CONGRESS.

PROSECUTION OF THE DEPUTIES.

SECOND DAY'S SPEECHES.

GREAT CROWD AND EXCITEMENT.

At 1 o'clock yesterday the House was densely packed with an anxious and well-dressed multitude, showing that the interest in the 'Star Chamber' debate against the Deputies Ocampo and Sarmiento has arrived at a high pitch.

President Urriburu took his seat, the Deputies walked in, and the Secretary began the usual reading of documents, one of which excited a lively interest as being an intimation to the National Government as to secret clauses said to be attached to the Triple Alliance Treaty.

The order of the day being entered on, Deputy Ocampo proceeded to reply to the speech of D. Montes de Oca junr., of last Monday—He said—It is with great pleasure I return him the compliment he paid me for forensic talent, but I have still more to thank him for the arguments he unwittingly threw into my hands.

the Constitution gives me a right to emit my ideas, you cannot take it from me, you cannot constitute this Chamber into a court for offences, against liberty of the Press. If you do, you will open a door for your own dissolution, you will choke the free utterance of opinion both in and out of this House, and gag the minority of honest, fearless members of the opposition.

Dr. Velez again inflicted on the public a long and rambling speech about dissecting articles of the constitution, about the Americans being a remarkably fine people both in making war and making laws, about the anguish he personally suffered in advocating the expulsion of two of his colleagues, and as the Spaniards say, "muchas otras yerbas."

GREAT EDITORIAL VICTORY.

THE GOVERNMENT-HOUSE AND THE "STANDARD" OFFICE. Our subscribers will learn with astonishment, mingled with pleasure, that the National Government has taken the large house next the Standard Office in Calle Belgrano, for its pro. tem. residence, during the repairs at the Fort.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Yesterday morning the first news received at our office, was the rumoured arrival of the Duke of Edinburgh in the Galata; we have no further particulars beyond those received per telegraph. If H. R. H. touches at Montevideo it is more than probable he will come up to Buenos Ayres.

We call the attention of Dr. Rawson to the brewer in Calle Bolivar who got burnt out, a few days previous to the Government-house catastrophe, and now has the building so far repaired that the new roof is all but finished, and we suppose next week he will be ready to recommence at Tennent's ale.

We would draw a very severe moral from the fact that offences of the most trivial nature never escape, and are severely punished, whilst crimes, the most revolting, pass with an impunity which is unequalled in any other land.

MONTEVIDEO.

June 18.

The French packet was detained three hours on the day of leaving by the French Admiral, who had just arrived from the Pacific, en route for France; the passengers quite out of patience; there were a good many passengers from Montevideo—every berth taken.

THE LUJAN ROBBERIES.

The lamentable state of the camp bewilders us. If the value of stock and prices of produce have declined owing to a terrible system of taxation which grinds the last farthing from the estancia and sheepfarmer; so also the utter impotence of the authorities, diminishes the securities for human existence, and deprives property of its rights.

patentes; the distinction is not called for, and auctioneers as a class should pay the same duties. The auction at Mr. Peltzer's realised fabulous prices. Everything sold high, and the house is considered to have been one of the best furnished in B. Ayres.

We call from the Montevidean correspondence of the Republic the following data, respecting the Paraguayan, which comes from a diplomatic quarter. Lopez regards Caxias as a better commander than General Mitre, inasmuch as the former will never fight. The works of the Paraguayans have been of the most prodigious nature, with sluices, bridges, &c. They are now finished, and regarded as impregnable.

To-day there will be a football match at Palermo: we believe it will be the first kick ever given in Buenos Ayres, and we understand that half town will be there if the weather proves favorable.

The splendid steamer Lujan after being beautifully fitted up, and on which since the time she has been in the Tigre there have been from twenty to thirty painters and gilders employed, will make her first voyage on Sunday next; this is really a beautiful steamer, and has accommodations equal to any boat in the river, if not superior; no expense has been spared to make her a floating palace of the first order.

THE NEW OPERA COMPANY.

We read in the Nacion that the Italian papers speak highly of our old friend Pestalardo, and mention his retirement from B. Ayres as a loss to the River Plate, in which we fully concur.

In justice however, to the new lessee, Sig. Perrone, we copy from the same colleague the following explanation of the disappointment he has sustained, causing annoyance both to himself and the public.

It seems that Sig. Perrone sent an agent to contract for a company in Europe, and the agent wrote to him two months since that the company was engaged, at the same time enclosing a copy of the contract with the names of the artists. He regretted that the company would miss the May festivals, but promised they should be in time for those of July.

band of 40 gauchos has been prowling about, stealing horses and sacking houses, and what is still worse the deposition of one of the robbers taken 'in flagrante delicto' is to the effect that the stolen horses are sold to the Government.

The charge is brought home by the evidence of one of the accomplices in the crime, and it behoves the Government to have the most searching enquiry into the whole matter, and a public example made of the parties who carry on this infamous trade.

The United States gunboat Wasp is reported in the papers to have left on Saturday morning at forty minutes past eleven for the interior of the rivers, destination supposed to be Rosario, Oriental. This will be the first visit of a man-of-war at that port.

A very brave act, which has been little noticed in the newspapers, took place about two weeks since. One of the officers of the British gunboat Lynnet, Mr. Johnston, gallantly saved the lives of several men who were wrecked by a schooner going ashore on the rocks at the Cerro; he swam among the rocks and rescued the poor fellows, who were lacerated by their bruises on the breakers. The schooner was dashed to pieces.

THE WAR IN THE NORTH.

LATEST FROM HEAD-QUARTERS.

June 14th.

At last it seems we are to emerge from the crystal that has covered us since the disastrous assault of Curupaity. Every preparation is being made for a grand attack, and we are only waiting the return of General Mitre. Officers and soldiers are eagerly expecting him. The lines are being gradually drawn closer, and the contractors have double-rations in readiness for the eventful day.

Lopez, as usual, celebrates the anniversaries of his defeats as glorious victories, and on the morning of the 11th the guns of Curupaity saluted the sunrise of the day of the Riachuelo. The Brazilian fleet soon joined the chorus, with grape and round-shot, but the effect of their guns is of course unknown.

NORTHERN RAILWAY OF B. AYRES COMPANY (LIMITED).

16, Throgmorton-street, London, April 18, 1867.

To his Excellency Sr. Dn. Norberto de la Riestra, Tweed Mount, Ventnor, Isle of Wight.

Dear Sir,

In reference to the mischievous and repeated mis-statements of Mr. Elborough, whose connection with this Company has been terminated by the Directors, I take the liberty of calling your Excellency's attention to a reply published in the Times of the 11th inst., with the sanction of the Board. As the object and characters of the authors of the various annoyances which have been directed against the present Board, are not so well known in Buenos Ayres as they are here, I also venture to request the esteemed favor of your directing the attention of his Excellency the Finance Minister to this letter, and of offering to him the following explanation of the principle upon which the last published revenue account of the Company was prepared.
