We may be to avoid a conflict with that power. The same national sacrifices, and the same glory, conquered with so much generous blood, impose on us the duty of maintaining, intact, the national honor and our rights.

It is necessary to prepare gradually the spirit of our officers, so that when the moment comes our men may not be impressed with the name of Great Britain, by which the enemy would try to frighten us.

For four long years have we fought against her unmistakable protection, and now we shall have to do but little more; the glory will be far greater.

We have sworn to defend to the last our political existence and our rights, or succumb in the effort; and probably God wishes once more to test our oath.

Timbo has not yet got any warning - but if it should happen, as I foresee, you must give the garrison due notice.

As to be hoped not, the British gunboat essays to force the pass, so as to oblige us to fire on her, and thus furnish cause for hostilities on our part.

London battery will follow suit, that for being the last to fire without ball - thus giving the final proof of moderation.

But if, in contempt of all this she should continue up stream, she shall not be allowed to go as far as the chain, when the battery, opening fire with shot and shell shall be the signal for all the guns to concentrate their fire on the vessel which shall thus have declared itself our enemy.

But if, on the other hand, the gunboat should obey the intimation, and only express a desire to see me, or reply such thing of the kind, you will reply that without authority you cannot open the pass, but that you will receive and forward to me whatever he may desire to send.

Nevertheless, I fear that this course will not suffice to meet the policy which this intimation forbodes, since our most ardent endeavors to preserve friendly relations have been insufficient to avert the present step, and that pursuing the course thereby revealed, the British flag will also be unfurled against us; if it should come to such a pass it will be our duty to accept the challenge, for such is the obligation imposed on us by the honor of our country, which above all it is our duty to save.

It may therefore happen that an English boat will appear in our waters, hostile to us like the enemies we are combating, despising the amicable tone of our reply, and then our duty will be marked out by this act.

When such does happen, you will be careful to explain to our men the new situation, so that our new enemy can not presume on his former position, but may be treated in the aforesaid relation.

As you may perceive, the note is dated seventeen days previous, from a place but two hours' journey from here, and was delivered a few days after the hostile army had received our advices from its Government about our movements on 21st ulto.

We know that these operations have not improved the enemy's position, and that his difficulties are even increasing. It is necessary to understand our internal and military position, if, as we have good reason to believe, the state of the Allies is little favorable to the prolongation of the campaign, which they cannot hope to conclude promptly, no doubt, the interference of England would be a cause of joy for some parties.

Great Britain has done us the honor to send a special agent, to observe all that passed between us in this rude war, probably because her representatives, from the first, have shown themselves hostile to us. Our relations with the resident foreign representatives are most friendly, and in some cases even decidedly sympathetic.

In a word, if England wishes to figure in the ranks of our enemies, in spite of all our endeavors, we shall receive her, confident as ever in protection of divine Providence, we trust with faith in its goodness, putting forth all the strength which we so well know how to employ, and which with greater determination and constancy than ever we will employ in future.

These provisions will serve for any analogous case.

If, as I have said, the British gunboat insists on coming up, and obliges us to an act of violence, or rather to repulse their's, very probably the enemy's ironclads will come up to her assistance, although it turns out that they only pick up her splinters; in such a case I am confident that you have everything in readiness, to give them the greatest possible blow.

In whatever other emergency there may offer, you will conform to the spirit of these and previous orders.

God preserve you many years, FRANCISCO S. LOPEZ.

ANOTHER CAMP MURDER.

LYNCH LAW WANTED.

Yesterday a merchant of this city received a letter from Ramallo, close to San Nicolas, (this Province) giving the melancholy news of the murder of Mr. Thomas Brash.

Five thousand five hundred of the most respectable men of San Francisco were enrolled on the Vigilance Committee, good men and true, who did their duty to the letter.

So powerful did the Vigilance Committee become, that the murderer, the cut-throat, the slugsnot men, the highwaymen, even the pickpockets, found that there was no escape, and in a very few months San Francisco was freed from the despotism of the assassin and cut-throat.

We call attention to the excellent article on Lynch Law, which appeared in the National of Tuesday evening, and which we reproduce to-day. Our readers cannot fail to regard it as a significant fact that the very organ of the Argentine Government should now advocate a measure which, some four years ago, brought the Standard into a question with the very authorities of the country.

