AWFUL STATE OF THE CAMP. CAPTURE OF 20 ROBBERS.

We must go back fifty years before we can find any parallel for the present condition of the Province of Buenos Ayres. People who have been in Mexico say it is just as bad there; volver in their belt. but we doubt if any other part of the world can shew such an entire disruption of society from its very basis. Gangs of marauders go about in battalions, robbing and murdering all before them. Of course the National Government, or Federal Tribunal have nothing to do but look on. And as the Provincial Government is actually undergoing a change, in consequence of the Governor being elected Vice-president, it is not likely any active measures can be taken for some time in favor of the unfortunate estancieros and camp residents.

Spring has come to us early this year, and the extra heat of the past week has forced on vegetation wonderfully. All the peach trees in the quintas are in bud, and we hear that the growth of grass in the camp is most encouraging. The Comet has, no doubt, something to say to the extraordinary mildness of the weather. The result of this early spring will probably be the loss of all the fruit crops. Rain, and plenty of it, is at hand, even before Santa Rosa's visit, which is now little more than a tortnight off. The great rush of Italian emigration to South America is now by way

Mr. Trotman ought therefore to have been the last person to publish such insinuations during my absence.

I negotiated the purchase as the representative of the Committee, at considerable personal trauble and some expense, and made no commission, either directly or indirectly, nor in any manner whatever. Mr Trotman might easily have convinced himself of this before writing to you on the subject. The resolution to purchase was pass-

He afterwards changed his mind regarding the purchase, though a considerably higher price was being offered to us for the land.
