REVIEW FOR EUROPE.

Congress has auspiciously begun business for the year by taking up a project for prolonging the Villa Maria and Rio Cuarto Railway as far as San Luis, which would cost £600,000 at the same rate as the Rio Cuarto line, the distance being 120 miles.

Among the most important suggestions of the National Government to Congress is a comprehensive scheme to encourage immigration in a similar way to what is the usage in the United States, by establishing a Lands Department where new comers can apply for information and free grants of land, the government proposing to cut up Misiones, and a Federal tract of 100 square leagues (700,000 acres), in Cordoba into farm lots, say of 100 acres each.

Public works of every kind command the attention of our rulers, and as there is every appearance of some years of tranquillity it is impossible to exaggerate the flattering prospect which the growing trade and resources of the country seem to promise.

The new Governor, Acosta, has appointed his Ministers: Dr. Pinedo, of Government; Don Francisco Madero, of Finance. Both these gentlemen are much esteemed, and are apt to prove worthy of the high trust.

The autumn meeting of the Buenos Ayres Athletic Sports came off at Palermo with great success, in presence of two thousand ladies and gentlemen, chiefly belonging to the foreign community.

Some commotion has been caused in Argentine circles by a rumor that Bolivia has passed a law to annex the Argentine territory of Orma, which is a dependency of the province of Salta, on the Rio Bermejo, containing some 10,500 inhabitants.

At the opening of the Brazilian Chambers, the speech of the Emperor was of a very pacific character as regarded the Paraguayan difficulty with the Argentine Republic.

Montevideoan advices show that the epidemic has not gained ground, and is now visibly on the decline. It was, doubtless, owing to the improved water-supply and general sanitary condition that the plague did not get a firm footing there.

much improved its traffic returns since opened to Clancones.

As regards the Northern Railway of Buenos Ayres, we are informed that the net earnings last year were not 30 per cent, as the Minister stated, but only 11 per cent on the capital.

For commercial items we refer our readers to our mercantile columns.

MATERIAL PROGRESS.

The transformation which the Argentine Provinces are at present undergoing at the hands of engineers, railway navvies, road contractors, bridge builders, telegraph layers, land and water surveyors, and concessionaires of every kind, is quite a new chapter in the history of the country.

From the snowy fastnesses of the Andes to the banks of the Paraná from the Bermejo to Patagonia; in the depths of the Indian pampas; among the deserts of Rioja, the swamps of Corrientes, the silent Missions of Uruguay, the forests of the Chaco, the remote frontiers of Bolivia and Paraguay—we might see the works of science overcoming every obstacle, and the engineers with their telegraph wires, railway iron and other implements of progress, laying the solid foundations for a new order of things which is destined quickly to raise this Republic in the scale of civilized nations.

These ideas occur to us in reading the report of the Home Department on the opening of Congress, passing in review the various works concluded under the auspices of the National Government. Whatever shortcomings are to be ascribed to our rulers and legislators imperfect punishment of crime and inadequate protection for life and property it cannot be denied that President Sarmiento and his Ministers have been active in Public Works and the Casa Administrativa in the Province of B. Ayres.

The laying down of telegraph wires, last year, was on so vast a scale that a Buenos Ayres is now in immediate communication with Tucuman, Core rientes and Mendoza, on the three great routes to Bolivia, Paraguay and Chile. The works are also progressing to Jujuy and Catamarca in the north, from Concepcion to Concordia in the east, and from Mendoza across the Andes in the west; the last is to be opened to traffic to Valparaiso in a few days.

Railways are not made so quickly as telegraphs, but the two lines actually in construction are far advanced. The Rio Cuarto line, as Mr. Stuart promises, will be completed by December, the Government has already paid the contractors £200,000, and is to pay a further large amount by the end of May.

At the opening of the Brazilian Chambers, the speech of the Emperor was of a very pacific character as regarded the Paraguayan difficulty with the Argentine Republic.

for a bridge at Nogoya in Entre Rios, at Rio Salí in Tucuman, and over the rivers Corrientes and Batel, which will be commenced when Congress approves same: that over Rio Corrientes will be at Paso Lucero, 520 ft. in length, comprising 16 spans, and 180 feet wide, to cost 136,500$; that over the Batel in same province of Corrientes, will be at Paso Cerro, and cost 27,000$.