In 1855, such was the terrible state of things in the State of California, that 190 murders had been committed in the previous year, without a single execution!

The present General Sherman was then a banker in San Francisco, and he started what was called the 'Law and Order Party,' whose object was to put down the Vigilance Committee and abolish Lynch Law.

The guillotine still exists in France and the rope in England and North America.

In those countries where the penalty of death has been given up, penal servitude and the penitentiary have replaced it, whereby the criminal is redeemed and regenerated by compulsory labor and instruction.

Capital punishment has virtually been forgotten and abandoned, and a stranger might imagine that a substitute had been found for it, in a penitentiary system, for the reclamation of criminals, and a criminal code at once energetic and rapid in its action.

Neither in Buenos Ayres nor in the Banda Oriental, nor in Entre Rios, nor in any of the provinces of the Interior, is capital punishment in force, neither are there penitentiaries.

The right conferred by law on the Judge, has devolved on the citizen, Lynch law is in force; any man may kill the robber or the assassin!

Bringing them before the court (a rare occurrence) is raising a question, the decision of which lasts one, two, three or four years, at the end of which time they escape, or are sent to the army, or remain hardening in crime in an establishment called a prison, but which is nothing like it!

By the time the verbal trial is completed, the case is brought before the full court, the prosecution and defence gone into, and cause shown within eighty days, or more, if necessary, when judgement is confirmed, and sentences passed in the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Instancias, the murderer himself forgets his crime.

The form of proceduro is slow as in the times of Alfonso the Wise. In France, England and the United States, the trial is verbal; here, all is written, capital punishment has been abolished, there are no prisons, and our penal laws are those of eight centuries ago.

Our want of forethought in practically rendering capital punishment a dead letter, causes a daily increase in crime.

Let us begin by reforming our system of criminal procedure, improving the prisons, establishing a system of punishment adequate to our wants, and let us try the last named first.

We have already taken "the bull by the horns," having arrived imperceptibly at the extreme of putting in practice the famous Lynch law. If this state of things is to come to an end, the Government, Superior Court, and Provincial Legislature, must find and put in force a remedy, which will be short, sharp, and decisive in its applica. i. n. - El Nacional.

Robbers and murderers have made of Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, the Litoral Provinces, and some of those in the Interior, places for general rendez-vous. There is one general cause for all this, but if it is sought for in any given place no result will be arrived at.

In Montevideo there are more police men than in Buenos Ayres; in some of the country towns in the Banda Oriental, there are comparatively speaking, more; are there not, also comparatively speaking, as many robberies, murders, and stabbing cases as here?

Was not poor Miller barbarously murdered there?

Was not Colonel Perez's, house broken into by a band of cut throats?

Was not Pascual Rans, a highly respectable man, assassinated in Entre Rios, at his mother's side?

Robbers and murderers have made of Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, the Litoral Provinces, and some of those in the Interior, places for general rendez-vous. There is one general cause for all this, but if it is sought for in any given place no result will be arrived at.

In Rosario and San Luis, are into assaults and murders committed with impunity in broad daylight?

Here in Buenos Ayres in the midst of 200 thousand people is any one safe? when life and property are at the mercy of professional scoundrels.

Concealing the evil will not mend it, and it cannot be denied that in Buenos Ayres day by day, there are cases of stabbing, robbery, and murder, which terrify society, and cause it to tremble for its very existence.

The repetition of these crimes, their number and the circumstances attending them, bear no relation to the number of the people, nor are they to be expected from the kind of life led by the inhabitants in general.

Our countrymen are feeble in character, but notwithstanding, they can entertain generous and humane sentiments.

In this part of South America, every element of progress, civilization, and improvement finds a welcome, and field for its application.

Many writers and some nations have advocated and sanctioned the abolition of capital punishment, and it is unnecessary for us to say that we too advocate this doctrine.

But how, and for what reason has it been abolished?

In the first place, the abolition of this penalty began with nations really civilized, where instruction and enlightenment were universal, such as Switzerland and Belgium, if we are not mistaken.

Wherever capital punishment has been abolished, an efficacious substitute has been found for it, a warning to the criminals, and a benefit to society, a punishment carried into effect two, three, or ten days, after the commission of the crime, or the discovery of its perpetrator.

