LAWN TENNIS

BUENOS AIRES LAWN TENNIS CLUB.

OPEN TOURNAMENT AND CHAMPIONSHIP OF THE RIVER PLATE

The Ninth Annual Tournament and Championship of the River Plate, held under the auspices of the above Club, may truly be described as quite the most successful yet held, and this in spite of one of the early days of the tournament (Tuesday) turning out miserably wet. The entries were even more numerous than ever, the interest all round was greater, and last, but by no means least, the class of play was distinctly higher than usual.

The Committee deserve warm praise for the excellent way they carried out their duties. The handicapping—a by no means easy task—taken altogether, was wonderfully well done. Of course, here and again, a slight mistake was made, but with so many players from so many different places to handicap, we consider the handicappers' work nothing short of marvellous. The courts were in excellent condition throughout, reflecting credit on the energetic ground man and his brother. Coming next to the play itself, we must of course start with the Championship.

In the Preliminary Round we were, thus early, treated to a fine struggle between H. B. and A. H. Knight. "A. H." started off with great confidence, and playing strongly and well, took the first sett fairly easily. "H. B." set to work in the second sett and won it 6-3. The third sett "A. H." won, but none too easily, his brother claiming four games. The fourth sett "H. B." won 6-2, and then with the score two setts all, came the sett of the tournament.

Without hesitation we state that the best tennis of the whole tournament was shown us in this sett. Each won a game in turn until the score was called "six all," and then "H. B." with a supreme effort, annexed the following two games—and won a splendid match. The volleying of the two brothers was wonderfully pretty and they both played well.

The first round caused no surprise, all the matches resulting as was generally expected. The semi-finals, however, gave us two "startlers," A. Anderson easily defeating Knox, and McMorran having quite an easy time of it with H. B. Knight.

Anderson, of course, had no look in with McMorran, and then came the great disappointment of the tournament—the final for the championship.

Except for a few pretty cross strokes it was obvious from the first that McMorran was quite off his game. The net seemed to have an overpowering fascination for him and he served six double faults—hardly Championship form—and the whole match was over in exactly thirty-five minutes. Fancy three setts, in the Championship Final over in thirty-five minutes!! Comment is unnecessary.

In the Ladies' Singles, Miss M. Jacobs had to fight very hard to get through, which she did eventually. Her win against Miss Chawner cannot be over-praised, the latter being 5 games to one in the third sett, which Miss Jacobs won 7-5. The play all through the Ladies' Singles was of a higher order than usual, which makes the victory of Miss Jacobs all the more creditable. Besides the winner, Miss Chawner, Mrs Roberts, Mrs Edye and Mrs. Follett Holt all showed capital form, while the results of the matches speak for the handicappers' excellent judgment.

In the Ladies' Doubles the eventual winners, Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Marrs, were rather leniently treated by the handicappers. Both played a quiet, steady game and wore down their opponents. Mrs. Goldsmid and Mme. Vieugé made a plucky effort in the final, but the points were too much for them.

The Mixed Doubles, as usual, produced some very interesting games, but here again the handicappers might well have been a little less generous to the winning pair,

Mrs. Edye and F. H. Jacobs, who made a strong combination. There were some capital games in Class A. of the Gentlemen's Singles, and the final itself was well worth seeing, and Francis is to be congratulated on the splendid fight he made of it with so strong an opponent. In Class B. some magnificent fights occurred and here the handicappers shone, and may fairly be said to have excelled themselves. The final itself caused much excitement. Eppenstein won the first sett very easily. Then after a good fight Carter took the second 6-5. In the third there was no stopping Carter, who took five games straight away. Five all, six all and even seven all were called, and then Eppenstein won the next two games, and so the sett and match. It was a plucky win and deserving of all praise. The Gentlemen's Doubles also produced some fine games. That between H. B. and E. S. Knight, on the one side, and A. Anderson and A. H. Knight, on the other, being worth going a long way to see. The eventual winners could well have been placed minus. They are a strong couple, and played very well all through. The final was a complete runaway for them, which was a pity. Altogether it was a very jolly tournament. Had it not been for Tuesday's rain matters would not have had to be rushed as much as they were, but the Committee had to work hard to fit all the matches in. The attendance of visitors was well up to the average and the thanks of all are due to Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Gumpert, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Holway and Mrs. L. Corry Smith, who very kindly gave tea on the three days of the tournament proper.

The following are the full details:

B.A.L.T.C. v. ROSARIO L.T.C.

Rosario being so well and strongly represented in the tournament, the occasion was seized last Sunday to play the above match. Owing to a somewhat late start, delays, etc., the light did not allow of all the matches being decided, the one between Knox and Kidd, for B.A., and A. H. and H. B. Knight for Rosario, having to be left in the extremely interesting condition of one sett all and five games all in the third sett.

The following are the full details of the score:

BUENOS AIRES.

T. V. M. Knox and H. L. Kidd beat W. Russell and B. Lea 6-2, 6-1.
 E. S. Knight and A. J. McMorran beat F. Francis and H. Middleton 6-4, 6-2.
 W. Russell and B. Lea 6-2, 6-1.
 G. Middleton and H. H. Woodgate 6-2, 6-2.
 A. H. and H. B. Knight 4-6, 6-3, 6-3,
 Dr. Phelps and B. St. G. Verschoyle beat W. Russell and B. Lea 6-3, 6-2.
 W. Lovett and L. Knight beat W. Russell and B. Lea 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

ROSARIO.

H. H. Woodgate and G. Middleton beat Dr. Phelps and Verschoyle 6-3, 6-0.
 T. V. M. Knox and H. L. Kidd 6-5, 6-2.
 W. Lovett and L. Knight 6-4, 6-2.
 A. H. and H. B. Knight beat W. Lovett and L. Knight 6-2, 6-2.
 Dr. Phelps and Verschoyle 5-6, 6-0, 6-3.
 F. Francis and H. Middleton beat W. Lovett and L. Knight 6-4, 1-6, 6-2.
 T. V. M. Knox and H. L. Kidd 6-4, 5-6, 7-5.
 Dr. Phelps and Verschoyle 6-2, 6-3.

The match between Knox and Kidd and A. H. and H. B. Knight had to be left undecided on account of the darkness.

The brothers Knight won the first sett, 6-5. The Buenos Aires pair won the second 6-4, and the games were five all in the third sett, when play had to be stopped. Accordingly Rosario won eight matches and Buenos Aires seven.