The National engineer Mr. Dahlquist is at present surveying the Rio Dulce, in San Juan, to see if it can be turned back into its old bed, the Government of the Province contributing 200 workmen for the purpose. Surveys have also been made for prolonging the Rio Cuarto railway as far as Mendoza; for improving the Portillo and Espallata passes and making a coach road over the Andes; and for building a quay at Corrientes, to cost 36,700$, the plans of which were burnt in the America. The National Government is anxious to establish Artesian wells in Rioja and San Juan, where irrigation is much needed, and the boring implements have been sent up to Rioja.

The Province of Cordoba has ceded to the Nat. Government 100 sq. leagues of land, which the Minister requests Congress may allow him to cut up in Homestead farms for immigrants (it would give 6,500 farm-lots of 100 acres each). The Government has received numerous proposals for sending out immigrants but can do nothing if prevented from offering land-grants, and as the Misiones territory would be highly suitable a survey is solicited of the same, at the same time ascertaining how far the Upper Uruguay and Alto Paraná may be made navigable.

President Sarmiento urges with much reason the necessity of at once establishing a Lands Department for the use of new-comers; and also of a National Bank with branches in all the Provinces.

There is one portion of the Minister's report which we cannot examine in detail, namely the new highways; suffice it to say that roads have been completed, this year, from Papagayos to Canche (33,000$); from Catamarca to Casa de Piedra and Valle Parana (9,651$); from Salta to Quebrada Toro (3,745$); besides the following in course of construction—Catamarca to Totoral; Salta to Quebrada Escoipe; Cordoba to San Juan; Cordoba (Montequinta) to Abipones de Santiago; Mendoza to San Juan; Villa Maria to San Juan. Tenders are called for roads through San Luis; also from Cobos to Salta. Four 'casillas' of refuge have been erected in the Cordillera at a cost of 16,000$, and three more are in course of construction.

Whatever his political opponents may urge, Mr. Castro, at least, has the satisfaction of knowing that no other Governor of Buenos Ayres ever descended from the chair of state with a more general vote of thanks for his services; and well does he deserve it. For the first time in the history of the province we have been ruled by a sound, practical man, who was every thing but a politician. The brightest and best four years' history of Buenos Ayres have been the years of Mr. Castro's administration; and if Mr. Acosta but follows in the footsteps of his predecessor, Buenos Ayres will soon become one of the finest cities on the continent.

Whatever his political opponents may urge, Mr. Castro, at least, has the satisfaction of knowing that no other Governor of Buenos Ayres ever descended from the chair of state with a more general vote of thanks for his services; and well does he deserve it.

purpose, and if not sufficient the Government shall apply to Congress to devise the rest.

It seems to us that the proposers of the bill might have put Mendoza instead of San Luis, for if the line cost no more than the Rio Cuarto one (and there is no reason to suppose it should) the surplus in question would suffice to make a railway of 260 miles, at £5,000 a mile.

From Villa Maria to Rio Cuarto is 82 miles and the cost is 2,150,000$, or £5,244 per mile.

From San Luis to Mendoza is 150 miles and would cost at the same rate 3,750,000$.

The numerous bridges that have been erected in the country districts, are of themselves noble monuments of an administration, and the reduced price of public land coupled with the unprecedented large sales in the land office during the last few years, reveal the successful interest of the Government for the farmer.

All these and one hundred other items of similar character speak facts that must not be overlooked. Mr. Castro was a Governor without any political aims, and with no other view save a cord of engineering, land surveys, electricians and plate layers. No wonder that he found little favor with many of our colleagues, and that now that he has descended from power there are writers to question his merits and impeach his principles.

The Castro administration will be remembered by the citizens as the Augustan age—a period when sound common sense directed the affairs of state; and, although here and there we may be told of some shortcomings, upon the whole it has proved the most progressive epoch in the country's history.

Congress has taken up a suggestion we made last week, relative to the propriety of devoting the surplus from the funds for the Tucuman Railway towards a prolongation of the Rio Cuarto line as far as the foot of the Andes.

By the close of 1872, Pres. Sarmiento will be opened, forming as it were a branch of the Rio Cuarto line, extending at least to Rio de los Andes, and running 82 miles towards the Andes.

The project of law yesterday submitted to Congress, and now before committee, runs as follows—

Art. 1st. The Executive shall at once call for proposals to prolong the Rio Cuarto railway as far as the city of San Luis.

that in such decisions no law courts or law advisers of other countries can be judges, not having any jurisdiction, or even the requisite knowledge of the laws of the country in which the sentence has been passed.

420,125 square metres, equal to 100 acres English, or rather more than 60 manzanas of Montevideoan measurement, which at a moderate valuation of $50 per metre would be worth to the city treasury the sum of 21 million hard dollars or double the cost of the proposed harbor and works.

