

MAUA BANK,
101-103 CALLE CANGALLO

The Office of this Bank having been removed to the above spacious building, in order to suit the increasing volume of business, the public is informed that the following securities are carried on its books and are available for deposit:

First—Bills and obligations with good signatures are discounted on conventional terms.

Second—Money is advanced on mercantile and other securities approved of by the Manager.

Third—Accounts current are opened with Merchants or other parties who may prefer depositing endorsed and transferred securities, against which they may draw up to an amount previously arranged under conditions established for such class of operations.

Fourth—Money is received in account current bearing interest from day of deposit, which is accumulated in favor of the parties every three months, the depositors being allowed to retire at any time, by means of cheques, part or the full amount at their own risk, save when the quantity exceeds three hundred doubloons or one hundred pesos, these hundred doubloons or one hundred pesos being deposited in a safe in the vault of the Bank, and the receipt required to be given to the Treasurer of the Bank.

Fifth—Bills or letters of credit are drawn and taken on Montevideo, Rosario, Sta. Fe, Salto, Oriental, Paysandu, Rio Negro, and other places in the Brazil, England and elsewhere, as also in other places, of which notice will be given hereafter.

Finally, the Bank undertakes and executes all legitimate transactions within the scope of banking operations.

The establishment is always open from 10 a.m. till 3 p.m.

THE PAMPA MAILS.

THREE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE. INUNDATION IN FRANCE. THE SPANISH CRISIS. IMPORTANT FROM BRAZIL.

Rio Janeiro, June 27th. The Pampa has come in with 3 days later from Europe, dates to June 7th, confirming the Lisbon dates of June 4th per Lusitania. The Alabama Question continues to engross public and parliamentary attention in England, so much so as to imperil the position of the Gladstone Cabinet.

A stormy debate occurred in the House of Lords, in which Earl Granville was assailed by Lords Derby, Salisbury, Cairns and Grey, who insisted that the Government should repeat a positive declaration that Great Britain could not and would not take part in the Geneva Arbitration until the U. States formally withdrew the Indirect Claims. The Marquis of Salisbury declared the dignity of England to be in danger. Lord Derby taunted the Government with repeated concessions, only followed by deceptions. Lord Grey called for some assurance to allay the anxiety of the public. Earl Granville's replies were ambiguous; he repelled the insinuation of compromising the dignity of the country, and said it would be dangerous to a pacific solution if the documents exchanged on the question were now published. Lord Russell was prevented by domestic affairs from taking part in the debate. In the House of Commons Mr. Gladstone promised to submit whatever protocol or treaty agreed on with the Washington Cabinet, before signing it. The Cabinet of St. Petersburg is said to watch with anxiety the course of politics in the United States, and it is believed that the friendly relations between the two countries depend on the issue whether Horace Greely be elected President.

The Italian Princes are being feted with great demonstrations at Berlin; they are the guests of the Emperor William, and go about much in company with the Imperial family. It seems Prince Bismarck was not unwell during his recent retirement at his country-house of Varzin, but elaborating new schemes to alter the general condition of things in Northern Europe; he publishes the programme of a direct line of railway from Antwerp to Prussia, so as to divert English passenger traffic from the Dover and Calais route. The sole difficulty between Franco and Germany as to evacuation of the six departments, in case the French pay up in advance the whole war-indemnity, turns upon the fortified town of Belfort, which the Germans declare their intention to retain until March 3rd 1874, in any event whereas the French naturally expect that this shall be restored with the other places held in pledge for the indemnity. Dreadful inundations have occurred on the Rhone and Saone, flooding all the country between Chalons and Lyons. The suburbs of Macon are under water; houses washed away.

Public agitation in Spain has not entirely cooled down. Many of the Carlists have submitted, others are still in arms, but the brother of the deputy who signed for them in the Convention of Amoravicta came to Madrid on June 4th and declared that if even the Cortes cancelled the treaty signed by Marshal Serrano the Carlists were ready to make reasonable terms with the Government. Serrano stated that he had hardly to shoot any of his soldiers for desertion; in the Senate, before taking the oath as Prime-Minister, he declared his adherence to the programme enunciated by Topete and the Ministers.

