FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 22, 1865.

THE FALL OF URUGUAYANA.

Public rejoicing was yesterday at its height, the long wished-for news of the fall of Uruguayana being known at an early hour, even before the arrival of the steamer which was bearer of the glorious announcement. The echoes of a victorious salute from the batteries of Martin Garcia were borne across the placid waters of La Plata, and struck upon the ears of our citizens while seated at the breakfast-table. At 11 o'clock the Capitania hoisted all its bunting in acknowledgement of the aforesaid signal of the fall of Uruguayana, and crowds of men of every class of life hastened towards the mole as the news was spread abroad that the steamer Buenos Ayres was in sight.

A rocket was discharged from the beach at 11.30, and its effect was at once visible in the congregation at the Cathedral, most of the people leaving the rare ceremony of a Bishop's consecration, to run down to the Capitania. Here the azotea was crowded with anxious spectators, glass in hand, who could now discern the little steamer entering port, all covered with flags. The Sala de Comercio, Paseo Julio, and mole, soon were crowded, and presently the Buenos Ayres fired two shots as a salute, being responded to by the Brazilian corvette. Afterwards the Gas-house battery also fired a salute, and large supplies of rockets having arrived at the Policia, a feu de joie was begun in the Plaza Victoria.

Argentines and foreigners seem equally gratified at the happy tidings, and few cared to enquire about details, preferring to congratulate each other on the one important fact that Uruguayana had fallen, and with it the whole power of the Paraguayans on the Uruguay, or left wing of their extended operations.

The joy could hardly be greater if the war were completely terminated, and as it was understood that the place had surrendered without firing a shot so much more satisfaction was felt that the victory had been a bloodless one.

By the hour at which we write (2 p.m.) the steamer has just anchored, but we have not yet learned the particulars, which, however, we will give in full in another column. For the present we merely offer our warmest congratulations to the Government, people, and foreign residents, on this signal triumph of the cause of right and progress, hoping it is the precursor of still greater victories and of a speedy termination of the war.

GLORIOUS NEWS.

SURRENDER OF URUGUAYANA.

LEONIDAS OUTDOING.

Yesterday the steamer Buenos Ayres decked with flags from bow to stern, entered port with our diplomatic editorial friend Dn. Hector Varela on board, bringing the news of the fall of Uruguayana, the surrender of Estigarribia, and all his extra heroic men. Not a shot fired, not a gun discharged. The moment the allies took up a position round the town and began placing their guns for the attack, the Paraguayan Leonidas who it appears was living two days on muscovado sugar, showed the white feather; he sent a despatch to President Mitre announcing that he was disposed to treat. President Mitre sent no answer; he then, bursting with an enthusiasm for a peaceful negotiation, sent despatches to the Emperor, who at once replied, demanding the unconditional surrender of the garrison, Leonidas, alias Estigarribia, replied that he was ready if not to fight to surrender—noha words!

At 4 p.m. on the afternoon of the 18th (the day the Boca Railway was inaugurated) he hauled his sword to the Emperor, his men marched out of the town without their arms and were at once drafted into the allied regiments and numbered from 6 to 7,000 men.

History will bear witness to the fact that this renowned Paraguayan Leonidas and his men subsisted on nothing but sugar, which was one of the principal causes of so sweet a conclusion to this memorable siege.

SURRENDER OF ESTIGARRIBIA.

FULL DETAILS.

The garrison surrendered at 4 p.m. on the 18th, without having fired a shot. The allies had approached to within musket-range of the trenches when Estigarribia sent a flag of truce, declaring he would surrender, and invoking the clemency of the conquerors: his men were quite exhausted with hunger, and were immediately drafted into the allied ranks.