Messrs. Waring's plan also includes a graving-dock for repair of vessels at the foot of Perez Castellanos street and 7 moles or wharves for landing or shipping cargoes, besides two other moles, the Lobos, and one at the corner above-mentioned.

It is a pity that in all these Spanish countries there is such a jealousy of allowing any foreign concessionaire to carry on a work of public improvement, where the grounds that they are likely to make, are so many and so good. We feel that we shall be at all events taking a weight off the minds of the Editor of the Debates and his friends by assuring him that reclaimed lands or "terrenos reclamados" have no possible connection or relation with "reclamacion contra el Estado" generally known as Foreign Claims: they mean such land as is won from the Ocean or restored to arable condition by engineering skill, in those countries where civil wars are unknown, where foreigners enjoy perfect security and have never any "reclamacion" against government, where commerce and industry and prosperity go hand in hand, with peace, virtue and morality in their train.

Thursday was a beautiful day and the attendance at Palermo comprised some 2,000 of the rank and file of the beauty and fashion of our community, with a sprinkling of Argentines, French, Germans, and other nationalities. There were ladies, diplomats, clergy-men, bankers, merchants, consuls, railway directors, brokers, editors, shop-keepers and the boys of the Palermo Military college, on the ground. It was said that larger attendances were seen in former years, but the Grand Stand presented such an array of beauty as could hardly be surpassed. The arrangements were perfect in every respect, and some 20 gentlemen of our mercantile circles kept the course, aided by half-a-dozen policemen, whose services were happily unnecessary.

High Jump Standing. A. Campion 4 ft. 2. and A. Tyndale 4 ft. 1. in. Campion won easily and made have done a couple of inches more.

High Jump Running. A. Campion 5 feet, J.C. Batman 4.11. Campion again won. He is certainly the best jumper that has appeared on the Palermo ground.

Flat Race of 100 yards. H. Oxenford won in 11 seconds, F. L. Jacobs 2nd. The former won easily. Delisle was left at the post, and started at least ten yards in the rear of the others.

Youth's Race of 300 yards. R. Marshall won in 35 seconds. J. A. Marshall second. Methwin ran away from the other competitors.

Mile Race. J. W. Sylvester won in 5 mins. 11 secs. J.B. Gibbs came in second. This had been looked forward to as the great event of the day, and a hard struggle was anticipated between Sylvester and Herald, the former giving ten yards. A fair start was effected, Herald going off at a good pace, Sylvester just keeping his distance, the others gradually falling back. About half way in the second round Sylvester was now running second, ran up within a stride of Herald, which distance he kept to about the same place in the third round, when he made a spurt and passed him, after which he steadily increased his lead. About 200 yards from home Herald stopped and was passed by Gibbs and Watson, who came in a long distance behind the winner.

Pole-leaping. G.M. Aitken, 8 ft. 6 in., J.F. Jacobs 8 ft. 3 in. Aitken was in good style. Jacobs appeared rather heavy for the work.

High Jump Standing. A. Campion 4 ft. 2. and A. Tyndale 4 ft. 1. in. Campion won easily and made have done a couple of inches more.

High Jump Running. A. Campion 5 feet, J.C. Batman 4.11. Campion again won. He is certainly the best jumper that has appeared on the Palermo ground.

There is no port in South America where it would be easier to build a safe and commodious harbor for shipping than Montevideo, none more difficult than Buenos Ayres, and hence it has often appeared to us a mistake that the two River Plate Republics were not one, with a railway from Montevideo to Buenos Ayres, bridging the Uruguay and Paraná in the same manner as the Victoria Tubular over the St. Lawrence, and making Montevideo the seaport, Buenos Ayres the seat of government, of one vast republic something like what Sr. Elizalde told Mr. Thornton he should probably like to see.

THE EXAMPLE OF AUSTRALIA.

There are few countries so closely resembling the Argentine Republic in many particulars as the rising colonies of Australia...

Melbourne advices of Feb. 16th announce an important enterprise, which is no less than to make a railway, 2,000 miles long...

As an instance of the encouragement in Australia to agriculture we observe Queensland gives a bonus of 10 acres to any farmer for every bale of cotton he exports...

The development of railways is also most beneficial, and in this we have the advantage of Australia for its railways only yield 3 per cent. on the cost...

The Australians are certainly showing how empires are founded, and it will be a lamentable oversight if we do not copy after them.

Table with 4 columns: Country, Exports, Revenue, Population. Includes New S. Wales, Western Australia, South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania, New Zealand, Total 7 Colonies.

THE CORDILLERA'S MAILS.

Yesterday we received per 'Cooter' the long looked for mails per Cordillera...