The guillotine still exists in France and the rope in England and North America.

Colonel Luis Manilla was, by late accounts, with the 12th of the Line encamped at Totoral, about 20 leagues on this side of Rio Cuarto. The badness of the roads had obliged him to halt there for a few days.

Some anxiety is being felt that no news has been received of the Jewess American barque, that sailed hence for Boston on the 24th August. Mr. Perkins of Rosario, with his family, were passengers on board, and he had promised to write to us as soon as he reached the States, but we have not heard from him, nor have the relatives of his wife, who live in this city.

General Rivas starts to-day for Rosario. The decree containing his appointment is published in another column.

Sr. Elortondo's splendid new house in the Plaza Mayo is already rented to a French hotelkeeper, at $30,000 m/c. per month; though scarcely yet finished, it is acknowledged the finest pile of building in this city, and far eclipses Miró's famous palace in the Plaza Parque, opposite "Standard" Terrace.

We understand that the able architect who designed it is at present employed in drawing up plans for several other wealthy capitalists intending to build. Thus in a short time we may hope to see similar magnificent structures in almost every street.

The present style of building is too heavy and high for our narrow thoroughfares. In such warm climates health and convenience alike suggest light and airy dwellings.

We regret to say that the late unseasonable weather has caused some damage at the saladeros. The fierce winds have occasionally blown off the tarpaulin covers on the piles of sheepskins, allowing the rain to get in, and causing much damage.

It may interest the friends of the late Mr. Neuman, of Paraguay, to learn the following particulars respecting his fate. It appears that he happened one evening to visit a Paraguayan family in Asuncion.

Being asked if there was any news, he stated that he had heard that a battle had taken place, and that Resquin or Barrios was killed, but that he was not certain of it. That night he was arrested, next day to the encampment, tried, twice flogged, and then shot.

Such was the melancholy end of poor Neuman, an educated, polished German gentleman, in the morning of his life, and with the brightest prospects.

Mr. Robinson's project for sewerage and water supply has at last met with the sanction of the Municipality, and this enterprising gentleman only now waits for the approbation of Legislature to commence the works.

It is confidently hoped that there will be no longer any delay in a matter of such urgent necessity for public health, the more so as the terms are most advantageous. Mr. Robinson undertaking the double work for the round sum of $16,000,000, payable in bonds at 7 per cent interest, and 3 per cent amortization.

We have received the 67th number of the "Revista de Buenos Ayres." As usual this valuable work is replete with the most useful and entertaining matter: American History; Bolivian Poets; Biography of Nestor Galmido; Historical memoirs of the Provinces of Cuyo, from 1821 to 1825, by Don Da-miano Hudson; Documents relative to the navigation of the Yermo, 1788, by Don Andrian Fernandez Cornejo; Characteristics of the Mexican Indians, 1770, by Don Antonio Joaquin Riva deneyra; Don Ignacio Alvarez y Thomas, biographical essay; Literature; Greek Women; An article from the "Revista Britannica," translated by Carlos Quido; Law; International Law; The effects of a state of war upon the mercantile relations between the individuals of the belligerent nations, by Doctor Bernardo Irigoyen; The first Jewish marriage in Buenos Ayres—the courtship and marriage ceremony, by Dr. Navarro Viola; Miscellaneous; Agriculture and Granery; Rural matters, by Don Eduardo Olivera.

Strange to say, some of the French mail bags were left behind last time in Rio; they were, however, sent forward per Royal Mail steamer Arno.

General Rivas left yesterday for Rosario, where he will remain until the troops come from Paraguay. No better man could be named for the position than General Rivas who has served so long in the interior, the news brought down yesterday from the provinces by chasque proves the wisdom of the present step. The provinces can only be kept quiet by the Government keeping a respectable force in the most unruly district.

The mortality in Rosario from the excessive heat has again turned peoples' attention to the weather, every one is complaining, even after sunset there is no relief to be had, and a thunderstorm which formerly used to clear the atmosphere for a day or two, now seems to make matters worse. The thermometer in our office stood at 85 yesterday during the greater part of the day.

Wools arriving from the camp are in many cases found to have been seriously injured by the late rains, brokers and barristers complain greatly, and as will be seen by our market reported, ducons are now made in every case where the wool has been damaged through damp.