The Brazilian Minister of War, Baron Ferraz, writes to Sr Octaviano, envoy at B. Ayres, as follows:

Uruguayana, Sept. 18th 8 p.m.
 "To-day we entered Uruguayana. On General Mitre's arrival, Estigarribia sent offering him terms, but received no reply. Conferences were soon entered into between the allies, and the plan of attack arranged, when the garrison should be summoned to surrender. We took up the positions assigned, without any resistance, and also planted our 42 pieces of cannon: at noon precisely the last summons was given, the Emperor being close at hand and Baron Port Alegre, myself, and staff, a little in advance. The Baron in person delivered the summons, in name of the allies, giving the enemy two hours for a reply: it came in these terms—1st. That from sergeant downwards all the troops would deliver up their arms as prisoners of war. 2nd. That the officers should retain their swords and baggage and be permitted to go where they liked, to Paraguay or elsewhere. 3rd. That the Orientals become prisoners to the Brazilians.

"The Emperor and Generals then held a Council, in which it was resolved to grant the 1st and 3rd conditions, but as to the 2nd the officers must give up their arms, and go where they like, except to Paraguay. I was deputed to give this reply by word of mouth, and on reaching the trenches met Estigarribia and Salvañac to whom I delivered the reply. As they required it in writing, I sat down to a little table and signed in name of the allied Generals, at 2.30 p.m. They consulted for half an hour, and then gave in their adhesion. I then invited Estigarribia, Padre Duarte, and Salvañac to accompany me to the Emperor; and ordered Baron Port Alegre to arrange for the disarming of the garrison and surrender of war-materials. I presented my three comrades to His Majesty, and soon after the enemy's force, rank and file, passed through our camp laying down their drums, which lasted till midnight. Their total force numbered 5,103 men: not one escaped. Duarte, Estigarribia, and Salvañac are safe on board. Uruguayana, although sacked and burned, is at last ours."

If the garrison had not surrendered it was resolved to storm the place at the point of the bayonet, but the allies had advanced their columns to within 200 yards of the town, while Baron Ferraz and Estigarribia were arranging terms.

It seems incredible the garrison could be suffering such hunger, since letters dated three days previous speak of large troops of horses and some oxen grazing near the river.

We are indebted to the 'Nacion Argentina' for the above interesting letter: the other papers also published bulletins with details to the same effect.

CONSECRATION OF DR. GELABERT.

THE NEW BISHOP OF PARANA.

The impressive ceremonial of the consecration of a new bishop took place yesterday at the Cathedral, pursuant to the Bulls received from Rome nominating Dr. Gelabert to the vacant see of Parana. At 11 o'clock a large and respectable congregation, mostly composed of ladies, filled the nave of the church, and the sacred rites were begun by the Bishop of Buenos Ayres, Dr. Escalada, assisted by the Chapter, at the high altar, which was decorated with much taste.

On the right was the episcopal chair and opposite this a throne for the new prelate, the intermediate space being occupied by the Canons, and below the communion-rail were three chairs for the Governor and Ministers, and double rows of seats for invited guests, among whom we noticed Messrs. Llavallol, Frias, Rams, Cazon, etc. The Governor did not attend, and the only civil dignitary present was Dr. Costa, Minister of worship, who acted as 'Padrino,' or sponsor, for the new prelate. The walls of the church were draped in yellow and cloth of gold, and an efficient choir occupied the gallery.

The ceremony was very long, but interesting. The Rev. Canons Piñero and Palacios wore mitres, by special permission, as three bishops usually assist at consecrations. Dr. Escalada wore a magnificent suit of vestments, with jewelled mitre, and invested Dr. Gelabert with the episcopal crozier, ring, pectoral cross and other insignia. The profession of faith, kiss of peace, anointing with blessed oil, presentation of bread and wine, and various other rites incidental to the consecration, were performed with the due solemnity. The Pope's Bull was read by one of the acolytes.

