The Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh left London for the south coast to meet the Czar on his arrival.

Yesterday a military funeral took place consequent on the death of Colonel Madrin, an officer who had served with distinction in this country.

We hear from London that the idea first started by Sir Henry Thompson of incineration of corpses finds acceptance in numerous circles, and remarkably enough, meets no objection from clerical quarters.

THE ALEXANDRA COLONY.

Alexandra Colony, Gran Chaco, May 29th, 1874. To the Editors of the STANDARD, Gentlemen.

Allow me some space for a statement of my hard case. I came here three years ago, built a house 60 feet by 100 feet, near the site where Mr. Wegelin and a young Italian were murdered.

When I went to England with the accounts I returned by way of United States and Brazil, bringing a supply of seed, from which I have raised a colony of Quakers of Friends.

Mr. Balfour, manager, and Mr. Stephenson, engineer, having entered the court asked the Juez to order me to give up the Crusher. I enquired what jurisdiction, but the Juez over-ruled me.

Mr. Stephenson deposed that he put up the machine on the site indicated by me, and by Mr. Henry's direction. The Juez having called for the invoice of the Crusher and possession of attorney the documents were produced.

Mr. Balfour and Mr. Stephenson kept the machine. I read the friendly letters I had from Mr. Wegelin, dated Old Broad St., London, June 1871, but Mr. Balfour said he had dejected to be still with me, and would play the strings tight as possible.

On May 25th Mr. Balfour wrote to say I might retain the crusher if I gave a receipt and offered to return it when called for, but I refused, and Mr. Stephenson then proceeded to remove it.

The Government ought to see that we are not treated as puppets by speculators, who pretend to move us about like chessmen, instead of filling their promises to us at the out set. Why not appoint a Commissioner, to see fair-play done to us, if the Government wishes to see sugar, cotton and rice plantations spring up here?

The colony is much reduced, and the survivors being discouraged, and the place will soon again be a desert. This will be handed you by Arthur Sibley a carpenter from London, who has been here 3 years and is going home to take law proceedings against the company for breach of contract.

FLUVIAL GRIEVANCES. No. Tiro. "A small loaf is better than no bread."

The announcement in the STANDARD a few days ago, referring to the 'No hay lugar' put to the representations of the various steam-boat agents, about the Patentes de Sanidad, was a little premature, inasmuch as the authorities have come to the conclusion that 'once a month for the present' is sufficient to indict the iniquitous fine on the steamboats being able to communicate to the ports at which they touch, that their fellow citizens are all well.

Referring to the banishment of the steamers from their natural resting place the Tigre, not even a 'No hay lugar' has been received to the respectful representations put before the authorities. In steamboating it has fallen to my lot to be amongst the first to take a steamboat to Paraguay, during the time of course, when the Lopez, father and son, were in the zenith of their power, but neither one nor other of them dreamt of giving such a monstrously ridiculous order as that which now exists, in driving steamers out of the Tigre for the short time they have for performing their necessary operations. It strikes me forcibly, that, were I to engage a troupe of Christy Minstrels for each steamer, and give them strict orders, that 'Bones' at least was to make as much noise as possible on passing the presidential pantano of Carapachay, I should be again allowed to remain quietly in the Tigre. The expense I am at for the present would more than counterbalance the salaries of the proposed dark fluvial musicians, and would undoubtedly be a source of great amusement to the Lord of Carapachay. By the way, the powerful fleets of those regions are still obstructing the way of legitimate commerce. The steamer one, with the boiler mill horse power engine, was recently hoisted and cleaned in the Tigre, where we have to fear and tremble that we make fast a rope to some deviated kangaroo.

Fluvial engineering, at present being developed at Presidential Carapachay, will receive a careful review in my number three.

June 12th, 1874. The market for exchange is very quiet. The rate for London is 100 for 100. The rate for Paris is 100 for 100. The rate for New York is 100 for 100.

BRITISH HOSPITAL.