GOLF.

BUENOS AIRES GOLF CLUB.

A team composed of members of the above club journeyed up to Rosario on Friday night last, for the purpose of playing the Fisherton Golf Club on the Saturday and the Rosario Golf Club on the Sunday. At both Fisherton and Alberdi the visitors met with a hearty welcome, the renowned hospitality of the Rosarinos being much in evidence.

At Fisherton, where Mrs Weigall and Mrs Jefferies kindly provided tea, etc., for the players, the Buenos Aires men gained an easy victory. At Alberdi, however, where the tea-tables were presided over by Mrs Robb and Mrs Clarke, our players met their match, and, according to the new method of scoring, were defeated by two points.

The links were in good condition at both places, but the putting-greens, or rather "browns," at Alberdi were uncertain and difficult for the visitors, whom they puzzled considerably, especially as they had not been sanded near the holes as at Fisherton. Except for this the Alberdi links were charming. The undulating ground, arroyos, and delightful river views all tending to enhance the pleasure of playing over them.

We give below the results of the two matches:

BUENOS AIRES GOLF CLUB v. FISHERTON GOLF CLUB.

Played at Fisherton on Saturday last resulting in a win for the visitors by 42 points to 12 1/2.

POLO

HURLINGHAM

Saturday at 2.30, the Cricketers again tried conclusions with the Club, but with no better success, as they had to retire defeated by 8 goals to 6, after a very good game. The cricketers were represented by Bedford, back, Thursby, three, Drabble, two, R. Willes, one, with Sanderson cutting in with Willes. The Club side was made up of the following cutting in and out. Moncrieff, Challinor, Jefferies, Schwind, T. and E. Robson. At first the cricketers had a bit the best of it, and managed to hold a lead of 5-4 at the end of the fourth quarter, but the fifth was somewhat disastrous to them, T. Robson putting on a couple of goals, which made the score 6-5, and in the last the club again had the best of matters and scored two goals to their opponents' one.

Quite a big muster turned up on Sunday at 2.30, including four officers from the San Martin barracks. The game was a good one, with lots of "go," and six last quarters were played. First Willesden, represented by Challinor, G. Wilson, A. Willes and R. Willes, played the rest, who were: Schwind, Harnett, Jefferies, and an officer, and at the end of the chucker the score stood at two goals all. Then Sanderson took Wilson's place, and the other side was composed of Schwind, Jefferies, Tte. Sajocador, and Commandante Oliveira César, and Willesden managed to add one goal to their score without allowing their opponents to increase their total. In the third quarter Drabble, Schwind, Jefferies, and Harnett, played Challinor, Moncrieff, T. Robson, and Sanderson, the latter side making two goals to the other's one. Jefferies, Schwind, Drabble, and Oliveira César got beaten by one goal to nothing by E. Robson, Moncrieff, Sanderson, and Sajocadar in the fourth quarter. In the fifth Schwind, Wilson, Jefferies, and Oliveira César, were too good for Moncrieff, Challinor, R. Willes, and Sanderson by two goals to nothing. The last quarter was more even, each side scoring a goal. The sides were: Schwind, Oliveira César, A. Willes and E. Robson, against Moncrieff, Sanderson, R. Willes, and Wilson.

The following notes on a Polo game, at Stratford-on-Avon, by Rusticus in "Land and Water", will be read with interest by many of our readers:—

I do not think that a more perfect day for polo than Monday will be met with this year. In the first place, it was the first warm spring day of the year, and there was just enough breeze to fan one after a game. Then the going was perfect, and to help matters on we had sixteen players, a very useful number to arrange games for.

The first game was for Argentine ponies against English ponies, in which the following took part,—

Argentines.	English.
Mr. Joliffe.	Mr. Flower.
Mr. McCreery.	Captain Daly.
Mr. Balfour.	Mr. Hargreaves.
Mr. Scott Robson (back)	Mr. F. Freake (back).

The Argentines had rather the better of a somewhat slow game to start with, but it warmed up during the last three tens into a fast one.

From among those on the ground I am given to understand a team is likely to play together for the rest of the season, which should certainly beat more teams than will beat them.

The ambidextrous Argentine will certainly puzzle many players, and as I hear an Argentine team will be playing this year, I strongly advise all No. 1's to cultivate an acquaintance with this form of play.

HUNTING

HURLINGHAM DRAG HOUNDS.

On Saturday morning these hounds met at Bancalari's mill at 11 o'clock. Mr. Thursby hunted the hounds, and Mr. A. S. Willes whipped in to him. Mr. Preston, who has just returned from a trip home, was also out. At the meet we noticed Mrs. McIver, and Miss Pearce, Messrs. Moncrieff, Harnett, R. Willes, H. Sanderson, Bedford, Thompson, and H. Schwind.

Hounds were laid on on the left-hand side of the troop road, just opposite to the entrance to Mr. Quirno's estancia, "La Victoria," and from there they ran a half circle to Bella Vista. The pace was not good, which was not to be wondered at considering the heat, and that there was a nasty north wind blowing. The country, however, rode very well, and there was little grief, Mr. Moncrieff being the only one unlucky enough to come down.

On being laid on again hounds went much faster, and across Mr. Mataldi's camp one had to gallop. The jumps here however, were very nasty, some of the ground, both on the take off and landing side being very rotten, and letting horses in up to their hocks. Nevertheless, everyone got safely to the end, and seemed to have enjoyed themselves, though the weather seemed more fitted for bathing than hunting. The worry was at the back of the pig farm at Paseo Morales.

Sunday saw the hounds in the same country, and the previous day's run was repeated. The day was again hot and muggy, and the pack ran in an almost similar manner to the day before—the first half slow and the latter at a better pace. There were no falls.

The following were out: Mrs. McIver and Miss Pearce, Messrs. Thursby, A. and R. Willes, Preston, Ingram, Cooke, Barclay, Bell, Harnett, Schwind, Ewen, Sanderson, and Jelleries.

The hounds will meet on Sunday, 2nd June, at Mr Challinor's house, at 11 a.m.

After the run a match will be run off on the Hurlingham racecourse, between Mr. Scott Moncrieff's Starlight and Mr. Willes's Pioneer, 5,000 metres, over hurdles.

RACING.

BELGRANO.—MAY 25.

A holiday with fine weather, a Classic, and an immense programme, combined to attract a much larger crowd than usual.