We gladly call attention to an advertisement in our columns, in regard to the return match to be played between the Buenos Ayres and Montevideo Cricket Clubs, on the 8th and 9th of February. It is very desirable that the hospitalities of the Montevidean Cricketers last year, should be well returned on the occasion of their coming visit to Buenos Ayres.

The dinner proposed to be given, as we understand, at the Pobre Diablo, is likely to be a very jovial affair; and we are only afraid that the room will not accommodate one half of the applicants for tickets.

On Tuesday evening, the German Singing Academy gave a concert at the Coliseum, which was well attended. The program was more than usually varied, containing selections from Kreuser, Boieldieu, Donizetti, Wagner, Rossini, Mendelssohn, Haydn, and Mozart,—"dei majores et minores." The light, short, and pleasant selection was not only suited to the season—it was suited to the Coliseum, which the architects seem to have intended for a back-house. Why do not the directors make the upper windows—in theatrical language—practicable, as the audience object to draughts occasioned by the opening of the entrance doors, the only other means of ventilation? The intense heat marred the pleasure derived from much delightful music.

It is only at these German concerts that unaccompanied choral music is tolerable; and we hope all the members of the Philharmonic Society were present to hear music, "a capella," sung as it should be, and not screamed. We must do our German friends the justice to say that the ensemble of their concerts reminds us of a well-toned picture, inasmuch as everything, even to the most trifling pianoforte accompaniment, not to mention the toilettes of the ladies, is artistically tempered. It is thus that an "aria de bravura" like that from Rossini's "Semiramide," so magnificently given by Madame Krutisch, comes out with tenfold relief. Madame Krutisch seemed to suffer like the rest of us from the suffocating atmosphere, but, yielding to the unmistakable enthusiasm of the select audience, she kindly repeated the adegro. Madame Krutisch also bestowed on the audience the rare pleasure of hearing a passionate and intelligent rendering of the solo part of Mendelssohn's operatic fragment, "Lovely." The melodious and picturesque chorus which precedes the solo was beautifully given. We only regretted the absence of the full orchestra, as here and there a dramatic effect was lost; particularly at the words in the English version, "Appear! appear!" We look for the latest novelties at the concerts of the Singing Academy. We were on this occasion gratified only with a chorus from Wagner's "Meistersänger," which contains one or two reminiscences of his peculiar melodic forms, but, upon the whole, it might have been signed by any respectable musician.

The man beast and cart-trap near the bridges at Barracas is in full working order. Early on yesterday a bullock cart loaded with wool was swallowed up, and later in the day a horse and cart got in, but through the united exertions of a score of men and six horses, the latter were rescued from a watery grave.

There is also on the other side of the bridge a minor, but ingenious contrivance for the destruction of passengers, whether biped or quadruped. In the middle of the road, on the other side of the bridge, there is a culvert covered with timber, in such a state of rotteness and decay, that it is a miracle how it sustains the weight even of a day. Some day soon, we shall have to record a fatal accident force in the most unruly district.

Yesterday it was currently rumored that Saa with a few hundred men had invaded San Juan, we have no authentic information respecting this, but believe that the report comes from parties in the interior who ought to be well informed on such matters.

A schooner has arrived in the Riachuelo, laden with 11 guns of different calibre, which were taken in Humaita, and which are part of the trophies apportioned to the Argentine Government. The largest of the guns is a breech-loader, about 10 feet long, and the bore is eight inches. The breech is about having occurred here. It is useless to mention the Municipality; until some member of that body is drowned, smashed or swallowed up, we will have no improvement, and possibly, not even then.

SURGEON-GENERAL STEWART.

We salute Dr. Stewart on his arrival in Buenos Ayres, after his lengthened residence in Paraguay. Dr. Stewart as Surgeon-General of the Paraguayan army, held the highest post of all the foreigners in Paraguay. The hospital and wounded were under his exclusive charge, and it is grateful to think that in the honest discharge of his duty, he never lost an opportunity to befriend the unfortunate wounded prisoners that were taken by Lopez during this prolonged campaign. We may say that all the prisoners of war that escaped from Paraguay owe their lives to the disinterested services of our distinguished countryman. He watched over the Argentine wounded with the same care as if they were Paraguayans, and repeatedly from his own limited rations shared his crust to alleviate the sorrows of his fellow-man. The services of Dr. Stewart to the Allied wounded must not be forgotten; they establish claims of the highest character which must be borne in mind. All the Allied prisoners who have escaped from the Paraguayan hospitals will bear evidence in support of our statements. Mr. Gould, when he first visited Paraguay, assured us that he did not know what the wounded prisoners from the Allied Army would have done but for the humane and kind treatment which, unknown to Lopez, they received from Dr. Stewart.