As soon as Dr. Gelabert ascended to his chair we had an opportunity of getting a full view of him. He is apparently about 45 years of age, medium height, good carriage, and open countenance; the predominant expression of his face is meditative, blended with suavity, and fully accords with the accounts of his life and character which we received from reliable sources. He was born in Santa Fé and received his earliest education in the convent of San Lorenzo, coming afterwards to B. Ayres. Of late years he has been Cura of the Matriz church in S. Fé, and has always earned a reputation of high integrity, morality and zeal.

The see of Parana has been vacant over 3 years, and there being no chapter, the care of the diocese was entrusted to Dr. Vidal (lately deceased). Dr. Gelabert was proposed by Government and accepted by the Holy See, and the election is unanimously ratified by the public of the diocese.

It is 6 years since a consecration took place before, in this city, the last being the Franciscan Father Aldasor, now Bishop of Cuyo.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday was an exciting day in Buenos Ayres. The Montevideo steamer arrived early, but just about breakfast time the booming of cannon from Martin Garcia, was distinctly heard. Shortly after the beach and mole were crowded, and flags were run up at the Capitania. "Uruguayana had surrendered." The Argentine war steamer Buenos Ayres was a fearfully long time coming up—at last she anchored, the rush on board was terrific. The first man who landed from the steamer was D. Hector Varela, who with his flying Printing-Office on board had been busy all the voyage printing his 'boletines' by the thousand.

Never before do we recollect such a day in Buenos Ayres. In some of the leading English houses champagne was served out 'ad libitum.' It was a day of universal rejoicing. The Government, responding to the general wish to communicate the news to the sister city of Montevideo at once, placed the steamer at the orders of the talented Oriental Consul: she went down last night, with the Consul on board, and took a mail.

The Ibiicy is due this morning from Parana and Santa Fé, but we have received so much good news by the steamer yesterday that no one will care to hear from those sleepy localities known as Rosario and Parana.

The steamer 'Uruguay' from Montevideo arrived early yesterday. Great preparations are going on down there to celebrate the news of the fall of Uruguayana; extra gas-lamps put up, and electric lights to shine from every corner of the city, fireworks of every description in great demand: out at the Cordon they talk of erecting an illuminated Statue of General Flores, on horse-back with Estigarribia on his knees handing him the keys of the town.—Paraguayan yerba is falling rapidly. The American war steamer Mohonga will require some 25 days at least to repair the damage she suffered in the late storm. An acrobatic company is expected hourly in Montevideo; it is said to be first class and will completely eclipse the far famed Lees Brothers. The North Americans are busy signing an album to send to President Johnson: it has already received many signatures.

We hear that Mr. Dubbille, a highly respectable Frenchman has suddenly lost his senses: he went to the Ladies bazaar and wanted to buy the whole stock; up he also frequented several auctions, bid down every one, and bought everything, at of course the most extravagant prices; he has been sent by his friends to the country where it is hoped he will recover.

The Stromboli has gone down with a diver on board to have a look at the Bombay. We fear, however, that it is rather late; the machinery is buried in the mud, which once disturbed renders all the efforts of the divers ineffectual.

The great question about the property of mines, whether belonging to the Province or the Nation, has been by common assent postponed until the next meeting of Congress. The great objection to allow the Provincial Governments to have any jurisdiction over mines is the progressive system of taxation which is going on in this country; the nation alone should own the mines in this country, as otherwise some insignificant Governor of some still more insignificant province might, whenever he thought fit, impose some country tax which would completely put a stop to all mining operations. We hope, therefore, Congress will take our view of the matter as otherwise the mining interests in the country would be worthless.

The Chilean banquet at the Roma Hotel seems to have been a very grand affair, splendid speeches, toasts &c. We are glad to perceive that the memory of the great O'Higgins was not forgotten. Our Foreign Affairs Minister made a splendid speech on the occasion.

The ceremony of consecrating the new Bishop of Parana took place yesterday in the presence of a crowded and fashionable congregation. Dr. Costa, the Minister of Education, acted as sponsor for the new Bishop, and at the conclusion of the interesting ceremony gave a grand 'dejeuner a la fourchette' to the Bishop of Buenos Ayres, the Bishop of Parana, the canons of the church, and several other distinguished personages. The new Bishop will shortly leave for Parana.