As might be expected here, even without the large fields, the favourites, with their usual modesty, kept in the background with one exception, Rubina, and even her dividend reached two figures.

Diana and Lorraine made the running together in the opening 1600 metres, but the finish was left altogether to Vice Roi and Memento, the former getting the better of a hard fight by a short head.

The Maiden brought out a lot of 18 young ones, in which three outsiders took charge of the places, the winner being a daughter of Orbit, who should not have been so neglected.

Half the thirty entered turned out for the Selling Plate, which was easily won by Adagio, who can always take the lead, but this time was at length able to keep it. Only seven appeared for the classic, all three-year-olds, but the upset was not wanting, and came this time from Cranrobert, who has always shewn staying power, and has made a profitable first appearance for this year.

Fourteen runners at all weights made the 1200 metres a difficult problem, and Hortensia was near making a big hit, but was stalled off by Roseola, also somewhat left out, who came with a fine rush at the finish.

The Mile Handicap was won in good style by Rubina, Morena depriving Santa Elvira, the pacemaker, of second place, but not being able to trouble the winner.

Araujo led his eleven rivals a pretty dance in the final 1900 metres, Ameliana being unable to pass him, and all the field being run out except Lord and Laprida, the former just getting his nose in front of the leader on the post.

The following are the details.—

PALERMO—MAY 26.

The weather, though gloomy, held up well, and nothing occurred to mar the harmony of the Meeting except a continuance of disasters to favourites, only two of them rewarding the constancy of backers.

The Classic brought a reversal of form to Listo, who was made a hot favourite and only arrived fifth, though close up and just behind Sardina, who occupied second place in the betting. Our other selection, Briseño, won by half a length from Barba Azul, who was equally in front of Santuza, a complete outsider.

Roi d'Atout nearly brought off a big thing in the opening 1,400 metres, but Tandil was equal to the occasion, and caught him in time to win comfortably.

Senguel, a good-looking Gay Hermit, was brought out in the Maiden and made favourite on hearsay, but failed to stay, and Stella easily left Pampero in the last few metres.

The Selling Plate was the surprise of the day, Wasp seeming to have disposed of her field at the Stand, when Criollita passed like a flash and won by a couple of lengths.

San Graal added another to his string of victories in the Mile, winning from start to finish, though he never could get far from Rataplan.

The long distance was a fine race, Republicano, Polas and Don Pepe being level at the Stand, and when the last named drew away, Fantasia came with a wet sail, and passing the three in a moment, won by a length.

The final 1800 metres was run at a slow pace, and Omnium got in front at the old paddock and from there had it all his own way.

The following are the details:—

Descending the hill Alvescot went to the front, followed by Fighting Furley, Amurath, First Principal, Fiume and Australian Star, the last named running into second place as they turned the corner. With two furlongs to go, Australian Star took the lead in easy fashion with the race won, and catered in six lengths in front of Amurath, who beat Alvescot by a head for second place; Fiume was placed fourth, Pellisson was fifth, Paigle sixth, Kilmarnock II seventh and David Garrick next.

NOTES.

The all-absorbing topic during the week has, of course, been the annual lawn-tennis tournament, held under the auspices of the Buenos Aires Lawn Tennis Club. We may safely assert, without fear of contradiction, that of all these most enjoyable tournaments—of which the one under notice was the ninth—the one just held was by far the most successful in every way. A rainy Tuesday caused grave fears, which very fortunately proved to be unfounded, and the weather during the week, with this one exception, was all that could be desired.

The arrangements, as is always the case at the Cinco Esquinas Courts, were excellent, and the only possible thing one might grumble about was the ignorance or laziness of the boys. We hear, however, that the ground-man experiences the greatest difficulty in getting any boys at all, so perhaps one should be thankful for small mercies, but they are very annoying, and the continual cry of Muchacho! in various tones of wrath and indignation, became very monotonous. The Courts were, as usual, almost perfect, and withstood the strain they were put to extremely well.

As to the play itself, it must be admitted that the average form all-round was of a distinctly higher class than one is accustomed to see here. This was perhaps the most noticeable among the ladies, who provided us in the Singles, Doubles and Mixed Doubles, with some excellent games. It was also very noticeable in the B class of the Gentlemen's Singles. One has been accustomed to see very indifferent form in this class, but this year some excellent play was witnessed, and there were many exciting struggles.

We have again the pleasure of congratulating Mr. E. S. Knight on winning the Championship. The final for this event was a sad disappointment to the large number of spectators present, and after watching all the play throughout the tournament very carefully, we must reluctantly come to the conclusion that Mr. Stanley Knight stands in a class of his own here. Should he continue to improve, as he most certainly has done during the past twelve months, we cannot see who is to wrest the Championship honours from him. He undoubtedly thoroughly deserves his present high position.

Miss M. Jacobs also thoroughly deserved her win in the Ladies' Singles, as she had more than one hard struggle, from all of which she emerged successfully. The Ladies' Doubles were won by Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Marrs, a triumph for old Quilmes. The Mixed Doubles were taken by Mrs. Edey and Mr. F. H. Jacobs, and very well they played too, but they won't be let down quite so easily another year. The Gentlemen's Doubles gave the Rosario representatives a chance, and Messrs. H. Middleton and F. Francis made a strong combination.

Class A of the Gentlemen's Singles was eventually left to be fought out by two Northerners, Messrs. H. B. Knight and F. Francis. The latter made a gallant fight, but found his opponent well "on the spot," and so suffered a reverse after a keen struggle. Class B was very well won by Mr. P. Eppenstein, who, after having five games to love called against him in the third set of the final, by a supreme effort won the match. Altogether it was a rattling good tournament, and the old club has undeniably scored another distinct success.

The Buenos Aires Golf Club took advantage of the two days' holiday to send up a team to play the two clubs at Rosario. On Saturday Fisherton was the scene of action, members of the Fisherton Golf Club being the opponents. A most enjoyable day's golf resulted, which ended in a rather easy win for the visitors, for whom Mr. F. H. Benn, the Hon. Secretary, was the largest scorer, helping himself to fourteen holes at his opponent's expense. Everything possible was done for the visitors' comfort and the links were in good condition.