The Paraguayan drama is now nearly played out; but its history has yet to be written. Then will the good actions of Dr. Stewart during that awful epoch shine forth. There are hundreds who owe their lives to this excellent man, who never during his long residence in Paraguay found the noblest dictates of humanity to clash in the least with the faithful discharge of his duties.

It may be premature on our part to call attention to the high claims which Dr. Stewart has upon Argentines; but the time will come when his services will be both appreciated and rewarded.

THE SANTA FE COLONIES.

Buenos Ayres, Jan. 19, 1858. To the Editors of the "Standard," Gentlemen, I am sorry that my occupations have prevented me from complying sooner with your request, in reference to the data which you desired to obtain of the colonies of Santa Fé; but I have now much pleasure in forwarding you such information as I possess, and believe it to be derived from the best possible sources, having been obtained principally from persons now residents in the colonies, and from the "informe" which has been presented to H. E. President Sarmiento by my friend and partner J. F. Czetz Esc. Hoping that this information may be found both useful and interesting to your readers, as the present prosperous condition of the colonies has been to me, I remain, Gentlemen, Yours sincerely,

CARLOS F. ROBERTSON, C.E.

Hardly twenty years have gone by since the city of Santa Fé was reduced to an extension of about three quarters of a square league, the Indians of the Chaco being masters of all outside the limits of the city, and holding in terror the inhabitants, who, for business or other necessities, had to leave the limits of the city. The lands now occupied by colonies were as little known then as on the fertile banks of the River Vermejo to-day, a mystery to all but the adventurous few who ventured their lives amongst the savages.

In the year 1857, several of the leading inhabitants of Rosario formed a society for the purpose of colonizing what is now known as the Colony of Esperanza, with D. Aaron Castellanos as manager, and they received a grant of land from the Government, which was then presided over by the excellent Governor, Don Domingo Crespo. In the year 1856 arrived the first colonists of Santa Fé from Europe, and they were immediately forwarded to the Colony of Esperanza, distant 6 leagues from the city of Santa Fé, beyond the Salado.

The colony passed through rough trials in the commencement, having first two years of "seca," and then one of locusts, and were it not for the perseverance of the enlightened Government of Santa Fé, the greater part of these immigrants would have died of hunger. In the beginning the Indians were somewhat troublesome, but not having found the rifle balls of the colonists, who were generally excellent marksmen, as agreeable as the lances of those with whom they had heretofore to contend, they, after a few ineffectual attempts, considered the few cattle and horses of the colonists as quite too despicable for any further sacrifice.

After these years of trouble and penury, the colonists began to reap the results of their perseverance, and each succeeding year brought fresh results to their industry. Year after year they improved their condition, planted more and reaped more; the year of Paraguay raised the value of their products in such a rate that many of those who arrived there 12 years since without a penny, and owing for their passage from Europe, are to-day worth 40 and 50 thousand hard dollars, and few, if any, are without their lands, houses, and $10,000 in the bank.

Although the first three years passed through by the colonists of La Esperanza, were sufficient to have dismayed a government in a strong position, and capitalists of wealth, it was not enough to frighten the projectors of colonies, or the Government of Santa Fé. In the year 1857 they formed the Colony of San Carlos, distant some 8 leagues from that of La Esperanza, and which is now the most flourishing of all, although not so rich as that of Esperanza. Soon after, the Government sold to Mr. Foster four leagues of camp, with the condition that he should leave fifty concessions, each of 20 squares, for the colonists on the western part of the camp.

After these were formed the Colonies of Humboldt and Turros, and then followed the numerous others which at present exist in this thriving province.