We have been requested to publish the following extract from the minutes of a committee meeting of the above institution, held on 3rd inst.

Resolved that no portion of land at Caballito be sold or mortgaged without previously calling a meeting of the trustees interested and obtaining their sanction.

We take advantage of this opportunity to remind gentlemen who have kindly taken charge of the subsidiary subscription lists, that the date fixed for collection of same by the Secretary is near at hand. The funds of the institution being in a low state, the gentlemen mentioned are earnestly requested to redouble their benevolent efforts.

THE SKATING CLUB.

B. Ayres, 11th June, 1874. To the Editors of the STANDARD, Dear Sirs,

The Committee of the Skating Club has noted your remarks, to-day, in regard to the present season.

We beg to state that both the Club meeting and the Club are fully alive and awake to the propriety of beginning at once its operations, but we are sorry to say that in spite of every effort made by us, we have not succeeded up to the present in obtaining a suitable locale, as the new owner of the Coliseum will not let us have it.

We are, and have been for some time, in treaty about other places. The selection is difficult and delicate, as it must combine the convenient size of the room and perfect floor, with the fitness of the place for the presence of ladies, whose company we have always courted as the most excellent and agreeable feature of our Club.

We are in hopes of some day possessing a building of our own, where combining all the necessary requirements, this healthy and eminently social amusement will take a firm hold among us, as it has to-day in all the leading European cities.

By order of the Committee, A. Tyndale, Secretary.

SOUTH AMERICAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of this society has been held in the Hanover Square Rooms, Admiral Sir B. J. Sullivan, K. C. B., president, and was supported by the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of the Falkland Islands, the Revs. the Rev. Mr. Kenzie, R. J. Simpson, W. W. Kirby, and J. W. Marsh; Mr. W. T. Charley, M. P.; Mr. J. Fair, consul for the Argentine Republic; Mr. A. B. Pitt, chairman of the society; Mr. A. Balfour, Mr. W. Macandrew, J. P., and numerous other clergymen and laymen. The report showed that the work among the Indians of Tierra del Fuego had during the past year evinced hopeful signs of progress, and that the mission station at Ushuwia, with its band of native Christians, exercised an influence over the adjoining islands. The mission to the Indians on the River Amazon had been at length commenced, and a clergyman and two laymen had left our shores who would have as their head-quarters Sanatarim, a town 500 miles up the river. In reference to the pastoral operation of the society among the 300,000 of our countrymen resident in South America, it was satisfactory to know that in Brazil the Sao Paulo Church was opened by the Bishop of the Falkland Islands last November, whilst in the River Plate a new chaplaincy was about to be established at Frayle Muerto. In Peru a clergyman was to be located at the Guanape Islands, who would minister to 3,000 English sailors employed in the guano trade. The stations of the society now numbered 15, and the number would be increased as funds admitted and opportunity offered. The work of opportunity was being warmly espoused by the society, and would benefit all classes of the communities in South America. The work on the mainland of Patagonia had been impeded by the introduction amongst the Indians of intoxicating drinks. The whole course of the society's history had been one long series of especial and marked providences. He was glad to see so many friends of South America present, and hoped they would go on as they had begun. Bishop Stirling gave a brief account of his visitation of his enormous diocese. He appealed for help towards a scheme for educational establishments at the large centres, such as Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Ayres and Lima. A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman was unanimously accorded, and after the singing of the hymn 'Thou whose Almighty work,' the Bishop of the Falkland Islands pronounced the benediction.

A certain archdeacon, in very high spirits at his first preferment in the Church, attended at a visitation dinner just after this event, and during the entertainment called out jocosely, 'Waiter, shut down that window at the back of my chair, and open another behind some curate.'

Mr. Charles Jackson was warmly welcomed on Friday by the police and magistrates. Mr. Jackson had been in the city for some time, and there was a great gathering to see him. He was accompanied by his family and a large number of friends.