Flushed with success on Sunday the Buenos Aires players tackled a team representing the Rosario Golf Club, on their links at Alberdi. In the Singles the visitors were just down, the number of matches being halved, but Rosario were one hole to the good. In the foursomes a brilliant win by Messrs Green and Robb against Messrs Benn and Carlisle further strengthened their position, and they eventually won a most interesting match by two points. The visitors were again very kindly treated, and all returned loud in their praises of their hospitable hosts, and of the excellent time they gave them.

In another column we publish the entries for the Hurlingham race-meeting on June 6th. They are fairly numerous, and ought to give quite big enough fields to make the day interesting. The chief attraction is of course, the Grand Hurdle Race, which should produce the finest jump-race of the year. The meeting between Emprestito, Speculation, and Ayacucho, is in itself worth going a big way to see. And as the other hurdle-race for horses has obtained an entry of eight, the hurdle racing will be as good as one would wish for. We shall reserve our tips for next week, when we expect to be able to give our readers a winner or two.

The huge programme on Saturday at Belgrano was principally notable for upsets of favourites, but threw no light on future events, as none of the principal horses were engaged. The card at Palermo on Sunday was almost equally confusing, and unequal results were again the order of the day, one of the dividends being greater than any at Belgrano. As the horses were of a better class, there was more room for observation. Among the young ones in the Maiden the much talked of Senguel was a disappointment, while Stella confirmed the good impression she had earned before, and Pampero and the new Almanzor ran well. In the Classic Briseño kept up his reputation, Barba Azul showed improvement, and Santuza was a great surprise, and it was curious that these three, the only products of Bolivar in the race, should arrive first, second, and third. Sardina and Listo were close up, but the latter has lost his place, which was next to Porrazo and Totoral.

Fantasia won the long distance in grand style from Don Pepe, Polas and Republicano, and this daughter of Neapolis seems to have definitely resumed her place as head of her sex in the last generation. The Premio Hipodromo Nacional on June 2nd will not have a large field this year. Probable starters are Don Pepe, Republicano, Etolo and Le Sancy with 60 kilos, Cordon Rouge and Ultimatum with 56 kilos, and Fantasia with 54 kilos. Perhaps Oviedo might run to assist Cordon Rouge, and Los Cardos perform the same office for Le Sancy. On form it looks like Cordon Rouge first and Etolo second, but Le Sancy, Ultimatum and Fantasia should not be far behind. The distance 2200 metres is suitable for all the competitors, and the prize—$10,000—very convenient for the stable that gets it.

After witnessing the Rugby Football, that has been played this season, we are bound to admit that the standard of play does not seem to be as high as that which we saw last season. Why is this? Even the Belgrano team, which has started off on a victorious career, does not seem to possess the old dash it was noted for. Against the B.A.F.C., for instance, the Belgrano players practically ran over their opponents, and yet only managed to score a single try, and that through an unfortunate mistake on the part of one of the B. A. players.

Last Sunday's play again impressed on us the fact that the form generally was not up to the mark. There is none of the smart looting work we saw last season. Three or four times players were penalised for not getting off the ball when held. The heeling out was slow and slovenly, all of which tended to make the game slow and uninteresting. As yet the present season is not far advanced, so that there is plenty of time for matters to alter, but we do hope that our Rugby players will "pull themselves together" and try and maintain their past good form.

The match last Sunday was between Belgrano and Lomas, the latter team being badly beaten by twenty-two points to nil. There were, apparently, one or two players new to the game in the ranks of the losers, but even so, surely they might each have marked a man for the throw-in from touch. Over and over again a Belgrano forward would dash away, being quite unmarked, and five of the six tries scored were mainly the outcome of this carelessness on the part of some of the home forwards.

In Association, the second division players were busy during Saturday and Sunday. The Lomas second team defeated the Champions, Banfield, by a goal to nothing, after a hard struggle. Barracas scored a good win over the Estudiantes, at Lanus, by five goals to none, and they look like making a good team. At Belgrano, the second eleven of the local club found the Colon A. C. team a harder nut to crack than had been anticipated, but eventually ran out winners by two goals to none.

Trouble appears to be in store for the live pigeon shooters of the United States. A Bill is now before the Legislature for the purpose of putting a stop to pigeon shooting, as it is contended that "pigeon shooting is not sport but slaughter," and that the sufferings of the wounded birds that escape are such as demand the suppression of this amusement.

A French doctor has been training homing pigeons for the purpose of receiving communications from his patients. He has established a pigeon station in each of the villages on his round, and whenever his services are required a pigeon is sent off and the entrance to the medico's pigeon cote is so arranged that the arrival of the bird rings an electric bell.

Dice-throwing is undoubtedly very popular here, we nearly wrote too popular! There are various methods of throwing dice, and there is undoubtedly a fascination about it. The first thing that strikes a Britisher here, when he first arrives, is this dice-throwing. He cannot quite grasp the idea. He asks a man to join him in a milk and soda, and then lo and behold the inevitable dice-box is produced! At first it seems very weird, but like everything else one grows accustomed to it. We have been led to make these remarks, owing to a conversation we had recently with a new arrival on this very subject.

This is what he told us "I met — — — yesterday, and he said 'Come right along and have a drink.' I went, and had an excellent drink. Then my friend said something in Spanish, and a sort of a leather bucket was placed in front of me. I found I had to throw the dice. I went straight out. More Spanish, more dice, and I was told I had to throw for cigars. I did not want a cigar, but I threw, and again my friend came off second best. More Spanish, drinks paid for, but I've not seen that cigar yet! After all I think I prefer the English method!"

The record row from Oxford to London was achieved on April 23rd, when Mr. Spencer Gollan, a wealthy Australian race horse owner, George Towns, champion sculler of England, and Tom Sullivan the ex-champion sculler, rowed a triple sculling boat from Folly-bridge, Oxford, to Putney in 13 hours 57 minutes. They started at 5.30 a.m. and reached Putney at 7.27 p.m. There was a lot of money on the result, and as the boat passed down the river its arrival was awaited by enthusiastic crowds at various points. This feat has been accomplished several times before, but in a much longer time. The nearest was the performance of six officers of the Guards, who, in 1824, rowed a six-oared wherry from Oxford to Westminster in 15 3/4 hours. At that time, however, there were nothing like so many locks in the river. In 1889 three well-known Varsity oarsmen, Messrs. W. H. Grenfell, R. C. Lehmann and W. F. C. Holland, rowed from Oxford to Putney in 22hr, 28min., and in 1893 Messrs. Atkinson, Bates and Cooper took a water-cycle over the same course in 19hr 27min. 50sec.

