LATEST FROM CHASCOMUS.

Dear Sirs, I write in haste to let you know the truth that in this little town there are dying 12 or 14 a day...

Chascomus, Friday 10. Old Correspondent.

WALK! WALK! WALK! To the Editors of the Standard. Buenos Ayres, Jan. 9, 1867.

As I have seen several articles in your estimable journal giving advice to the public regarding the best method of avoiding cholera...

Should any one think he has any choleric symptoms, let him take a long walk by a long walk I mean forty to sixty squares...

If you can find room for these remarks you will much oblige Yours truly, GALEN.

PRESIDENT MITRE on the APPOACHING PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Yagu-Cué, Nov. 28, 1867. Dear Gutierrez, Your esteemed favor of the 18th inst. is at hand...

Your letter is divided into three parts, the first enclosing the three letters in order to bring before me the subject of elections and Presidential candidates...

And whilst these movements are known to me, movements that I have not wished either to promote or authorize, directly or indirectly...

I suppose that I might be this well intentioned man, I who have no personal ambition for, who have nothing to strive for, who have made no compromise with any man...

What do you propose by this? If your article is not merely personal abuse, as it is not in reality, you must be proposing for your object to make it impossible that Sarriento should be a candidate...

tions. To none of those who have spoken with me have I concealed what I thought respecting the general conditions that shall accompany the election and the person of the future President of the Republic...

My constant endeavor has been to prepare the country for a free Presidential election on the best possible terms, for the great national party, a party founded on principles...

Excess under these supreme conditions, the advantages are in favor of reactionary candidates, such as Urquiza and Alberdi, or contraband candidate, as Adolfo Alsina...

It is necessary then to work, and triumph with the truth of our principles, and with faith in them, by means analogous to the ends that we propose, in order that the Liberal party may continue to exist...

Thus, instead of displaying the flag of our party, the party has displayed three symbols, which will make the people agree upon that is to be inscribed on the pennant...

Under such conditions the liberal party deserves to be defeated, and well merited will be the defeat, if all that they know and can do, is to say all that they know and can do...

Responsible, up to a certain point, for the wanderings of a party that I believe to be in the last resort, to have I always given counsels in the sense that I do now—because I desire its triumph for the good of all...

I would imitate the example of Washington, the father of American democracy, who, because he loved liberty, and could not be suspected of wishing to curb it, could at the proper time point out a candidate to his fellow-citizens...

This would indeed be a transcendental policy, and as practical as that which I have before condemned, has the advantage of being bolder, more generous and more moral.

ment which would be unable to work good or repress evil. It is because, proceeding in this way we are closing the doors of a relative triumph only...

And, in order that nobody may remain in doubt as to the way in which I understand this, I will add, that in my programme, I take as a starting point, men like Elizalde, Sarriento, Rawson, &c., not even excluding D. Adolfo Alsina...

Instead of this logical simple and practical proceeding, which would insure triumph to the Liberal party, with this triumph the results to which we ought to aspire, and which in the worst case would form the men of liberty and principles into a powerful body capable of averting such dangers as may threaten...

The question put in this light you do not endeavor to resolve it, as the mathematician when he treats of a problem, but prefer the childish mode of guessing and you run in chase of names before you give any significance to the name...

Always yours, BARTOLOME MITRE.

MURRAY AND LANMAN'S FLOWRIDA WATER. It is a strange thing that this fine perfume, manufactured in New York for twenty years, for the South American and West Indian market, and esteemed by the entire population of Spanish America, above all other fragrant waters, should only recently have been introduced into this country...

ON CHANGE. January 11, 1867. Onnces 400. Sovereigns 125 1/2. Patacons 22. National Bonds 5 1/2.

The few transactions in Bonds to-day showed a declining market. Prices closed at 5 1/2, and this without any effort of the bears. Any large amount thrown on the market at present would send prices down to 4 1/2.

Discount brokers complain of the difficulty to obtain money for even the best bills in the market. The banks are doing nothing; capitalists, for the most part, out of town; trade is at a complete standstill...

On the 30th December, 1867, at his residence in this city, Mr. Thomas Powell, aged 55 years, a native of Leominster, Herefordshire, England, long resident in this country...
