arms against the man; he Argentine or Irishman, who denies our progress or sneers at our national success.

Every hour mocks the schemes of individual hopes. Every year shows the fallacies of general expectation.

We confess we were unprepared for such a lesson. We can cordially sympathize with the honest prejudices of any writer, schooled as men are from earliest infancy in prejudice.

created 35 per cent per annum. The new town marked out in 1338 has now more houses than the old, the respective figures being as follow—

Table with 2 columns: House of Altos, House of Bajas. Values: 1130, 711, 1338, 2,398, 28, 32, 26, 35, 123, 3, 8, 753,212, 939,165, 43,970, 241,383.

The above shows a total of 1361 houses of Altos and 3486 without upper stories, together making 5,347 houses, with an average of 21 to the block; say 278 sq. metres to each house in the old city and 288 in the new town.

We all confess that Mr. Wills makes his touching and successful appeal. We all of us seek in the joys of the gardens of Hampton Court on the banks of the Thames, the inevitable children are brought in to prattle with their father.