A fleet of six American men-of-war arrived at Gibraltar from the Mediterranean.

Telegrams received at Cadiz report the Mexican revolution at an end; Porfirio Diaz and his friends overthrown.

The Italian Government in view of a possibility that Pius IX, now so advanced in years, may soon die, is taking measures to secure friends among the Cardinals, so as if possible to obtain that the next Pope may entertain proposals for an 'entente cordiale' with the King's Cabinet in Rome.

The ceremony of laying the foundation-stone of the new Bolsa or Exchange in Rio Janeiro took place yesterday with great eclat. At 11.15 a.m. the special committee met at the Old Exchange, comprising Messrs. Lima, Almeida, Coelho, Hollocombe, Harrah, Morrisset, Printz, Frias, Sorez, Mamede, Leheria, Martin Carre, Gross and Romangera, accompanied by Mr. Kunhardt, secretary, Dr. Fonseca Lesa engineer, Pedro Bossio architect, and Rev. M. Carvalho chaplain. On arriving at the appointed site, where Ruas Direita and Alameda cross, they found the place gaily decorated with flags and crowded with people. After blessing the stone it was lowered by Sor Lima, President of the Exchange and the festivity concluded with a grand dejeuner. The funds for the new Exchange are subscribed by the members. It is earnestly hoped that the Government will now proceed to build a new Post-office, suitable for this great city.

The Emperor and Empress will lay the foundation-stone of the new Blind Asylum on Saturday, 29th June. His Majesty presided last evening at the Medical Association.

His Excellency Figueira do Mello is succeeded, in the Presidency of Rio Grande do Sul by Dr. Costa Pereira. Exchange on England 24 1/2 bank, 24 3/8 private bids. Sovereigns 9,960. Bonita and Pascal hourly expected with news from Europe.

The Pampa has 677 emigrants, mostly Italians, for the River Plate.

has caused a reduction of annual taxation to the amount of 18 millions. While we write they are paying off the debt at the rate of 12 millions a month, and the credit of the country has risen so much that the Bonds which were quoted at 82 1/2 when Grant assumed office are now worth 101. At the same time the wealth of the people has kept pace with the enormous increase of population, revenue, and trade. In 1850, every inhabitant of the States represented property to the value of $266; in 1860 the proportion was $449; at present it is $750.

Nor is it only in railways and such statistics that the growth of the nation is evidenced. Look at the returns of schools, where you will find some of the new Western States with a larger number of public schools than all Europe collectively. Another gauge of intellectual progress may be had in the newspaper statistics; the daily circulation in the United States averages 4 million papers, or more than double that of Great Britain and Ireland. It is next to impossible to find an American who does not read and write. Here is the real secret of the greatness of the people. And whether we turn our attention to their institutions of charity, public departments, prisons, hotels, or whatever pertains to public welfare and convenience, we see everywhere much that deserves imitation.

In one branch of national greatness the United States hold a second rank, yielding the first to England, and that is, the tonnage of their merchant shipping (4 1/2 million tons against 5 1/2 for England), and yet the tonnage of the United States is gigantic, far exceeding those of France, Italy, Spain, Germany, Russia and Austria collectively. And even in steamers the Americans have 35,000 tons more than we have. But whatever they are behind England in shipping is more than compensated in railways, for their railroad goods' traffic represents two thousand millions sterling per annum.

The greatness of the United States must always be a source of pride to Englishmen, whose blood, language, and institutions the Americans have inherited; but how much more so to Americans themselves, who can point to what progress they have made even in the last ten years, and say—

"Here, there is still room for the entire population of Europe. The Government lands marked out for immigrants cover 1450 millions acres yet undisposed of. We are laying down 3000 miles of railway yearly, to open up new territory. We offer the fullest protection for life and property, the utmost liberty in all matters of religion, the most perfect system of general education, the lightest taxes of any first class nation, the greatest variety of soil and climate, and the means of acquiring wealth, honor, and distinction, on easier terms than in any other part of the Globe."