We notice that a new Paraguay paper has been started in Itumayta. It is filled with Government orders, decrees, and accounts of victories. We suppose the commander of the fortress is the editor. The surrender of Uruguayana must cause intense excitement in Paraguay, and we ardently hope will lead to a prompt termination of the war.

The steamer Tala we hear is all right again. She will leave for San Nicolas to-day. She is a nice commodious boat, and passengers who have travelled in her are loud in their praise of the treatment which they receive on board.

In a certain house in the Calle Maypu the other night three men, accompanied by an officer, entered and created the greatest disturbance. The police, as a matter of course, were nowhere to be found, and the whole neighbourhood was thrown into the greatest alarm.

Gen. Urquiza embarks his infantry on board the Rio de la Plata on Sunday morning—he threatens to punish several Entre Riano malefactors. The infantry are, it appears, in a mutinous humour, for they go about the streets of the town shouting out hostile vivas, etc., and announce that if the cavalry does not march they will 'skedaddle.'

We read with pleasure that when Mr. Thornton arrived at Concordia he was received by the authorities with the greatest attention, and supplied an escort and coach. Respecting the accident said to have happened, we believe that it was greatly exaggerated, and but a mere 'contretemps' of lauding.

Estigarribia, it is said, has shot Duarte, the 'cura' who was in Uruguayana along with him, for trying to tamper with his men and come to terms. We confess we can hardly credit this story, although it is generally believed.

Governor Saavedra has ordered to be paid $143,000 mpc out of the Provincial treasury to the Municipality of Chivilcoy, for the purpose of concluding the school-house in course of erection in that town.

Paul Jullien will give his last concert in Buenos Ayres on Sunday night at Colon. We have no doubt the house will be crowded.

So enamored are the residents of Rojas with General Mitre, who has been so long military commander at that place, that they purpose presenting him with a gold medal.

Nicanor Caceres, the heroic Correntino officer, who at every point, on every river and hill top, makes such heroic stands against the Paraguayans, thinks with reason, that the allies are too long about Uruguayana.

The Justice of the Peace of San Vicente has sent in $9,035 as subscriptions for the months of May, June, July, and August for the war. The other judges seem to have forgotten all about these monthly subscriptions.

The 3d Regiment of the National Guards in the town has been called out. On Sunday the men belonging to this regiment must attend at the Retiro barracks.

Our quondam colleague, Colonel Kean, leaves on Saturday for Concordia. His regiment has been well drilled, is in effective order, and looks well. We wish the regiment the best of luck, and hope to see them soon return covered with glory.

Dn. Bernardo Calderon has resigned the post of judge of the Balvanera parish. Sr. Dn. Emiliano Coria has been named in his place.

The Government of the province has subscribed $35,000 towards the new cemetery in South Barracas. Governor Saavedra deserves every praise for the very liberal donations which his Government has given to all deserving enterprises.

The Exhibition Committee meets frequently, and we are happy to say seems to be going the right way to work; circulars are about to be sent all over the country. If no agent in Europe has as yet been named we would suggest the indefatigable Mr. E. B. Neill of London, who gained such a successful position for the products of the Banda Oriental at the last London exhibition. Mr. Neill has for many years been closely connected with the River Plate, and we would suggest to the Committee that they at once appoint him as their agent in Europe.

We are glad in being able to state on the information of Consul Hutchinson that his work "Buenos Ayres and Argentine Gleanings" is achieving a steady sale in London. The Consul has received by this month's mail, the bill of 300 copies of his work, which were put on board the Arche, Captain Pien, sailing from London for Monte Video and Rosario, and for the sale of which subscriber's names will be taken at the 'Standard' office. As the Arche left at the end of July, we may expect the book out by the first of next month.