At present there are more than fifty square leagues of camp laid out as colonies, all of which, it is believed, will be inhabited before the expiration of the year 1859. Four hundred and fifty square miles of rich prairie land under cultivation, only 14 years after being redeemed from the sway of the savage! This is the true system of frontier service.

To-morrow I shall give a statistical history of the colonies of Esperanza, San Carlos, and San Geronimo.

BRITISH PREMIERS The resignation of office by Lord Derby renders it interesting to recall the premiers who have held office for the last 114 years. The Duke of Newcastle came into power April 5, 1754, and held office for eight years and 52 days. The Earl of Bute took office May 22, 1762, and held it for 322 days. The administration of G. G. Grenville commenced April 16, 1763, and lasted for 2 years and 87 days. The Marquis of Rockingham took office July 12, 1765, and held it for 1 year and 21 days. The administration of the Duke of Grafton which commenced August 2, 1769, lasted 3 years and 179 days. The administration of Lord North was one of unusual duration, commencing January 28, 1770, and lasting 12 years and 31 days. The Marquis of Rockingham again came into power March 5, 1782, and held it 132 days. He was succeeded July 13, 1782, by the Earl of Shelburne, whose term of power was 266 days. The next Premier was the Duke of Portland, who came into power, April 5, 1783, and remained in office 200 days. Then came a very long administration—that of Mr. Pitt—who came into power December 27, 1783, and held office for 17 years and 80 days.

Mr. Pitt was succeeded March 17, 1801, by Lord Yarmouth, who remained in office 3 years and 309 days. Then came the second Pitt administration, commencing May 12, 1804, and lasting one year and 246 days. Lord Grenville took office January 8, 1806, and held it for 1 year and 64 days. The Duke of Portland again became Premier March 13, 1807, remaining in office three years and 102 days. He was succeeded June 28, 1810, by Spencer Perceval, whose term of power extended over 1 year and 150 days. The Earl of Liverpool's administration, which commenced June 8, 1812, was a very long one, lasting 14 years and 307 days. Mr. Canning succeeded Lord Liverpool April 11, 1827, but only remained in office 121 days. Lord Goderich who succeeded Mr. Canning August 10, 1827, also held office only 165 days. The next administration was that of the Duke of Wellington which commenced January 25, 1828, and lasted 2 years and 301 days.

Earl Grey began his administration November 22, 1830, and continued in power 3 years and 231 days. Lord Melbourne assumed the reins of Government July 11, 1834, but only held them 128 days. Then came the second administration of the Duke of Wellington, which commenced November, 10, 1834, but only lasted 22 days. Sir Robert Peel took office December 8, 1834, but only remained in power 131 days. The second administration of Lord Melbourne, which commenced April 18, 1835, lasted 6 years and 138 days. Sir Robert Peel took the office a second time September 3, 1841, and held it for 4 years and 97 days. Then Lord John Russell was sent for, December 10, 1845, but his lordship only held office 10 days. Sir Robert Peel returned to power December 20, 1845, and remained in office 188 days.

The second administration of Lord John Russell, which commenced June 23, 1846, lasted 5 years and 230 days. The Earl of Derby came into office February 22, 1852, and held it 300 days. The administration of the Earl of Aberdeen which commenced December 10, 1852, lasted 2 years and 45 days. The first administration of Lord Palmerston, which commenced February 4, 1855, lasted 3 years and 17 days. The Earl of Derby's second administration commenced February 21, 1858, and lasted 1 year and 111 days. Then came Lord Palmerston's second administration, which, commencing June 13, 1859, lasted 6 years and 123 days. On the death of Lord Palmerston, Earl Russell became Premier for the third time, but his lordship only held office on this occasion 240 days. The Earl of Derby's third tenure of power commenced June 27, 1866, and terminated after the lapse of 1 year and 241 days.

THE VARELA FILIBUSTERING INVASION.

Department of War and Marine, Buenos Ayres, 16th of January, 1860. Official intelligence having reached the Government of the invasion by the notorious filibuster, Felipe Varela, with armed bands from Bolivian territory into the province of Salta, and the peace of the interior being in consequence imperilled, The President of the Republic using the powers granted by the Constitution—

DECREES.