FOOTBALL

BELGRANO v. QUILMES.

A friendly match between these Clubs played on Sunday last on the Belgrano ground resulted in a win by one goal to nil in favour of the visitors. The match was a particularly fast and well contested game, and throughout the game the varying fortunes and skill on each side were so evenly divided, that it was difficult to say which had the advantage. Certainly the visitors occupied the Belgrano territory by far the greater portion of the match, but some very warm work, both offensive and defensive, was put in by both teams. When the ball was transferred to the Quilmes goal, the pressure was redoubled, and nothing so much saved the Quilmes credit as the splendid work of E. Pitre in goal, who made some remarkable saves. The Belgrano team made one goal in the first half, but the Referee disallowed it, and on crossing over the score stood love all.

On resumption of operations the efforts of each side appeared redoubled, and it looked as if the players who won would be those who were in the best condition, for the heat was oppressive in the extreme. This scarcely proved to be the case, for the three substitutes for Quilmes were players quite out of practice, including G. M. Comber, who has not touched a ball for a year. He showed, however, that he had lost little of his old skill, though not so fast as formerly. After ten minutes' play Quilmes obtained a goal, but again the referee intervened, and the renewal of the attack resulted in increased speed and more determination than before. The Quilmes men now were playing up, holding their opponents well in hand at all points, Hooton and Pitré, also Stirling being specially conspicuous. Within ten minutes of the whistle, Hooton found the net at the top corner from a terrific shot, and no further goal being made, the visitors left the ground winners by one goal to nothing.

Mrs. Dickinson very kindly supplied refreshments to the visitors, until evening shadows fell over the ground.

The following were the teams:

Belgrano -

Goal - G. C. Norman.

Backs - H. E. A. Craven, G. Stalker.

Half Backs - H. J. Fraser, E. Dickinson.

Forwards - N. Dickinson, W. Page, W. H. Coe, W. Blackburn, W. E. C. Malm.

Quilmes -

Goal - E. Pitré.

Backs - J. H. Williams, F. Lyons.

Half Backs - A. J. Bishop, J. W. Dunne, E. Cunningham.

Forwards - P. Hooton, C. P. C. Comber, G. M. Comber, W. Stirling, R. Muir.

Linesmen - J. R. S. Fox, W. J. Williams.

Referee - J. Wilson.

It should be stated that both teams were playing short of three men each, and were about evenly handicapped in this respect.

RUGBY.

BELGRANO A. C. v. LOMAS A. C.

This championship match was played last Sunday at Lomas before a large number of spectators. With the ground in excellent order, the two teams apparently evenly matched and all the conditions favourable, a good fast game was confidently anticipated. A disappointment was, however, in store for the spectators, as the play was of a scrambling nature throughout, and the game ended in an easy win for the visitors by six tries and a dropped goal (22 points) to nil. A. Anderson having won the toss for Lomas, decided to defend the Banfield goal, thus having the advantage of a cross wind, which blew diagonally across the field. Loose play in mid-field followed the kick off, and then a long series of scrimmages down the touch line ensued, of which the Belgrano pack got somewhat the better. F. Jacobs showed up in the loose with some pretty dribbling, but he was not well supported. At length the Belgrano forwards got off with a rush, and after some really excellent passing among the forwards and backs, Fothergill was able to score some way out. The same player took the kick but failed to convert. This was certainly one of the prettiest tries we have seen scored in this country, and the only really good piece of play in the match.

Ten minutes later bad marking out of touch by the Lomas forwards let in the Belgrano lot, who came away with an irresistible rush. L. Jacobs tried to kick the ball dead, but it hit one of the side goal posts and bounded into play, and Neele fell over with the ball. Fothergill again failed with the kick.

No sooner had play been restarted than more weak marking out of touch again let the Belgrano forwards away, and im Thurn scored. This time Dorning took the kick, but did not improve, so that when half time arrived Belgrano crossed over with a lead of nine points.

On resuming after a short interval, Lomas made gallant efforts to keep their opponents out, and for a time were successful. Their opponents, however, were too strong for them, and invariably brought the ball back to the Lomas territory. At length R. H. Dorning got over, but again Fothergill failed to convert. Soon after a rush by the Belgrano forwards let in im Thurn, neglect at marking from touch again being the case. H. Dorning took the kick, which went wide.

Shortly after Duggan got over, Neele was entrusted with the kick, but could do no better than his predecessors.

Just in time H. Dorning got a pass, and dodging in front of goal made a left foot drop, which safely passed between the uprights and over the cross-bar, leaving Belgrano winners as stated above.

The brothers Jacobs and the brothers Mohr Bell worked hard to avert defeat, but the home team were out-weighted and out-played.

Mr. L. Corry Smith kindly acted as referee and Messrs. F. H. Chevallier Boutell and J. O. Anderson as linesmen.

The following were the teams:—

Belgrano -

Back - F. P. Bower.

Three-quarter-backs - F. W. Fothergill, F. Leitch, H. Dorning and A. Vernon.

Half-backs - R. H. Dorning and F. Curthoys.

Forwards - R. A. Roberts, A. M. im Thurn, F. im Thurn, A. Williams, E. L. Duggan, E. Neele, A. Webster and A. Brodie.

Lomas -

Back - A. Anderson.

Three-quarter backs - H. A. Cowes, L. Jacobs, C. Fowler and S. Mohr Bell.

Half-backs - H. Mohr Bell and J. H. Iles.

Forwards - F. H. Jacobs, A. A. Miller, C. H. Campbell, J. Darbyshire, D. R. MacKinlay, F. Shaw, L. Mohr Bell and J. B. Campbell.

ENGLAND AND IRELAND v. SCOTLAND AND WALES.

It had been originally intended to inaugurate the new ground of the B.A.F.C. at the Club Hipico with this match, but it could not be prepared in time, and so it was played at Belgrano. Owing to the Lawn Tennis Tournament, and other attractions, several players were unable to take the places originally assigned to them, with the result that most of the interest in the match was lost. In the end England and Ireland won by five points, having scored a goal and two tries (eleven points) to two tries (six points). For the winners Elliot, Coe and Bower, all played well, and for the losers Bellamy and Edye were always prominent. Mr. J. Wilson was in charge of the whistle, and Messrs. J. R. S. Fox and W. R. S. Baikie looked after the touch lines.

