might almost say identified, that you will readily understand I am going to propose "the Navy," coupling with it the name of the gallant and kindly Captain Strode, commander of H. M. S. Pylades, to whom we can never adequately express how deeply gratified we are for the timely service he rendered us under our heavy affliction.

At the same time I would take this opportunity of testifying that all his officers and crew were animated with the same spirit and valour with the people of H. M. S. Pert to see how they could best serve us. Without further preamble I give you "the British Navy, and the health of the Captain of the Pylades."

There is one toast we must not forget, the friend of progress, the Press.

It is unnecessary for me to pass any eulogium upon the newspaper represented to-night at our board: the STANDARD is much esteemed in my country, and has a reputation through South America that may well be called universal.

previous residence at Madrid has familiarized him with Spanish manners and with the Spanish language.

As a traveller, a sportsman, a liberal-minded bachelor, he is not at all likely to measure the habits of other countries by the cramped etiquette ruling in an English drawing-room. I cannot do otherwise than congratulate you on the appointment of Mr. West, and feel convinced that within six months after his arrival he will be equally popular in English and native society, and at the Government House. The date of his departure for Buenos Ayres is not yet certain. It is not likely to be earlier than January, or later than March.

to 1866 the population increased at the rate of 21 per cent. The relative diminution, supposing that the population ought to have increased to 187,222 at the same rate, gives a loss of 125,527 inhabitants by the invasion and civil war.

The pecuniary losses of Paris are thus estimated—
Foreign war..... 67,615,571
Domestic war..... 15,706,673
The Commune..... 70,000

To add to this sum are the damages done to public buildings belonging to the Ministry, besides the indirect losses, the destruction of the Hotel de Ville alone represents a loss of 15 millions.

I must confess I see in Paris a certain look of poverty when I compare the city as we knew it in the days when the Second Empire was in its zenith. We are tasting the ashes of that execrable apple so captivating to the eyes and even the nostrils of the vulgar.

By the new arrangements of the Messageries Maritimes the French steamers to Brazil and Buenos Ayres will leave Bordeaux on the 20th and 5th of each month.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Royal Mail steamship Donoro entered port yesterday morning after one of the fastest runs from shore to shore yet made by any River Plate steamer.

Our many readers of 'le sexe laid' will please skip this paragraph; it may make them uneasy if unmarried, and if they belong to the Benedictine Order they won't care about it, unless they have grown up daughters to marry.

Since our return from Cordoba we hear that Mr. Telfener has telegraphed for more engineers to be sent up to him at once in order to push on the railway thence to Tucuman.

The Police Office at the Cabildo is now much more carefully watched than formerly. No more slipping off through Gibsons or the Tribunal office.

Mr. Fiesher, the new manager of the Central Argentine Railway at Rosario, has arrived with his family in the Douro.

The health along the Brazilian coast is reported as very good. At Pernambuco a few cases of fever among the shipping, about 3 weeks ago, had been but three deaths from fever in three weeks.

The Douro will have been here a day sooner but that she was detained two days at Rio. Chartered this day, German brig Leonia had arrived from Rio to Montevideo.

The Douro brought 100,000 from London for River Plate Bank on Monday, and £25,000 sterling for Alva Bank from Rio.

session, to settle several important bills. There are no fewer than 14 measures on the Governor's list, which will take till the 15th, or the day after, to get through.

William Tell at the Opera House to-night, and on Saturday a farewell flourish for Alty Napoleon. A bumper to him.

Travelling from Europe to the Plate is now becoming very gay work. Scarcely a steamer comes out the passengers by which do not get up boules, theatricals, charades, a game of rumps, or some other amusement to beguile time.

All well on board the Douro. Yesterday the little steamer ran alongside; everything bright and happy on board, and the crew were rather dull, till a practical son of Caledonia stern and wild and a flax-haired German 'franklin', both second class passengers, resolved to do something that would be amusing and useful at the same time.