No fitter occasion than this national anniversary could be allowed us for congratulating the American people upon the peaceful arrangement of the Alabama Question, one which was calculated to awaken the jealousy and bitterness that in other countries invariably leads to war. Happily for the cause of Humanity the principles of peace and fraternal amity have prevailed, and the example which England and America have set to other nations will not be lost. May we not also congratulate the Congress of Washington for having introduced [according to advices received yesterday] a more liberal policy in their wool-tariff which so directly affects the interests of the River Plate.

THE AMERICAN MAILS.

New York, May 23, 1872.

Contrary to every expectation the American mails were delivered yesterday, no body well knows how they came but it is generally supposed that they were brought down by a special copter chartered at Botadogo.

Washington.—A report has been received at the War Department giving details of the massacre by Indians, Mexicans, and negroes combined at the persons in charge of a train of supplies en route to Fort Stockton, at Howard's Wells, near Old Fort Lancaster. The facts, as reported to Gen. Augur by Col. Meritt of the 9th Cavalry, under date of April 29, from Fort Clark, are as follows:—

"On the 20th inst. I arrived, with the cavalry of my command, at Howard's Wells a few hours too late to prevent one of the most horrible massacres that has ever been perpetrated on this frontier. A Mexican train, loaded with United States commissary and ordnance stores, on its way from San Antonio to Fort Stockton, was attacked by Indians, plundered, and burned. All the people with the train 17 persons in all, were either killed or wounded except one woman. My command buried 11 bodies and brought three wounded men and one woman into this post. The trail of the Indians was soon found, and a rapid pursuit was at once made by Companies A and H of the 9th Cavalry, commanded respectively by Capt. Cooney and Lieut. Vincent. After following the trail some seven or eight miles the cavalry came to the Indians in force on the summit of a steep and almost impassable bluff. Here a sharp fight occurred, in which I regret to say Lieut. Vincent fell mortally wounded. He died shortly after returning to camp, about 10 o'clock that night. Capt. Cooney was painfully, though not seriously, injured by his horse falling and dragging him some distance. Lack of ammunition and supplies, as the command was changing its station with limited transportation, made a protracted pursuit of the Indians impracticable. A woman who made reports that six Indians were killed in the fight.

Words fail to convey an idea of the sickening atrocities committed by the demons who overpowered the train men. Several of them were taken alive, tied to wagons, and burned. An old woman was carried some distance from the place of the attack and then shot and scalped. Her grandchild had his ears cut off, was scalped, and had his brains dashed out; while her daughter—the mother of the child—who witnessed it all, as also the death of her husband at the train, was carried off.

The train had nine men with it, and the remainder of the party were women and children. It is reported that the band consisted of from 125 to 150 men and was composed of Indians, Mexicans, and deserters from the army. Gen. Augur in this report expresses the opinion that the Indians came from Mexico, and this belief is sustained by the fact that Mexicans and deserters from colored regiments were with them—such deserters universally escaping into Mexico.

Washington, May 20.—A gentleman of prominence who has given great attention to the Treaty negotiation, says that he is confident that the recognition of the supplementary articles withdrawing the claim of indirect damages will result in the rejection by the Geneva Arbitrators of the direct claims growing out of the deprivations of the Rebel cruisers George, Shenandoah, and Florida. If the indirect claims had been allowed to go before the Tribunal their rejection would, he thinks, have been certain, but the Arbitrators would have been disposed to be liberal in making their allowances upon the claims for direct damages, and the British counsel would not have objected to this course, after they had seen the objectionable indirect claims thus happily set at rest. If the Arbitration should go on under the Supplementary Article, he is confident that Great Britain will contest the direct claims at every step, and that the result of the effort her counsel will make to prevent adjudgment favorable to the United States will be the rejection of all the claims arising from the deprivations of vessels for whose escape the British Government was not clearly to blame. The loss to American claimants, if this should be the result, is stated at about $10,000,000.

