The past fortnight has been another epoch of melancholy gloom, cholera has swept over the estancias with unheard severity, the whole province during those dark black days can only be compared to one vast cemetery, nothing of the kind having ever before been experienced in these countries.

The Rosario revolution, which in our last we noted as nearly extinguished by the rapid approach of the National forces, has, through a mistaken peace policy, survived longer than could have been anticipated, and, owing to the political bungling which prevails in these republics, only last week order was re-established by the surrender of the rebels to General Conesa.

Trade, commerce and business in general have been for the last two months completely paralyzed, nothing doing in any branch, save an increased demand for every species of mourning. The wool markets deserted, and nothing arriving from the camp, but thank Heaven we have survived all this.

It affords us sincere pleasure to assure our readers that at last things have improved with us. Some failures in the comestible line have taken place, but nothing of much importance; commercially speaking everything looks improved, and all fears of a crisis now dispelled.

quently it was arranged—through Mr. Hector Varela, who, since his arrival on the morning of thorrow, had laboured to give peace to his native city—that Fortunato Flores should leave the country. The unfortunate hero was put, with his officers, on board the Charrua on the same evening, thus ending the memorable three days row in Montevideo, February 6, 1868, which has brought increased disgrace on the River Plate.

The Paraguayan war still drags along, last advices report some efforts on the part of the Comander-in-Chief, Marshal Casias to change the base of operations, cut the Paraguayans off from their own country by a wider line from Itati to Tebicuari, and then hem the enemy in on the Humaita Peninsula; but the enemy displays as great activity as ever, and notwithstanding the statements of deserters and others as to the utter exhaustion of the Paraguayan army, the allies find that the slightest incautious move on their part, is at once taken advantage of by an enemy which they have more cause to fear than despise.

represented by these protectors of foreign property ashore must have looked upon them with pride. Our city papers are silent on passing events, and have not alluded to this disgraceful affair, probably, partly out of shame, and partly, perhaps, out of fear.

I received several numbers of the "Standard" yesterday from the Villa del Salto. I must correct some of the statements about the "revolution" in Montevideo in your number of Saturday, given to you by a passenger. In the first place, the foreign vessels who sent forces ashore were English, American, French, Italian, and Spanish. The Brazilians had nothing to do with it from beginning to end.

vituperations heaped upon the Chief Magistrate, were passed from hand to hand, read and admired with eager greediness. If Editors should be so foolhardy to speak thus of the authorities here, they would immediately be seized and taken to the calaboso, placed in solitary confinement without bail or mainprize, when after a sufficient time for reflection of their misdeeds, then hustled out of the Province without ceremony, and with an admonition to return no more.

The night before last the offices of the Central Railway were opened, and three safes systematically broken into, as well as all the drawers in the desk. Only two or three hundred dollars were got at. The large safe, which required seven or eight men to move, was removed from its place, and taken to the door, so that the burglars might benefit by the bright moon-light. Mr. Miranda's office and safe were also broken into the night before.

I remain, Gentlemen, Yours truly, CARCARASA.

THE SANTA FE REVOLUTION.

REBELS GIVE UP.

On Monday the steamer from Rosario arrived at the Tigre bringing the grateful intelligence that the rebels had succumbed, and the whole difficulty squashed up.

It is our pleasing duty to inform our readers that without further effusion of blood the Santa Fe revolution has terminated.

It would seem that although the rebels refused point blank to accept the terms proposed by Minister Costa, they subsequently intimated to Conesa their willingness to throw down their arms and return to their homes. The arms were to be delivered up to the legal authorities in the suburbs of Rosario.

the seat-of-war will be found in another column. There has been no move as yet, but Simbad's next letter will probably contain some stirring war news.

We have received nothing from Rosario, but in the Eco de Cordoba of the 7th, we see it stated that cholera had broken out in Catamarca, where twelve cases had already occurred.

Our readers will see on reference to our advertising columns that, the German Academy of Music announce a concert in the Coliseum for Friday 14th inst.

We are informed that Mr. Brookes concluded yesterday the sale of a large place in the Banda Oriental for the sum of £11,000. It has been bought by a company of new arrivals, which Mr. Brookes was instrumental in forming here. No stock is included in the sale, but negotiations, we understand, are going on for the same.