Art. 1. The National Guard in the provinces of Tucuman, Salta and Jujuy is declared in assembly. Art. 2. General Don Ignacio Rivas is hereby appointed Commander-in-Chief of the forces in the field against the armed bands under Varela, with power to call out the militia of Tucuman, Salta and Jujuy as circumstances may require. Art. 3. The corresponding order and general instructions to the General in Chief appointed will be issued through the Department of War and Marine.

Art. 4. Let this be communicated to whom it may concern, laid in due time before the Honorable Congress of the Nation, published, and archived in the National Register.

ON CHANGE.

January 20, 1860. Onnces, 400 Sovereigns, 225 Patrons, 25 Nat. Bonds, 511 Bonds offered very weak this morning, but soon grew firm. There were unpleasant rumours about the state of things in the interior, which for the moment affected the market. The money market, however, is too easy for any great fall in bonds; holders find no difficulty in borrowing money on them, and the chief speculators on the Bolsa, the men who are able to carry the market with them, are still buying.

The cash sales today only amounted to $5,000 at 51, and for January 31st $2,000 at 51. Total sales for the day, $7,000. The chief topic on Change to-day was the arrival of samples of beef extracts from the great Benta Factory at Gualeguaychén. This is the first factory in the Argentine Republic of the kind, and is hoped that it will prove as successful as the Benta Benta Factory. The establishment is now commencing to work, although the great floods at Gualeguaychén have proved a very serious contretemps; but the prospects of the factory are good, cattle are cheap and fat, and if the Argentine Government abolishes the duty on coal, there can be little doubt the business will leave handsome profits.

Exchange ruled to-day at 49; about 240,000 passed to-day at this rate, but takers are holding back, and the rate, it is thought, will go up to 49. The news from the country districts is unfavorable; all the wool on the way into town has got more or less wet. The railways are doing nothing and the exporters complain that they can get no produce to ship. There is a decided falling off in the amount of the wool clip this year, bar-raqeros who know certain wools observe the deficiencies, the heavy killing of capones and sheep that has been going on all last year is now telling on the wool market, and exporters must be prepared to know that the clip this year will be under that of last.

The Tycho Brahe was expected in to-day. The City of Buenos Ayres and Bourgogne left for Europe with mails passengers and cargo. From Montevideo the advices are more favorable, gold at 74 per cent. premium; some few sales in wool, and Pimento shares all rising. In the wool market there is nothing doing, no wool, no carts, and in the north wool affairs are in such a state that no carts with bales can get out of the Plaza. At the South Plaza few arrivals to-day.

Wool. 3000 ar from deposit 55 700 ar mestiza 48 350 ar better 50 37 3 lots 46, 47, 50 Dryskins. 500 camp, in several lots, at 124, 126, and 127. 120 good matedero, 130. Green and Tallow. Two lots at $36 3/4. One at Barracas, bond, in shipping order at 14 1/2 silver.

DEATH. January 16, at Rosario de Santa Fé, suddenly, Mr. J. M. Pearson, aged 39 years.

STEAMBOATS TO LEAVE. To-day—For Rosario, Paraná, and Santa Fé, at 9 1/2 a.m., from the Beliro, the steamer Luján. To-day—For Salta and intermedio ports at 10 a.m., the steamer Uruguay. THE "GLYCERINE" DIP,

FOR SHEEP AND LAMBS,
FREE FROM ARSENIC, MERCURY, MINERAL AND OTHER POISONS
DEADLY TO ALL PARASITES INFESTING THE SKINS OF SHEEP AND OTHER ANIMALS.

THIS PREPARATION is destined to supersede the Compounds hitherto Advertised, and which have a tendency to destroy Animals, injure the Men engaged in Dipping, and weaken the Wool by their caustic and reducing properties.
The "GLYCERINE" DIP can be used with perfect safety at any Season of the Year, and has been found in practice invaluable for the following purposes:—
I.—In Curing Scab, Killing Acari, Eggs, Ticks, and other Parasites which attack the Sheep.
II.—In strengthening and adding lustre to the Wool.
III.—In Washing Sheep shortly before Clipping, leaving the Fleeces in a pure state.
IV.—In Dipping Lambs, even whilst suckling ewes, as they cannot be injured by the material.
V.—In Dipping Rats at any Time of the Year, without danger of producing the excoriations which always follow the use of other Dips, especially in the Autumn Season.