There is absolutely no news to-day in regard to the Washington Treaty. The amendment to Grantville's protocol, reported to the Senate by the Foreign Committee on Saturday has been printed, and a copy furnished to each Senator.

The heavy rains on Saturday night and Sunday have put out the mountain fires near Scranton, Penn., and afforded to vegetation a greatly needed relief. Over two miles of the Pennsylvania Coal Company's railroad were destroyed by fire. Dodge and Co.'s timber tract, near Tobyhanna, was damaged to the extent of nearly $100,000. Other lumber dealers have also lost heavily. On Wednesday the village of Tobyhanna was entirely surrounded by fire about 1 o'clock. It swept up within a short distance of the saw-mills, where thousands of feet of lumber are piled up in all directions. The villagers mustered all their force, and while the fire-engine kept the lumber and ground wet around the mills, the villagers beat back the fire until they got it under complete subjection. On Saturday, had it not been for a large swamp intervening between the town and the fire, on the north, there is no doubt but that the village would have been burned. The inhabitants of Tobyhanna and those who were the assisting them had a hard week of it, some of the men not having slept for four nights.

On Saturday afternoon, in Philadelphia, a fire broke out in a building on Dock-st., near Third-st., six stories high, having two grate fronts, built by Dr. Jayne, and adjoining his building recently burned. The building was occupied by Leizering's large printing establishment, a number of bookbinders, etc., and was totally destroyed. A five-story brown-stone building adjoining, occupied by The Commercial List (newspaper) was crushed by a falling wall. Jayne's building was for several years used as the Philadelphia Post-Office, and for some years for exhibitions of the Franklin Institute. It was one of the handsomest granite buildings in the city.

The House of Representatives on Monday passed the new Revenue Bill by a two-thirds majority. It makes a total reduction—including the exemption of tea and coffee already noted—of some forty-three millions of dollars. It takes ten per cent. off the duty on the following classes of articles: Cotton and the manufactures of cotton; wool and manufactures of wool; iron and manufactures of iron; all metals and manufactures of metals, except watches, jewels, and articles of ornament; steel and manufactures of steel; lumber and manufactures of lumber; printing paper; manufactures of gutta percha, india rubber and straw. It reduces the duty on salt from 24 cents and 18 cents to 12 cents and 8 cents $100 lb.; on bent and sole leather from 35 to 15¢ cent; on upper leather and tanned skins from 30 to 20¢ cent; on bituminous coal from 31.25 to 17.5¢ per ton; on books from 25 to 12 1/2 per cent. It also exempts from duty books in foreign languages and English books of editions unrevised for twenty years.

CENTRAL AMERICAN MAILS.

AMERICAN STEAMER FIRED INTO.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

The Panama Star and Herald contains the following startling news of an encounter in the Gulf of Mexico between a Spanish cruiser and an American filibuster steamer, which latter was conveying ammunition for the Cubans:—

The American steamer Edgar Stuart, Captain Pennell, arrived at Aspinwall on the 22d inst., seven days from Kingston, Jamaica, with a cargo of ammunition. This is the same vessel which caused so much excitement at Kingston lately, when she put in distress under suspicious circumstances. At one time the Captain of the U. S. S. Wyoming, now in Aspinwall, had placed a prize crew on board of her to take her to Key West, but the Governor of Jamaica decided the act illegal in British waters, and the crew was removed.

Our correspondent at Aspinwall sends us the following account of the Edgar Stuart's experience after leaving Jamaica, received from Captain Pennell:—We left Kingston on the 14th for Key West with a full crew and passengers. On the 17th we were surrounded by two Spanish men-of-war and lost two boats and four men. The fire was continued for three hours but our ship was too fast for them. After leaving the men-of-war, our ship being in a disabled condition, we kept away for Aspinwall where we arrived on the 21st. As soon as all is repaired we shall continue our course."

