THURSDAY, JUNE 23, 1870

ENTRE RIOS AS IT IS.

It is a fact worth knowing, that there is a very wide difference of opinion between the public of Buenos Ayres and the estancieros of Entre Rios...

These acts of the Legislature of Entre Rios were the immediate cause of the rebellion, and Lopez Jordan has simply followed its orders in raising the standard of revolt...

1. The Provisional Government of Entre Rios shall proceed to reorganize the public authorities as soon as the rebellion is crushed.

2. When the National Government declares the time arrived he shall order elections throughout the Province, to provide a new Legislature and Constitutional Government of Entre-Rios.

3. The Provisional Governor shall cease on the election of a Constitutional Governor.

4. The Supreme Tribunal of Justice, which protested against the rebellion, shall be restored to office.

With some satisfaction, therefore, we give to our readers to-day the decree of the National Government liberating General Mitre from the civil administration of affairs, and naming D. Apolinario Benitez Governor.

Let us hope that the nomination of so influential a man as Mr. Benitez will do something towards restoring order in Entre Rios.

WAR OFFICE, Buenos Ayres, June 20th, 1870.

Whereas it is necessary to relieve the Commander in Chief in Entre Rios of the civil duties on his hands, so as to allow him to attend solely to military affairs—

The President of the Republic hereby decrees—

Citizen Apolinario Benitez shall act as Provisional Governor of Entre Rios.

SARMIENTO. Martin de Gainza. Government House, June 20th 1870.

THE REBELLION IN ENTRE RIOS.

The rebellion in Entre Rios has been quelled in all the large towns of that province. The ring-leader Lopez Jordan is a fugitive with a few followers...

The war was due to two causes—1st. the refusal to allow Federal troops to occupy the Province. 2ndly the election of the person who murdered Gen. Urquiza to be Governor.

Mr. Julio Jardel, agent for Messrs. Clark & Co., has presented to Government the annexed project for a submarine cable, from Buenos Ayres to Rio Janeiro with exclusive privilege for 40 years.

As it does not become the President of the Republic to decide in the matter it is hereby submitted to Congress, to decide as may seem fit on so important a subject.

IMPORTANT FROM ROSARIO. SWISS VS. ENGLISH EMIGRATION.

I have to inform you that the Vaubau, with 165 immigrants for the Central Argentine Land Company, arrived at Rosario on the 16th.

The colonization of the Company's lands is progressing very fairly. The first colony at Roldan already numbers nearly five hundred souls.

Five leagues further on, and situated on a beautiful rise of ground near the river Coochoa, another colony has been founded within a month.

At Cañada de Gomez, where Mr. Krell's magnificent agricultural establishment is located, is a colony of English farmers.

At Tortugas, in the Province of Cordoba, the first steps are taken towards founding an Italian colony.

The delights of a London season may to some minds exemplify the sinfulness of pleasure.

The delay in the delivery of the European mails per Gironde has excited intense dissatisfaction.

nothing can be expected reasonable or unreasonable. We must continue to grin and bear it; there is nothing else for it.

We received yesterday a curious addition from Paraguay for our museum. It is a crucifix with the ladder, spears, etc., all neatly made within a pint bottle. We are told such pieces of the cotage of the peasantry of that country, who are very expert at the work.

The Revista de Buenos Ayres for the present month contains some very interesting papers, amongst others a review of education in this province, by our friend Don José M. Estrada, and a glance at unfortunate Paraguay, by his brother, Santiago. There are also articles on the politics of the day and other subjects.

The Government of Corrientes has contemplated the purchase of any more horses for its contingent in the field in Entre Rios, in consequence of the official reports that Lopez Jordau is almost on his last legs.

The Boas is in an awful state. The lighters there are buddled together in such confusion that there is no getting in or out with a cargo, and the shouting and squabbling that goes on all day amongst the peons and boatmen is terrible, and business is greatly impeded.

Much astonishment was caused on Tuesday by the announcement in a colleague of the arrival of port from the Main Barabbin with 126 immigrants from Genoa. This cannot be the vessel the destruction of which we announced some days ago.

Our colleagues mention the case of a merchant's clerk in this city who, having some trifling dispute with his employer, drew a revolver on him and fired, happily without effect.

According to the Tribuna of Montevideo Orión, who lately shot Florencio Varela in a duel, and his second escaped in a boat immediately after the catastrophe to some of the Guazu islands, from whence they crossed to Colovia. They are at present in Montevideo. The quarrel which led to the fatal encounter is said by the same authority to have originated at the Alcazar in this city.

occupation in marine navigation. They either herd in the lowest quarters of Buenos Ayres, Montevideo, and the larger towns, aggravating and increasing their dangerous population, or they swell the lawless population of the interior, and quarrel with the Gauchos.

Not many months ago President Sarmiento, accompanied by what was called a "brilliant cortege," paid a visit to several of the upper Argentine States. During that visit he was almost royally received by General Urquiza at his palatial residence in the State of Entre Rios.

There are no vessels now loading in Ensenada, but three or four cargoes of sheep will in a few months be shipped to the Falkland Islands: the price paid for picked sheep is $30, and any number to be had at that price. Live stock is not shipped from Ensenada free of duty, also fodder, etc., and the trade, although small, is a good one.

The report of the last meeting of the Central Argentine Railway Company, held in London, has come out in the packet, and is a document of much importance. The Land Company has been launched with the most signal success.

The following passengers may be expected here by the Southampton packet of the 9th of this month the La Plata.—For Buenos Ayres: Mr. Wig and wife, Miss Wig, and man servant, Mr. Frías, Mr. Day, Mr. E. Breton, Mr. Thurlys and party, Messrs. Glynes, Mr. L. Paul, and Messrs. Fowler.—Montevideo: Mr. McKinnon and party.—Fernambuco: Messrs. Knowles and Foster, and friend, and Mr. Albert Gbewy.—Rio de Janeiro: Mr. Foster.

The Messageries Impériales Company are about to start a line of fast steamers from Havre to these ports, the intermediate shipping places being Lisbon and Rio.

The report that President Batlle had been assassinated of course turns out a "bola;" there has not even been an attempt of the kind; there was another rumour last evening that he was killed in a fight with the rebels.

We understand that Miss Bateman, the celebrated English tragedienne, will soon pay a visit to the Plate. Ristori had better look to her laurels. Sig. Pestalardo has received the following letter from Mme. Ristori, dated, "Paris, May 23rd. My dear Friend—I cannot tell you how shocked I have been to learn by your letter that it was rumoured in Buenos Ayres that my daughter Bianca was dead.

Mr. Toppam, manager of Zimmerman, Yater and Co.'s, of Montevideo, who states yesterday there was nothing known in Montevideo about the death of President Batlle.

It was rumoured on 'Change to-day that President Batlle had been killed, but it is not believed. Colonel Bustillos, the Port Captain, seized a boat this morning with seventeen armed men making for the Banda Oriental.

Commodore Carroll, of the Biela, was expected on 'Change to-day. The French packet seems, did not beat the Biela coming up from Montevideo; on the contrary, the Biela was here before her. The Girondo left Montevideo on Sunday evening.

More bricks were sold on 'Change today, 600,000 for roof at 500 per cent. There was much said on 'Change to-day about the negotiation of a 'Provisional 100,000,000 loan by the house of Dickson & Co., of London.

Argentine Bank shares still keep rising; today 20 shares were sold at 130 prom., and buyers at that rate, but no sellers.
