

It was impossible for him to extricate himself. The correspondent says: "One of the young ladies, lying flat upon the ground, slid over the bank from which the gentleman had slipped, clinging meanwhile to the feet of the second lady, who in turn clung fast to a sharp rock above. The gentleman was drawn up slowly and with great effort, having with parlorable delicacy grasped his preserver about the ankles."

We have received a very interesting letter from "A Roving Irishman" now in Santa Fe, but are obliged to hold it over till to-morrow owing to pressure on our space.

Signor Buterini, "primo tenore" at the Opera House, takes his benefit this evening. "Un Ballo in Maschera" is the opera selected. Between the acts Signor Buterini will sing the duo in the fourth act of the Huguenots with Madlle. Siebs. There will be a "baile."

Another gigantic railway project, about on a par with the wild goose scheme of a line from Buenos Ayres to Montevideo, is said to be hatching. It aims at a line from Para, in Brazil, to Buenos Ayres. That anonymous benefactor of humanity, "an capitalista de Londres," is saddled with this preposterous scheme. All we have to say of the matter is, that our countryman the "capitalist" must have forgotten anything he may have learned at school about the geography of South America, or he would never dream of risking his money in such a venture.

A very interesting letter from our valued friend W. P. of Rosario appears in another column. When the Southern murderers were brought in there the crowd manifested some slight inclination to appeal to "la ley de Lynch," but refrained in the hope that the Law will not miss fire this time. It is, of course, time enough to appeal to this famous Juez, who, like him for all in all, is a most impartial and useful magistrate.

The death of Don Juan Thompson, Argentine Consul General in Spain, is announced. Mr. Thompson was well known and highly esteemed in the River Plate, and numerous friends in this city will regret his loss.

The Royal Mail steamer Neva, Captain Bark, from Southampton on the 9th ult, is expected to arrive at the Mount on Saturday or Sunday next.

"For gushing young maidens of twenty-five or forty a cunning fringe of hair on the forehead, in poodle-dog style, is the proper thing."

"Upon the marriage of Miss Wheat, of Virginia, an editor hoped that her path might be flowery, and that she might never be thrashed by her husband."

A novelty to theatre goers is announced to come off shortly at the Alcazar. It is nothing more or less than the caricaturing in a polite way of all the chief members of society. The enterprising Frenchman who, with all the mimic powers of Valentine Voustien has hit upon this novel dodge for acquiring fortune and renown, had the politeness to ask our permission to be placed on the stage. Though having a strong objection to anything like public display we had to make a virtue of necessity, on condition that the STANDARD figure would be the prettiest in the group. Mind you keep your word, old boy or they will all be ugly!

Bad news from Mercedes. Measles has broken out in the town and adjacent country parts and almost every child is laid up. Happily we learn that it is not of a very virulent type. The Rev. Mr. McNamara's College, begun only recently under such favorable auspices, is closed temporarily, thirty of the boys having caught the infection.

We received yesterday a graceful note from our talented colleague Don Ezequiel Paz, editor of the Pampa, enclosing the munificent subscription of £2,000 m/c in aid of the unfortunate Paraguayan emigrants. We beg to thank our distinguished colleague, in the name of the poor sufferers and of the British community of Buenos Ayres.

The Young Men's Christian Association has not forgotten their noble, generous promise of bestowing on B. Ayres what, perhaps, above all other things she most requires—a life boat.—Plans have come from England for its construction and we understand that no time will be lost in sending the requisite instructions and supplies. For this purpose the members, we understand, will be called together on an early day and another last appeal made to the hearts (and pockets) of the public. Who can doubt the result?

Some idea of the straits to which the poor people outside were reduced by the drought may be gleaned from the fact that the horses of some postas in the camp were fed on the straw that goes round the brandy bottles. It may appear like a puff for our good friends Otard and Dupuy, but we have it from no lesser authority than Mr. Lacroix who went out to look for horses for his tramway, and had to return on foot. Who, after this, will say that Baron Briel is not a public benefactor or that the liquor is not good?

Professor Goodison the great American wizard juggler and ventriloquist is no more in Buenos Ayres. He is gone (to Brazil) as quietly as he came, leaving behind the best of fortunes a valuable method. Such were too commonplace a method. Improving on the Bard of Avon's famous plan, he sought to imbibe honors and glories by swallowing the sword. In this dangerous trick Goodison has not his equal the world over; but for the sake of our dear departed friend we should strongly recommend him to give it up before relinquishing the ghost. It is too dangerous and does not pay no how. Good-bye to the good luck Professor.

The arrival of General Arrolendo was the first news in town to-day. This silence all the rumour so current about this celebrated officer, who seems to be more sinned against than sinning.

General Mitre is expected down towards the end of next week. The general rumour on the Bolos is that negotiations have been broken off, the Paraguayan Government refusing to treat since the provisional treaty signed by General Mitre has not been ratified. However this may be it is difficult to say, but the bond market and Cedula market show depression owing to this news.

The works of the Dolores extension of the Buenos Ayres Great Southern Railway are being carried out with the greatest energy, and the people in Dolores are in the best spirits at the new prospect of the railway being out to their town, which will for that part of the country be the terminus for many years to come.

The last dates from Antwerp announce the arrival of the Aradus from Patagonia, the Paronita from San Nicolas, and Evaporio from Gualeguay. There is probably no port in Europe shows greater extension of business with the Plata than Antwerp.

The accounts from Europe about tallow are most unfavorable. The letters say the article never looked worse; meantime tallow in the country districts owing to the great drought is being scarce. The docks in some parts are in such poor condition as to be useless for groceries, and except to the north and west fat sheep are not to be found. It appears that the Americans have completely swamped the European tallow markets.

The following important advices from the States have come down by the mail. They show how the American merchants are retreating their imports to stop over-trading. A similar course, if adopted in this market, would lead to excellent results.

"The general interest taken in the more equal movement of our foreign trade, represented by the decreased imports of foreign goods and the increased exports of home produce, shows that the business men are alive to the value of these factors as presented by the official figures. The following are the statistics of the imports of foreign goods at this port for the first half of the calendar year, the figures representing a gold valuation:—

Table with columns: Month, 1871, 1872, 1873. Rows: Total, Domestic Produce, Foreign Goods, Specie and Bullion.

The export trade during the first half of the present calendar year is even more favorable than the import trade. The value (paper and coin) of the exports thus compares:—