THE NEW BRITISH MINISTER.

Edwardes, Hon. Richard, was employed in the Foreign-office from the autumn of 1826 to January 5, 1827, when he was appointed to a Clerkship, which post he held till August 17, 1832; was appointed Attaché to the Embassy at St. Petersburg, October 6, 1838; acted as Private Secretary to the Marquis of Clanricarde until Aug. 23, 1841, when he was named Paid Attaché at Berlin; was appointed first Paid Attaché to the Embassy at St. Petersburg, October 28, 1841; was transferred to Paris, June 3, 1847; was Charge d'Affaires from March 21 to 29, and from May 21 to 23, 1849; from July 1 to 20, and from August 12 to September 11, 1850; was appointed Secretary of Legation at Frankfurt, December 2, 1851; was Charge d'Affaires from December 23, 1851 to March 12, 1852; from June 15 to 28, 1853; from December 6, 1853, to March 16, 1854; from November 12 to 28, 1854; from March 12 to April 30, 1856; and from November 23, 1857 till January 27, 1858; was transferred to Madrid July 8, 1859; was Charge d'Affaires from May 29 till October 13, 1860; from April 6 to July 12, 1861; and from April 7 to September 10, 1863; was appointed Chargé d'Affaires and Consul-General at Caracas, May 30, 1864, and named to succeed Mr. Thornton as British Plenipotentiary at Buenos Ayres, in August 1865.

MONTVIDEO.

Montevideo, Sept. 20, 1865.

Here we are vegetating in an atmosphere of somnolent calmness, without anything sensational to wake us up, except now and then the report of a letter—announcing the fall of Uruguayana, or a capitulation of the garrison being about to be realized—having been received by one of the Ministers, or Señora de Flores, or in the printing office of the 'Tribuna.'

But as the acryphal characters of these mysterious letters become evident, these false stimulants to the public interest cease to excite attention.

Everyone, however, talks about Uruguayana, and the probability of soon hearing of its surrender to the allied armies. Considerable bets have been made in certain quarters, and a number of boxes of cigars, bats, and even champagne breakfasts are depending on the event.

The Chief of Police, Señor Aguiar, is progressing favorably considering the serious extent of his wounds.

A new Italian bank is about to be started with a reputed paid up capital of a million dollars. The gentlemen who are endeavoring to float this new monetary adventure are for the most part Italian and men of capital and position in town.

Though I would not for a moment have it thought that your correspondent is illiberal enough to refuse to welcome with pleasure any new comer that may increase the competition that must on the other hand sooner or later make itself felt in a way favorable to the general public, yet I can hardly believe that the present enterprise of the Italian Bank, even under the auspices of Signor Barbolani, and other influential parties, will succeed in doing a very extensive business. There are doubts even entertained by some timorous speculators as to the possibility of floating the undertaking in the midst of so many popular rivals. The present moment seems hardly an opportune one for launching an enterprise of this kind, but there may be reasons for doing so which are not generally known and may not be wanting in force. What seems clear is, that banking is getting into vogue amongst us, and perhaps the comparative novelty of the business may have something to do with its present prosperity, for it is certain that we are now entering on what may justly be styled the 'Banca-mania' era. As the history of all countries is more or less alike, and cause is governed by the same rules, whereby similar effects are produced, we may reasonably suppose that this banca-mania may, possibly, be carried too far among us. The results, whatever they may be, whether favorable or not, must ultimately make matters find their proper level, but in the present restless state of the public mind, the extension of banking with us may well give rise to abuses and alarms quite independent of the banks.

An action for libel, in the case of Alvarez v. Bayce, was brought before a jury yesterday, and the award was given in favor of the complainant. The case was one of simple calumny, and the charge preferred by Sr. Cayetano Alvarez (ex Uefe Politico of Paysandú), and well supported by his counsel. Dr. Ramirez manifested that the defendant had written a correspondence to the 'Epoca,' in which Sr. Alvarez was charged with malversation of public moneys!

