The riots in Ashton prove te have been of a very serious character. The Irish and the Murphyites made extensive preparations for the battle, arming themselves with bludgeons, and even revolvers. Not less than twentysix persons have been shot and injured in other ways, two of them daugerously. Many of the houses of the Irish have been completely sacked, and the furniture made into bonfires. and the windows and interior fittings of two Roman Catholic churches have been demolished. The rival mobs appear for two days to have had all their own way. Yesterday, special constables having beeen sworn in, affairs looked alarming.

Paris, May 14. To-day, in the, diplomatic reception of Baron Moustier, the language exchanged between the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the representatives of the other powers has a most favorable character for the preservation of general peace.

The new law of the press has been promulgated in Paris, and stuck up at the corners of the streets. It was reported that on the occasion of this promulgation the Emperor will give a general amnesty for all personal condemnations and fines relative to jour-

A telegram from Berlin says-"The French ambassador, M. Benedetti, was one of the first among the members of the diplomatic corps at Berlin who congratulated Lord Loftus on the capture of Magdala. News to the contrary are false.

PRUSSIA. It appears certain that the Prussian Government has been invited by the Cabinet of St. James to take part in the deliberations of the future Franco-Italio-English financial commission relative to the affairs of Tunis. The Cabinet of Berlin has accepted. It is known that several Frankfort brokers are very largely interested in the first Tunisian loan.

AUSTRIA. It is currently rumoured that Gallicia, or Austrian Poland, will soon be the object of a measure similar to the one adopted for Bohemia, by which it would recover its autonomy under the same conditions offered to the other great provinces of Austria, and accepted by them unreservedly. These dispositions of the Austrian Government would account for the emigration setting in from Russian and Prussian Poland to Gallicia.

I have heard it stated that we are to have a general assembly of the Guardia Nacional of Santa Fé on the 9th of July-something in imitation of the popular 'reuniones' of Entre-Rios.