Parties desiring to establish themselves in the camp cannot do better than apply to Mr. Brookes, whose extensive connexion gives him great advantages for treating for the sale and purchase of camps and stock.

SUMMARY FOR THE FORTNIGHT.

THE STATE OF THE COUNTRY.

abusing each other, and filling the papers with long personal attacks, whilst the unfortunate people in the camp are dying...

There are many who think we ought to be silent on such topics, that such unpleasant facts should be hushed up, but we believe otherwise...

The decline of the River Plate is so marked, that we can only stem the tide by freely ventilating the subject, pointing to the evils which have led to what may be aptly termed national misfortune...

When comes it, therefore, that in this land which, up to the present, has been regarded as milk and honey, there is now naught save poverty and affliction?

Go ask the young foreigner, who a few years ago invested his capital in. Frayle Muerto lands, bought sheep and stock, and made a start.

Let it not be supposed that awful as has been the cholera visitation in the camp, the ruin of an agricultural interests can be attributed to it...

The real cause of the prostration of our sheepfarming and cattle-grazing interests, is to be found in the want of protection to the farmer, and the intolerable taxation carried on in this country.

Go ask the young foreigner, who a few years ago invested his capital in. Frayle Muerto lands, bought sheep and stock, and made a start.

is critical; they have no money, and their only means of living is by robbing the estancias. The consequence is, that they are turning into regular montoneros...

Mr. Hutchinson, the English Consul, goes down to Buenos Ayres to-day to recuperate a little; as his arduous labors during the revolution have had the effect of upsetting him a little.

It seems that the late authorities had no reason to lack that kind of courage vulgarly called "Dutch." On cleaning out the Gefatura, thirty-six dozen of empty bottles were found.

It appears to be a fact that some parties are inciting the Indians against the foreigners established there. The Government ought to take immediate steps in the matter.

Numbers of Patricio's men are coming over to the legal authority; and now that the gallant Colonel has not got it all his own way, the numerous friends of Mr. Ororio are enabled to show themselves.

It is difficult to treat coolly and dispassionately of a subject which positively passes the jurisdiction of satire. The last row in Montevideo is almost too disgraceful even to be discussed.

Our brain reels, at the contemplation of such unheard of woes, and with uplifted hands to heaven we ask in this civilized country!!!

Great God! has it come to this, that the whole population in the country must be swept away because the rulers are impotent?

THE SANTA FE REVOLUTION. REAL STATE OF ROSARIO. REBELS DEPARTING. Rosario, Feb. 2, 1868.

The readers of the "Standard" will scarce be satisfied if your correspondent does not keep them posted upon the affairs of Santa Fé, although since the advent of the legal Government there is very little material for a letter.

VERY LATEST. We take from the "Tribuna" telegram the following:— Fortunato bribed the guard at the Government House, and struck his father because the old man refused to continue as President and then took military possession of the place.

THE CALIFORNIA COLONY. HIGHLY IMPORTANT DETAILS. To the Editors of the "Standard." San Xavier, Province of Santa Fe, January 14, 1868.

YOUR ESTEEMED FAVOR OF November 15th was received a few days ago, having been a length of time on the road. I am much obliged for the letter which you forwarded to me, and for the list of books from Mackern's book store.

THE CALIFORNIA COLONY. The cholera at Santa Fe, and the revolution there also, have interrupted communications. I send this letter by a friend, who is going across the river, and will have it mailed at La Paz, in Entre Rios, a town in front of us, through eighteen miles distant.

I deem it superfluous to mention that we have game in abundance, and fish in fabulous quantities. Cotton grows well, and also hemp and tobacco.

I deem it superfluous to mention that we have game in abundance, and fish in fabulous quantities. Cotton grows well, and also hemp and tobacco.

MEETING OF U.S. CITIZENS. At an adjourned meeting of American citizens, held by invitation, at the United States Consulate, in the city of Buenos Ayres, Argentine Republic, on the afternoon of the 23rd of January, 1868...

THE CALIFORNIA COLONY. HIGHLY IMPORTANT DETAILS. To the Editors of the "Standard." San Xavier, Province of Santa Fe, January 14, 1868.

YOUR ESTEEMED FAVOR OF November 15th was received a few days ago, having been a length of time on the road. I am much obliged for the letter which you forwarded to me, and for the list of books from Mackern's book store.