The Edgar Stuart had several barrels of resin, and also pork fat with which to bring up her fires; but in her effort to escape from the Spanish gunboat which chased her into Jamaica, she burned her boiler's bottom.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

THE FOURTH OF JULY! We comply with the most pleasing of duties in congratulating all our North American friends and readers on the recurrence of an anniversary so glorious in the annals of their great country. We do so with the more heartfelt pleasure this year, as the only question at issue between England and the United States may be virtually considered as amicably settled, and an example thereof held up to the civilized world, which, as sure as the sun rises, is destined at no distant day to have its full impression on Peoples, Czars and Kaisers, and, perhaps, finally rid Humanity of the Demon of War and its horrors. Long may our kindred nation, the Great Republic, enjoy its present unexampled progress and prosperity!

The mails from Europe by the Lusitania came up yesterday morning in the Sillex, and were delivered during the day. We publish some extracts from the English papers to hand, but the principal news to the same date was published a week ago in this and the native papers.

The murder is out respecting the 'burst up' of the famous Expedition to the Desert conceived in the Napoleonic brain of Dr. Gainza, and which that distinguished officer intended to command in Chief. But War Ministers propose and the 'hacendados' dispose in this matter. To enable Dr. Gainza to march up the hill and down again at the head of the National Cohorts, horses were necessary; the suffering farmers were appealed to, and they promised everything, trices, money, and bullock-carts, as glibly as a bride promises love, honor, and obedience. When Dr. D. demanded the delivery of the first, a most influential number of the first, a more trifling of the second, and none of the third. The Southern estancieros only sympathize with themselves to the extent of 500 horses and 4200 paper dollars. So much the worse for them, though it is perfectly monstrous that they should be asked for their horses for a service which they already pay enormous taxes to keep in a state of efficiency. The fiasco proves, however, that the estancieros have very little faith in Dr. Gainza's magnificent strategic plans for conquering a few wretched Indian tribes, and that, on reflection, they have no intention of throwing good money after the bad coin they have already so unprofitably paid in taxes to support our miserably mismanaged War Office.

Papavichalopoulos!!!! What a name for a Finance Minister! To English ears it smacks of foreign bonds, beautifully engraved coupons, and high interest. What a contrast between Papavichalopoulos and Papa Dominguez! In finance a stiff, unpronounceable name is half the battle. A London paper says:—

"Mr. Louis Drucker, the commissioner of the Greek bondholders in Holland, in a letter dated Athens, the 18th May, and addressed to the Chairman of the Council of Foreign Bondholders, announces his arrival in that capital. Having been requested, at an interview with Monsieur Papavichalopoulos, the Greek Minister of Finance, to submit a proposition, he stated that the Greek Five per Cent. Bonds outstanding reached £2,430,000, and amounted, with accrued interest, to about £3,000,000."