CORRESPONDENCE

To the Editor of Sport and Pastime.

Dear Sir,—

I had the pleasure last Sunday, through the courtesy of one of the members, of being able to take part in an enjoyable run with the hounds of the Drag Hunt at Hurlingham. The meet at 11 o'clock was about a mile out beyond the club grounds, the hounds being laid on at 11.30. After a sharp rattle across country, ending with a sample of plough, a check of ten minutes was called in a small copse near Bella Vista. A hare of sporting tendencies here offered herself as a rival attraction, but, "in spite of all temptation," the pack laid on the scent again, and were rewarded, after a second good run, by a pretty "kill" on the banks of the Paso Molino on the Conchas stream.

Although soft in places, the ground afforded good going, and all the starters, including a well-known lady rider, were in at the finish, none the worse for a little spattering. The heat of the day had told somewhat on the pack. We rest assured, however, judging from the "tonic" with which members of the hunt lost no time in reviving their inner man, that the hounds were no less well cared for.

A word here at the beginning of the third year of the club's existence may not be unseasonable. The Hunt proper was organised in 1899, when 10-1/2 couple of hounds were imported from home. These have been kept well up to the standard, and the seven couple now available will be shortly reinforced by another four youngsters of the best. It does not need the Pytcheley P. branded on their ribs to confirm one's first impression that the hounds are an exceedingly level and well-bred lot, and the Hunt is to be congratulated on its liberal policy on such an essential point.

Why I Am Well

Mrs. Jacob Weaver, of Bushnell Ill., wife of ex-city marshal Weaver, has entirely recovered from the illness which kept her bedfast much of the time for five or six years past.

Mrs. Weaver is fifty-six years old, and has lived in Bushnell nearly thirty years. The story of her recovery is interesting. She says:

"I suffered for five or six years with the trouble that comes to women at the change of life. I was much weakened, was unable much of the time to do my own work, and suffered beyond my power to describe. I was down-hearted and melancholy.

"I took many different medicines, but nothing seemed to do me any good.

"I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and some of my friends recommended them highly. I made up my mind to try them. I bought the first bottle in March, 1897, and was benefited from the start.

"A bottle and a half cured me completely, and I am now rugged and strong. I have not been bothered with my troubles since I began taking the pills.

"I have recommen led them to many women who are suffering as I suffered. They are the only thing that helped me in the trial that comes to so many women at my age." Mrs. J. C. WEAVER.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 23d day of October, A. D. 1897. O. C. HICKS, Notary Public.

It has not been an easy matter in the face of hard times and rival attractions to initiate, and firmly establish, so vigorous an offshoot of England's greatest pastime, 7,000 miles from its natural home. The Hunt members, and their M.F., Mr. C. R. Thursby, to whose energy and keenness so much is due, may justly pride themselves on possessing, if not the only, at least by far the best equipped Hunt in South America. The runs, which take place twice a week, are within the scope of every good fellow with a moderate income and a useful horse, and we may truly say that there are few countries where these conditions are more easily fulfilled. Already a favourable day will bring out over thirty at a meet, and time and a more extended knowledge of the fun is all that is required to crown a success, which the generous originators of the Hunt have already partially achieved, and which they so richly deserve.

YACHTING.

THE LAUNCH OF SHAMROCK II.

Sir Thomas Lipton's America Cup challenger Shamrock II. was successfully launched from the yard of Messrs. Wm. Denny and Brothers, Dumbarton, on Saturday, April 20th, the ceremony of naming the boat being performed by the Marchioness of Dufferin. About 200 guests were present, and as a holiday had been declared by the work people of the town the launch was witnessed by several thousands of spectators.

Pressmen, amongst whom were a number from America, were given special facilities for inspecting the yacht while she was on the ways attached to the pontoons, which left most of her hull open to view, but partially obscured fin and keel. The frames are constructed of the finest nickel steel, and the plating is of manganese bronze, and the deck is of light steel, covered with a thin coating of yellow pine. The mainmast is a hollow steel tube, into which a pine topmast telescopes, the mainboom is also of steel, and the gaff of very light thin steel. The bowsprit, which was in position at the launch, is of Oregon pine, and the rigging consists of a bobstay in a single part, with a pair of shrouds also in single parts. Powerful steel wire will be used for the rigging, and the shrouds will be held out by plain, strong spreaders of galvanised steel. The plating of the boat, which shows workmanship of a perfect order, has the joints of the edges overlapping, and there is but the slightest trace of the rivetting to be seen.

Shamrock II. is an extreme specimen at the fin keel type, and possesses long overhangs. As compared with recent challengers, she appears much longer in the bow, and much finer where the quarters run back into the counter. This counter is of great length, and tapers to a markedly narrow tailrail. The lines are easy and graceful, the bilges beautifully rounded, and the body of the yacht leaves no impression of fulness at any point. The keel is in the form of a trough, strongly plated throughout, the lead being run in in a molten state. Cotton canvas is to be used for the sails, supplied by Messrs Ratsey and Laphorn, of Cowes. Shamrock took the water at twenty minutes to one o'clock, and shortly after was towed on the pontoon to Cessnoch Dock, Govan, where fitting out began.

After the launch the guests were entertained in the model room under the chairmanship of Mr. Peter Denny. In the course of a long speech-making programme Mr. Archibald Denny, another member of the firm, stated that the building of a sailing yacht was a novelty to them. They had had no less than eleven different models, and sixty different modifications of these models, made and tried in their experimental tanks since Jan. 23, 1900. They had, therefore, worked at the tank experiments secretly for nine months before the contract was taken on. Shamrock II. was placed in the dry dock at Govan, and, after removal of the pontoons, she was on April 24 berthed again in the Prince's Dock. She floats exactly on her designed waterline, and her appearance confirms former impressions as to her beauty.

Squads of Dumbarton workmen were during the week setting up the standing rigging and completing the deck fittings. Owing to dock delays the yacht was not ready for the south until to-day; she will be towed round by Sir T. Lipton's s.y. Erin. Racing canvas is to be put on board at Cowes or Southampton, and a strong effort will be made to have the yacht out on May 2. The first of the trials between her and Shamrock I. has been fixed for May 4.

The result of that trial we have already learnt by cable, also the unfortunate result of the second trial, details of which will be awaited with keen interest by yachtsmen here.

A VELD FARM.

