses all his aggregations of individuals, where the central ruling power, the head, or by whatever name it may be called, is weak in conception and fulfillment of the duties devolving upon it.

THE CHOLERA PANIC IN SICILY. The ignorance of the Sicilians on the subject of the dreaded epidemic now prevalent in some parts of Italy, is a subject of some interest. The Florence correspondent of the Daily News says:—People are described as rushing madly about in all directions entirely absorbed in the subject of the preventive measures.

LOSS OF LIFE ON THE THAMES.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

LOSS OF LIFE ON THE THAMES.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

LOSS OF LIFE ON THE THAMES.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

LOSS OF LIFE ON THE THAMES.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

LOSS OF LIFE ON THE THAMES.—On Saturday a man named Bryan Sullivan, while going down the river in a skiff towards St. Katherine's Dock, got aboard the bows of a ship in a tier off Irongate-stairs, and while standing up on the bows, he was struck by the bows of a large steamer.

CHOLERA AND ITS HISTORY.

THE WORK has been full of pleasure, readers of the Standard are assured. The article upon Cholera, and its history, is a most interesting and valuable contribution to our knowledge of the disease.

THE VISIT OF THE EMPEROR OF THE FRENCH TO THE QUEEN OF SPAIN. Our readers have seen that we were rightly informed respecting the visit of the Emperor and Empress of the French to Queen Victoria and Prince Albert.

ANOTHER APPALLING TRAGEDY. Three Children Murdered by their Mother in Southwick. About three o'clock on Wednesday morning great consternation was occasioned in the neighbourhood of Southwick, Southwick, by a rumor of a triple murder.

EXAMINATION OF THE PRISONER. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

CHOLERA AND ITS HISTORY.

THE WORK has been full of pleasure, readers of the Standard are assured. The article upon Cholera, and its history, is a most interesting and valuable contribution to our knowledge of the disease.

THE VISIT OF THE EMPEROR OF THE FRENCH TO THE QUEEN OF SPAIN. Our readers have seen that we were rightly informed respecting the visit of the Emperor and Empress of the French to Queen Victoria and Prince Albert.

ANOTHER APPALLING TRAGEDY. Three Children Murdered by their Mother in Southwick. About three o'clock on Wednesday morning great consternation was occasioned in the neighbourhood of Southwick, Southwick, by a rumor of a triple murder.

EXAMINATION OF THE PRISONER. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

THE PRISONER'S HISTORY. The prisoner was brought into the Southwick Police-office on the night of the murder. He was a man of her three children already named. She was decently attired, but evidently in a weak state of health, and wearing a green shade over her eyes.