The favorite opera 'Marta' was performed at the Opera House on Tuesday evening to a select, but, owing to the inclement weather, rather scanty audience. Madlle. Escalante was the prima donna of the evening, and acquitted herself in a manner that a crowded house would have thoroughly enjoyed and applauded; as it was, she won the heartfelt plaudits from those present. Although not gifted with a voice of the first order, Madlle. Escalante is always effective, so correct is her style of vocalisation, which is quite free from any illegitimate attempts to entrap the audience into applause. Each time we hear this most promising singer we feel the more certain that there are solid triumphs in store for her in the future. She acted and sang the role of Marta exceedingly well, and the piece de resistance of the opera, our lovely 'Last Rose of Summer,' was sung with a depth of feeling and truthfulness of expression that Catherine Hayes herself would have applauded, as the last edifice built on a vociferous round of 'bravos' burst from all parts of the house. In the concerted parts the fair cantatrice was equally successful, her 'duo' with Lionel in the third act obtaining the honor of a call to the footlights for both artists. Sara Beriot did very well as Nancy. Sr. Perotti appears to much greater advantage as Lionel than in any character he has yet attempted here. He sang all his music with unusual taste and feeling, 'M'Appari' bringing down the house and narrowly escaping an encore. Rossi Ghelli, in our humble opinion the most thorough artist on our lyric boards, was very good as Placido. What a pity it is that time must tell on such a fine voice! In the spinning wheel quartette Sr. Ghelli was not heard sufficiently; but the famous refrain in praise of porter-beer was capitally sung, and the lovely solo in the last act still better, both bringing down hearty approbation. Sr. Ruiz as Tristan made the most of his insignificant role. Chorus and orchestra were good, but some incongruities in the appointments, the javelins among others, were failed to understand. The good, but very small ship, Sillex, commanded by the amiable Captain Goulding, arrived yesterday from Montevideo. She brought a large consignment of fish, the American mails per Lusitania, and a large number of passengers. Among other distinguished personages our Special Correspondent, Mr. George Drabble, Gen. Gelly Obes, Rev. Mr. Shields, Mr. Moores, Mr. McKeckey, Mr. Dunne, Mr. Dalgleish, Mr. Thompson, Mr. Dr. W. Winter, formerly of Sam. Wheelwright and Co., Rosary, Mons. Ronquard, and the Santa Cruz oil and fish factory, and several others. The sparseness of accommodation which rendered an early rush to the 'bunks' necessary, together with the roughness of the night prevented the possibility of interviewing General Gelly, otherwise some valuable information might have been acquired as to the fighting propensities of the Brazilians from their old ally in the Paraguayan campaign.

A passenger per Calderon informs us that six large field pieces, mounted on six wheels, were sent from Rio to Rio Grande. This fact is to be attributed more to the internal requirements of the Empire than to a connection with the Argentine question. Any hostile movement would of course be premature until the result of the Mitre mission is decided.

We are requested to state that the United States Consulate will be closed today as far as business is concerned. We hear from Rio that Mrs. Buckley, father of the late Mr. Buckley, who she is fast recovering under the competent care of Dr. Fairbairn. We received yesterday the copy of a letter addressed by Mr. Scully, editor of the Anglo-Brazilian Times, to President Sarmento, on the Brazilian question. The note in question is stiffish, but honest and straightforward; we shall publish it to-morrow.

In another column we publish news from Europe to the 7th ult., brought to Rio by the steamer Greater. It is a relief for those who have yet to read the Lusitania's now somewhat 'familiar' intelligence. Englishmen, and women too, naturally enjoy a race, whether the goal be life, a wife, or the dollar. The ladies (God bless them all) as a general rule prefer seeing a tussle of the second description, the first being too strong for their nerves, and the other anything in the world, is nothing without them, and we indulge a hope that the Grand Stand and strings of equipments at Belgrano on Tuesday next will show a muster of beauty and 'toilettes' that 'glorious Goodwood' would be proud to claim.

Considerable indignation seems to be excited by the terms of the Carlist amnesty. The Governor and Corporation of Bilbao are said to have resigned in disgust; though the proclamation of Serrano states that, after three days, all who are found bearing arms will be shot. It is feared that this leniency will tend to a recurrence of the insurrection. Explanation was given of the retirement of Sr. Sagasta from the Spanish Ministry by Admiral Topete, in reply to an interpellation, the start of the retirement, but added that it was not through any failure of confidence in Sr. Sagasta on the part either of the Chambers or the Crown.

Among the items of American news come details of a terrible disaster to the seal-fishing fleet on the coasts of Labrador and Newfoundland. Four steamers and nearly forty sailing vessels are reported to have been wrecked by a hurricane which has destroyed the whole of the fleet, and the destruction that all the crews, averaging ninety men, perished.