In spite of all the protestations of the counsel for the defence, the utter absence of proofs, and the tergiversations of the defendant, established in the most satisfactory manner the falsity of the accusation. The defendant was consequently condemned to one month's imprisonment and payment of costs.

I notice this matter because though it is true that there is too much immunity for crime amongst us, yet at the same time the immoral practice of blackening the character of innocent persons with us has become so widely disseminated, owing to the impunity which its grossest manifestations oftentimes meet, that a good example of rigorous punishment for such inauferrable absent in likely to prove very beneficial to the community at large.

 Sr. Ruanco, the auctioneer, sold yesterday 10,000 sheep; the property of the late Mr. Geddes, in various lots from 15 rls to 2 patacons.
 The sales were as follows:—3,000 at 15 rls; 1,400 do. 16½ rls; 2,000 do. 19½ rls; 2,450 do. 2 patacons; 1,300 very fine mestizas at 26 rls.
 The principal purchaser, I believe, was the gentleman who has charge of Sr. Jackson's estancia. The quality of the sheep, judging from the wool, is very good mestiza.

THE REBELLION IN PERU.

On July 21st General Rios left Lima with his division, 2 batts. infantry and 1 reg. cavalry, for the Hacienda Zavala, 2 leagues distant. The rebellion gained ground in the northern provinces. Don Leonidas Echaandia left Trujillo, with a large rebel force, for Huarás. The citizens of Huacho named Don Juan Balta as provisional Governor to keep in check the bands of free-booters: his army numbers 3,000 men, and maintains the rebel power in the North. The army of the South is marching on Lima, to overturn President Pezet.

The fleet which had mutinied in favor of the rebels, consisting of 4 steamers, was about to leave Arica with troops and attempt to blockade Callao, if the Spaniards let them. The garrison at the Chinese Islands had mutinied. President Pezet had received the special Spanish Commissary in great state at Lima.

NEWS FROM CHILE.

We have files of the 'Mercurio' to August 14th, and glean the following: The census of the Republic has just been made up, shewing the total population to amount to 1,793,676, or an increase of 400,000 since 1854 [about 30 per cent]: this does not include 10 per cent of the whole number usually allowed for persons omitted, which would bring the population close up to two millions.

Two new railways have been commenced this month: that from Tongoy to the Tamoya mines is in the hands of Mr. Meiggs, to be concluded in 18 months, all the capital [820,000] having been subscribed in Valparaiso, and Mr. Charles Hillman having already commenced the works. The other will run from Chafñal to Las Animas with branch-lines to Salado and Montenegro: Mr. Stevenson has the concession, for 30 years.

The British gunboat Columbine arrived from Callao, in 26 days. The Italian frigate Principe Humberto left Valparaiso for the former port on Aug. 4th, being accompanied out of port by a steamer chartered by the Italian residents, with band of music, and hoisting the Chilean and Italian flags.

The British brig 'Adieu' was wrecked shortly after leaving Tomé for Australia, with flour: crew saved, cargo and vessel lost.

The steamer Limeña from Liverpool and Montevideo arrived on the 7th, having made the trip to Valparaiso from England in 30 days 23 hours [not counting 7 days stoppage] beating even the Payta: her average speed was 12 miles per hour.

Messrs. Dartnell & Co. have received a concession for steam-navigation on Lake Llanquihue, with a subsidy of 4,800$ per annum. Mr. William C. Biggs is constructing a grand bathing establishment at Valparaiso: it will have coffee-rooms, reading saloon &c. attached.

A lawyer named Burboa has been imprisoned for 40 days, for failing, on the plea of ill-health, to attend the Governor in the weekly visit to the prisons.

Sor Vicuña McKenna has commenced agitating the cultivation of Paraguayan yerba mate in Chile.

