CUYO and CORRIENTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Litzsman's departure for Europe has been for some time deferred, owing to the diffi-culty of meeting with competent parties having the expérience necessary to fill satisfactorily so responsible a position.

Mr. and Mrs. Litzman have now much pleasure in introducing and recommending the above parties, they having had for eight years one of the largest and most fashionably attended Boarding and Day School in Manchester.

This famous soldier, born at Muret in the Haute Garonne, Oct. 4, 1802, entered the Ecole Polytechnique at the early age of nineteen years and the Ecole d'Application two years after, and in 1827 commenced his military career as Lieutenant of Engineers. His first distinction was achieved in Algiers. Sent to that colony in 1832, having by that time reached the grade to trade with that city, after which she of Captain, he acted a prominent part thanks of the Minister of War. In 1846 he was Colonel, and in 1849 head of the engineering staff in the expedition to Rome. Here his scientific knowledge proved so important that he was made General of Brigade; and. after the fall of Rome, it was to him Oudinot intrusted the duty of conveying to the Pope, at Gaeta, the keys of the captured city. Returning home. General Niel was placed in charge of the engineering department in the Ministry of War, named a member of the committees on engineering and fortifications, and appointed one of the Council of State. In 1853 he became General of Division, and, as Commander-in-Chief of the engineers, conduca: ted the siege of Bomarsund under Bara. guay d'Hilliers. In 1855 he was gia ven the command of the engineering department of the French army in the Crimea, where his foresight and professional skill led to the capture of the Malakoff and the fall of Sebastopol. His services were acknowledged by the grant of the grand cross of the Legion of Honour and the appointment of Senator. In 1858 appeared his account of the siege of Sebastopol; and in the same year he proceeded as the Emperor's Aide de Camp on a special mission to the King of Sardinia, to solicit the hand of Princess Clotilde for Prince Napoleon. to only terms upon which it is proposed make peace with the Indians, and while we cannot do less than applaud the determination of the Government to secept nothing short of an uncondition nal surrender, we are at issue with it respecting some of the measures it proposes to adopt for the final and permanent subjugation of Arauco; not because we fear they will ultimately fail to accomplish their object, but because we believe they will be productive of considerable delay and unof all the Indian tribes at 5,913, and in French markets is over 6,000 bales. Marhe considers that the complete subjuplished in two or three years with an effective army of 6,000 men and at an annual expense of $1000,000. Now it seems rather surprising that an army of 6,000 well equipped soldiers should be required to cope with a slightly inferior number of Indians armed with lances only. But this question apart, it appears to us that the system his therto observed of making two or three raids into the territory during the summer time and withdrawing the troops into the frontier towns during a rather longer period than what can in justice be called the winter season, is a very serious error.

CHASCOMUS.

Things here are quiet, exceedingly quiet, sheepfarmers have seemingly made up their minds that things will improve, for my part I cannot see how they can improve; I trust their sur mises are correct, although I much doubt it. The camp here is in a truly wretched condition, the other day in making a call I travelled some four leagues and did not see water! All sheep. Some lagunas I saw, just put me in mind of "Mathier fly-paper," the mud being exceedingly elastic the poor sheep get so fixed in, that they cannot get out again, I presume the owner thinks it hardly worth his trouble to go and pick them out. In every direction 'jaguels' are being sunk, unless this was done I doubt not but many would lose their horses;

A friend of mine who had great ideas of sheepfarming, bought a thock on none institutes, and the maje alwance in the some few months ago, he pented a puesto at $6,000 mg, per annum, in containing his flock the other day to found—well it is not not in stating the number, but when his wool is sold and his landlord and peen is paid, and prospective shows trapply of Caton.

A wealthy estanciero told me the other day that fund has been severely criticised in many quarif things continued as they are doing at present, that all sheepfarmers who rented land would be "clared out." I quite agree in this, there are only two ways whereby he can carry on. 1st, better price for his wool. 2nd the

I am afraid many more will have to close up if as likely to be the recourse of the Secretary things continue this way : well we and there are to be seen several knock abouts' on the look out for work. I have heard that hands will be scarce, if it be true it is not likely they will work for less than former seasons, I am informed that they have already commenced shearing on the estancia Loma Verde near the Rincon, I think this too soon, it was only yesterday morning I saw ice on the troughs, indeed, till the sun got fairly up it kept very cold.
