The clerks had been on the watch, as about six weeks ago the locks had been tampered with. On the night named three of Mr. Finlay's clerks returned from the deposit, in the same street, and found the padlock on the office door had been opened. On entering they came face to face with one of the burglars; one of the clerks produced a revolver and holding it at the robber's head said 'if you move an inch you are a dead man.' Meanwhile the vigilantes were soon at hand, another burglar appearing from under a table just in time to be hauled. 1873 1872 Gross premiums .. £251,750 £210 072 £174,104

It will be seen from the foregoing particulars premiums of £00,869 as compared with 1872. The large amount given off in re-insurance, as evidenced by the difference between the gross and the nett premiums, may be adduced as evidence of the caution exercised in the management the Directors being strongly impressed with a sense of the expediency of seeking an expansion of the Company's business rather in an increasof the number of eligible risks than in an extension of the sum at st ke on any one instan e. Two failures were announced to day-one large native firm connected with Cordoba, and the other an English grocery store, Calle Piedad: liablities said to be $900,000 m/c. Both these matters were very much and unfavorably com mented on on 'Change.

Respecting the live cattle shipment from this country to England, in our London correspondent's letter, in another column, will be toune further particu'ars. Captain Muir, who was su percargo of the steamer and accompanied the cattle, was, we learn from Mr Mendez, mainly instrumental in bringing the enterprise to its succonful issue. Throughout the voyage he was unceasing in his attention to the animals; and we mention this in consequence of some reflections on Captain Muir which inadvertently appeared in our last issue, in a letter signed M Shine. It appears Mr. Shine was not employed on b and, having been discharged from the service before the steamer left here. The Nat. Bank bulance-sheet for the fortnight ending 30th May, 1874, will be found at foot hereof. The figures show admirably. The business of this bank is steedily increasing. The following shows both fortnights of last month-30th May. 15th May
