delicacies being the bill of fare. As the children expect Le petit Noel to deposit in their shoes ranged before the chimney...

The Minister of Finance, Poncey Quertier, is a very popular and able man. As a mill owner he is a millionaire. His jolly, rustic look is sufficient to inspire confidence.

There appears to be a fresh panic setting in about the Bank, and the silver coin which was reappearing is again retiring to its hiding ground.

Home politics are calmer. The prospect of Royalty and Imperialism are gaining smaller degrees. The Legationists have thrown up the sponge, and the Orleansists have lost it.

And very nearly sunk France with it. The country will have no more governments of expedients, hazard, or occasion. The Republic is taking root, and the nation is feeling the advantage of directly managing its own affairs.

Paris is in a sulky mood because the Representatives, the "country party" in the Assembly, will not consent to resume their deliberations in the city.

It is all this may be true enough, but it is not the kind of change of the national policy, or rather a party of sets of politicians of this capital who lead or may lead astray the country into whatever extremes they please.

UNITED STATES. THE MURDER OF MR. FISK.

The events leading to the assassination of Mr. Fisk, jun., the leader of the Erie Ring in New York, as gleaned from the American papers, appear as follows: The assassination is to be traced first of all to his guilty passion for an artful and unscrupulous woman; but there is little doubt that this passion might have been indulged in with safety had not its history been mixed up in a very curious way with the intrigues which have for several years robbed the owners of the Erie Railway of their property.