Professional lectures on current political questions are sufficiently rare to render noticeable the fact that the Right Hon. Montagu Bernard, D.C.L., of All Souls, Oxford, Chichele Professor of International Law, gave a public address on the Treaty of Washington. Reviewing previous causes of misunderstanding between Great Britain and America, such as the Fishery Question and the Columbia Boundary Line, he gave a succinct account of which he would wish to see, and concluded with a congratulation that the idea of amicable treatment on the part of Great Britain was dying out in America.

A disturbance, of which the rumours seem somewhat exaggerated, has occurred at Sucre. Two sailors belonging to the naval barracks were said to have been confined in the dead-house instead of the usual place of arrest, and application was made by their messmates to the officer of the watch for their release. Compliance being refused, without orders from the commanding officer, the men turned out 'en masse' to the number of eight hundred, and were not reduced to order until the arrival of the marines. The ringleaders have been put under arrest, and Colonel Browning stated that the men were only temporarily placed in the objectionable locality of Sucre.

abolished. Lord Enfield, in reply to Mr. Mundella, said that the Government had been and still were in active correspondence with the French Government on the subject of the deportation of Communists to this country.

mediately after the "visit," even though they may not have been entered at the custom house, whether they be working on holidays, provided, that the barges, employed in this service be brought to the Custom House Dock and remain therein, under the fiscal guards prescribed by the respective inspector, until the department be opened, and the packages can be received in it.

Art. 2. They shall also be permitted to receive cargo, cleared and destined for ports of their call, even before completing the discharge of the packages they have to deliver in the port touched at, without thereby incurring the proper fiscal authorities' procedure for the requisite visits and searches.

Art. 3. Their surplus stores may be kept on board without being sealed up.

Art. 4. They shall be excused the presentation of manifests from the intermediate ports of Lisbon, Madeira, St. Vincent, or other foreign ports where the steamers call, in a short time, and in which they may have received some packages and parcels; substituting for this obligation the delivery, in the act of the first custom house visit, of a list of the cargo received in the said intermediate ports, distinguishing that relative to each of them.

Art. 5. They shall be excused the presentation of manifests of the goods received in ports called in the Empire, and in which they may have received some packages and parcels; substituting for this obligation the delivery, in the act of the first custom house visit, of a list of the cargo received in the said intermediate ports, distinguishing that relative to each of them.

Art. 6. The captains or the companies shall be responsible for the differences found in passengers' baggage and for the articles liable to duty those may bring, save in case it be proved that the captain had knowledge of the existence of the articles and did not manifest them.

Art. 7. The captains shall also be excused the signing of a bond of responsibility for the transfer or re-exportation of the goods of the Empire or for the River Plate.

Art. 8. The steamers treated of may go on at any hour of the day or night, observing the regulations of the port police.

Art. 9. The agents of the respective companies shall bind themselves for the payment of any fine or duty which, in accordance with the regulations, may be levied by the customs, with the end of avoiding debarments, and the disembarkment of the steamers, which, after having received the post office mails, may not be detained, on any pretext, in the ports of the Empire, past the hour fixed for their departure.

Art. 10. To steamers and sailing vessels bringing passengers shall be permitted the landing of their cargo on the day of arrival, which shall be done by the passengers, who shall also be allowed to take ashore bags, small trunks with daily clothing and such like packages, not containing articles liable to duty; proceeding in regard to the other articles of baggage, in conformity with the ruling legislation.

Art. 11. All contrary provisions are revoked.

Art. 12. The agents of the respective companies shall bind themselves for the payment of any fine or duty which, in accordance with the regulations, may be levied by the customs, with the end of avoiding debarments, and the disembarkment of the steamers, which, after having received the post office mails, may not be detained, on any pretext, in the ports of the Empire, past the hour fixed for their departure.

Art. 13. To steamers and sailing vessels bringing passengers shall be permitted the landing of their cargo on the day of arrival, which shall be done by the passengers, who shall also be allowed to take ashore bags, small trunks with daily clothing and such like packages, not containing articles liable to duty; proceeding in regard to the other articles of baggage, in conformity with the ruling legislation.
