matters is every day getting worse.

Constituted authority has ceased to have any weight, while every military leader sets up a standard of revolt on one pretext or another, without a common program, or even a definite end in view. We have been accustomed to read of such things in Mexico, where three or four rival generals are often in the field at once, each pretending to carry the popular liberties on the point of his sword. The war in the Banda Oriental, as it at present stands, is a kind of triangular duel between the Government, General Caraballo, and Goyo Suarez. The last named remained at first a neutral spectator, but the temptation was too great for him, and he has now issued a proclamation for all friends of the Constitution to rally round him, without descending to say a word in favor either of the Government or Caraballo.

In the departments of Salto and Paysandu the friends of Caraballo have everything their own way, and count on a force of about a thousand men. In Colonia and San José they are also assembling in some strength, so that as soon as Caraballo is joined by his brother's contingent from Pay-sandu, the rebel army will muster about two thousand men. Maximo Perez has refused to join Caraballo, and is now gathering men at Mercedes to support the Government, while President Batlle has left Las Piedras, and is marching towards Canelones with an army of one thousand horse and foot, an army totally insufficient to crush the rebellion, or even hold his ground against either Caraballo or Goyo Suarez. In fact, if the President be not careful he will find himself suddenly intercepted by an army of Gaucho cavalry, and cut off from the capital. From Canelones it seems he intends to march towards Florida, but as soon as he hears of the defection of Goyo Suarez, it is likely he will change his line of operations by falling back towards the city.

Montevideo is tolerably secure from riot or confusion, the Minister of Government, Colonel Bustamante, being a man of sufficient energy to preserve order at this critical moment. Nevertheless, the news from the departments is so unfavorable as to damp the enthusiasm of the citizens, and the National Guards are little willing to give up their peaceful occupations and again take up arms. By latest accounts Moyano has joined the rebels and Tolosa is marching against Colonia. The departments of Minas and Cerro Largo have not yet declared for either side, but it is feared General Caraballo will 'throw up the poncho.'

Events may now be looked for with some rapidity. If Goyo Suarez joins Caraballo, the game may be regarded as played out, and General Batlle had better get back to Montevideo as soon as possible. It is then likely the matter would result in the rebels besieging the city. In case a three handed war ensues, the odds are that Goyo Suarez will put Caraballo out of the field altogether, and either force the Government to accept his terms, or inflict on the country a second edition of the prolonged Flores campaign!

Poor South America!

CARABALLO'S LETTER TO PEREZ.

To Colonel Don Maximo Perez.

My dear Friend,

As you will see by the protest issued to the nation by the true representatives of the people, in consequence of the unconstitutional attempt made by the conservative clique in the Chambers in connivance with the Government, which for a considerable time has been conspiring against the Colorado party, and as fellow citizens who have made so many sacrifices for the party to which we belong; we have no other resource but that of arms to enforce the legality of the people's will, handed down to us by our beloved General Flores, and which the same evil disposed men, who were his bitterest enemies, now wish to destroy, although he, ever noble and generous, loaded them with distinctions and honors.

In whatever way you may have committed yourself with these people, at whose head we find the dazed and traitor Bustamante, who has given himself body and soul to the Conservatives, you cannot abandon your true friends to lead your arm and fame to the support of men possessing as they do an unchangeable hatred to all those whom they are pleased to term 'gauchos,' and to whom they will not even concede the right of discussing the interests of a country which costs us so much.

Do not forget, my dear Maximo, that the Conservatives are the identical men of 1855, who sought to assassinate the noble victim of the 19th of February, and if they gain the ascendancy, this land will be no longer habitable for us.

Ponder well on the part you intend to play, and I have no doubt that you will find your post to be at the side of those friends who, together with you, have undergone many sacrifices, and who, like yourself, are not doctors, but have their heart in the right place.

Whatever part you may elect to take, from this moment I warn you that never will I cross blades with friends whom I love so well, and to whom the country owes so much. If they do not wish to aid me, you may live in safety and peace; I will ever be your friend, and at whatever period of life we meet, you will always find me animated by the same sentiments towards you.

Nevertheless, I believe that you cannot be deaf to the voice of country and your friends, who call on you to occupy an important position in their midst; and for this reason I count on your co-operation and patriotism, informing you that whatever be your decision, I take the field on the 30th of the present month, and will march on the capital, where I hope you, together with whatever recruits you may be able to collect, will join us, and help us to raise the banner of true liberty, for you have always shared the sacrifices of your true and faithful friend,

Who loves you,

FRANCISCO CARABALLO.

REPLY OF MAXIMO PEREZ.

Mercedes, May 25, 1869.

To General Caraballo.

First offering you my salutations, I have only to say, in reply to your letter, that I have taken a note of its contents.

I will not take up arms in the cause of others, and I will only appeal to them in support of my country's cause and my political colours, which are those of the Government.

You cannot, therefore, count on me in any way.

Your friend,

MAXIMO PEREZ.

PEREZ'S NOTE TO THE GOVERNMENT.

Mercedes, May 30, 1869.

To His Excellency the Minister of Government, Don José C. Bustamante.

Esteemed Friend,

I have been informed, by a despatch from H.E. the President, that General

Caraballo has risen in open rebellion against the Government.

As I have already said to H.E. the President, I now repeat to you, viz., that I am always ready to support the Government, because I see in it the representative of the Colorado party, and for it I am ready to shed my blood, as I have already often done when occasion offered.

You may, then, my friend, count on what I say to you, and never doubt my loyal sentiments, which impel me both to please my true friends, and to sus-tain the legitimate interests of the country.

Colonel Ordoñez has provisionally entrusted me with the command of the troops in this department, while the Government make other arrangements; so I hope that the Government will let me know how I am to dispose of these troops, as well as the measures I ought to adopt.

I therefore salute Y.E. most respectfully, and subscribe myself,

Your most affectionate friend,

General D. José Gregorio Suarez, to his political friends and companions in arms.

The events which have for a length of time been developing themselves in the country are notorious to all, and so is the lamentable state to which it has been reduced by excited passions, the dictates of prudence, moderation, and concord having been totally ignored.

A supporter of order and principle, through my antecedents, as well as the personal prestige you have accorded to me, and the services I have rendered to the cause of liberty and law, I have not been indifferent to the defects and inherent dissension of the Colorado party, to the ruin of the country, or the dangers which surround the Oriental nation.

While things remained within legal limits, I remained at my official post tending my personal influence to the President of the Republic.

Tranquillity being threatened through the personal exigencies which have arisen under the cloak of the banking question which has lately disturbed the country, and remedies equally disastrous, which have given rise to a lamentable confusion in public affairs, being proposed—I, with the conscience</