SOUTH AMERICAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of this society has been held in the Hanover Square Rooms, Admiral Sir B. J. Sullivan, K. C. B., president, and was supported by the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of the Falkland Islands, the Revs. the Rev. Mr. Kenzie, R. J. Simpson, W. W. Kirby, and J. W. Marsh; Mr. W. T. Charley, M. P.; Mr. J. Fair, consul for the Argentine Republic; Mr. A. B. Pitt, chairman of the society; Mr. A. Balfour, Mr. W. Macandrew, J. P., and numerous other clergymen and laymen. The report showed that the work among the Indians of Tierra del Fuego had during the past year evinced hopeful signs of progress, and that the mission station at Ushuwia, with its band of native Christians, exercised an influence over the adjoining islands. The mission to the Indians on the River Amazon had been at length commenced, and a clergyman and two laymen had left our shores who would have as their head-quarters Sanatarim, a town 500 miles up the river. In reference to the pastoral operation of the society among the 300,000 of our countrymen resident in South America, it was satisfactory to know that in Brazil the Sao Paulo Church was opened by the Bishop of the Falkland Islands last November, whilst in the River Plate a new chaplaincy was about to be established at Frayle Muerto. In Peru a clergyman was to be located at the Guanape Islands, who would minister to 3,000 English sailors employed in the guano trade. The stations of the society now numbered 15, and the number would be increased as funds admitted and opportunity offered. The work of opportunity was being warmly espoused by the society, and would benefit all classes of the communities in South America. The work on the mainland of Patagonia had been impeded by the introduction amongst the Indians of intoxicating drinks. The whole course of the society's history had been one long series of especial and marked providences. He was glad to see so many friends of South America present, and hoped they would go on as they had begun. Bishop Stirling gave a brief account of his visitation of his enormous diocese. He appealed for help towards a scheme for educational establishments at the large centres, such as Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Ayres and Lima. A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman was unanimously accorded, and after the singing of the hymn 'Thou whose Almighty work,' the Bishop of the Falkland Islands pronounced the benediction.

A certain archdeacon, in very high spirits at his first preferment in the Church, attended at a visitation dinner just after this event, and during the entertainment called out jocosely, 'Waiter, shut down that window at the back of my chair, and open another behind some curate.'

Mr. Charles Jackson was warmly welcomed on Friday by the police and magistrates. Mr. Jackson had been in the city for some time, and there was a great gathering to see him. He was accompanied by his family and a large number of friends.

BRITISH HOSPITAL.

We have been requested to publish the following extract from the minutes of a committee meeting of the above institution, held on 3rd inst.

Resolved that no portion of land at Caballito be sold or mortgaged without previously calling a meeting of the trustees interested and obtaining their sanction.

We take advantage of this opportunity to remind gentlemen who have kindly taken charge of the subsidiary subscription lists, that the date fixed for collection of same by the Secretary is near at hand. The funds of the institution being in a low state, the gentlemen mentioned are earnestly requested to redouble their benevolent efforts.

THE SKATING CLUB.

B. Ayres, 11th June, 1874. To the Editors of the STANDARD, Dear Sirs,

The Committee of the Skating Club has noted your remarks, to-day, in regard to the present season.

We beg to state that both the Club meeting and the Club are fully alive and awake to the propriety of beginning at once its operations, but we are sorry to say that in spite of every effort made by us, we have not succeeded up to the present in obtaining a suitable locale, as the new owner of the Coliseum will not let us have it.

We are, and have been for some time, in treaty about other places. The selection is difficult and delicate, as it must combine the convenient size of the room and perfect floor, with the fitness of the place for the presence of ladies, whose company we have always courted as the most excellent and agreeable feature of our Club.

We are in hopes of some day possessing a building of our own, where combining all the necessary requirements, this healthy and eminently social amusement will take a firm hold among us, as it has to-day in all the leading European cities.

By order of the Committee, A. Tyndale, Secretary.