The small-pox plague continues; last Lazzaretto report shews 192 patients.

The Spanish war-steamer Marques Victoria left Valparaiso for Callao on the 13th. The Peruvian Consul-general at Valparaiso has been dismissed by his Government.

LATEST FROM AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND, VIA CHILE

The British brig Alfred Ray arrived in Valparaiso from Auckland, in '37

'New Zealand Herald,' June 30th says the flour market has steadily declined during the month in consequence of the arrival of five cargoes. Nominal quotation £20, but large transactions could not be effected even at this price. The Annie Mathilde sold at £18, and the other cargoes are unsold, fresh arrivals being daily expected.
 The 'Daily Southern Cross,' June 24th brings news from Sydney to the 18th. Markets very dull, and much confusion caused by the non-arrival of the mails from England, which paralyzed business. Two cargoes of flour had arrived from Chile, and small lots for daily use fetched £20, prices declining owing to late arrivals. Dates from Melbourne to June 10th say there was neither wheat nor flour on hand. From Adelaide, to June 5th, we learn that the South American news by Anglo-Saxon had a depressing effect, large arrivals of wheat and flour being expected.

We have taken the above from the 'Mercurio,' Aug. 11th, and the dates are 75 days later than those via England.

REJOICINGS IN THE CAMP.

Partido de Salto, September 15th, 1865. To the Editors of the 'Standard.' Gentlemen,—

I was of the opinion, some time ago, that the 'Standard' should have to be enlarged, so as to contain the news of all the victories gained by the allies up the Uruguay, and that a few lines from a bad hand and inferior capacity would not find a space in its columns.

But not having heard any particulars of late from that quarter, I send you a little of the good news we have got outside.
 The rain has come at last, and at so favorable a season that we feel as much rejoiced as the people of the Fortin de Areco did at the victory of Yatahy. It commenced here on the morning of the 13th, and continued unceasingly till 2 o'clock p.m., without any wind to disturb the tranquillity of the sheep or the shepherd. It has left the cañadas and lagunas overflowing, and has removed our fears of having to draw water, till after our shearing is completed.

We had all through the past season abundance of grass and all kinds of stock in prime condition, and count a handsome increase. According to the accounts from other quarters, and what I have read in the 'Standard' from your correspondent, the sheep in this neighborhood have done remarkably well. I can say without exaggeration that all the sheep in the hands of Englishmen, which have been properly cared, have yielded from 30 to 40 per cent. signaled lambs. I estimate the average amount of signaled lambs in this partido not to be less than from 34 to 36 per cent; this is counting lambs signaled up to the 1st of Sept., as from that date we calculate on our second lambing commencing, which we also expect to be good.

Now I should like to know on what grounds do many of your correspondents argue that sheepfarming does not pay now-a-days, and consequently, sheep and land must fall in value. They must be either unacquainted with the business, or they live on bad camps, or what is more probable than either, and which is too often the case, they pay a man to mind their sheep, and neither man nor master does so if either of these reasons exist, their calculation is easily accounted for.

But these opinions, of perhaps inexperienced people, carry with them but little weight, and here, where sheepfarming, whether on rented camp or otherwise, has paid this last year—though bad it was—from 20 to 24 per cent. per annum on capital invested, allowing sheep to be worth 40$ the cut. Your correspondent from the 25 de Mayo, made a very excellent remark in his letter, and it would prove a sovereign antidote, to would-be sheepfarmers, to expel the fever they have lately taken of investing capital in the upper provinces, which has already proved so ruinous to many. He says the man that cannot invest his capital in Buenos Ayres had better not invest it at all. Of all the Argentine and the other provinces, I consider Buenos Ayres the best for foreigners, and if there be any difference between one and the other, I imagine we find best had enough for any of us to live in, but I consider Buenos Ayres decidedly entitled to the preference. The camps are better, the people more enlightened, and there is more protection for life and property, which I imagine is chiefly owing to our numbers and proximity to each other. We have our local clergy, and our English races; we have the invincible 'Standard,' that gives us all the latest news from all parts of the globe, and last, though not least, we have plenty of fat sheep, which, if we cannot sell to butchers, we can erect boilers and melt down for the grease.