We may say in passing that though "veld" is pronounced with the "t"—"feldt"—it is wrong to spell the word, as is the general custom here, "veldt." A veld farm is not a thing of beauty to the stranger with the green of old England still in his memory; but it has its charm for the Boer, who sits on his stoep in the cool of the evening and watches his flocks coming home to the kraal. We will take two types of the veld homestead, the one that of a well-to-do farmer, and the other the dwelling of a poor man. All farmhouses in South Africa are on one floor, though in some cases the foundations are raised to give light to the butter room and storehouse below. About Capetown there are many old Dutch houses with very considerable claims to architecture, but on the veld the buildings are mere squares, with a flat roof of galvanised iron, and as ill-suited to the climate as it is possible for them to be. Neither the Dutch, nor the English Colonials, nor the new settlers apparently, ever think of departing from the square, though now and again a daring innovator rears a pitch roof with a lightning rod and a vane. It is reserved for other nations in other countries where the climate is equally hot to build for coolness and comfort; and so we find in Mexico, in Peru, in Brazil, and the Argentine Republic, the "patio," or cool inner court, adopted from the Moors, where, in the blaze of noon, when the hot winds blow, the "haciendado" make take his siesta. In time, maybe, when English people learn to adapt their houses and their clothing to the needs of the climate, we may find the "hacienda" on the veld, with its heavy verandah without, and its court within, sheltered by the four walls of the house from the heat; dark and cool with the trickle of water, maybe from a fountain, and the rustle of palms and ferns in the corners. There are no cool places in the veld homestead. In the noontide the good vrouw pulls down all the blinds, shuts the doors, and "sizzles" in the stuffy heat till the sun loses some of its fierceness. The house will consist of the centre eating room, a sit-kamer, and a bedroom on the left wing, two bedrooms on the right wing, and a kitchen crowded in where it will fit. The wings project a few feet at the front, and in between is the stoep, shaded by a verandah. Near the kitchen, in an odd corner, there is also a little dark room, heavy with a sour smell, and thick with flies, where stands the barrel churn. The floors may be of wood, but most probably of broken ant-hills stamped down and smeared with wet cow dung, which soon dries, and forms a hard, smooth crust. The walls would be whitewashed, in some instances papered, and in rare cases distempered. A few mats of roughly-dressed springbok or goatskins would be on the floor, a karross of jackal or springbok skins over the "rustbank," or sofa made of hide thongs, and on the walls there would be arranged a few horns, a gun, and a few prints, while above the table would be suspended a bunch of blue gum leaves to attract the flies or keep them away. Not that it matters much to the flies anyhow. In the sit-kamer there would be a harmonium and treasured furniture bought to look at. There would be no gas to turn on, of course, no water-taps, no scullery, no sink, and no coal cellar. The water would be kept outside the kitchen door in a barrel for choice, with a bunch of grass in the "dip" hole, or in a galvanised tank supplied from the rainfall off the roof. In the kitchen there would be no stove in the fireplace, but a fine three-legged baking pot, and the kitchenmaid would be a bare-footed black woman, with her ample petticoats bunched up at the waist and a red "dook" or handkerchief bound round her kinky locks. For company she would have several lean dogs, maybe a pig or two, a few fine fat picanninies glistening with grease, and several enquiring hens. From time to time an ostrich would peer in in search of unconsidered trifles in the way of empty sardine tins or spoons, and a tame goat would lean reflectively against the door-post. The whole house would be pervaded with a warm smell of cooking, mixed with a decided odour from the fuel, composed of dried cow chips, and the scent of Boer tobacco. Outside, in a convenient ant-hill, would be the oven for bread baking, and a cauldron for making the Boer soup. Opposite the kitchen would be the stable and loft, and in view of the stoep the "kraals" for the sheep and cattle. From the stoep you would step straight off on to the veld, and from the kitchen door likewise, without any break by a garden wall. The garden itself would be a little way off, on a slope, surrounded by gum trees, or an impenetrable hedge of American aloes, with their broad fleshy leaves of a grey blue, tipped with thorns like bayonets. A little way off a weeping willow would droop in long, slender tendrils, covered with the bottle-shaped nests of the yellow finches, or "links," to the muddy water of the dam. If the farm were watered the "lands" would be down in some shallow valleys with the crops, forming a patch of green or gold according to their growth, on the wide grey-brown stretch. That would be a typical homestead of the well-to-do farmer in the Orange River Colony, the house built, if near quarries, with stone. The home of the poor man would not be so roomy or substantial, merely a whitewashed block of three rooms lengthwise, each opening into the other, built either of stone, or mud bricks, or wattle and daub. The stable would be smaller, the kraal smaller, the garden missing, and the "lands" reduced to pumpkin patch. The veld would be the same, a stretch of level ground, criss-crossed by vanning, water-worn crevices, and framed by "rands" or kopjes thickly strewn with black rocks. It all sounds uninviting, dull, mela choly, sordid; but the air is invigorating, the life is healthy, and if a man does not fall a victim to laziness, the chances are greater than they would appear. Energy and water would produce wonders out of the soil, and water, as we have said, must be conserved if the wide stretches are to support a thriving population. Everywhere the cry is heard in South Africa that the land is slowly drying up. Springs that were once strong have been growing weak and weaker. Droughts have become more frequent, and after each drought there is a shrinkage in the "fontains." Man and his methods are alone to blame. Some farmers, and notably many of the shrewd old Boers, have planted a tree for each one cut down, and built many dams. Tree-planting and dam-building must be the recreation and the business of every settler, and when the settler is too poor to plan or build he should be assisted by the Government. There are all sorts of grave political and racial problems in South Africa, which statesmen are worrying themselves grey over. We give them a thought, as Mr. Rhodes says. Let them go in for a wholesale policy to dam-building, and the farmers, Boer and British, will forget all their differences in the delight of raising crops and seeing their stock fatten.

dad de THE RIGHTFUL KING.

Not even the hideous pile of red brick could spoil the beauty of the asylum gardens upon an evening in June.

The huge house stood on a hillside in one of the fairest spots that ever man helped Nature to make. Roses were opening on all sides, and here and there a late daffodil still lingered to make the red roses jealous with its simpler beauty.

Among the trumpets of the convolvulus sat the Rightful King. He was not in state robes, nor did he wear any outward insignia of royalty. Indeed, he wore a suit of decent and serviceable corduroys and a soft felt hat, which he found more comfortable than a crown. On the bench by his side was a pile of parchment deeds and legal-looking papers.