In the House of Lords yesterday, in reply to Lord Stanhope, Earl Granville stated that the Government had determined that they could, without prejudicing to their position in reference to the American claims...

Here we find that the 7 Australian colonies in the aggregate have a smaller population than the Argentine Republic, but their exports are nearly 6 times the value of ours...

In New South Wales the figures would be £18 exports and £6 revenue.

In South Australia, £23 exports and £8 revenue.

In Victoria, £28 exports and £6 revenue.

In W. Australia, £9 exports and 4½ revenue.

In Queensland, £20 exports and £7 revenue.

In Tasmania, £10 exports and £3½ revenue.

In New Zealand, £21 exports and £9 revenue.

In the Argentine Republic, £34 exports and £2 revenue.

Thus it will be seen that Buenos Ayres is almost on a par with West Australia and Tasmania in exports, and ahead of both those countries in revenue.

It occurs to any reader that the Argentine Republic will be almost as flourishing as Australia when the other 13 provinces come up to the level of Buenos Ayres.

This has been the programme steadily and successfully followed by all the governments of the Australian colonies for the last 20 years.

Assisted immigration has been on so vast a scale that the single colony of Victoria, had brought out 154,629 persons, or one-sixth of the total number of arrivals...

The development of railways is also most beneficial, and in this we have the advantage of Australia for its railways only yield 3 per cent. on the cost...

The Marquis of Lansdowne, in a letter to the Times, says that he regards the extension of the policy of the Irish Land Act to Scotland and England...

Another illustration of the lawless practices attending the coolie trade in the South Seas is furnished by the report of an attack upon the British Consul at Fiji.

The Rosario Public Library is to be opened in a few days. The Commission has collected about a thousand volumes, which with subscriptions...

London, Friday Evening. There has been a fair inquiry for accommodation in the discount market, with rates firm, at 4 per cent. for best three months' paper.

On 'Change, foreign bills generally

In the House of Commons, Mr. Gladstone, in reply to Mr. Rathbone...

Paraguay Loan advanced £3, Uruguay 1, and Russian (1871) are higher.

American Bonds steady. The railway market has been good, but prices left off slightly below the best.

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

May 13. Mr. Diaz has published his report as Administrator of the Custom House in Rosario...

There is a slight falling-off of the revenue as compared with 1870; but when we take into account the three months paralyzation consequent on the yellow fever...

According to the report, the revenue for importations in 1871, allowing for amounts belonging to the year before and collections in 1872...

Table with 3 columns: Importation, Against in 1870, $ U.S. 828,912, 987,410.

A considerable decrease, but now more than accounted for by the closing of the ports.

General Revenue. Revenue from Imports of 1871. Paid here 1,290,662. Do. merchandise on transit 828,913.

Value of merchandise imported in the year 1871 9,619,323. Value of do. exported 5,208,687.

This would show apparently a balance against the country of 4,312,636 hard dollars.

According to the Epoch, the Spanish Speech from the Throne will announce a modification of the present electoral law, and a return to the system of double elections.

Mr. Wilcken, the able secretary of more offered; those on Franco, however, were scarce.

omla valianta... the wise and witty King really said...

The following (for our English readers) from the same famous address...

"Gentlemen, as time advanced it was not difficult to perceive that extravagance was being substituted for energy by the Government...

The greatest obscurity exists respecting the much talked of movements of the Bolivians. A broker who was connected in the Interior stated on 'Change to-day that the territory invaded is not Salta or Oran...

The English papers in the Cordillera bring some important news, which will be found in another column. By far the most serious item is the alarming tension of the relations between Great Britain and France...

The memorial tablets of the late Dr. Reed, of the British Church some days ago. They are greatly admired. We learn that the following particulars of the death of the late Major Ortega...

From the Interior we learn that the Salta papers do not believe in any rupture with Bolivia; they are pretty near the scene of action, and ought to know. From Tucuman and Santiago nothing new; from Mendoza the Government is still planning hydraulic and irrigation works...

A madman escaped from the San Roque Hospital some nights since, but was followed and recaptured at the Plaza Once. The madman and tugged him into bed; but the next morning the 'cama' was found empty...

A lady who came into town on Monday night by the Flores Tramway was robbed of her well filled purse, as she alighted, by two men who had followed her and came in from 'sweet Auburn' in the same car. It is needless to say that the lady, female-fashion and oh! what a fashion! carried her legal tender in her hand...

"The Government has authorized the chief of the stamp office to buy an iron safe!" Indeed. We trust it authorizes him to have what he likes for dinner, and to wear a jerry hat...