 These are only a few of the many advantages we enjoy in Buenos Ayres. But these, and many others I could name, are circumstances which seldom or never find their way to the consideration of intending sheepfarmers, who generally, on their arrival in this country, trust to the advice of people that perhaps know just as much about sheepfarming as they do themselves. If these gentlemen would only make inquiries in the right place, and of the right people, they would find how few men of practical experience leave Buenos Ayres to invest in land and sheep elsewhere. They rather choose to pay one million dollars per league here than get a league for the one-twentieth of the amount elsewhere.
 Now my opinion is that land must and will rise in value for the simple reason that sheep must be supplied with camp sufficient to maintain them, and so long as sheepfarmers can make the business pay 20 or 24 per cent., I think we can with safety advance the price of land still higher than it is at present.

People have also told me that they have bought prime sheep for 25 or 30$ per head, but I doubt the truth of this, and I believe if any sheep have sold at this price it must be under some peculiar circumstances, or that the sheep sold have been so arranged as to leave in the end the speculation an unprofitable one.

 Cash sales, 25,776.

The glorious news of the fall of Uruguayana, without the firing of a shot, asphyxiated the 'bulls,' and gave an instantaneous downward tendency to specie. Patacons opened weak and improved some five centimos, simply because there was no one to sell. Half the brokers were on the Molo-head at the closing hour. Business was almost temporarily suspended: no orders: no financial conversations as to the future of the dollar. All were intent on the news from the seat of war. For Saturday, 55,600 were sold at 26.15, and for the end of the month 247,000 at 26.10. For the end of the year patacons sold at the same price.
 National Bonds were stiff; 2,000 sold for the 15th of October at 43.
 In Exchange the rate is the same. The River Plate Bank drew heavily to-day: there are few drawers, but takers are abundant. The shipbrokers were so intent on the war news, that no maritime transactions of any importance were effected.
 The Boca Railway continues doing a good business: each day the traffic increases. On Wednesday 400 tickets were sold: on to-day the number is still higher. We are pleased to see the business of this road so rapidly increase, and feel confident, when open to the Barraca-bridge, this line will do an enormous business.
 Another new bank is on the 'tapis.' Sr. Barbolani, the Italian Minister, is the originator. The bank will be an Italian Joint-Stock Company, and have two offices, one in Montevideo and the other in Buenos Ayres; capital, one million duros. We hardly think there is room for so many banks.

 76 San Martin 76.

To the Gentlemen Estancieros.
 We beg to inform, that about the middle of next month Messrs. Rosen Hopman and Co. will receive a magnificent lot of 69 pure blood Negretti rams. They are taken from 5 of the most celebrated flocks of Germany, and some of them were exhibited and obtained prizes at the last grand exhibition of Stettin.
 The best recommendation we can give to the gentlemen estancieros is, that these animals are selected by the highly intelligent Mr. Alfred Rosenthal, and the description received of these rams, that amongst them are specimens of great value, possessing in the highest degree density and fineness of fleece as the pure Negretti type in the shape of the body. As soon as the ship "Ludwig," that sailed from Antwerp the 5th of August, will arrive we shall advertise the public sale for the space of 14 days.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAUÁ AND CO.

No. 108 Calle de Cangallo, BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantage of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the two great capitals of the River Plate...

The Bank of Mauá and Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.

The sum deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions...

The Bank of Mauá and Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city...

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mauá and Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles...

The Bank of Mauá and Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.

Buenos Ayres, September 19, 1863.

P. P. Mauá and Co. WILLIAM LESLIE

CONDITIONS.

First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency Silver Dollar upwards.

Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p c) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.

Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.

Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes, can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.

Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
