

nesday still floating feet upwards. A very interesting letter from an engineer, published in another column, refers to a simple apparatus by which such awful accidents as that of Sunday last can be effectually prevented.

and ten years ago in this city. Still our Gallie residents are 'toursurs gal' and accident to keep them alive.

the town, without a policeman to dog his foot steps. The police magistrate (Dife Político) has summary power in respect to small offences, and the fact and prospect with which he deals out justice, are the secret of the orderly condition of the place.

waters, conjured up a scene of revelry in days gone by. As you stand on the hill overlooking the Exhibition grounds, now enveloped in shades of twilight and descending gloom, suddenly a stream of light, various and many colored, involves the gardens, spreading along the avenues, just as you may have seen at the Monte Pincio of Rome, or from Corcovado at Rio Janeiro.

many of these shrubs, I am sorry to add, are already dead, the spots having been during the winter too black for them. All the materials necessary for enclosing and ornamenting the graves can be purchased on the spot at a reasonable price.

LOSS OF THE AMERICA. B. AYRES, Dec. 28, '71. To the Editors of THE STANDARD. Gentlemen: When it is considered that for the sum of £10 lbs. a perfectly reliable apparatus can be obtained to test the pressure of any boiler, and also that Patent Valve and Detector Alarms are invented, whereby the salvation of the whole of the unfortunate individuals now lost could have been secured; when these simple appliances are invented, tested, and proved for years, what can anyone say?

There is one advantage Parana has over Buenos Ayres, New York, and some cities I know in the 'Old Country'. It escapes the interminable talk of Common-councilmen, and the voluminous reports of Committees of improvement, which so generally prove added incubations.

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE EXHIBITION. It was indeed a bold conception to start an Exhibition in the heart of the Republic, surrounded by uninhabited wastes, and few people thought it ever could be carried out so far from the sea-board, which is the highway of our trade and commerce.
