THE INFLUX OF EMIGRANTS.

The tide of European emigration that has now set in for the River Plate is wholly unparalleled in South American history, and is everyday increasing.

THE COLONIST'S PETITION.

There can be no greater reproach to the Government of the Argentine Republic than the petition of the colonists of Santa Fé, which we published yesterday.

Our remarks the other day, on the subject of public lands, have been interpreted as casting an imputation of indifference on Governor Castro, which was far from our mind to bring forward, and which the following facts will, we trust, at once remove.

THE PORT OF ESENADA.

In the time of the old Spaniards Esenada was the port of Buenos Ayres, and it is still the only natural port in the Province.

CIRCUMLOCUTION OFFICES.

Dickens in giving this 'soufflé' to the English Government offices, struck a hard blow from which a vile system has never recovered, but what would he have said, had he known to what extent the plague exists in Spanish Republics?

Mr. Castro at once agreed with Mr. Real de Azua's views, and stated to him that although no provision was made in the Budget for such an expense, he authorized Mr. Real de Azua to offer to Mr. Heuly and his colonists a free passage to Bahía Blanca, which, if not allowed by the Legislature, he would pay out of his own pocket.

grossmen during the approaching recess—"We learn from the 'Scotsman' that the Chancellor of the Exchequer is frequently to be seen practising on a bicycle near his residence at Warrington. A more pleasing and graceful manner of spending the recess can hardly be imagined. There is considerable political agitation prevailing in the city of Paraná, caused by the approaching elections; at night the streets are patrolled by strong pickets of armed men. The harvest in these parts is represented as looking very promising. Don Carlos Segui, so well known for his efforts in the cause of agriculture, is at present occupied with the preliminaries for founding a model farm on the Salado, near the city. The amount of maize sown in this district is very large.