The Rightful King sat with his hands hanging loosely, and a vacant, soulless stare in his watery old eyes. His lower lip had dropped, and his whole face was absolutely destitute of intelligence. For the moment one saw a mere statue of flesh, and no more.

Suddenly footsteps were heard approaching, and there was a tinkle of feminine laughter coming through the flowers. A light began to flicker back into the lunatic's face, making it weak, indeed, but not mere brute, as it had been before. Two young ladies in cool summer frocks, accompanied by a tall young man in tweeds and with the ribbon of an Oxford college on his hat, came walking down the gravel path, laughing as they came.

The Rightful King became violently agitated. He shook with eagerness, and a yearning came into his eyes like the pleading look of an unfondled dog.

"Would Miss Bremmil notice him?" That was the great question. His position as Rightful King was, he well knew, one which was not well established.

Many of the other inmates of the asylum resented it, and wished to attract for themselves and their own foolish whims by minimising his importance.

The visitors came up. "This, Lucy," said miss Bremmil, the chaplain's daughter, to her friend, "this, Lucy, is the Rightful King of England."

THE "BUCHANAN" BLEND SCOTCH WHISKY

"Our analysis shows this to be a remarkably pure spirit, and therefore well adapted for medicinally dietetic purposes. It contains a very small proportion of extractive matters, while the acidity is practically NIL. The actual results of analysis were as follows: Alcohol, by weight 38.78 per cent., by volume 46.02 per cent., equal to proof spirit 80.64 per cent.; extractives 0.21 per cent.; mineral matter NIL; acidity reckoned as acetic acid, 0.027 per cent. The spirit whilst free from injurious and crude products, possesses a delicate and smooth flavour, owing partly to skill in blending, and partly to the maturing effects of storage for some years in wood."

"If I had my rights, miss," said the old man, "I should be a-sitting on Queen Victoria's throne now."

"Incidentally," said the young man from Oxford, "he fills up his time doing a little gardening—your Majesty is fond of flowers?"

"That I be, sir," said the Rightful King, touching his hat, forgetting his dignity, or perhaps finding the habits of his former life in the world without the walls too strong for him.

"When I comes into my own, miss," he went on, "you shall have all the dimon's out of the Tower of London. I shan't want 'em!"

His voice sank a little and grew thin. The momentary animation died away from the foolish face. He could not think of anything more to say. He began to whistle.

The three young people looked at him pityingly, and then, with a word of farewell, passed on their way.

"I am only coming as far as the end of the gardens, dear, said the chaplain's daughter to her guest. "I've no doubt Mr. Fraser will see you over the fields."

The young man gave her a look of deep gratitude. "Wonderful tact," he thought to himself.

"I hope you've not been made miserable by going over the asylum," said Miss Bremmil. "Of course, I am quite used to it, and it doesn't affect me as it must affect others."

"It is rather depressing," said the Girton girl. "I dare say you'll think me unfeeling and horrible, but if a person becomes hopelessly insane—really hopelessly, you know—I can't help feeling it would be better for them and"—this a little pedantically—"for the community as well if they were painlessly put out of the way."

"You haven't lived among mad people as I have," said the chaplain's daughter quietly. "You'd be surprised how sensible many of them are, and how good also. I don't suppose that poor old Rightful King ever had an unkind thought in his life. He's a dear old thing, and is always bringing me flowers. He's devoted to me."

"Aren't any of the lunatics violent sometimes?" inquired the young man.

"Oh! none on this side of the building; they are quite harmless. Dangerous cases are kept in a separate wing. You can just see the roof over the trees. Of course, I'm never allowed to go there."

"How terrible it all seems," the Girton girl said as they entered the last long avenue which led them to the hillside beyond.

The sun began to make ready to slip behind the hill, and it was now what the Tennyson student called "Blow, bugle, blow," time. They arrived at the stile. They turned to look back down the long and leafy avenue through which they had come. It was all irradiated with the long, level glow of the sunset. A tiny black figure at the far end, which seemed to be moving towards them, gave the scene just that little necessary note of human contrast which made it perfect.

They said good-night, and the Girton girl strolled away into the purpling shadows, where she was destined to hear what she had never suspected, that love is, after all, the only higher mathematics worth the attention of a girl with soft hands and wavy hair.

Miss Bremmil walked slowly back, thinking placidly of their little romance. Suddenly, she heard footsteps at her side. Someone had come out from the trees, and was pacing with her. She turned hurriedly towards the sound. A man was walking by her with a peculiarly gliding springy step. He was very tall, with a dark and rather sinister face. He was dressed in the uniform of the asylum, only with one difference. On his head he wore a yellow cap, and round his arm was a broad band of yellow cloth.

She shrank back with a sick terror flowing round and round her heart like icy water. The man was one of the "dangerous" cases, and she was alone with him, at nightfall, too far away to scream for aid. She was paralysed with fear. Suddenly he turned on her with a swift snarl, like a treacherous animal. He caught her by the arms and carried her to the nearest tree, leaning her against it.

"I've wanted something like this for a long time," he said. She heard he had the voice and accents of a gentleman. He took a long strip of cloth from his pocket and made her fast to the trunk of the fir tree with it.

He drew a table-knife from his pocket. The avenue was now almost dark.

As he came up to her, a sound of singing came from among the trees, foolish wayward singing, in a broad Gloucestershire accent. They distinguished the words:

"O! be the Rightful King
Of England, merry England."

Early in the afternoon the Rightful King had been digging in a plantation of larches. He had left his spade and was now coming to fetch it.

Miss Bremmil heard the voice and gave one cry for help. The knife was sawing her. The Rightful King came shambling up. He saw the girl tied to the tree and the man torturing her with the knife. He flung himself upon the madman with a great cry of pity and anger.

They rolled over and over on the ground struggling fiercely, but at long last the old man was mastered. He was no match for the other's demoniac strength. The girl saw the knife rise and fall, she heard the old man's bleat of pain, and then—the air was suddenly full of whistles and red dancing lights. There were crowds of people pressing round her, and she fainted in her father's arms.

The body of the Rightful King lay stark upon the sward. There was nothing poetic about it. In death it was even more foolish than in life.

"Poor old Rightful King", said one of the keepers. "He died for missy. Who'd have thought it? He's gone from his kingdom now."

"This is his coronation day," said the chaplain gently.
